TORONTO, Feb. 13. — Songs, speeches exchanging of reminisences of the good old times and finally a dance, comprised the after-dinner program set before the members of the Hastings County Club at the fourth annual banquet held in Toronto yesterday. One and all were unanimous in expressing strongly the view that of all the counties of Ontario none was quite up to the high standard of Hastings.

President Cleworeth Foster was in the chair, and during the course of the evening Vice-President Clifford Hatton announced that a new Hastings County Club was to be formed to supersede the present society, the fee, for each member of the new association to be one dollar.

Speeches eulogistic of Hastings county and containing numerous entertaining and reminiscet allusions were delivedeb by W. H. Ireland, Conservative member of the Legislatur for West Hastings, and who last wek was selected as Conservative Whip, and by J. F. Hill M.P.P. for East Hastings' Messages of good will from the neighboring county of Northumberland were brought by J. F. B. Belford, member in the Legislatur, for East Northumberland. Harold Welsh proposed the toast of "The County," which was responded to by George Eckert.

Continuation School Had Literary Afternoon—News of Interest.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 13.—An open meeting of the Literary Society of the Continuation School was held on Friday afternoon, about fifty invitations to parents and friends having been issued for the occasion, the majority of which were accepted. The Treasurer's report showed the funds on hand readily increasing, the object in view being the purchase of tennis equipment for the coming season.

The President, Ewart Tucker, took the chair, Miss Todd and Miss Sutton welcomed the guests, and the following programme was efficiently rendered:

Opening chorus, by the school.

Minutes of last meeting, read by the Secretary, Jean Burnham.

Treasurer's report, showing balance on hand of $14.25.

Reading, 'Caleb's Courtship," by Pearl Lamb.

Chorus, "The Farmer's Boy," by the school choir—Muriel Matchett, Lola Carley, Jean Blake, Marjorie Sayles, Loretta Barnard, Gertrude Gray, Vera Weeks, Margaret Lang, Jean Gervan, Jean Burnham, Alex. Johnston, Ewart Tucker, Ernest Burnham, Lawrence and Nells Rowland, Walter Sayles, Keith Barnard and Jack Byam.

Mock election, by Form 1, "Can Girls Ask the Boys to Skate?" Answer, "Yes"; votes 7 to 1.

Reading of "Fortnightly Star," by Gertrude Gray.

Chorus, "Come to the Mountain," by the choir.

Piano solo, by Gladys Tucker.

Alex. Johnston, Leola Huggins, Muriel Matchett, Hazel McMahon, Lola Carley, Gladys Willis, Mary Wood, Florence Fallis, Bena Brown —16.

Edna Byers, Helen Larmer, Loretta Barnard, Elizabeth Russell, Kathleen Fowler, Muriel Leal, Winnifred Leal, Agnes Brackenbridge, Jean Burnham—13.

Women's Institute.

The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday evening, Mrs. C. Thorndyke kindly giving the use of her home for the gathering.

The President, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, occupied the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. R. J. McKnight. During the discussion of business items it was decided to purchase a flag for the flag-pole in front of the Town Hall, the old one being worn out. Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Miss E. Grandy and Mrs. Will. Armstrong were appointed a committee to attend to this matter; the rope ofr the flag will also be replaced.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for a social gathering to be held in the Town Hall on Monday, February 18th, same to take the form of a dance or progressive euchre, as the committee thought best to decide upon.

The matter of having a speaker to address a public gathering as has been customary for some years, came up for discussion, and it was decided to ask for a demonstrator this year. The practical value of a meeting of this kind is more likely to attract the general public than an address alone. The subject will be decided later and the date announced.

At the conclusion of the business period a social hour was enjoyed, a contest on "Jumbled Names," creating much interest. Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs. D. Armstrong and Mrs. W. Armstrong had to cut for the prize, Mrs D. Armstrong being the winner. To encourage a larger attendance Mrs. Thorndyke had offered a prize to the one bringing the most members to the meeting, Miss E. Grandy receiving the reward.

Personals.

Mr. T. Harkness and family have moved into W. Coombe's house on Anne street.

Miss G Fisher of Cobourg is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Garside.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 13.—(United Press).—Co-eds at Penn State are learning the art of housekeeping in a modern house with a modern baby.

Jackie Hillcrest, 10 months old, is probably the luckiest, or maybe the unluckiest, child in the United States, for he has 26 "mothers" to care for him, and yet he has no real mother.

No one knows exactly where Jackie came from and no one knows what will become of him. At present he is a son of the Nittany Lions.

The baby was installed after the students complained to the college authorities that they needed a "toi" around to get first hand experience in the ultimate of happy home life for a woman.

They had a model home, equipped with gas and electricity and every convenience in which to study the arts of domesticity and economy, but it was decided that a necessary acquisition to the equipment was needed, so Jackie was installed as lord and master.

Jackie, however, is just like other boys, in that he had only one "mother" at a time. The girls are assigned to the cottage in groups of six for a week at a time and each takes her turn at being hostess, chambermaid, cook, assistant cook and mother to Jackie.

Jackie appears to like his new surroundings, but does an immense amount of sleeping. He is being raised with modern methods and spends his awake hours smiling at the fair co-eds who flock to Hillcrest Cottage to pay their respects to the popular youth.

Cheese Straws

¼ cupful grated cheese
¼ cupful Crisco (scant)
¼ teaspoonful salt
1 egg
few grains cayenne pepper

Grate the cheese. Rub flour and Crisco together with the hands. Add the cheese, salt and cayenne pepper. Beat the egg light and add to the mixture. Roll to about ⅛ of an inch thick. Cut in strips. Lay on flat pan and bake to a light brown. OR: Take a piece of the mixture about the size of a walnut and roll to a ball between the hands, using enough flour to prevent sticking. Bake on a flat pan to a light brown.

CHICAGO IS A TRAMP CENTRE

The United States Has 2,000,000 Tramps With Headquarters There.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(United Press).—"Chicago is the recognized 'Hobohemia' of America.

"Two million knights of the hobo kingdom have the seat of their government here.

"Though this government has no authority, its lure is evident to the impatient eyes of youth. Herein lies the menace."

This, in substance, is a report on "The Origin of Crime," submitted to the Chicago Crime Commission by a committee of Chicago professors.

"One of the weakest spots in Chicago's program for development of good citizens," the report stated, "is giving the tramp or hobo permission to flourish here.

"There is probably an army of 2,000,000 tramps in the United States," the reports adds, "and Chicago is the chief rendezvous.

"In the life of the tramp there is something strongly romantic, as viewed by the eyes of the 'teen aged boy. It is a life of variety and adventure. It calls loudly to the youth, particularly if he is not too strongly bound by association and environment."

"In Chicago and places where the boys may meet these aimless transients are not different than any other city, but are more numerous," the report said.

Some of the remedial measures recommended by the committee were: Co-operation with "hobohemia" hotel managers to prevent boys frequenting their places; the patrolling of "flop" headquarters by plain-clothes men, and stringent enforcement of working certificate laws.

HON. MANNING DOHERTY WILL CONTINUE FIGHT IN THE ONTARIO HOUSE

Number of New Questions on the Order Paper -- Referendum Question Bobs Up Again

TORONTO, Feb. 3. — (Canadian Press). — Hon. Manning Doherty, U. F. O. leader, will continue the battle for official recognition of his group when he resumes the debate on the reply to the speech from the Throne and the amendment this afternoon. He will attempt again to read the petition signed by all Farmer and Labor members which was ruled out of the debate yesterday.

W. Finlayson (East Simcoe) will be the next speaker in the debate for the Conservatives. He will be followed by Z. Mageau (Liberal, Sturgeon Falls).

Mr. Mageau will deal particularly with the problems of the north country from the Liberal standpoint.

The next Farmer in line has not yet been selected.

The amendment to the address will give W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, another chance to speak. There is considerable speculation as to the attitude the Liberals will take on the Farmer amendment. Mr. Sinclair will clear up the point in his next address.

Asking Questions.

Members of the Legislature are getting busy asking questions of the Government. Fourteen new questions were placed on the order paper to-day. J. A. Currie (South-East Toronto) is asking if the late Government or the present one ever received any petitions asking that a referendum be taken on the liquor question. If there were petitions he wants to know if the Government intends to take it into consideration, or if it requires further petitions before the matter will be considered. Hon. W. E. Raney wants to know what payments have been made to the Shelvin Clarke Company under settlement claims made with the company in 1922. He also asks if the Province owns all capital stock of the Ontario Power Company. Mr. Carmichael wants to know if the Conservative Government ever appointed any one but a Conservative to the Ontario Hydro Commission. Further, he asks the Government if it dismissed J. G. Ramsden from the Commission and, if so, why. Pressing further into Hydro affairs, Mr. Carmichael seeks information about what reports the Government has received from the Hydro Investigating Commission. J. G. Lethbridge, U.F.O., wants to know if the present Government dismissed the Sheriff of Halton County and, if so, why. J. A. Pinard wants to know who J. P. Jaffray, the new immigration agent at Glasgow, is. T. J. Biggs asks if the Government intends to appoint a Minister of Labor.

The Referendum.

While nothing official has been announced, it is believed at Queen's Park that the Government will have the House vote on the matter of having a referendum on the liquor question this year. The vote in such a case would not be a party issue, but every member would vote as he saw fit. Such action would put the responsibility squarely on the members of the Legislature and not on the Government, whose only action, if the members voted in favor of another referendum, would be to prepare the machinery necessary for the taking of a vote. It is understood that a private Conservative member will move that the date of the referendum be left to a vote of the House and not fixed by the Cabinet.

HE'S SEEN TOO MUCH ALREADY!

SUN LIFE OF CANADA HAD A GREAT YEAR

The Fiftfy-third Annual Report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, with an accompanying statement covering its transactions for the year 1923, is made public this week, and affords remarkable evidence of all-round prosperity and progress. New high level of achievement, both in business and resources, are recorded, establishing standards new to the history of Canadian Life Insurance. The leadership of the Sun Life amongst those companies in the British Empire which confine their operations to ordinary life business, is further emphasized and the results of the year confirm its position amongst the great financial institutions of the world.

In all branches substantial increases are shown. Business in force reaches the colossal figure of $703,705,243—an increase of $72,300,373 over 1922. The total number of ordinary policies in force at December 31st last was 318,443, while in addition, employees of commercial and industrial institutions to the number of 22,731 were protected under group assurance contracts. These figures are significant as indicating the great spread of benefit which, in the natural order of things, will accrue eventually to policyholders or their beneficiaries.

New business applied for during the year amounted to $119,804,657, while policies actually issued and paid for numbered 35,975 for a total of $107,391,255. This is the highest total ever reached by the Company in a single year. An arrangement with the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York for the re-assurance of their British business brings a further 8,200 policyholders to the ranks of the Sun Life. The established organization of the Company in Great Britain lends itself to the economical and convenient absorption of this business.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in respect of Death Claims, Matured Endowments, Profits, etc., amounted to $22,145,979. This affords striking evidence of the degree in which the Company is fulfilling its mission, for these payments actually exceed the total annual assurances issued fourteen years ago. Since the organization of the Company, the great sum of $151,916,489 has been paid out to policyholders or their representatives.

Turning to the items indicative of the strength of the Company, the figures are even more impressive. The cash income for the year from all sources advanced by $10,714,317 to a new high record of $40,965,639—equivalent to over $900,000 for each week of the year. Assets passed the Two Hundred Million Dollar mark, and at December 31st stood at $209,257,313—an advance of $35,168,454. During the year the amount available for investment was unusually large, the purchase of new securities and loans made amounting to $84,027,336, exclusive of loans on the Company's own policies. This command of money afforded special opportunities for securing large blocks of high-grade, long-term securities on advantageous terms. The interest earned on the mean invested funds was 6.20 per cent.

Profits to the amount of $4,417,068 were paid or allotted to policyholders. Substantial appropriations were made for investment fluctuations and other contingencies, the reserves so established now amounting to $3,500,000. After making these provisions, the net surplus over all liabilities and capital stock amounts to $17,872,868—an increase of $3,603,44 over the previous year.

The Company, has for many years extended operations to other countries, and is definitely international in character. Its aggressive quest for new business is evidenced by the establishment during the year of a number of additional division offices, a fact which should enable the Company to maintain and enchance that quality of service to its policyholders for which it is so justly esteemed.

The gratification expressed by the Directors in presenting their Report will be shared in full measure by Sun Life policyholders, particularly as it is intimated that the scale of profits on participating policies is to be again increased. To many people, not intimately connected with the Company, but who take pride in the predominance of Canadian institutions, the evidence of widespread prosperity, and of the growing sense of prudence and responsibility on the part of great masses of people, which the Report so abundantly demonstrates, will afford particular satisfaction.

MAY SAVE BABY LUNN WITHOUT OPERATIONS

The three-weeks'-old baby boy of Mrs. Howard Lunn of Millbrook, brought to the Nicholls Hospital last evening and operated on by Dr. N. D. Buchanan, after having swallowed a safety pin which dropped yesterday into its open, crying mouth, from its mother's dress front, is described as being in a hopeful condition this morning. The operation disclosed the fact that the safety pin had passed down too far to be retrieved. This morning the X-Ray shows the object in the intestines, without any harm having been done the infant so far, and the doctor is hopeful of being able to save the baby without a further operation.

MADDENED MOBS FIRE MUNICIPAL BUILDING AND SHOOT BESEIGED

Separatists and Citizens Engage in Hand-to-Hand Fighting.-Caught in Death Trap.

COBLENZ, Feb. 13. — (United Press).—The Inter-Allied Commission has sent two companies of infantry to restore order in Pirmasens. A statement of siege has been declared in the city and vicinity.

Advices here said German Nationalists attacked the Separatists, later setting fire to the City Hall, and that 14 persons were dead, including eight Separatists.

Maddened mobs of infuriated citizens continued to hunt down the Separatists throughout Pirmasens to-day.

Wherever ferreted out, the Separatists were killed or badly beaten. Despatches received here up to noon said a total of 49 were known to be dead at that hour.

The Separatists had lost 28 killed and the citizens 21.

The trouble began late yesterday when the citizens of Pirmasens, reinforced by the fire department, started a concerted attack on the Separatists. Provided with plentiful supplies of ammunition, the Separatists rallied and fired heavy volleys, wounding many of the attackers, who were armed with rifles, picks, shovels and axes.

The Separatists barricaded themselves in the City Hall, a grim, fortress-like old castle. They held off the attackers until the citizenry, heavily reinforced with city guards, renewed the attack with vicious energy. Firemen flung ladders against the City Hall and climbed up in face of the Separatist fire, fighting as they attacked. The attackers could make little progress against the almost impregnable building. They therefore set fire to the building. As the dense clouds settled smotheringly through the building, many of the Separatists fled from the death trap, but twenty, remaining inside, were burned to death.

While the Separatist funeral pyre that had been a City Hall was still flaming, the mob, now lost to blood lust, launched a city-wide hunt for Separatists—rooting them out of beds and houses, to meet sharp punishment or death wherever found.

Later reports from Pirmasens said Schwab, after being beaten almost to death by the mob, "died in the flames."

Evidently the Government Commissar who fell into the hands of the mob during the murderous orgy, was the man handled fearfully and then driven back into the furnace-like City Hall, where his comrades had taken refuge and were roasting, there to die himself.

The citizens' guard lost three killed and more than 20 wounded. The mob soaked the floors and lower walls of the City Hall with benzine to start the fire. Agonized appeals for mercy came from the trapped Separatists as the flames surrounded them. Desperate hand-to-hand fighting in the midst of the flames ensued.

TRADITIONS OF VALENTINE DAY

Lovers' Day Developed Out of Festival to Commemorate a Martyred Saint.

To-morrow, when boys and girls and older boys and girls are busy and excited sending and receiving valentines they will be commemorating a festival of considerable antiquity.

In the early days of Rome the people celebrated on the 15th day of February the Lupercalia a religious festival in honor of the ancient pastoral god of the Romans, Lupercus, who protected the flocks against wolves and brought fruitfulness to the crops. February was originally the last month of the Roman year, and the festival was held on the Lupercal where Romulus and Remus were supposed to have been nurtured by a she wolf.

During the festival tablets with girls' names were put in a box and each boy drew out a tablet. The name of the girl inscribed on it was the one to whom, under the auspices of Juno Februata, he was to be devoted for the next twelve months.

With the rise of Christianity the old pagan festival was adopted by the early church to celebrate the martyrdom of a priest at Rome, who was cruelly put to death during the persecution of the Christians by Claudius II on February 14, 270 A.D. Pope Julian built a church in honor of the martyr and the Porto del Popolo gate of Rome, was once called the gate of St. Valentine.

Lovers' Day

The old Celtic religion probably had a festival of a similar nature for in the early days in England and Scotland, February 14, was looked on as a day specially consecrated to lovers and was the proper occasion for writing love letters and sending love tokens.

It was popularly thought that on this day the birds first choose their mates and allusions are found in Shakespeare and Chaucer to this idea. In Chaucer's Parliament of Foules two lines run:

"For this was on Seynt Valentyne's day,

As in ancient Rome the young men drew lots to determine their "valentines" for the ensuing year, then a mock bethrothal was celebrated amid fun and laughter.

In drawing supper partners at Valentine parties to-morrow, this being leap year the ladies should draw the gentlemen's names.

An adaptation of this which will cause much amusement is to use one of the toy fishing games. Each fish has a gentleman's name on it, and the ladies must fish for their partners.

Scott's Novel

Sir Walter Scott wrote a novel in which the practice of maids and men becoming each other's valentine forms the basis of his theme.

This is The Fair Maid of Perth or Saint Valentine's day. In his novel some interesting sidelights are thrown upon the ideas associated with this day in Scotland in the fourteenth century.

'It was not only permitted but enjoined', he says, "that the valentines of the year begin their connection with a kiss of affection. It was looked upon as a particularly propitious omen if one party could find the other asleep and awaken him or her by performance of this interesting ceremony."

In the story the heroine becomes the unwilling valentine of the hero, and as he had rescued her from being kidnapped on St. Valentine's eve she is implied to kiss him morning before he awakens, but when he joyfully awakes she is very confused and they part in a tiff.

However, everything turns out happily in the end and St. Valentine, in the story at any rate, justifies his title of the patron saint of lovers.

HOUSEWIVES' COLUMN

I believe the Dominion Store man in your neighborhood knows more kiddies than most anybody else. Little and big, he knows nearly all of them.

Their mothers give them a basket or bag and send them trotting along down to the red front Dominion Store. They tell the friendly man there what mother wants, or if they are too small, they just give him a piece of paper with the day's list written on it—and he sees that they get the best there is. Maybe they even get a piece of candy for themselves, from their old friend, the Dominion Store man.

For each of the 300 Dominion Stores is a real neighborhood store. Its manager looks on his store as food headquarters for the people nearby. Courteous service, and special attention to children are daily habits with him.

You can confidently send your littlest ones to the Dominion Store. There they will always get high quality foods at low prices that mean steady savings.

It's this certainty of savings that attracts a million customers a week to the hundreds of Dominion Stores. Careful housewives used to spend hours of time and hard work, walking around on hard pavements, searching the markets for good food at bargain prices. Now they know that even a child can do as well as they can—for every Dominion Store price is a bargain price, and Dominion foods are always clean and fresh.

PRESS COMMENT ON MACDONALD'S DEBUT

LONDON, February 13. (United Press. — "Statesmanlike," "Admirable in style and diction," "Weak and disappointing," these were some of the expressions to-day on Premier Macdonald's first speech yesterday in the House of Commons, picked at random from the morning papers. They indicate that scrambled verdict of the British press on the initial official utterance of the first Labor premier.

Curiously, there is no agreement, either among the Tory or Liberal press, on each side some praise and some criticize. The Liberal Daily News and the Tory Daily Mail rival each other in praising MacDonald's speech.

The News pronounces it "wise, temperate, luminous, skilful, thoroughly statesmanlike." The Mail calls it "moderate, businesslike, and generally sensible."

On the other hand, the Lloyd Georgian Chronicle, and the Conservative Express agree that it is a "poor beginning."

The Express says it is weak, platitudinous, satisfying only to the milder members of his own party."

FRENCH COMMENT.

There is not the slightest chance to renew the Anglo-French entente cordiale on the former basis, in the opinion of "Pertinax," the famous French political writer.

Commenting on Premier MacDonald's speech in Parliament yesterday "Pertinex" declares that nothing will induce France to abandon the Ruhr without adequate guarantees."

"Imposibility of renewing the Anglo-French entente, he says results because France and England are separated absolutely on the reparations security problems."

Son Told Mother Merits of Tanlac

"The best I can say is not half good enough for Tanlac" is the exact statement of Mrs. Marie Sweeney, 264 Murray street, Peterboro, Ont.

"I was all run down, weak and thin and just suffered agony from indigestion. I had dreadful stomach pains and gas would almost convulse me. Nervousness nearly set me distracted and many nights it was almost daylight before I could get to sleep.

"My son had come home from the war shell-shocked, extremely nervous and so thin we hardly knew him. He wrote from Detroit 'Mother, get Tanlac for it has made a new man of me.' The medicine had actually built him up thirty-five pounds. Well, I took it, too, and every ailment left me. I gained twelve pounds, and was soon as strong and healthy as ever. While that was a year and a half ago, I have never had a sick spell since—and I am still feeling fine."

Hard Luck Love Affairs Of Those Danish Princes

Sweetheart of One Lost to Him Forever, Another's Romantic Fate Trembling in the Balance and a Third's Bride Won Only After Discouraging Difficulties

Miss Lois Booth, the charming Canadian million-heiress who, after much haggling between her family and Prince Erik's, at last is going to marry him

Miss Eleanor Margaret Green, the New York society girl whose engagement to Prince Viggo was announced by the Danish king and denied by her father

The young Crown Prince of Denmark and Princess Olga, the flirtatious Grecian beauty who broke his heart by jilting him and marrying Prince Paul of Serbia

Prince Viggo of Denmark

IF the old proverb is true, the Crown Prince of Denmark and his second cousins, Prince Erik and Prince Viggo, must be very lucky indeed when they sit down to a game of poker, bridge whist or other cards. For they are having a great deal more hard luck in their love affairs than one would expect to be encountered by three such dashing young members of one of Europe's most substantial royal families.

It is true that Prince Erik has won the heart of Miss Lois Booth, the Canadian heiress, but he obtained her family's consent to taking possession of it only after a series of difficulties that he must have found extremely discouraging.

As for the other two princes, the romantic fate of one hangs trembling in the balance for reasons that are hard to understand, and the other has lost forever the only girl on whom he ever set his heart.

From Copenhagen only the other day came the cabled news that King Christian had "consented to make public announcement" of the engagement of his young cousin, Prince Viggo, to Miss Eleanor Margaret Green, daughter of Dr. James O. Green, of New York. But there seems to be some strange hitch in this international romance at the American end of the line.

While the King of Denmark "consents" to announce his young kinsman's engagement, Miss Green's father vigorously denies that any engagement exists —or that there ever is likely to be one. He pronounced the reports of a love affair between daughter Eleanor and Prince Viggo as "utterly absurd—simply ridiculous."

Of this trio of unlucky lovers the heir to the throne of Denmark is in the hardest luck. The Crown Prince shows no signs of recovering from the broken heart he suffered some time ago when Princess Olga, one of the most notorious little flirts in Europe, handed him the mitten.

He had won her heart for keeps, as he supposed, over numerous other suitors. She journeyed to Paris to buy her trousseau and the arrangements for the wedding were all made. Then suddenly, almost on the very eve of the bridal day, fickle Olga took the joy out of her fiance's life perhaps forever by telling him that she had decided they would better not be married.

The Crown Prince took his wedding finery back to Copenhagen, disconsolate but still cherishing, it is believed, the hope that his one-time fiancee might yet change her mind. This hope was dashed a few months ago when Princess Olga became the bride of a man who has figured in even more romances than her own coquettish self, Prince Paul of Serbia.

The future Danish King has seemed to be completely crushed by the failure of his romance with the youthful Grecian beauty, and his family and subjects are said to fear he will never muster the courage to make another try for a bride.

For a long time it looked as if Prince Erik was going to have just as poor success in leading to the marriage altar Lois Frances Booth, of Ottawa, daughter of J. Fred Booth and granddaughter of J. R. Booth, Canada's greatest lumber king.

If J. R. Booth lives until next April he will be 100 years old. When he set out from a log cabin in eastern Quebec eighty years ago to conquer the world he had just $9 in his homespun pockets. Now his fortune is estimated at more than $40,000,000. At one time the timber lands controlled by him included many times the number of acres there are in the little kingdom of Denmark.

It was through Prince Erik's democratic desire to earn his living as a farmer that he and the vivacious Booth heiress met and fell in love.

After leaving school the Prince studied scientific agriculture in his native land and later in England. He learned to milk cows, wield a hoe and scythe and do all the other things a farmer has to do. And the thicker the calluses on his hands grew the better he liked it and the more determined he was to make agriculture his life work.

To western Canada he went to put some of the theories he had learned in Europe into practice on a big scale. For a time he worked as a farm hand for a Danish dairyman in the Province of Alberta. Then he bought a farm of his own and there, for several years, he has lived pretty steadily, except for the interruptions his romance brought.

Lois Booth went to western Canada on a visit and she and the Prince met at a dance at a hotel in Banff. With all the clumping about fields and barnyards which his feet have been doing they have not forgotten how to dance, and he found Miss Booth the most bewitching partner with whom he had ever foxtrotted or tangoed. So captivated was he that when she returned to Ottawa he found pressing business to call him there.

The Prince made quick work of winning the heiress's heart and her promise to marry him, but the getting of her family's consent to the match—that proved quite a different matter. He was discouraged to find that Lois's father and her aged grandfather, too, were not at all enthusiastic about having a Danish or any other kind of a royal prince added to the domestic circle.

It took weeks of earnest argument on the Prince's part to convince the Booths that he was no good-for-nothing fortune hunter but a very democratic and hard-working young man who could throw his title to the winds and still make a good living for himself and his bride. At last he won their consent, but only with certain conditions that threatened to make the marriage impossible.

In spite of his nearly 100 years old J. R. Booth is still very shrewd and active of mind, and he took the lead in formulating the terms on which Prince Erik could have his granddaughter. If she was going to marry a foreign prince instead of some self-made Canadian, as he would have preferred, he insisted that she have all the honors and dignities that belong to a royal prince's bride.

He would not listen to any discrimination against her simply because there was no blood of nobility or royalty in her veins. There must be no taking away of the Prince's title, no renunciation of the right of succession to the throne simply because he was marrying a commoner. He would not tolerate that any more than he would allow the seller of a piece of timber land to cut off half the timber before giving him possession of the property.

Prince Erik agreed to these terms and sailed off to Copenhagen to lay the matter before his family. But he went with a heavy heart, for he knew how bitterly his proud relations had opposed his elder brother's marriage to a beautiful Italian commoner, a kinswoman of Princess Yolanda's husband.

Sure enough, he found his family less inclined to welcome Lois Booth than hers at first had been to welcome him. After weeks of argument he succeeded in convincing them that a girl so young and charming and wealthy as the Canadian heiress was a desirable daughter-in-law even for royalty. But they insisted that if he married her he must give up his princely title and step out of the line of succession to the throne.

Still more weeks brought the persevering Prince a partial victory. His family consented to let him retain his title, but he must give up all hope of ever being King.

Back to Ottawa went Erik and to his surprise and delight Grandpa Booth, after considerable pondering and haggling, finally agreed to let the marriage take place on these terms. Apparently the old lumber king was shrewd enough to see that, after all, the title is the main thing and the royal right of succession amounts to little. Eight husky young Danes stand between Prince Erik and the throne and the chances of his getting very close to it are therefore pretty slim.

So the lovers are to be married very soon and, if the Prince has his way, he will take his bride out to his fertile acres in Alberta and make her a farm wife.

It is a remarkable romance, for Prince Erik, besides being one of the leading figures of Danish royalty, is closely connected with the English royal family, being a nephew of Queen Alexandra and a cousin of King George. According to the gossips, the real reason for the Prince of Wales's visit to Canada last Fall was his interest in Erik's strenuous efforts to win the Booth heiress and his anxiety to do what he could to help him along.

Canada is particularly interested in Lois Booth's love match, both because she will some day be the richest woman in the Dominion and because she will be the first native daughter to become a real princess.

Miss Booth is said to have given her promise to marry Prince Erik more than eighteen months ago. The long time between then and the recent formal announcement of the engagement was given over to the Prince's efforts to win the consent of the Booth family and his own.

Just why the engagement of Erik's brother, Prince Viggo, should have been formally announced by his family in Copenhagen and denied by Miss Green's family in New York is a mystery that is puzzling society on both sides of the Atlantic.

Some think that the hitch in the romance is due to the fact that Dr. Green is holding out for even better terms than J. R. Booth did—that he insists on Prince Viggo's being allowed to retain both his title and his right of succession to the throne.

Others say that the doctor is unalterably opposed to international marriages and that Prince Viggo made a sad mistake in thinking he had any chance of marrying Miss Green— at least with her family's consent.

Eleanor Margaret Green comes of sturdy American stock. She is a great-granddaughter of the late Peter Cooper Hewitt, the millionaire inventor who divorced his wife in his old age to marry a fascinating divorcee. She met Prince Viggo only last summer while visiting American friends in Copenhagen.

As these lines were written Prince Viggo was reported to be on his way to America. Perhaps he will succeed in straightening out the extraordinary difficulties that are blocking his romance, but even if he does, it is quite plain that the road to marriage is not so pleasantly easy for Denmark's royal princes as it is for many other young men.

This is rather surprising, in view of the fact that, next to England's royal family, that of Denmark is probably the one of Europe's reigning houses that commands the most respect at home and abroad and that seems to stand in the least danger of being kicked out of power.

King Christian is an able and progressive monarch and under his rule the little kingdom has been amazingly prosperous. The Danish people seem to be more interested in the fact that their principle of co-operative ownership of land has doubled their agricultural wealth than in upsetting their monarchical form of government, as is so fashionable in Europe just now.

But Christian, wise to the fact that kings and queens are getting out of style, nurses no delusions as to the certainty of the Danish monarchy's enduring. When a friend recently criticized him for not bringing up the Crown Prince in a manner that would better fit him to be King the Danish monarch looked his critic in the eye and asked very significantly:

"Do you think it will be necessary?"

The three Danish princes who have won world-wide prominence through their love affairs, together with their numerous brothers and cousins, are all fine, upstanding fellows, the sort who, if they lived here in America, would be called a credit to their family and college. In manner and appearance they are rather of the Prince of Wales type, only taller.

Prince Viggo, whose chance of winning the Green heiress seems to hang by a very precarious thread, is a cavalry officer and celebrated for being the best horseman in Denmark. He is a graduate of the famous cavalry school in Italy, where Princess Yolanda's husband, Count di Calvo, is one of the principal instructors.

Count di Calvo's sister was married some years ago to an elder brother of Prince Viggo.

NATIONAL LEAGUE BANS BONUSES FOR PLAYERS

NEW YORK, February 13 (Canadian Press). — Abolishment of the system of granting bonuses to the players for batting, pitching, or fielding excellence and approval of a plan to annually select the League's most valuabe star, were decided upon yesterday by club owners of the National League.

These were the principal steps taken at the annual mid-winter session, which also formally approved the 1924 schedule of 154 games opening on 15th April and closing on 20th September, but declined to act on a proposal to limit the number of coaches any club might have.

Action against the player-bonus, first advocated at the annual meeting in Chicago recently, and urged again yesterday by Christy Mathewson, president of the Boston Braves, was taken because of belief that special inducements for meritorious work is an unhealthy influence on the game, President John A. Heydler declared. He referred particularly to the undesirous effects resulting from the bonus for pitchers for a certain number of victories.

Abolishment of the bonus, however, was not made retroactive, Mr. Heydler pointed out, so that, with a majority of 1924 contracts already signed, it will not go into practical effect before the 1925 season. It applies only to such contracts sent out by clubs after yesterday's meeting. It does not involve the contract clause permitting bonuses for good conduct.

Follow Example.

In voting to follow the American League by having its outstanding star selected each year by ballot of baseball writers in the circuit's cities, the National League turned down an alternative proposal made by Sam Breadon, of St. Louis, to have the most valuable player of each club chosen at the end of the season.

The plan adopted, under which Babe Ruth was voted the most valuable American League player last season, is the same as that rejected by the older organisation two years ago when it was simultaneously proposed to both majors by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The National League will give $1,000 in cash and a diploma or other suitable token of the award to the player selected.

Re-appointment of eight veterans and two newcomers to the umpiring staff was announced by President Heydler.

The additions are Jack Powell, who had a brief trial at the close of last season after his release was purchased from the Michigan-Ontario League, and Monroe Sweeney, a native of Paris, Kentucky, who has been arbiter in the Texas League for the past two seasons.

Tiger Hockey Team Won Another Match.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 13.—A very good game of hockey was played on Saturday afternoon between the fourth squad Grove team and the Tigers of the Methodist Sunday School. The latter won by a score of 4 to 2 after a well-fought game. The line-up was as follows:

This was a game of the Bantam series, which promises good material for the Juniors in a year or two.

SAW FIRST GAME HOCKEY.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 13.—On Saturday afternoon a large crowd witnessed the game between The Grove hockey team and Upper Canada College, Toronto, among the crowd being two men who stated that they had never seen a hockey match, and having read of the game thought they would attend. Evidently the fascination of the great Canadian game gripped them, as they remained till the bell sounded at the end of the third period. The popularity of hockey in this locality is greater than ever this year, and the rink continues to draw large crowds for each and every game.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 13. — A fast clean game of hockey was played at Lakefield last night between the Warsaw team and the Peterboro U. F. O. team, resulting in a win for Warsaw by a score of 6-0.

Half way through the first period E. Scott for Peterboro, was struck with the puck on the eye, necessitating several stitches, and was replaced by McGregor. The teams were:

Referee, Braden Blewett.

Warsaw ..... 1 1 4—6

R. Darling scored 2; F. Bell 3; H. Darling 1.

Nothing strange about Third Baseman Foster turning preacher.. A lot of ball players have nothing but a prayer.

Billy Evans Says

One of the worst abused individuals in baseball, next to the umpire of course, is the coacher at third base. One of the most important features of the game, it seldom calls for praise from the fans, yet constantly places the person acting in that capacity open to censure.

"More games are lost at third base each year through bad coaching than are decided by dropped fly balls,' 'was the remark made to me by a well known manager.

The day previous, with no one out and the home team three runs to the bad, the first batter up in the last half of the ninth hit the left field fence with a line drive. It was apparent when the ball was hit that the batsman would have no trouble making three bases. With no good reason, the runner decided to try for a home run, the coacher also motioned him to break for the plate. He was thrown out on a close play.

Several hits followed this bad piece of base running. Before the side was retired two runs were scored, one shy of a tie. Bad judgment on the first play of the inning proved disastrous, probably killed the chance to win.

Few players relish the job of coaching at third base. Some managers who fear not the wrath of the fans handled the job. Most of them, however, delegate some seasoned player for the all important position. Very often he is some veteran star acting as assistant to the manager. One day last summer I heard Jimmy Burke, assistant to Frank Chance at Boston soundly "razzed" when he made the proper play. Jimmy didn't like it and I didn't blame him. He looked at me with a puzzled expression and merely remarked, "Can you beat it?"

The play involved just such a situation as I previously decribed. Boston was trailing four or five runs when the first batter up in the ninth hit safely.

When the player rounded second and was on his way to third Burke, playing proper basebal, motioned for the runner to pull up at third. One run meant nothing, Boston had to get four or five. It was no place to take a chance on sending the runner home. It so happened that the fielder who made the throw to the plate cut loose a bad peg that eluded the catcher, and on which the runner could have easily made the plate had he kept on running. Then it was that Burke was showered with words uncomplimentary. Yet he had made the only proper play in holding the runner at third. .. ....

Unquestionably the coacher at third has a tough job. He must have good judgment and a keen eye. He must be able to rate the speed of the runner and the throwing ability of the man handling the ball. He must use snap judgment and then ride through. No wonder players do not relish the third base coaching job.

Now that a Danish prince has married the heiress of a lumber king, we may expect to have some decent safety matches at last.—Life.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Defeating Aura Lee 5 to 1 last night, University of Toronto went into second position in Group Number 1 of the Senior O.H.A. series, and a victory over Parkdale Canoe Club next Tuesday will assure the Blue a place in the play-off for the right to enter the finals for the championship. Aura Lee held Varsity to a tie for two periods, each team bulging the twine once, but when Dinsmore attempted to stop Hudson head on, as the Varsity captain was rushing in on Aura Lee defence, he paved the way for his team's defeat. Dinsmore, up to the time he was hurt, had been playing a wonderful game of hockey. It was Dinsmore who gummed up the combination.

NORWOOD, Feb. 13. — A hockey match between Havelock and Norwood Midgets was played on the local rink on Monday evening. At full time the score was 2-2. Ten minutes overtime was necessary to break the tie. The deciding goal was scored by G. Rusaw of Norwood. Hector Monroe acted as referee.

PORT COLBORNE LOST.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press.) — Before a crowd of 4,500 fans, who packed the new artificial arena last night, the intermediates defeated Port Colborne by the score of 2 to 0 in the first game of the group championship. The game was particularly fast and comparatively clean, 8 penalties in all being handed out, which were about evenly divided.

SECURED TWO GOAL LEAD.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Newmarket secured a two goal lead on North Toronto in the first game of the play-off for the championship of Group 15 of the Junior O.H.A. in Newmarket arena last night. The group was divided into sections, Newmarket winning A division, with North Toronto landing the honours in B part, and the teams are settling the championship with a two-game series.

GRAVENHURST DEFEATED.

COLLINGWOOD, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Collingwood intermediates defeated Gravenhurst here last night in the second game of the second round by a score of 6 to 1, winning the group championship by 12 to 3.

ST. LOUIS FANS FEAR PASSING OF SHOCKER

URBAN SHOCKER

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—Despite the fact that Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, has signed his contract, there is a feeling that he will not be with the local team this year.

Withdrawal of the suit on the part of Shocker was made possible by the intervention of Bobby Quinn, who formerly handled the affairs of the St. Louis club, but who is now president of the Boston Red Sox.

President Quinn of the Boston Red Sox came on to Chicago for a conference with Shocker and President Johnson. It took only a short time to settle the matter, Shocker withdrawing his petition to Landis and signing a St. Louis contract.

It is questionable, however, if the ill-feeling between Shocker and the management of the Browns has been erased. If not, he wouldn't be a very valuable man for the club.

Local fans fear that Quinn, in signing Shocker, was feathering his own nest and that the sale of Shocker to Boston is a possibility of the immediate future.

BOWLING

MERCANTILE LEAGUE

In the Mercantile Five Pin League last night at Solomon's Alleys the Lockworks gave the William Hamilton gang the worst shock of the season when they stepped into them and took three straight. The Lockmakers sure were in great form and turned in three nice games. They rolled 2625 for their three games and had 960 in the last one.

Page was high man of the evening with a beautiful score of 651. Thomas was next with 541 and Burke next with 526. Page had the high single of 257.

BRINTON CARPET LEAGUE

Last night at the Water Street Alleys in the Brinton Carpet League the Windsors took two out of three from the Ardebils.

Some sensational rolling was turned in by the Windsors. In their last game they set up a record for a five man team when they rolled one thousand and eighteen. This also constitutes a record for their league for a high game.

Anderson, one of the best bowlers in the Brinton League and who has been doing some sensationally high rolling of late smashed his own high scores for three games and also for the league when he rolled a total of 746 for his three games. If you think this isn't hitting the pins on the nose you should have your head examined. Anderson besides rolling this high score for three games had the high single of 259. For that matter every one of his games were high ones for here are his scores, 236, 259 and 251, which isn't too bad hitting. L. Martin rolled 538.

You might note that in the last game the Windsors just doubled the score on the Ardebils, the Windsors rolling 1018 and the Ardebils 541.

Following are the scores:

Windsors—

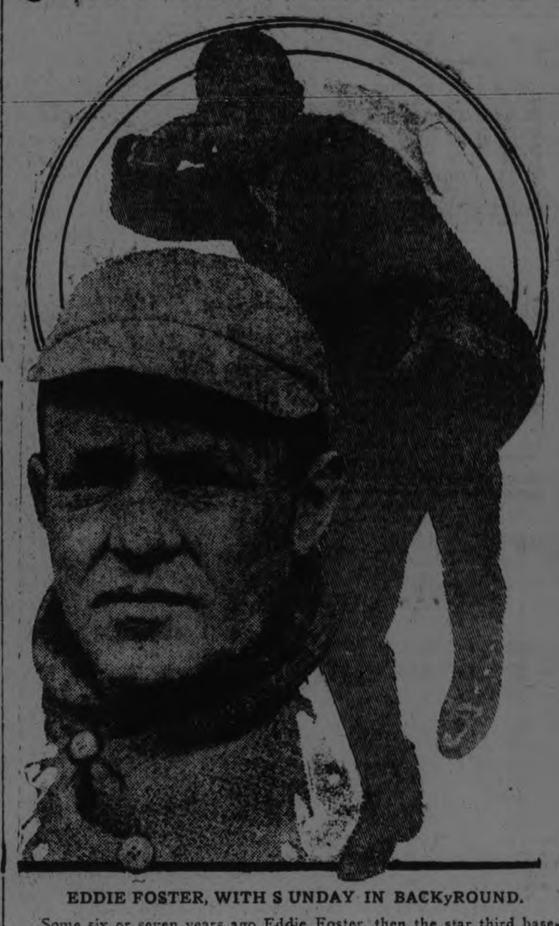
CONVERTED BY SUNDAY QUITS GAME FOR GOSPEL



EDDIE FOSTER, WITH SUNDAY IN BACKyROUND.

Some six or seven years ago Eddie Foster, then the star third baseman of the Washington Americans, attended a Billy Sunday revival in the national capital. Foster, always one of the game's finest characters, "hit the sawdust trail" and became a convert.

A few weeks later the noted infielder took charge of a Bible class in Washington. His conversion was complete, sincere and profound. Foster developed many friends among the clergy and became a well-versed theologist.

It is no surprise, therefore, to learn that he has quit baseball for good and will spend the rest of his days propounding the gospel, much after the manner of the man who converted him, Billy Sunday, himself a one-time noted ball player.

SHUT OUT BOWMANVILLE.

WHITBY, Feb. 13. — (Canadian Press.)— Ed. Donald's Oshawa Green Shirts made sure of winning the Junior O.H.A. Group Number Four here last night in a sudden death game, when they shut out Bowmanville 2 to 0. The game was necessary owing to Bowmanville and Oshawa being tied for the leadership and it proved a whirlwind exhibition.

PETES TEAM WORK IS COMMENDED

Oshawa Papers Say Blue Shirts Had Sweet Combination.

The Oshawa Telegram says:

Peterboro Blues, conquerors of Belleville in the eastern O.H.A. flank journeyed west as far as Oshawa last night, waltzed on to the ice at Bradley's igloo and administered a 5 to 2 licking to Ed. Donald's intermediates in the first of a home and home series between the two sextettes that will decide which will proceed further in the big championship race. The second chapter in the struggle will be continued at Peterboro to-morrow night, and with a three goal lead to take to their own ice the Lait-Lock gents are sitting in a pretty position.

As far as last night's affair is concerned the better team won out, and the visitors had the edge on the locals throughout.

The showing of the Green Shirts was a big disappointment to Oshawa fans for they know that the local team is possessed of a whole lot of hockey ability that was not in evidence last night. Their attacking efforts during the entire game savored of the listless, and the most of their shooting was done from long range. In fact it looked as though the Donald boys had gone stale in a critical period of their young lives.

Petes are Smart Team.

The Peterboro outfit gave plenty of evidence that they are a fairly nifty aggregation. They are a husky team, know how to use their bodies to advantage, and are strong, both on the offensive and defensive. They uncorked some sweet combination play and their front line worked smoothly. Back-checking was their favorite occupation when the locals started anything, and in the majority of cases where the Green Shirts broke through the Blue defense was equal to the occasion. The visitors were also tricky and frequent gains were made on fake movements.

Unless Manager Donald's green and white shirted intermediates can show a complete reversal of form, and trounce the Petes right in the Quaker Oats city by four goals, the local fans will be able to sit down and talk about the prospects for the 1924-25 hockey season as far as the intermdiate series is concerned.

Last night over at the Duke street rink those Quaker Oats players uncorked everything they had including some effective combination together with a strong defence, and they had the share of the play which the score of 5 to 2 indicated. The visitors outweighed the local team in almost every department, and when the ice became sticky towards the close of the firts period, were at a disadvantage. At several stages of the game the Green and White came through with bursts of speed which forced the Petes to fight desperately to prevent the locals from evening up the score.

Play opened with the pace fast and furious, but in the second and third periods both teams eased up, and it was only at times that they showed the speed they were capable of. Towards the closing stages of the game it was evident that the Petes had gained a safe lead and and when the full time gong sounded fans and players accepted defeat in the manner in which all true sportsmen should.

The return game will be played in Peterboro Wednesday night and it is possible that with keen ice Manager Donald's sextette will put up a gallant fight to overcome the three goal handicap and take the series. The Petes have a great advantage, having won away from home with a comfortable margin with which to protect themselves on their own ice.

While the Petes have practically the same line-up as last year, the players are in good condition and have perfected a good combination together with another style of team play which offset Oshawa's individual rushes and hard checking.

CRESCENTS DEFEAT THE RINK RATS

Brioux's Crescents handed the Sacred Heart Rink Rats their second consecutive defeat by a score of 3 to 1. The Rink Rats showed a very bad form of hockey by laying on the wood, while the Crescents paid more attention to the puck and by good playing gave the Rink Rats a severe defeat.

V. O'Connell handled the bell a la Lou Marsh, and was congratulated by both teams. Line up was as follows:

Rink Rats

Crescents

"NO SMOKING" AT TONIGHT'S BATTLE

Interest in to-night's big Oshawa-Peterborough hockey game at Brock Street Rink is enhanced by the fact that the Oshawa team has not lost a game away from home this season, their only defeats being on their own ice at the hands of Port Hope and Peterborough.

The Green Shirts are decidedly no home ice birds, and they will travel faster and work more determinedly on the local cushion than they did in Oshawa on Monday.

The no-smoking rule will be in force again to-night, and the fans are asked to co-operate The conditions during the Belleville game were ideal in this respect, and if the smoking is eliminated as effectually to-night the crowd will not only get better hockey, but will be able to see it better.

Bobby Hewitson is to referee, and the best ice if the season is assured for the contest.

HOCKEY

Mr. Boorman having arranged special lighting, and having set apart Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for hockey, many interesting games have been played at the rink.

Some of the teams taking advantage are the Normal School, Business College, De Laval, Lavoie's Knitting Works, Westclox, Bonner-Worth, King George school, Queen Mary, Sacred Heart, Immaculate Conception, St. John's, George St., All Saints.

Last night a very interesting game was played between the Bonner-Worth and the Park Street North teams. They lined up as follows:

Bonner-Worth: Goal, Griffin; defence, Ridyard, Tobin; forwards, Mann and Woodgate; centre, Morey

On Saturday at 4 o'colck, the Normal school will play the Lavoie's Knitting Works. This game will be interesting, both teams playing good combination.

LOCAL BOXERS AT LONDON TOURNEY

T. Minnicola Made London Opponent Go Overtime for Decision,

Peterborough boxers returned from London this morning after taking part in a boxing bill held by the South London A.C. last night

Al. Williams met "Curly" Murrell, a crack 112-pounder, who put the local boy away in the first round.

Tony Minicolo put up a great bout with "Spider" Woodham of London, who was given the decision after an extra round.

Lorne Combe made the trip, but did not get a chance in the ring, a change in the card having to be made at the last minute on account of an injury to one of the entrants in the class.

This morning's Free Press says the show was a big success. Of the Minicolo-Woodham bout the Free Press has the following:

"Spider" Woodham's clean hitting and aggressive tactics gave him a well-earned victory over Tony Minicolo in an extra two minutes after three close, fast rounds. Tony, sturdy and stocky, ducked into frequent clinche- when the "Spider's" fast straight lefts glanced over his head. Woodham missed many of his attempts, but landed an even exchange with the Peterborough lad's body play. Woodham almost had the bout won in the third round, when he landed a fusilade of lefts and rights on sundry spots belonging to Tony, but he offset the advantage by holding.

DISTRICT CUP PLAY IN TORONTO TUESDAY

Postponed Because of Mild Weather-To Decide Championship Next Week.

TORONTO, February 13 (Canadian Press). — It was announced this morning by G. S. Pearcy, secretary of the Ontario Curling Association, that play in the finals for the District Cup championship would begin on Tuesday, 19th February.

Scheduled to have commenced on Tuesday last, the mild weather prevailing on Monday necessitated the postponement, and although ideal curling weather now prevails, it was deemed wise, in view of the number of bonspiels now in progress throughout the Province, to hold the District Cup play over until next week.

Curling News

The local curlers are falling behind in their schedule games. Last evening with a good sheet of ice, seven games were scheduled to be played, but on account of some of the men not turning up, only four games were run off.

W R Widdess won from Walter Oke's quantette after a very close game by the score of 8 shots to 7.

R. L. Dobbin also won a good game from S. T. Medd by 1 shot.

FORGET ESTATE WILL BE AIRED IN COURTS

TORONTO, Feb. 13. — R. A. Reid, acting on behalf of the estate of Sir Rodolphe Forget of Montreal, and for Lady Marie Louise McDonald Forget, Maurice Forget, Pierre Cosgrain, Gillies Forget and Jacques Forget, and also on behalf of Hon. Senator A. McCall, Simcoe, has filed at Osgoode Hall, an elaborate defence for his clients.

He demands a complete account ing and realization of all the assets and resources of the Home Bank before any further sums of money are paid by any shareholders to the liquidators. He also says the bank has been insolvent for a long period of years, and "by false and fraudulent schemes, and obtaining money from shareholders and the public by false pretences.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A BARNYARD RIDDLE

Are you a jumping rope up in the sky?

"I wonder who is going to guess my new riddle?" said the Riddle Lady.

"Nick and I will guess as hard as we can, won't we, Nick?" answered Nancy. "We just love riddles!"

"We all love riddles!" said the Riddle Land folk and the Mother Goose people crowding closer.

"Well this one is hard," warned the Riddle Lady, "so think hard." And she began:

"Are you a jumping rope up in the sky,
That the giant's children use?
If that's what you are I should like to know why,
You are colored such marvelous hues.

"Or are you a bridge where the little Chinese
Come a pit-pattering o'er the sea,
Because if you are, I will send for a star,
And have them bring one down to me.

"Or perhaps it may be you're the magical arch,
That divides earth from far fairy-land,
And through your wide portals the wee fairies march,
To the tune of the fairy king's band.

"Or perhaps you're the awning the fairies spread out,
To protect fairyland from the rain,
Your stripes must be water-proof,
I have no doubt,
The way your bright colors remain.

"Or is it a fact that your colors do run,
And drops of them fall on the flowers?
For they always seem brighter when out comes the sun,
After it has been raining for hours.

"And is it quite true that a large pot of gold
Is buried where you touch the ground?
Did pirates dig there when they wandered of old,
And bury the treasure they'd found?

"What are you, oh beautiful bow in the sky,
A mushroom or great parasol?
I never see you when the weather is dry,
Which puzzles my brain most of all!"

"Is it a mushroom?" asked Greedy Man. "I wish it was and that I could eat it with pepper and salt."

"No!" the Riddle Lady shook her head.

"Is it a Chinese bridge?" asked Bobby Shaftoe. "If it is I shall walk across the ocean after this because I'm tired of sailing."

"No!" The Riddle Lady shook her head again. "That's not it, either."

"It's a rainbow, isn't it?" said Nick.

"Why, of course it is," cried everybody. "It's as easy as pie when you know the answer. "It's a rainbow!"

"Yes, that's right," said the Riddle Lady. "The prize is an umbrella, Nick, and if you don't use one, give it to Nancy."

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, February 13 (United Press). — The stock market opened fairly active and firm with Steel Common fractionally higher, as was Anaconda Studebaker,, and several other of the leaders.

The developments over the holiday were the constructive and notably strong international banking group formed to handle the Japanese loan of approximately $275,000,000, of which $150,000,000 will be sold in the United States.

The money derived from the loan will be used largely in the purchase of materials necessary to reconstruct the devastated area of last year's earthquake, and will furnish considerable business to American industry

The action of Steel, Baldwin, and American Can, being particularly impressive, trading showed considerable falling off from the volume recently maintained, partially because of the absence of Jesse L. Livermore, who has left Palm Beach for a Florida fishing trip .

With the main body of stocks registering complete confidence regarding the business, future activities or the side of rising prices were undertaken by various groups, coppers being favoured because of the firmer tone in the price of the metal.

ALBERTA COAL USERS

There are still a few citizens who obtained test lots of Alberta coal who have not returned the Examiner enquiry cards. In view of developments which are pending in connection with the bringing in of this coal, The Examiner desires to make a tabulation for the information of the citizens immediately.

To assist in a thorough report, those who have tried the Alberta coal are requested to return the postcards filled in as required, or to write The Examiner saying whether the coal was satisfactory.

It will materially help if those who report on the coal will state their experience with ash, smoke, soot, dirt, heat and speed in starting the fire compared with anthracite.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"SASSY BITS OF 1924."

"Sassy Bits of 1924," billed as a musical comedy, but really a revue, as devoid of plot as the members of its chorus are of stockings, is paying a two-day visit to the Grand, opening its engagement last night.

It is a lively and sometimes noisy concoction of singing, dancing, and comedy features in which the chief honours are carried off by the dancers, notably by Edouard and Jeanne Bourdini, whose terpsichorean efforts are decidedly above the average, their Valse Acrobatique and Spanish Tango numbers being the high lights of the performance.

Paul Jazzbo Frances, a blackface comedian, who works hard and puts his stuff over smoothly, supplies most of the laughs, and he was especially effective in his piano number. Fred Hackett adds to the comedy side of the production, and Ernestine Caru contributes some very enjoyable singing, her songs, "Carita" and "Tokio Love," being rendered in excellent voice.

There is no lack of musical numbers nor of comedy features

"Sassy Bits of 1924" will be seen at the Grand again to-night.

"THE UNWANTED CHILD"

Florence Edna May, authoress of the sensational success "The Unwanted Child," comparing and contrasting audiences in America, Australia and London, Eng., declares that there is much less of a real difference than many people imagine in the temperament of an audience. A play that is soundly built and soundly acted will not fail of its mark anywhere, and while tradition and variety of circumstances have resulted in different types of conduct in different parts of the world, the impulses and perceptions underlying that conduct are much the same the world over. Miss May's play comes to the Grand for two days starting Friday with matinee daily for ladies only at which performance in addition to the play a special lecture of extreme interest will be delivered to the ladies. Everyone over sixteen years admitted to all evening performances.

AT THE ROYAL

"HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN" DELIGTFUL.

Last Presentation To-night.

"His Children's Children," a Sam Wood production for Paramount, is a delightful feature at the Royal. The story is a gripping melodrama, the scenes of which are laid in New York and vicinity. It was filmed on actual locations and is thoroughly human and American. Bebe Daniels, Dorothy Mackaill, James Rennie and George Fawcett are featured in an unusually strong cast. This is one of the best pictures seen here in many months and is enjoyable from start to finish. Don't miss seeing it.

The vaudeville is also up to the mark.

TARKINGTON'S "PENROD AND SAM" COMING TO THE ROYAL THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY.

"Penrod and Sam," Booth Tarkington's famous story of American boy life, was produced at the Hollywood Studios by Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

Encouraged by the marvellous reception which the public tendered "Penrod," which was filmed by Marshall Neilan for First National release, the latter organization undertook to put on an even more lavish American boy story from the pen of the famous Tarkington.

Because of William Beaudine's recognition in the art of directing children, he was chosen to handle the directorial megaphone. Beaudine is also famous for his comedy. So universally is his ability recognized to handle children that he has been frequently employed by many producers to make the "kid" sequences of pictures which were under the direction of their own directors.

The production is presented by J. K. McDonald and made under the personal supervision of William Beaudine. It stars Benny Alexander, protege of D. W. Griffith in the role of Penrod and Joe Butterworth and Sam Williams.

"No expense or pains were spared in making this film a faithful screen reproduction of American boyhood," said Mr. McDonald. So faithful in fact every man who sees it will forget that he has grown up during the showing of the picture.

It will be presented at the Royal theatre, commencing Thursday.

POSTAL CO-OPERATION— ENVELOPES SHOULD BE OF GOOD QUALITY.
In urging the proper packing of parcels, the impression may have been given that letters wil go through the mails without damage, even if the lightest of envelopes are used. Frequently, expensive enclosures are sent in envelopes of such poor quality that damage is almost certain to result. Even if the envelope does not burst at the seams or tear at the corners, the gum may not hold and with the slightest handling the envelope opens, possibly resulting in loss of contents. It is false economy and bad business to use poor envelopes. They give a bad impression which it may be difficult to overcome. You would not want your representative to call on a prospective customer unshaven and in ragged clothes—why send your circular or business letter in a poor envelope. The envelope is the first thing the addressee notices—see that his first impression is a good one.

If a letter is worth writing it is worth a proper envelope, one that will be strong enough to reach its destination in good condition. The Post Office asks your co-operation on this point. Give your mail the attention you expect it to receive.

A MOTOR LEAGUE ANNUAL TONIGHT

Will Discuss Taking Over of Lindsay - Peterboro Highway.

The annual meeting of the Motor League, Peterborough Branch, will be held this evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, at 8 p.m., under the Chairmanship of President P. H. Turner. Among the subjects to be considered will be the proposal from Lindsay that the Peterborough-Lindsay road be taken over as a Provincial Highway, and Bill No. 72, Motor Vehicles Act, which came into operation on January 1st.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and a programme of activities for 1924 will be outlined.

Delegates to the Ontario Motor League Annual Meeting in Toronto on February 18th will also be appointed.

Mrs. R. P. Boucher, (Mrs. Dr. Boucher), formerly of Peterborough, is spending three monthes in Italy, accompanied by Mrs. Edgar Jarvis, of Toronto.

Mr. Joseph Greer, of Prince Rupert, B.C., passed through the city on Saturday on a business trip to Montreal and Chicago. While in the city, Mr. Greer was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilchrist, 697 Harvey street.

The Rev. I. Lancaster Hughes, St. Aidans' parsonage, Young's Point, in writing to Mr. R. J. Devey notice of his re-election to the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto, says in part: "We, the congregation of Hall's Bridge, appreciate your service for us in the past, a service so willingly and gladly given." Mr. Devey will be absent from the city on Thursday, attending a meeting of one of the standing committees of the Synod, held in Toronto.

A very pretty Valentine Tea was held at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum yesterday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League. There was a good attendance for the tea and musical programme, held in the big Assembly Hall, decorated in bright fashion with quantities of Valentine decorations in gay colors. Rose crepe paper shaded the lights; there were red hearts and red roses on the big tea-table, and daffodils on the smaller individual tables. The guests were received by members of the executive committee, the president, Mrs. C. Snider, and Mesdames E. G. Hiland, F. J. McFadden, E. H. Hickey, B. Law and H. A. Owen. Mrs. J. J. Doris acted as convehor of arrangements. Tea was poured by Mrs F. P. McNulty and Mrs. E. T. Flood. Tea-room assistants were Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. J. Primeau, the Misses K. Sharpe, M. Rose, G. McFadden and M. Sullivan. During the afternoon and evening an enjoyable musical programme was rendered, with vocal solos by Mrs. J. Dwyer and Miss Stella Brady, accompanied by Miss M. Lonergan and Miss M. McCabe, instrumental selections by Miss Marion Hayes, and several members by the McCarthy orchestra, composed of Miss Dorothy Garden and Carl McCarthy at the piano, and Ted McCarthy and Wilson Dunlop playing the traps.

Miss Flora Davis who has been visiting her parents on Conger street has left for Lethbridge, Alberta, where she has accepted a position.

Rev. R. C. Blagrave left this morning for Toronto, where he will attend the committee meetings of the Synod, the executive committee of the Diocese, the Boys' Work, Council of the G.B.R.E., and the Social Service committee.

Miss Irene Davidson of Campbellford, returned home to-day after spending a few days with Miss Jennie Fredericks.

The many friends of Mr. John Keenan, London Street, will regret to learn he is in Nicholls Hospital seriously ill, with little hope for his recovery.

A very pleasant evening was spent last night under the auspices of the Treasure-Seekers' Bible Class of St. James' Sunday School, when about sixty of the members and their guests partook of a sumptuous banquet, served under the supervision of the Social Committee, after which an informal programme was rendered, under the leadership of Ald. J. O. Fife, teacher of the class, consisting of short addresses from different members and guests, a vocal solo by a former member, Mrs. Rehill, of Toronto, and a vocal duett by Mrs. Rehill and Mr. A. E. Prest. A flashlight picture of the gathering was taken by Mr. F. L. Roy. The evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem, led by Mrs. Hotston, pianiste for the Sunday School.

BATTLE FIVE HOURS WITH FACTORY FIRE

Toronto Warehouse Devastated -- Firemen Showered With Bricks From Falling Wall.

TORONTO, Feb. 13. — Canadian Press. — Three quarter's of Toronto's fire fighting force battled for five hours early to-day with a fire which devastated the four storey brick warehouse factory occupied by the International Stock Food Company, Zyrd Chemical Company, and the Robert Watson candy works, in the west end of the city, resulting in two hundred thousand dollars damage.

Several firemen had a close call from death when a wall of the building fell into a lane, and they were showered with falling bricks and lumber. They escaped without serious injury.

HONEYMOON JAUNT NOT ALL SUNSHINE

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.— (Canadian Press.)— Prince Erik and his Princess are finding New York a difficult place in which to spend their honeymoon with any degree of privacy.

Prince Erik of Denmark and his bride, formerly Miss Lois Booth, Canadian heiress, arrived here last night and attempted to steal quietly to the hotel. The Princess, looking very small in a great fur coat, had to take two steps to the Prince's one as they strode through the Grand Central terminal, intent upon a taxicab to the hotel.

Just as they approached an exit, and the Princess was urging speed upon the lagging porter, who carried the luggage, something happened.

Bang! It was a flashlight, first of half score. Newspapermen had discovered the Royal pair. A crowd gathered. The porter got lost. The Princess laughed nervously and begged the Prince to run. He refused. He did increase his stride, however, and the Princess fairly flew to keep up with him.

It was a hurried interview, given and taken on the run. "Oh, dear, isn't it dreadful?" laughed the Princess, hanging on to the Prince with desperation.

"No, I don't know where I'm going. I don't know where I'm going to-night and I don't know where I'm going to-morrow."

At the hotel the Prince registered, 'Prince and Princess Erik of Denmark,' in neat script, while the Princess dived into the elevator with hat boxes and bags. The Prince followed sedately.

OBITUARY

THOMAS DOUGHTY

Thomas J. Doughty of Dummer township passed away yesterday at his home Lot 18, Concession 2. The late Mr. Doughty was 66 years of age and has been in ill health for several months. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and the Loyal Orange Order. He has resided in Dummer township for over 30 years.

Besides his sorrowing wife there are left to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs. Herb. Mitchell of Lakefield and Mrs. J. Lloyd on the home stead.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon from the family residence known as the English Line to the Warsaw Cemetery. Service at the house at 2 p.m. conducted by Rev. Mr. Weir of the Warsaw Methodist church.

HOLD MISSION STUDIES.
The regular monthly meeting of St. John's WA. was held in the Guild Room yesterday afternoon, with a very large attendance. The meeting was opened by prayer by Rev. Dr. Blagrave and a Scripture reading. The monthly reports of the different departments showed increased interest among the members.

It was decided to hold four mission studies during Lent, instead of the regular Tuesday afternoon sewing meetings.

A NEW BUSINESS
Miss Agnes McFadden, a well-known business girl of this city, removed to Port Huron to open up a new business. The exclusive millinery store called 'The Raymond Shop' Suite 201 Kresge Building Port Huron, of which Miss A. McFadden is a member of the firm. On Saturday, Feb. 2nd was the opening day, which proved a great success. The shop is beautifully decorated and with fine hangings, furniture etc., looked like a bit of fairyland. It was full of cut flowers of all descriptions sent in by the business firms of Port Huron. This sheds a new and interesting sidelight on the way business is done in that country.

Miss McFadden's friends in her old home town wish her success in her new enterprise.

WETASKIWIN, Alta., Feb. 13.—Canadian Press. — After a trial lasting two days, Wilhelm Hason, who was charged with the murder of Edgar Falkner, a farmer of the Sylvan district on November 30, was found guilty last night, and sentenced by Justice Tweedie to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan on May 1.

OIL DEALERS TO GET STIFF TRIAL

Was Promised Last Night by President Coolidge at the Lincoln Day Dinner.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Immediate, adequate and unshrinking prosecution to punish all persons guilty of fraud or corruption in the leasing of Government oil lands was promised last evening by President Calvin Coolidge in a speech at the 28th annual Lincoln day dinner of the National Republican Club at the Waldorf Astoria.

In this effort there will be no politics, no partisanship, the President said. "It will be speedy; it will be just. I am a Republican, but I cannot, on that account, shield anyone because he is a Republican. I am a Republican, but I cannot on that account prosecute anyone because he is a Democrat."

GIRLS' CLUB HELD AN ICE CARNIVAL

King Tut's Wife, Mary and Her Lamb and Other Topical Costumes Graced Examiner Masquerade.

The Girls' Club of The Examiner staff held a masquerade carnival party at a small private rink on Reid street last evening. Although the number of skaters appearing in costume was not overly large, the quality of their costumes was very striking. After much deliberation, the judges finally awarded the handsome prizes to Mrs. G. B. Brownlee, who appeared as Mary, with a very lifelike little lamb that accompanied her around the rink on several occasions, to Miss Helen Gallagher in a "sweet patootie" outfit, and to Miss Marita Collins, who was very imposing as King Tut's wife. Several young men present gave demonstrations of fancy solo skating The gratitude of the club is extended to Mr. Harry Clark, who skated faithfully with all the ladies, indifferent performers as well as excellent ones receiving his impartial attentions.

SKULL IS FRACTURED UNDER TONS OF COAL

HAMILTON, February 13 (Canadian Press). — Finace Lanco, 401 Sherman Avenue North, a labourer employed by the Burlington Steel Company, was fatally injured this morning, dying while being taken to the hospital.

Lanco was passing under a bucket containing two tons of coal, when the chain broke and he sustaingd a fractured skull from the falling coal.

Premier Rejects U.F.O. On Verdict of People

FERGUSON INTERPRETS ELECTION AS JUDGMENT AGAINST DRURY PARTY

Premier Declares U. F. O. Shall Not Be Recognized As Official Opposition, Asserts Old Two-Party System Is Re-established and Advises Doherty's Followers Their Day Is Done.

O.T.A. REFERENDUM.

TORONTO, February 14. — Premier Ferguson, speaking in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne late yesterday afternoon, made it quite clear that the Farmer group would not be recognised as the official Opposition in the House.

This followed an hour's speech by Hon. Manning Doherty, setting forth the claims of the Farmers for recognition on the ground that they had more members than the Liberals.

The Premier also outlined the general policy of the Government and stated its attitude on several important matters. Referring to the liquor question the Premier said that the policy to be pursued would be in accordance with election pledges and promises.

"The people by vote put the O.T.A. on the statute books, and if they want it removed they must do so by vote," said the Premier. "We simply propose to make the legal machinery necessary for the taking of a vote. There is no method now by which it could be taken. When the Government feels that there is sufficient public sentiment to have a vote we will have one."

Sam Clarke (Northumberland): How will you gauge it?

Mr. Ferguson: The Government must be responsible and will take the responsibility.

Survey Farm Conditions.

The Premier said the Advisory Road Committee would consist of three members of the Legislature, and that another committee of the House, consisting of representatives of all businesses and all groups, would during the recess, study farm economic conditions. He also outlined Government policy of social welfare, and announced a few proposals. He said that of course the amendment moved by Hon. Manning Doherty was a straight want of confidence resolution, and therefore moved an amendment to the amendment by which is substituted the words: "that we take all the proposals in the Speech from the Throne into our serious consideration, especially agriculture."

Hon. W. E. Raney asked for a ruling if an amendment to an amendment could be moved on the reply.

Says U.F.O. Solid.

Mr Doherty said that he intended again to deal with the injustice in the seating of his group and the failure of proper recognition of the largest Opposition group in the House. He said that if the Prime Minister brought down a Bill doing away with salary to the Opposition leaders he would support it. He said that no act of oppression would spoil the Party which was united and solid.

Referring directly to the Premier he said that he did not think that a public man would ever have so far forgotten himself as to ignore the largest group in a new House.

"The election may have shown that the people only want two Parties, but what two Parties?" asked Mr. Doherty.

Premier Ferguson: Tell us the name of your Party?

Mr. Doherty: You will find out soon enough. It will be written on your mind.

Mr. Doherty claimed that by his action the Premier had ruthlessly swept aside the representatives of 200,000 electors of Ontario. Was it trivial, he asked, to sweep aside the parliamentary practice of hundreds of years? He said that the matter of recognition was the most important subject before the Legislature in 25 years.

Mr. Doherty declared that the U. F. O. as an organisation had never been in politics, and that their resolution on going out of politics meant nothing.

"If the Canadian Manufacturers' Association says it is going out of politics, does it mean that the Conservatives are quitting?" asked Mr. Doherty. There was no need to worry about the name of the Party, and the Premier would find that he could not muddle the honest mind of the Province.

Mr. Doherty gave examples of other Parliaments to back up his demand, and said that the Premier could not have consulted his colleagues in his stand because it was the greatest political blunder in 30 years.

Scorn for the Liberals

He was certain he could not have consulted the private members of his Party, because they were too fair to countenance any such action.

Mr. Doherty made an appeal for "decent sportsmanlike conduct" on the part of the Government. He asked them to remember their boasted constitutional authority. As for the Liberals, he had nothing but scorn for the leaders who had accepted without protest the present state of affairs.

"The Premier saw the Liberals and pointed to the back door and said, 'Get in before the real owner comes,' and the Liberals had scampered in and grabbed off the Opposition. But I am content to let the matter rest with you, Mr. Speaker, as you know that under the statute passed by the late Government we are entitled to be the chief Opposition. If the Premier has the right to choose his own Opposition, then we are getting near the danger point."

Praises Drury Government.

Mr. Doherty was prepared to say that when it came to an election the old party machine could not be beaten—principle or no principle, it worked smoothly. He contended that the late Government had given the best Ontario administration in 25 years, and that this Government was now taking credit for much that had been done before it came into power.

"We did more for the Hydro than any other Government." (Liberal and Conservative laughter.)

Mr. Doherty said that agricultural problems in Ontario were all economic and the farmers could solve them themselves if they had a sympathetic Government. Bad marketing cost the province millions a year. On immigration he advocated a selected people with proper guidance and care after they got to Canada.

In conclusion, he outlined what he said would be the guiding principles of the U.F.O. group in the Legislature as follows: Adherence to the principles of 1919 and 1923 elections; establishment of economic and efficient marketing conditions for farm products; appointments to the Civil Service on merit and efficiency; strict enforcement of the O. T.A.; Province to pay 100 per cent. on Provincial highways; rural credit scheme extension; legislation to prevent sale of fraudulent stocks.

Ferguson Ironic.

Premier Ferguson referred to Mr. Doherty's demand as a long pathetic complaint which had almost touched him and filled him with remorse.

"There is no doubt but the election last June was an emphatic pronouncement of opinion. The outstanding issue at that time was whether the people desired to continue the uncertainty and instability of the Government and continue the activities of the organisation which had a mushroom growth, or fall back on the well-founded Party system. The issue was stability against instability. The people by a tremendous majority showed that they were through with instability, and were willing to return to the well-founded party system. Liberals by the thousand throughout this Province, thinking that the Conservatives had a better chance than the Liberal Party, voted for the Conservative candidates to get rid of the octopus that had been sucking the life blood of this Province for three years.

"I am at a loss to know what organisation my honourable friend (Mr. Doherty) does lead. They may be United Farmers, but they are led by a bond broker and a lawyer. There are more real farmers in the Conservative ranks than there are in the group opposite, and they are not political farmers either."

Quoted Farm Leaders.

The Premier quoted W. A. Amos, head of the U.F.O., as stating that the U.F.O was not an official opposition to any one, which was simply repeating the resolutions of that body passed several times.

Decide Validity of Lord's Day Act

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Appeal of the Lord's Day Alliance against the Sunday Trains Act of Manitoba will be argued before the Privy Council in June according to Dr. W. M. Rochester, Dominion secretary who passed through Winnipeg today on his way to Toronto.

"While the original issue was that of the operation of Sunday excursion trains, this issue has faded into the background," Dr. Rochester declared, and the larger question of whether the Lord's Day Act is valid in Manitoba or in any other province of the Dominion is the greatest one which now confronts us."

HALF PRAIRIE'S GRAIN WILL MOVE TO PACIFIC

C. N. R. Director Predicts That Share of Trade For Vancouver and Prince Rupert Within Five Years — Are Improving the Port Facilities For Heavier Business.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14. — "In five years fifty per cent. of the grain grown on the Prairie Provinces will be shipped through the ports of Vancouver and Prince Rupert," stated F. G Dawson, of Prince Rupert, British Columbia,

Mr. Dawson is one of the directors of the Canadian National Railways, and is in Montreal on business.

Qualifying his prediction, Mr. Dawson pointed out that the present freight rates from certain portions of the prairie provinces are equal to he rates to the head of the Great Lakes. At the same time navigation on the Great Lakes is closed from about December 1st to April 1st, or four months, whereas the Pacific Coast ports are open the year round. This closing of the Great Lakes ports, Mr. Dawson stated, causes a rush period in the movement of grain, and to meet this rush the railway companies have to maintain a large equipment which is more or less idle during the remainder of the year. At the same time congestion frequently results at the head of the lakes and as has been the case this winter the declaration of an embargo has been necessary. To meet the conditions which are bound to come, Mr. Dawson declared that the Pacific Coast ports were making preparations to improve their harbor facilities, and to seek the erection of elevators and other equipment necessary for the quick despatch of grain.

Coast is Prospering.

Touching upon the present conditions on the Pacific Coast, Mr. Dawson pointed out that the best indication of the prosperity of the Pacific coast was to be found in the record of the business men of Prince Rupert, among whom no failures had been recorded for more than two and a half years. This record, Mr. Dawson asserted, was without equal by any city of the proportionate population of Prince Rupert in Nort America.

The mining, lumbering and fishing industries in British Columbia were developing rapidly, stated Mr. Dawson. The fishing industry last year enjoyed the most successful season in its history, particularly in the vicinity of Prince Rupert, where the catch of halibut and salmon was particularly large.

The run of salmon on the Skeena River was particularly heavy and the canneries along that river packed more salmon than all the other canneries of British Columbia combined. Throughout central British Columbia much energy was being shown in mining development, considerable heavy capital being interested in the development of silver, gold and lead mines.

Tungsten Found.

A few days ago a rich strike of tungsten was reported and if the investigations substantiate the report it would be of very great importance to British Columbia.

The find of tungsten was reported from the district just east of Prince George on the main line of the Canadian National Railways.

"Green Goods" Men Get Three Years

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Convicted on a charge of working the antiquated "green goods" game on Anton Stadnyk, of Sundown, Manitoba, for $7,620, Paul Pona and John Procuik, were each sentenced to three years in the penitentiary in police court here yesterday.

The two sentenced men are alleged to have promised to double Stadnyk's money with the use of a bogus press, and then made off with his bank roll.

REV. JAMES GORDON FOR LOCAL CHURCH

Congregation Extended Call to Mitchell, Ontario, Pastor.

At a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last evening a call was extended to Rev. James W. Gordon, M.A., B.D., of Mitchell, Ontario. Rev. Mr. Gordon succeeds Rev. James Rollins, who accepted a call to Renfrew a short time ago.

Rev. D. A. Thomson, of Hastings, presided at the meeting which made the call to Rev. Mr. Gordon unanimous. The reverend gentleman preached in St. Andrew's on January 20th.

The call, signed by the congregation, will now be submitted to the presbytery, which holds its regular meeting on March 11th, unless, as is probable, a special session is called to consider the matter. When the Peterboro Presbytery approves of the call it then goes to the Stratford Presbytery for ratification, after which the matter rests in the hands of Rev. Mr. Gordon for his final decision.

Dockers' Strike Appears Likely

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Hopes of a settlemen of the dockers' dispute, were not realized, and it is even feared that the negotiations may break down. Hopes were built on the readiness of the Provincial employers to grant the union's demands. The London employers, however, developed strong opposition to the concession of more than one shilling a day, and their influence caused such a stiffening of the employers' attitude that last night a strike on Saturday was regarded as a real possibility.

According to late reports Tuesday night, the dock workers had agreed to accept an increase of one shilling a day in their wages, with another shillin to be added later. This after a conference of the employers and workers with the Minister of Labor will be held. The men originally demanded an increase of two shillings a day immediately.

PROPAGANDA IN SOVIET ANSWER

Litvinoff Says Countries Must "Throw Over Their Illusions and Hopeless Expectations" — The Bolsheviki Plume Themselves.

MOSCOW, Feb. 14.—Maxim Litvinoff, Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs, in connection with the recent action of Great Britain and Italy in recognizing the Soviet as the de jure Government in Russia, and yesterday's announcement that Norway also had accorded the Government full recognition, gave an interview to the newspaper correspondents here. M. Litvinoff outlined the general principle that the Soviet Government would refuse to sign any commercial treaties with countries prior to their dejure recognition of Russia.

A direct question if this statement meant there could be no trade agreement between the United States and Russia unless there was de jure recognition between trade agreements implying de facto recognition and commercial treaties. At any rate, he added, Russia had not yet been approached on this subject. Regarding Europe, however, it seemed obvious from Litvinoff's statement that the Soviet feels it now holds the trump cards.

Slur Over Debts.

"Some countries go on muttering about old debts," said Litvinoff. "We refuse to consider any preliminary conditions to commercial treaties. Countries first must recognize us de jure, then we will discuss matters with them.

"With Great Britain, Italy, Germany, Norway and the border States, we now have an ample field for our economic activities, and to export raw and import manufactured articles. Recognition now is of much less importance to us. There is not the slightest doubt that other European, and also American countries in the near future will throw over their illusions, hopeless expectations, and conventionalities. We are near general recognition."

Just Small Fry.

M. Litvinoff said that Russia had never recognized some of the new States arising from the war such as Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia, and that now doubtless Russian recognition was to them more important than their recognition of Russia.

The first fully accredited woman minister plentipotentiary in diplomatic history may serve for Russia in consequence of Norway's recognition of the Soviet Government. She is Madame Alexandria Kollantay, Russian trade representative in Norway. If she is persona grata to the Norwegian Government, M. Litvinoff said yesterday that hers ex would be no bar to her appointment.

PRESS CLAMORED FOR PRIVILEGES CARNARVON SOLD

Excavators Gave Contract to London Paper For Sole Rights to Story and Pictures — Other Papers Besiege the Egyptian Government.

CARTER REFUSED.

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 14. — The crisis which broke with dramatic suddenness yesterday between Howard Carter and the Egyptian Government and resulted in the closing of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, undoubtedly had its origin in a contract signed by the late Lord Carnarvon, securing the sole rights of descriptive articles and pictures in the tomb, to a London newspaper.

The Egyptian Government, which claims its rights over the tomb are incontestible, has been seriously embarrassed by requests by American and British newspapers in behalf of their correspondents at Luxor, for facilities in describing the discoveries, facilities, which the excavators have declined to grant, relying upon the so-called copyright clause in the excavators' licenses granted by the Department of Antiquities in behalf of the Egyptian government.

Consequently, between the excavators, jealous of their newspaper contract and the government jealous of its rights, there has been a whole series of bickerings, mainly on the question of visitors, which, however, did not find serious expression until yesterday.

Pending a solution of the difficulty watchmen of the Department of Antiquities will take over the immediate guardianship of the tomb from Mr. Carter's native foremen.

If no solution is found there are indications that the Egyptian Government will take over the tomb, and have the work of exploration completed by the Department of Antiquities.

FRENCH TAXES BOOST PRICES

Introduction of Poincare's Bill Has Already Affected Cost of Living By Twenty Per Cent. Increase.

PARIS, Feb. 14.— When the debate on the Government's taxation proposals was resumed in the Chamber yesterday, Vincent Auriol, a Socialist Deputy, strongly opposed the 20 per cent. adidtional taxes, saying that the mere introduction of the measure had increased the cost of living as dealers already had added about 20 per cent. to the selling prices.

He protested against the practice of metal manufacturers in quoting rates in pounds sterling and dollars. M. Wendel president of one the biggest steel corporations in France, interrupted to declare that practice was far from being contrary to the best interests of the country.

M. Bokanowski declared that the high exchange was greatly responsible for the present high cost of living and not the proposed additional taxtaion. Replying, M. Ouvre said that although the original purchase price of wheat brought to France, mostly from the Argentine, had not been raised in South America, the selling price in France was increasing steadily.

Premier Poincare will take the floor to-day to make what is expected to be an important declaration in an attempt to speed up the passage of the fiscal measures which now have been before Parliament for three weeks with no headway having been made. Only two articles out of the 109 thus far have been voted.

PETERBORO HEN MAKING RECORDS

Will Soon Be Laying Eggs by the Pound

Walter Sedgewick, 509 Chamberlain street, has a Black Minorca hen that has evidently been seized recently with the importance of her position as a member of the great Peterboro hen family. Last week, she produced an extremely large egg, but today she excelled her previous performance by giving to the world an egg that weighs three and a half ounces, and measures eight inches round the long way and six and three quarter inches round its girth. What this bird intends doing next week is a matter of conjecture to her owners.

Send Commission Into Palatinate

PARIS, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The French and British Governments have come to an agreement on the procedure to be adopted in the Palatinate in connection with the disorders at Pirmasens and other places. The Rhineland High Commission yesterday decided unanimously to send a commission of three officers, one British, one French and one Belgian, to investigate the situation and restore order.

This is regarded in French political circles as the first sign of the new methods for dealing with questions that have divided France and Great Britain. It is the first in a long while that the Rhineland Commission has been unanimous on a similar question.

AUSTRALIA AND CANADA CONFER

Negotiations For Reciprocal Tariff Agreement Is Concluded—Texts Will Be Submitted to Government.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—A series of conferences begun in Australia two years ago aiming at a reciprocal tariff agreement between Canada and Australia ended here last night. The extent to which each Government is willing to make concessions in tariff have been made clear and each delegation will submit the results of the conference to its government for approval. The customary secrecy regarding tariff matters has been preserved and nothing will be known as to the nature of the proposals until they are published simultaneously in both countries.

The Australian delegates proper are Senator R. V. Wilson, Minister of Health for the Australian Commonwealth and Major R. McK. Oakley, Controller-General of Customs for Australia. Senator Wilson leaves today for New York via Montreal and Major Oakley left for Vancouver last night en route to Australia. Last night the Australians were guests of the Canadian Government at dinner. The following official statement was given out jointly last night by the Canadian and Australian conferees:

"Hon. J. A. Robb and Hon. T. A. Low, on behalf of Canada, and Senator R. V. Wilson and Major R. McK. Oakley, on behalf of Australia have been negotiating on the question of a reciprocal tariff treaty between the two Dominions. The negotiations were commenced in Canada by Senator Pearce of Australia about two years ago and were continued by Mr. Robb in Australia in 1922. During the past ten days Senator Wilson and Major Oakley have been continuing the negotiations in Ottawa. The meetings ended last night.

"The requests of the Australians will be transmitted by the Canadian ministers to their Government, throughout the negotiations the best possible feeling has prevailed. It is hoped that an agreement has been concluded which will be beneficial to the trade of both countries. Because all tariff alterations and proposals are necessarily confidential no further details be made public at present. Immediately the respective Governments have agreed on the proposals, action will be taken to bring them into operation simultaneously in both countries."

WANT HIGHWAY FROM LINDSAY TO PETERBORO

Motor League Annual Meeting Decides to Help Lindsay Form a Branch and Will Support the Town in Advocating Building of Provincial Highway.

OFFICERS ELECTED

An appeal from Lindsay to the Peterboro Branch of the Ontario Motor League to send a deputation to organize a branch in that town was delivered at the annual meeting of the local branch last night by A. W. Blade, who was authorized to inform President McRae, of the Lindsay Board of Trade, that Peterboro is ready to co-operate in the movement.

The Peterboro Branch also expressed sympathy with a proposal from Lindsay that the Provincial Government be approached in an endeavor to have the road from Peterboro to Lindsay designated a Provincial highway and built as such. The Lindsay advocates of the improvement claim that seventy-five per cent. of the traffic will be towards Peterboro. It would make a circle for tourists, who could take in Whitby, Lindsay, Peterboro and Port Hope on Provincial roads.

Officers Elected.

The annual election of officers resulted in the following being chosen: Honorary President, Mayor J. J. Turner; President, D. R. Wren; Vice-President, J. A. Bertram; Board of Directors: E. W. Borbridge, J. W. Brightman, A. Brown, R. S. Cotton, R. Denne, J. I. Duffus, J. Juby, H. A. Perry, T. Sproat, R. J. Sutherland, W. D. Tyrer, J. French, H. Dryland, J. Dutton and O. S. Matchett.

The treasurer's report showed the finances of the League to be in good condition.

Retiring President's Address.

R. H. Turner, the retiring president, presented the following report:

I regret to state that our membership has decreased during the past year, not because the motorists lack interest in the League, but, I believe, from the fact that there was not sufficient personal efforts put forward by your officers and directors in securing them. Almost the entire membership was again secured through your office at the time motor licenses were issued.

With approximately three thousand motorists in the city and district I cannot see why, with the proper organized effort, we should not be able to secure at least twenty-five per cent. as members, or 750, instead of the two hundred we have at present.

I believe the five dollar annual membership in the League is the best insurance we can carry. Can you visualize what would happen if the motorists in Ontario were not organized as a strong effective body? It seems to me that our various Governments needing more revenue would immediately raise our license fees, and the revenue so secured would possibly decrease taxation in other directions or additional expenditure on projects which affect the entire community and not the motorists alone.

It is noted with considerable satisfaction that through the efforts of the League two years ago all revenue from motor licenses is now being applied to the improvement, maintenance and construction of highways, plus administration costs. It is questionable whether this re-

OMEMEE A. Y. P. A. AT FESTIVE BOARD

Eighty Members of Christ Church Enjoyed Banquet — Toast List Displayed Talent—Rev. A. T. Weir Presided.

OMEMEE, Feb. 13.—The banquet of Christ church A.Y.P.A. held in the basement of the church on Monday evening was an event of more than passing moment in the social life of the local association. All told about eighty of the young people of the church and their friends sat down to the tastefully decorated tables shortly before eight o'clock.

The toast list, while not a lengthy one, was well received and various were the predictions made concerning the future, literary and otherwise, of some of the young people of Christ Church.

The rector, Rev. A. T. Weir, who acted as toastmaster, proposed the toast to the "King." In doing so, he took occasion to point out the unique manner in which the British Empire in her constitutionally limited monarchy is able to get the best from both the monarchical and the democratic systems without at the same time becoming subject to the dangers incidental to either system when exclusively adhered to.

The toast to Canada was given by the President, Mr. John Bent, who in a poetically worded address pictured the beauties as well as the more material advantages of our own Canadian land.

Fellowship of A.Y.P.A.

Mr. Horace Hill in proposing the toast to the A.Y.P.A. of the Canadian Church, laid stress throughout his well-arranged and somewhat humorous address, upon the vital principle of Fellowship, which underlies, though in a quiet way, every activity of the association. The ideal of Christian brotherhood must dominate the hearts and determine the conduct of the men and women of the church of Christ.

The toast to the ladies was given by Mr. Reuben Reeds, in his usual happy manner. "What would we do without them," he said, "in the home, in the activities of the Church, or on occasions such as this?"

Church Officers

Mr. Noble Clemett, in giving the toast to the officers of the church, called upon those present to show their appreciation for services rendered by the various directors of church activity by joining heartily in the toast which he proposed.

Lack of space forbids mention of a number of brief but worthwhile addresses given by members of the A.Y.P.A., amongst the most interesting being those given by several of the ladies.

The company dispersed after the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Guild Meeting

The regular meeting of the Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was held on Monday evening. Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of the Methodist church, who had previously consented to give the topic was present and delivered an eloquent address on "Building."

A very appropriate duet was well rendered by Misses Helen Mackey and Genevieve Sandy.

Inspector R. F. Downey, of Peterborough, paid a visit to the public school on Tuesday.

Miss Mary Faulkner has returned home, after spending the past ten weeks with her sister, Mrs. Halligan, of Campbellcroft.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EXAMINER:

Sir,—The Examiner reports a speech before the local Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Howard Smith. He speaks against high protection and in favor of what he calls moderate protection. There is no such thing as moderate protection. We must protect high enough to protect, if we are going to protect at all. Such speeches are evidently intended as an apology for protection and if people get that idea they will certainly have none of it. The case of protection is clear. If we wish to preserve the home market we must keep others out. If we expect to take part in foreign trade we must produce cheaply enough to do so and protection cannot possibly help us. Hence we must take our choice. Britain took hers. The U. S. have taken their choice. American foreign trade was done largely at a loss otherwise they could not have had any at all. The American farmer and now the American cotton raiser are finding their foreign trade closing down. They want the home market not protection. Eventually competition is bound to kill their foreign trade altogether where countries producing more cheaply are their competitors and cheap-producing countries must have all their means of production at a non-protected cost. The home-market is easily held by protection and if producers, wage-earners, etc., insist on high prices they can get them only where they are protected against cheap competition. The issue, therefore, is "Do we want a home-market or a world-market?" We must take our choice. We cannot have both. Britain values her foreign trade and wants accordingly to produce cheaply and says that if she can produce cheaply enough to beat foreign competition abroad she can beat it at home. Hence she rejects protection. Can we do that? If so, then let us drop protection. If not we must have sufficient protection to ensure our home market for ourselves or perish. "Moderate" protection would give us neither a home nor a foreign market. It is bunk. If we want foreign trade with protected countries we must have reciprocity. The three conditions of trade, therefore, are Free Trade, Protection and Reciprocity. Many are in favor of adopting Reciprocity as the best course. But it allows of protection only against other countries than those reciprocating and is therefore neither F. T. nor Protection but a middle course. That is not as yet an issue in Canada. It may again become one. It will be interesting to see how Great Britain beats out Germany. It will be interesting to see how the U. S. satisfies her people with only a home-market. Canada may decide that she too must choose her home-market and a Fordney tariff. It looks like another attempt at reciprocity to me as our next step. Indecision and taxation due to Government ownership are killing us. We are now paying Sir Henry Thornton's fixed charges deficit and the profit he is making in operation as well. We are a brainy people, we are. Isn't it evident that his profits are paid by us and are not profits? But taxation for the fixed charges remains. It is a tremendous burden.

CENTREVILLE AND PETERBORO DEBATE

The regular meeting of the U.F.Y.P.O. of Peterboro was held in the Simcoe Street rooms on Tuesday evening, when the chief feature of the programme was a debate between the Peterboro and Centreville clubs, on the resolution: "That the use of labor-saving devices has done more to lighten the work of the farmer than to reduce the drudgery of farm work in farm houses." The affirmative side, which won, was taken by Centreville, Messrs. Douglas Deyell and Bebee upholding the winning standard. Peterboro had the negative, debated by the Misses May Muir and Rosanna Tully.

The meeting was well attended, about 70 of the young people being present, with a sleighload from Centreville. A contest, "A Motor Romance," and a musical programme that included solos by Miss Mary Lewis, Miss Reta Redman, and Mr. Alex. McGregor, readings by Jack Ackison, and community singing, followed by refreshments, concluded the evening.

TRIBESMEN BALK AT PAYING BILL.

Chief of Swaziland Took Junketing Trip — Coal Black Subjects Objected

LONDON, February 14 (Associated Press). — Saboza, paramount chief of Swaziland, the African potentate, who visited England last year, occupied a palatial residence in the British capital and paid his respects to King George at Buckingham Palace, returned to his home land only to find his coal black tribesmen would not approve their big chief's bills for travel and entertainment.

A nine-months' drough, occurred in Swaziland and the Swazis thought Saboza had caused it.

In fear and terror they came through with the money for the chief's debts—and then it rained.

Saboza had relented.

Now the chief is planning another European trip.

PEOPLE "ALL NERVES"

What to Do if You Find Yourself in This Condition.

The sort of thing that specialists speak of as nervous debility is the run-down condition caused by overwork, household cares or worries. The sufferers find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise startles and sets the heart palpitating violently. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. The hands tremble and the legs feel as if they would give way, following a walk or any exertion. The whole condition of such people may be described as pitiable.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of new rich blood. Therefore the treatment for nervousness and run-down health is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which promptly build up and enrich the blood. The revived appetite, the strong nerves, improved spirits and new strength which comes after a course of these pills will delight every sufferer.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealers or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FRENCH CHANGE POLICY ON RUHR

Abandonment Advocated in Exchange For New System of Guarantees—Article in "Le Matin" An Indication.

PARIS, Feb. 13. — That French opinion respecting the Ruhr policy is changing is the consensus of the opposition press in commenting on an article by M. Sauerwein in the Matin, which it is believed, was inspired.

Sauerwein, after admitting that everything received by France, was swallowed up by military expenses, advocates extensive modifications, even to the abandonment of occupation of the Ruhr, in exchange for a new system of guarantees which could be placed in inter-allied, not merely Franco-Belgian hands.

The article indicates that France will expect full payment through an international loan and a neutralized Ruhr and Rhineland if she consents to an inter-allied instead of a purely Franco-Belgian settlement with Germany.

The newspaper Oeuvre says this is a return to a commonsense programme, which was on the point of realization at the Cannes conference, when Premier Briand was recalled.

CONDITIONS ARE BETTER IN WEST

Prairie Population Daily Gaining Confidence in West.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—"Conditions in the west are improved," was the view expressed last night by James Stewart, President of the Maple Leaf Milling Company and one of the best known men of the Canadian west. "The people of the prairie provinces are daily gaining confidence in themselves and in the west. They are assured that any change which occurs will be for the better.

"The Oriental demand for Canadian wheat is relatively greater this year than any previous year," declared Mr. Stewart, replying to questions as to westward movement.

ASK MAGISTRATES TO STUDY LUNACY.

London Magistrates Are to Attend Four Lectures a Week — Visit Institutions.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press).—In order to help them in their work, certain London magistrates will attend lectures on lunacy four days a week, commencing in March. The course has been organized by the Central Association of Mental Welfare and, after their lessons in the morning, the magistrates will visit certified institutions for defectives, prisons and remand homes.

Sir Leslie Scott, chairman of the Welfare Association, says it has been felt that some such practical course might be of interest and help to magistrates in a part of their work, to which so much attention has recently been drawn. At present a magistrate can override an expert opinion which decides that a person is a mental defective. "We have arranged to bring the two together, in order that they will the better understand the others' point of view."

Expect Miners Will Accept Agreement.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—The British Empire Steel Corporation Limited has no statement to make regarding the reported refusal of Nova Scotia miners to return to work, following the agreement concluded between their leaders ahid the corporation.

It is believed that when the agreement has been explained to the miners they may accept it.

EXPLOIT MINES AT EMPIRE FAIR

Sudbury Board of Trade Requests Government to Send Hon. Mr. McCrea and His Deputy.

SUDBURY, February 14. — That the province should send Hon. Chas. McCrea, Minister of Mines, and his Deputy Minister, to England this summer to attend the British Empire Exhibit at Wembly, in order to give first hand information and get in touch with British capitalists, in connection with the mineral display at the exhibit, was the substance of a resolution passed by the Board of Trade.

In line with this resolution was a decision to get in touch with district interests in order that the Sudbury district might be represented in the mineral exhibit, with particular reference to undeveloped mineral resources.

That a government survey with a view to the construction of a railway from Swastika to Westtree, which has been mooted for some years past, should be strongly urged on the present administration was the opinion of a number of speakers. The matter came up when a resolution favoring endorsement of the stand of the Board in previous years in favor of the Sturgeon Falls route of the proposed trunk highway into the Temiskaming District, came before the meeting.

The resolution finally passed, but the spirit of the meeting was not unanimous in its favor.

PRIEST HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Housekeeper in Rectory Shot Through the Head —Priest Says Shooting Was Accidental,

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press). — Shot through the head, Miss Anna McDonough, aged 45, housekeeper in the rectory of St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church, California Avenue and Antrim Street, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon. Rev. John Grady, pastor of the church, is held on a charge of murder. Miss Margaret McDonough, aged 42, sister of the victim, who is also employed in the rectory, and Robert Shields, janitor of the church, were in the rectory at the time of the shooting. Both are held as material witnesses.

The priest is said to have admitted the shooting, but declares it was accidental, although two empty shells were found in the chambers of the revolver. After a prolonged grilling of Father Grady, Police Inspector Kane expressed the belief that the prisoner was mentally deranged.

Mopping Up Moscow Now in Full Swing.

MOSCOW, Russia, Feb. 14.—(United Press).—The Soviet authorities are continuing the "mopping up" of undesirables. Professional gamblers, money speculators and everyone else without a recognized legal occupation will be deported to certain fixed places. Their quarters will be confiscated and handed over to the Soviet officials for redistribution

The Council of People's Commissaries is now considering a project of stringently regulating the fluctuations of all Moscow visitors. The project provides that no stranger can stay longer than one month in Moscow unless he has been transferred from some state institution to Moscow to work there, or unless he has been detained by official business.

The penalty is a fine of from 100 to 500 gold rubles and expulsion from Moscow for three years.

Elevator Slips Cogs, Operator Is Killed.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—Plunging to the ground from a height of nearly two storeys when an elevator he was operating slipped its cogs, Francis Cagnon, an employee of the Thomas Davidson Manufacturing Co., of this city was almost instantly killed at the company's offices here this afternoon.

COMMUNIST TROUBLES.

BONN, Germany, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press.) — Communist troubles developed today at Solingen and Bruhl in the British zone. Some four or five thousand Communists in Bruhl surrounded a body of Security Police from Cologne and forced them to take refuge in a bank where they still remain. It is reported that several persons were wounded.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odour, smoke, or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% kerosene (coil oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

FERGUSON INTERPRETS

Mr. Ferguson read a letter from Mr. Doherty concerning seating which used the word "Progressive" in referring to the group.

"What way is he facing? What group is he leading?" asked the Premier.

Mr. Raney interjected the comment that this was "cheap."

He also said it was the opinion of Mr. Crerar and J. J. Morrison that the farmers should not be official Oppositions. The Premier declared that 90 per cent. of farmers now thought they had made a mistake in going into politics, as farmers.

"However, even if these things were not true, I am quite prepared to interpret the verdict of the people at the last election as a reason for having the Liberals the Opposition. Let me tell my Liberal friends that the old system is back to stay, and let me say to the members of the Farmer group that they should begin to join either of the old parties if they will have them."

Ontario Coal Problem.

Speaking of Government policy, Mr Ferguson said there was no coal problem in Canada. It was a problem of distribution. He told of bringing down 16,000 tons of Alberta coal for trial and of the good results. There were negotiations now going on again with the National Railways to get a cheap rate.

Regarding Hydro, the Premier said that all the most stalwart friends of Hydro in Ontario regarded the late Government as its worst enemy. He said the report of the Gregory Commission would make charges made by the last Government look ridiculous.

On roads the Premier said that the intensive provincial road scheme had left the county and township roads to neglect. As these were the most important they should be looked after. The Advisory Board proposed would consist of three members ofthe Legislature and help the Minister and encourage County Councils.

It was still the intention to get as soon as possible a real financial man to be Comptroller of Finance for the Province. On agriculture, the Government would have a committee of the House study the farm economic situation during the recess.

The Premier pointed out that there had never been a Ministry of Health in Ontario. He proposed to establish a Ministry of Health which would look after the Labour Department as he now as Premier looked after the Education Department.

Child Welfare

On child welfare it had been found that the industrial school at Mimico was no longer capable of looking after the delinquent boys. The Government had been presented with a farm near Bowmanville, and had bought another, and now proposed to have established there a farm on the cottage plan for delinquent boys and later one for girls.

In view of the distressing cases among Home boys recently in Ontario, the Premier said it was proposed by the Government to license all Homes which bring out boys, and to put them under regulations which would prevent bad homes.

Hon. W. E. Raney moved the adjournment of the debate.

Hon. W. H. Price introduced a Bill whereby in cities of over 100,000, bowling alley and pool room applicants must get the approval of the Police Commissions and then get their licenses from the municipality.

Bills introduced by Hon. W. F. Nickle would make the penalty for one refusing to pay fare on a street railway car $10.00, and provide that a trial traversed from any county to another county should be paid for by the county from which it is traversed and not by the county to which it is traversed.

The House adjourned at 6.10 p.m.

Manitoulin Yearns For Song of Spring.

SUDBURY, February 14. — Residents of Manitoulin will be especially glad when the first balmy winds herald the near approach of spring, for the unusually heavy fall of snow this winter has meant considerable hardship to these people whose principal means of communication with the mainland is by means of a long cutter drive across the frozen north channel.

Recent visitors to the island state that the continued heavy fall of snow has not been equalled in over ten years.

And the Canadian hostess who follows this delightful English custom, can now have, for her teas, biscuits made from the inimitable Old Country recipes that have won for English biscuits their world-wide popularity.

Weston's are biscuits with all the supreme goodness of these delicious English confections made by English master-bakers in a bakery modeled on English lines and specially equipped to produce "biscuits as they are made in England." They are approved by the Master of the Royal Household at Buckingham Palace; they are the one choice of all discriminating hostesses whose inherent good taste causes them to select the very best.

There's a delightful assortment of Weston's too—delicious short cake, cream-filled chocolate, tasty arrowroot—in fact every type the most fastidious could desire. Just try them once. The taste will tell their quality.

THE MOTOR LEAGUE.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Motor League last night brings to the fore the fact that this organization has been doing much useful work not only on behalf of its members and of motorists in general, but also for the benefit of the general public.

One of the aims of the league has been to educate motorists in the need of careful and courteous driving, and to instil in everybody who takes the wheel of a car a sense of his responsibility to other motorists and to all who have occasion to be on the roads.

That is community work of a very high degree of usefulness.

Much has been done to help motorists, for the league has devoted itself to such matters as improved roads, traffic signs, the simplification and improvement of traffic regulations and other business of the same nature.

Every car owner in Peterborough should be a member of the local branch, for every car owner shares in the benefit of the organization's work and should be fair enough to contribute his quota towards the expense of carrying on the activities of the league.

MR. DOHERTY'S BAD START.

Even those who sympathize with the Hon. Manning Doherty and the U.F.O. Party in the refusal of the Government to recognize the remnant of the late administration as official Opposition—the Examiner has more than once contended that such recognition should be accorded—will regret to see the tactics that Mr Doherty has considered it necessary to use in his fight to establish the status of his party.

There is no justification for the double affront accorded the Speaker by the Progressive group on Tuesday.

To twice appeal to the House from rulings by the Speaker, the first of the kind in years, was needlessly discourteous and ungenerous, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Thompson has just begun his term and has had as yet little opportunity to familiarize himself with the duties of his important position.

Nothing could possibly be gained by such an appeal, for it was a certainty that the Speaker's ruling would be upheld by the House, and the Progressives had been promised an opportunity for the discussion of the recognition issue later on the proceedings.

Mr. Doherty must be held responsible for this uncalled-for effort to embarrass the new Speaker.

He has started very badly as U.F.O. leader, his tactics on Tuesday alienating much of the support from sources outside of his own party that would have been his had he shown consideration and courtesy in his attempt to have his group officially recognized.

SHOULD BE REJECTED.

The Examiner hopes the Federal Government will be decidedly slow in doing anything toward putting into effect the request of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association that a luxury tax of ten per cent., in addition to the duties now paid, be put on foreign fruits and vegetables imported into Canada.

Why in the name of common-sense the Government should be asked to do anything to increase the cost of such vegetables and fruits already great enough, is a conundrum.

The imported article does not compete with tht home-grown product to any appreciable degree; for foreign vegetables and fruits are only in demand here when the domestic vegetables and fruits are off the market.

The fact that the dietetic value of vegetables is only beginning to be realized and a proper estimate of the importance of the vitamines contained therein is being made a factor in the situation.

It should be realized that imported vegetables are no longer to be classed as luxuries, and that anything that will lower the cost to the consumer and increase the number of people able to include such vegetables in their daily diet is to be desired.

Clapping a ten per cent. luxury tax on importations of this kind would be merely running up the price the consumer has to pay without assisting the home-grower in anything like sufficient degree to justify the import.

WAR PICTURES.

There seems to be a lot of people ready to get agitated at a moment's notice over a very small matter.

Those good folks who are getting excited over the question of whether or not war pictures should be hung in Canadian schools furnish an illustration.

Some time ago the Daughters of the Empire offered a set of such pictures to be displayed in schools throughout Canada.

In some sections the pictures have been gladly received and have been hung in the schools for some time without any sign of war fever breaking out.

In Winnipeg, however, the gift was refused, and in Vancouver the Parents' and Teachers' Association passed a resolution to the effect that no pictures tending to glorify war or to perpetuate feelings of prejudice and hatred toward the people of other countries shall be hung in the schools.

The whole thing is a tempest in a teapot.

It will be hardly possible to conceal from the children that there was a world war commencing in 1914 in which Canada played a gallant part.

Pictures or no pictures, the news will leak out somehow—and it is not unlikely that the fact that the Germans were our adversaries in that war will sooner or later come to the knowledge of the little ones.

But looking at the matter seriously, the Examiner can see no harm and not a little benefit toward the development of a national spirit in having something in the schools of this country to let the children of the future know how bravely Canadians can fight when the safety of the Empire is at stake.

And now some people would have the whole thing forgotten as soon as possible.

CONFIDENT ABOUT THE WEST.

A sane, level-headed business man in Western Canada is J. H. Ashdown of Winnipeg. He is no dreamer, but a man of sound, practical judgment. Anything he has to say, therefore, on business conditions is worth heeding. Interviewed by a Winnipeg newspaper the other day, he said:

"As we get into '924, I am satisfied that business will be more active than in 1923 ,and that by 1925 we will be back to trade activity, as we have known it in the past.

"The country is so large, the areas of fertile land are so great, and the possible production of food is so vast, that great increases in the total volume of trade are inevitable. It is only a question of time.

"There is an enormous amount of grain in Western Canada still unsold in farmers' hands, and there is an enormous amount at the head of the lakes and in transit for which the producer has not yet been paid. As this money is distributed, it must have a great effect on the general trade and business of the country.

"I have been an optimist always with reference to Western Canada, and my optimism has carried me through. I have greater hope now for the future development of the country than I have had in past years.

"I came into the country in 1869, travelling by 'shanks' mare.' For the last 450 miles I walked all the way. In those days it was a tough country. Everything was upset, including the civil government. It was the dark hour just before the dawn.

"We will not, however, get what we want in this country without a fight. What we got in the past we got by battle, and what we will get in the future we will get by battle.

"We have better trade relations at the present time with France than we have with Britain. Many years ago British Ministers made the allegation that our cattle were diseased, and year after year British administrators have continued the same false allegation against us. Our friends to the south have built up a Chinese wall against us, but we have done a very large business with them in spite of it. In Eastern Canada important interests favor a protective tariff, while we are aware that a low tariff will be in our interests. All these matters must be fought out in the future in the interests of the prosperity of Western Canada.

"In spite of these difficulties, Western Canada has progressed, but the era of greater expansion development and progress is in the future, and much of it will occur in the comparatively near future."

THE CAPITAL LEVY.

Robert Smillie, one of the Labour members of the British House of Commons, seems to have developed the faculty of saying unpleasant things in a pleasant way, or of administering pills with a liberal sugar coating in his speeches on the present situation in England. Smillie is a strong supporter of the capital levy plan of raising money for carrying on the affairs of Great Britain and for providing the money to make great improvements in the condition of the working classes. In a speech delivered a day or two ago in Scotland, he put forward the proposed capital levy scheme in such a way as to make it appear as if the Labour Party would be doing a kindness to the wealthy people of Britain by taking their wealth away from them. By taking their wealth away from them, he said, the Labour Party would be making it easier for them to enter the kingdom of heaven. Possibly there is a direct Biblical authority for such a statement, for was it not said hat it would be easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven? It is something new, however, for this dogma to be applied in so literal a manner to the rich men of the present day, and it is not likely that they will appreciate the eagerness of the Labour member for their welfare in the great beyond.

Mr. Smillie looks forward to the promulgation by the Labour Government of great reforms in unemployment, housing and child welfare. These things cost money, and the philosophy of the Labour man is to take the money from those who have most of it, and spend it for the benefit of those who have the least. The idea is a very altruistic one, too much so for the material world of the present day. The man with the money is not likely to submit without a fight to having his money taken away from him in an arbitrary manner. Even without a capital levy, he is paying a very large proportion of the taxation of the country. Income taxes have reached an almost unbelievable percentage in Great Britain, and the richer the man the larger the percentage of his wealth he is compelled to turn into the public treasury. Thus it is that many of the former wealthy men have been compelled to dispose of property and to live in a meagre fashion, simply because the burden of taxation upon them is so great that they cannot keep up the establishments they formerly maintained.

The term "capital levy" is apparently a misleading one. Very little objection could be taken to making a raid on hoards of wealth which are not being used in a productive manner. But in most cases, the money of the wealthy men is tied up in some kind of industry. It is the working capital which keeps the wheels of industry going. Therefore, to seize this capital would mean paralyzing the industries of the nation, and inviting stagnation, so that, instead of helping to improve employment conditions, the result would be to make them worse than ever. The expression "a levy on capital" may sound very fine in the ears of the radical socialists, who look upon that as a method of despoiling the richer people for their own benefit, but if it is to be applied literally then the last condition of Britain will be worse than the first, and the Labour men themselves will be the greatest sufferers. For this reason, the new Government will be very wise to consider long and deeply the probable consequences of giving in to the demands of the radicals and imposing a levy on capital.—Kingston Whig.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It looks as if the only way Hon. Manning Doherty can be sure of a salary as U.F.O. leader is to hold a tag day.

The raising of the lid of King Tutankhamen's sacophagus should at least establish the fact that the King is dead.

The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Thone in the Legislature threatens to develop into the usual round of aimless and time-wasting speeches. Talk may be cheap elsewhere, but unfortunately in the Legislature it costs money.

LIBRARIES TRAVEL IN RUSSIAN TRAINS

Soviet Government Is Making It Possible For People to Read.

BELGRADE, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press).—"The Russian people are reading today as they never have read before," said H. M. Lydenberg of the New York Public Library, on his recent return to this city after three months in Russia spent in observing existing library systems.

"Whatever the Soviet Government is or is not doing for the Russian people," Mr. Lydenberg continued, "it is making it possible for them to read books. And the Russian people are availing themselves with remarkable avidity of the new opportunities placed in their hands by the Bolshevik administration in Moscow.

"I was impressed, wherever I travelled, by the moving libraries along the rail lines, from the Polish frontier to Moscow and from Moscow to the Balkans. The libraries are installed on trains which make stops of a few days at all stations, down to the little villages. The people take out books for home reading, and then return them on a subsequent trip of the library on wheels. The amount of business done by these ambulant libraries is impressive."

Half Million Attend Great Bathing Event.

ALLAHABAD, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press).—India's great bathing festival, Adh Kumbh, held every six years, recently attracted 500,000 people to the sacred spot at the junction of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers. Government authorities had erected barriers restricting the area for bathers because of the shifting of the river bed, but Hindu extremists pulled down the fences apparently with the idea that pilgrims should drown if fated to do so.

Two million pilgrims were expected to bathe in the rivers during the festival, which lasts a month.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—Choice exporters and butchers had a fairly ready market, but except for these the trade was inactive and prices were easier and lower than earlier in the week.

The majority of the cows cost 5 cents a pound, and the heifers 6½ to 7¼ cents. Some steers for overseas stores were bought at $6.90 a cwt. A few stockers coming in are not meeting any too good a market and some weighing 1,000 lbs. each sold at $4.75 a cwt.

The bulk of today's offerings consists of green unfinished butchers, and buyers are taking them under compulsion. Useful butchers' heifers sold at 5 to 5½ cents, but common plain butchers are down to 4¼ cents. Butchers' cows and bulls are selling quite steady, owing to the limited supply. There were few butchers' steers and heifers on sale capable of realizing 7 cents a pound.

The arrival of a large number of Eastern calves on Tuesday afternoon lowered the price a dollar a cwt., and tops did not bring over 12 cents a pound in the late trading. For the best calves, 12 cents was the top this morning, mediums were 10 cents, and heavy calves around 8 cents.

Lambs continue firm. The high price for the season was made for 40 choice Southdowns by Shields & Co. These were shipped by C. J. Brodie, of Ringwood, and were taken by the Harris abbattoir at 16¾ cents a pound for the ewes and wethers. Other good lambs were not better than 15 cents and heavy lambs held from 13½ to 14 cents.

Packers took Tuesday's hogs at $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b., and are talking $6.75 for today. No tickets were entered up this morning, but sellers did not look for a better than a $7 price.

One shipment of hogs, sent in by the Armenian Relief Association farm at Georgetown brought $9 a cwt. off cars. The average weight of these was 186 pounds.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. — Grain underwent a sharp setback in price here to-day owing to a decline in the Liverpool wheat quotations, and as a result of more liberal receipts of corn. The Chicago wheat market closed heavy 3-4 to 1 3-8c net lower; May $1.10½ and July $1.10 5-8 and 3-4 to $1.10 3-4. Corn also lost 3-4c to 1 3-8c, and oats ½c to 5-8c. Provisions the outcome ranged from 5c drop to 12c advance.

Developments regarding the dock strike at Liverpool, appeared to be at the bottom of the Liverpool wheat market weakness. Notwithstanding this circumstance, efforts to bring about rallies here met with little success, although considerable buying was done because of a somewhat prevalent opinion that wheat values in this country are on a domestic basis for at least the time being. A heavy tone in the New York stock market contributed to the bearish feeling in the grain pits, and there was increased selling of wheat as well as fresh down turns in price as the day drew to an end.

Reports of liberal holdings of wheat by southwestern mills counted as a late depressing factor, despite Kansas gossip emphasizing meagerness of farm reserves.

STUDY WHITTIER AND HIS WORKS

MILLBROOK, Feb. 13. — The Young Peoples' League had a literary programme on Monday evening, Mrs. P. Stinson, 4th vice-president, occupying the chair. The life and works of the poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, was the subject of study, and the hymns chosen were from his poems.

A sketch of the life of Whittier was given by Miss P. Burnham, with selected reading from some of his poems, Ewart Tucker read "The Slave of Martinique," and George Elson "Snowbound," the poem which first won for Whittier recognition as a great poet.

The hymns included "O Lord and Master of us all," "Immortal Love, Forever Full," and "I Know not What the Future Hath of Marvel or Surprise," its concluding verse being an appropriate benediction for closing the meeting:

"I know not where His islands lift
Their fronded palms in air;
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love or care."

The League is collecting papers and magazines to send to the mission at Flinton, Ont., but only those dating from January, 1924, are asked for. Papers may be left in the library on Sunday, or at the Waverley during the week. It is hoped that the request will meet with a generous response in the immediate future.

English Influence

"No event in history can be correctly interpreted from an isolated viewpoint, because it is vitally related to other events." This was the opening statement in the special sermon delivered by Rev. S. T. Tucker, on Sunday evening, the subject being, "The Conserving Influence of the British Mind in World Life." Much interest had been taken beforehand in the address announced for and it was unfortunate that the stormy evening lessened the attendance.

"No person of British birth, or connections, can help being stirred by recent events in the Old Land, and their significance is worth looking into." Beginning with the period subsequent to the Reformation, and grouping events of two ar three hundred years about one central point, the speaker showed how Britain was the chief actor in the culmination each time.

The reaction to the Reformation was in the alarm of the Roman Catholic church lest its rights be encroached upon, and its political authority undermined. The Inquisition resulted; and the defeat of the Spanish Armada, which broke the supremacy of Roman Catholicism in Europe, showed that England was the only nation that found the light in groping against its power, furthering the discovery of personal liberty and the growth of democracy.

Revolution would have become as strong and disastrous in England when the Red Flag was raised in France and the streets of Paris flowed in blood, had it not been for the parallel stream of evangelism started by Wesley, and the outcome of that was that British morale at Waterloo again saved Europe.

There was a rapid development of the spirit of democracy during the Victorian age, and the growth of the Imperial mind was fostered at the time of the South African [illegible] "the bond of Empire was sealed in blood." This was repeated during the world war when Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa found their national consciousness. Who will deny that it was British morale which saved the world from Kaiserism. The conserving influence of the British mind, which had demanded the abolition of slavery within the Empire some years before, was again in evidence when German militarism threatened to override the rights of other countries to national existence.

Is this equally true today? Practically all countries have been going through the gropings of the human mind for liberty, though in Russia it has been through illiteracy and darkness. Bolshevist teaching has been widespread yet it has been halted right now. That the Labor party, smallest in numbers, should come into power in Britain is no chance happening. It has accomplished a bloodless revolution—the outcome of the quiet force which has been working, overcoming the destructive influences of socialism. The peculiar quality of the British mind which is willing to give every man a chance has offered the Labor party the opportunity of establishing a new order and laying the foundations, ultimately, of a new social regime for coming generations.

Ramsay Macdonald has been welcomed by the king, who with the Prince of Wales, has been described as "being least disturbed because most wise," by the unusual happenings in the political world. No other national mind could adjust itself, conserving the saving quality in the British Empire, and in the world, against that which would uproot truth and righteousness, and giving a nucleus which will lift up Christian ideals and provide the workingman with his chance and his place.

Colonel D. Sutton, of Cobourg, was the guest of his son, Mr. Austin Sutton, Fallis Line, over the week-end.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Feb. 13.—At the regular meeting of Clarke township municipal council, Mr. John Rickaby, who has held the position of township clerk for the past twenty-eight years tendered his resignation, which was accepted by the Council, who also passed a resolution of appreciation of his services. The Council made Mr. Rickaby a grant of $100, as a token of the appreciation in which he is held by the people of this district. Many sportsmen will wish the new organization abundant success in its work.

Death of Mr. Wesley Harris

The funeral took place on Friday of Mr. Wesley Harris, a former resident of Bethel Grove, who passed away at the Cobourg Hospital. Mr. Harris spent a number of years on the United States, but returned to Cobourg about six years ago. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. M. R. Adams and Mrs. Henry Mortley, of Detroit, and Mrs. T. C. Curtis of Idaho.

Death of Miss Eva E. Jones

Tourist visitors to Cobourg, as well as citizens generally, have learned with very deep regret of the death of Miss Eva E. Jones, in Toronto. Miss Jones and her sister have spent the past few summers at Pinehill farm, their country place near here.

Invitation for Fifth Year

At the February meeting of the Official Board of the Orono Methodist church, Rev. A. K. Edmison, M.A., who is completing a four years' pastorate there, was invited to remain for a fifth year. Mr. Edmison's scholarly attainments and earnest zeal in his work is very greatly appreciated by the people of Orono and district.

Farmers Club Meets Rotarians

A pleasant event took place at Trenton when a joint meeting of the Trenton Rotary Club and the Trenton Farmers' Club was held there. President Fortune, of the Rotary Club, and President Dave McDonald, of the Farmers' Club, were the joint chairmen of the unique event, while Mr. T. A. O'Rourke acted as official umpire of the proceedings.

Farmers Had Sweetest Voices

It is affirmed that Magistrate O'Rourke was called up to decide which group was the best singers, both Rotarians and Farmers claiming this honor. After he had heard them separately in vigorous chorus work and taken due notice of the attack, the blending, the shading, he is stated to have given the canny decision that while the Rotarians were the loudest, the Farmers had the most pleasing voices. This was not the only unique event of the evening. In fact, it was a time of surprises for many.

The Presidents of the two groups assembled, in appropriate terms, outlined the object of their particular association, and after they had duly set forth its aims and purposes, the wise advisor of the Assembly, Mr. M. E. Maybee, M.P., in a short, terse speech, advised co-operation not only between different individuals and associations in the community, but also between different communities.

May Stage a Debate

A suggestion that the Farmers and the Rotarians stage a debate at an early date was very favorably received and will probably be put into effect. It is a suggestion, too, that other communities might well emulate.

Presented With Loving Cups

But the thrills of the evening were not yet over, for before the meeting broke up, Col. Arthur Bywater, on behalf of the members of each organization, presented each President with a loving cup, not only as a tribute of regard, but also as a momento of the happy occasion.

Presentation at Stockdale

A number of friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bates at Stockdale recently and presented Miss Grace Bates, who is leaving for Rochester to train as a nurse, with their best wishes and a club bag accompanied by an appropriate address. The Ladies' Aid of the Stockdale church presented Miss Bates with a leather purse and an address.

FOR 15 YEARS WAS TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA

There is no other remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters that can possibly give such relief to all sufferers from eczema, salt rheum and all other diseases of the blood for the reason that this old and well tried remedy goes right to the seat of the trouble and completely and permanently drives these diseases out of the system by cleansing the blood and making it pure and rich.

Mr. F. W. H. Schultz, Pembroke, Ont., writes: "Having been troubled with eczema for fifteen years, during which time I tried everything I could think of, including doctors, but without getting anything to do me much good I finally decided to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and I was certainly surprised to find that two weeks after I had started to take it I was relieved of my trouble. That was nine months ago, and I have not had a sign of it since. I surely wish to thank you for this wonderful medicine and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from the same trouble as I had."

MARMORA CARNIVAL ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

Postponed From Tuesday Night When Some of the Young People Appeared in Costume.

MARMORA, Feb. 14. — The carnival which was advertised for Tuesday night was postponed till Friday. However, many of the boys and girls came to the rink in costume so in spite of the postponement of the carnival the ice presented a gay picture to those who came to watch. Many of the costumes were comical but others showed a great amount of work. If Tuesday night was an indication of the costumes of Friday night, the carnival ought indeed be a success.

The A.Y.P.A. on Tuesday night enjoyed a real jolly sleigh ride. Then afterwards they all went to the home of Mr. Archer, where all spent a pleasant evening.

Word was received Wednesday morning of the death of Mrs. Sidney Hamilton of Cordova. The funeral will be held at 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon in Marmora Methodist Church.

MISSIONARY IN FAR NORTH MAN OF MANY PARTS

1,000-MILE PARISH.

OMEMEE, Feb. 14.—On Friday afternoon last in the school room of Christ Church the members of the Anglican congregation were privilged in having with them Canon Vale of Hay River, Mackenzie River Diocese, who gave a most interesting and instructive account of his work in the far north particularly that at Hay River school where Indian and Eskimo children are educated. The kindly references to the work of the late Mrs. C. F. Johnson, formerly Miss M. Tims of this place, who went directly from Omemee to that mission, laboring there for many years, was much appreciated by her many friends who were present.

After his address Canon Vale answered many questions relating to his work. During Mr. aVle's regime an up-to-date school has been built in which there are fifty-seven children and also a church and residence, he himself superintending and taking part in the actual building. From other sources are learned the varied accomplishments of the Canon, who besides ministered to his flock scattered throughout a parish with a radius of 1,000 miles is superintendent of the boarding school; captain of the boat, which he had planned and helped to build; head gardener of a garden where they raise 21 varieties of vegetables, one item being 1000 bushels of potatoes; director of a saw mill which he himself invented; and post master into the bargain.

The members were delighted to meet Canon Vale and to hear of the work he is accomplishing.

EXPERTS BACK FROM GERMANY

Dawe's Committee Will Have Report Completed By the Middle of March — Urge Publication of Findings.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Expert Committee Number One, headed by Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, left here for Paris last night after having devoted two weeks of exhaustive study to the German budgetary and currency problems. The members of the committee were almost a unit in expressing satisfaction over the progress of their researches; they were equally unanimous in their appreciation of the accommodation extended to them in official German quarters, as well as the co-operation accorded by industrialists, banks and Labor, all of whom, it was stated, dealt with the problems under discussion with absolute candor and sincerity.

Deserves Publicity.

There is a strong sentiment among the majority of the experts that not only have their investigations been thorough and comprehensive, but that the findings of both committees are of such a character in their immediate bearing upon the international economic situation that the fullest publicity will be given to the report upon its presentation to the Reparation Commission.

"Our report will reflect a business man's analysis of a business proposition," one expert stated informally, "and there is no reason why it should not be broadcast as soon as we have definitely compiled it."

He believed that such publication would materially contribute to a better understanding of the German problem and reparations and that the world at large would undoubtedly be keen to receive a non-political appraisal of the whole question which involves numerous international ramifications.

Ready in March.

General Dawes and his colleagues expect to devote another three weeks to sifting the voluminous data accumulated in Berlin, and unless more rapid progress is made the report will not be forthcoming until the middle of March. Dr. Schacht, head of the Reichsbank, will have a final conference with the committee on currency in Paris Monday.

It is not now proposed to summon other German nationals or official representatives before either committee in Paris, as both announce that their inquiries have been completed.

DEMAND FOR STAMPS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press).—Approximately 18,000,000,000 postage stamps will be required by the people of the country during the coming year. Postal service experts calculate there has been an increase of 7 per cent. annually for the last 30 years. It costs 8 cents a 1,000 to manufacture ordinary postage stamps and 16 cents a 1,000 for special delivery stamps. It is estimated $1,500,000 will be required to manufacture these stamps at the bureau of engraving and printing here.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.— Exports from the United States during January were $304,000,000 and imports $209,000,000 leaving a favorable balance of trade for the month of $95,000,000.

THE LAKEFIELD SOCIAL EVENTS

Annual Valentine Tea Was a Big Success — Personals.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 14.—The annual Valentine Tea of the W.A. of St. John's Church was held in the school room on Tuesday afternoon and was a very great success. Mrs. S. White, president of the Society and Mrs. (Rev.) Cox received the guests, extending a cordial welcome to the tea. Mrs. Northcott and Mrs. Jackson were at their usual post at the home cooking table where tempting cakes, pies, etc., were to be purchased.

The fancy booth was in charge of Misses Atwood and L. Summers while Mesdames C. White and Thomas Watson had the candy table where every variety of home made confectionery tempted the sweet tooth. The fancy table held a variety of useful and fancy articles ranging from the dantiest of baby's dresses to the serviceable and always necessary apron, and from knitted bed socks to dainty "woolies" for the little ones. Afternoon tea

In the evening the W.A. were at home to the members of the parish and a pleasant social evening was spent. A feature of the evening was a measuring party which netted a very neat sum to the treasury.

Mrs. Osborne was the hostess of a very pleasant Valentine bridge party on Saturday evening. From the table workers and score cards to the last detail of the refreshments the idea of St. Valentine was carried out. Mrs. Wesley Sherin was lucky enough to win the prize.

Mrs. F. J. Burgess entertained at a Five Hundred party on Monday afternoon for her sister, Miss Beth Walton of Rochester. In deference to the close proximity of St. Valentine's Day, hearts had a prominent place in the table decorations. Prizes were won by Mrs. Fred Brown and Miss Graham.

An old landmark was removed last week when H. J. Brown cut down the large maple tree in front of his house and restaurant on the corner of Regent and Queen streets. It was a magnificent shade tree until a few years ago when it was struck by lightning. Since then it has been gradually dying.

Among those from Warsaw who attended the hockey match on Tuesday night were: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thurston, Mrs. Rufus Payne and Miss Ferena Cooper.

Miss Ida C. Webster is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Bromley in Peterboro this week.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Laxative Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. E. N. Gagni, 338 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont., Mrs. Uhriah Stewart of Crousetown, N. S., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practiced successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when any member shows signs of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

LABOR REMEDIES

Kindly Sentiment

With a sentiment and kindliness which seemed to be shared by the rest of the House, the former premier added:

"We all hope that the immense double burden of Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs may not be—as we fear it will— be too much for him."

A few minutes later, in concluding his speech, Mr. Baldwin said: "I cannot help feeling that a short time of office in this troubled world as it exists will prove too hard a work for the idealism of which he has always been so able and faithful an exponent in the past."

Mr. Asquith, who from the beginning has maintained a benevolent attitude toward the Labor Cabinet, said he hailed with satisfaction the de jure recognition of Russia, which would smooth the settlement of many outstanding questions. He declared that most of the Labor Government's programme could be found in the programmes of other political parties and he reminded his hearers that no government could legislate on a heroic scale while it was in a permanent minority.

This prompted Mr. Kirkwood, Labor Member, to ask, amid Laughter: "What about Oliver Cromwell"

No Violent Changes

Mr. Asquith referred to the fulfillment of his prophecy that the advent of a Labor Government in England would cause no violent upheavals or changes, and he provoked much merriment by adding:

"Only a few days ago I received a letter from a lady wishing me in the lowest abyss of hell for aiding and abetting Labor."

John Robert Clynes, the Deputy Labor Leader, replied to the Opposition attacks in behalf of the Prime Minister, who kept whispering suggestions to him throughout the debate. His most important statement was that the Government could not approach the subject of capital levy so long as no national approval had been given to a device of that kind.

Strengthen League

Regarding national defence, he said, the Government sought more pacific relations between the nations of the world in preference to competition in armaments and was striving to strengthen the League of Nations so as to make it a real instrument for achieving this ideal. The Government, he asserted, had no intention of treating Russia differently from any other country in the matter of credit, but the least it could do was to offer to treat Russia on terms equal to those on which it treated other foreign countries.

Arthur Ponsonby, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said the Government contemplated establishing consulates at Petrograd, Moscow Odessa, Vladivostok, Tiflis, Kharkov Archangel and Novorossik when the time seemed propitious.

Farming Classes Made Inspection of Plants.

Pupils numbering fifty or sixty from the three months' course in agriculture and home economics now being held in Keene viisted the city on Tuesday and inspected local factories.

The itinerary, arranged by Mayor J. J. Turner and Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, included the Quaker Oats plant, the Canadian Packing Company, Peterborough Milk Products, and the girls were taken through Cressman's home furnishing department.

Agricultural Representative F. C. McRae expressed his appreciation of the opportunity to give the class so excellent first hand information on the topics which are discussed in the course of the studies. The classes have been running since November 26 with an average attendance of 60 or 70.

LABOR REMEDIES SCRUTINIZED BY HOUSE LEADERS

Premier Reminded of Germany's Failure to Secure Business in Russia—No Pledges to Britain--Kindly Concern Expressed By Opponents Over Premier's Health.

LOOKED FATIGUED.

LONDON, Feb. 14—Premier Mac Donald's remedies for dealing with the evils in Europe and the problems of his own country were searchingly analyzed in the House of Commons by former Premiers Baldwin and Asquith, and other members of the Opposition. Most of the criticism was directed against his policy in recognizing Russia before the Soviet gave any pledges concerning the fulfillment of obligations to the British Government, corporations, or individuals.

Mr. Baldwin declared that Italy had not accorded recognition to Russia until she had secured valuable concessions and privileges from Moscow.

The Prime Minister was also taken to task for failure to present details of the proposed solutions of such vital questions as unemployment, public economy, safeguarding the Industries Act, and housing, as well as strengthening the army, navy and air force. His handling of the Poplar issue, whereby the Minister of Health gave the Poplar guardians considerable latitude in the distribution of unemployment relief, was vigorously assailed by Mr. Asquith, who, however, in other respects exhibited an extremely lenient, almost paternal attitude towards the new Premier.

Baldwin's Strictures

Premier Baldwin who opened the attack on his successor in office, said that Premier MacDonald's policy of 'sweet reasonableness" in dealing with Europe might be carried to excess without reaping any of the rewards which were its due. He ridiculed Mr. MacDonald on failing to give the late government credit for concluding the liquor treaty with the United States and the Tangier agreement. The present cabinet, he said, was pursuing the policy in Europe which had been followed by the former government for twelve months. He declared that Mr. MacDonald would find his policy towards Russia impossible of fulfillment, arguing that Germany, which knew Russia better than any other country, had been unable to achieve any substantial business success there, although it had been granted the widest concessions.

While the Opposition leaders criticized the Government platform freely, there was noticeable throughout the debate a friendly note of moderation and indulgence scarcely known in American legislative assemblies. Everybody appeared eager to give the new government the fullest opportunity to make good. This note was emphasized whom Mr. Baldwin, turning to the Prime Minister, who looked worn and fatigued said that his opponents realized his tremendous difficulties and would do or say nothing to embarrass him in his relations with France or other countries.

February 14, 1826.—Bishop Macdonell, the first Catholic Bishop of Upper Canada, one of Canada's greatest Churchmen and patriots, took charge of the See of Kingston, Ont., on this date. He was born in Scotland, where he died while on a mission to Europe raising funds for Regiopolis College, Kingston 1840.

Bishop Macdonell came to Canada in 1803, and for some time was the pastor of St. Raphael Parish, Glengarry. He rendered valuable service to the British cause in the war of 1812, and for this was granted the honour of a seat in the Legislative Council of Upper Canada.

Week's Ban on Madison Square Garden Bouts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Madison Square Garden, largest metropolitan indoor arena, was suspended to-day from staging boxing bouts for one week by the State Athletic Commission, as a result of the match last Friday night between Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, and Georgie Marks, of California, which was robbed of its title aspect when Marks entered the ring four and a half pounds overweight.

At the same time the Commission suspended for sixty days, Marks, his manager, Charley Cook, and Frank Churchill, manager of Villa. Marks and Cook were set down for failure of the boxer to make the flyweight limit of 112 pounds, while Churchill was banned for refusing to claim the weight forfeit of $1,250 required of Marks.

Lydia Hutchison and Dog Team Reach Idaho

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 13.—Miss Lydia Hutchison arrived here today with her team of Canadian dogs that have been entered by the Montreal winter sports committee in the American Dog Derby to be run over a 25-mile course here February 22.

Miss Hutchison, an Idaho girl, contracted to pilot the Canadian team after her own dogs had died. In past races "Lyd" has given men drivers an exceedingly hard run.

Silver Fox Skins Sold at 20 Per Cent. Advance

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.— During to-day's fur auction sales a feature was put on in the offering for sale of a mounted buffalo head. It was sold to John Schey, of New York. The animal had wandered into Canada from the United States and had been shot by an Alberta farmer.

Silver foxes were in the limelight, seven hundred skins being put up. They went at prices that realized a twenty per cent. advance over those of the sales here last September.

Muskat skins were increased 15c. in prices paid.

And he did not believe for a moment that she had gone to Washington.

She had gone home to think—think.

And if he followed Dinwiddie's advice and remained here she might think too long. And if he followed and insisted upon seeing her, the result might be more fatal still. He knew nothing of those personalities she may have concealed from him. For all he knew she might have depths in her nature as black as the bottomless pit.

And God only knew what the man had said to her. . . . Should he let her fight it out by herself? What in heaven's name should he do? Whatever happened, this divine interval, like some exquisitely adjusted musical instrument, had been hopelessly jarred out of tune. He almost hoped she would not return. Let it remain a perfect memory.

. . . They could marry in New York and return here, when she was his wife. . . . If he had not already lost her. . . . What in God's name was the thing for him to do? He'd go mad if he stayed here, and if he went he might regret it for the rest of his days. Why could not light be vouchsafed him?

Gora.

Fortunately he knew her room for he had carried up her luggage. He ran lightly up the stairs and tapped on her door. A startled sleepy voice answered. He opened the door and put in his head.

"Come downstairs at once, Gora," he peremptorily said. "I must talk to you."

She came down in a moment, clad in a scarlet kimono, her hair hanging in thick braids. With her large round forehead exposed she looked not unlike a gnome, but curiously young.

"What on earth is the matter, Clavey?" she asked as she pushed her chair as close to the fire as possible. "It has something to do with this sudden trip of Mary's, I suppose. Mr. Dinwiddie said she had been called to New York on important business, and the others accepted the explanation as a matter of course, but I'll confess I wondered."

Gora sent her mind traveling out of the mountains and far to the south, and tried to penetrate the brain of Mary Zattiany. She could not visualize her in the bed of a casual hotel or sitting in the chair of a parlor car, so she skipped the interval and saw her next day sitting in that intimate room of hers upstairs; the room, assuredly, where she would think out her problem.

Gora had studied Madame Zattiany with all the avidity of the artist for a rare human theme, and she believed that she knew her as well as Clavering did, if not better. She had also not failed to observe Prince Hohenhauer's picture, and had read the accompanying text with considerable interest, an interest augmented, not unnaturally, by his exceeding good looks. That same day she had met a Viennese at dinner who had talked of him with enthusiasm and stated definitely that he was the one hope of Austria.

Gora Dwight was a very ambitious woman and revelled in the authority that fame and success had brought her. She was also as disillusioned in regard to men as any unmarried woman could be; although quite aware that if she had lacked a gift to entice her emotions to her brain, she no doubt would even now be looking about for some man to fall in love with. But her pride was spared a succession of humiliating anti-climaxes, and she had learned, younger than most women, or even men, that power, after sex has ceased from troubling, is the dominant passion in human nation.

And Madame Zattiany was twenty years older than herself, and had drained the jeweled chalice to the dregs. And for many years more she had enjoyed power, revelled in it, looked forward, Gora made no doubt, to a greater and greater exercise of it. Power had become the master passion of her life.

Like men in the same case, she had indulged herself, during a period of enforced inaction, with an exciting love adventure. That she had fallen in love, romantically in love, with this young man, whom so many women loved, and who, no doubt, had given her the full benefit of all his pent-up ardors—Gora could imagine those love scenes—she had not questioned, in spite of Madame Zattiany's carefully composed tones when speaking of him, and her avoidance of so much as the exchange of a meaning glance with him in public. Up here "Mary" had ceased to be a woman of the world, she had looked like a girl of twenty; and that she was in love and recklessly happy in the fact, was for all to see. That had been one of her most interesting divagations to the novelist, Gora Dwight—but a phase. Gora was not deluded.

And this man Hohenhauer had brought her to her senses; no doubt of that either to a mind both warmly imaginative and coldly analytical. And what had he come up here for except to ask her to marry him—to share his power? She dismissed the Washington inference with the contempt it deserved. Mr. Dinwiddie was a very experienced and astute old gentleman, but he always settled on the obvious like a hen on a porcelain egg. . . . What a manifest destiny! What an ideal match. . . . She sighed, almost envying her. But it would be almost as interesting to write about as to experience. After all, a novelist had things all her own way, and that was more than even the Zattianys could hope for.

Then she remembered poor Clavering and looked up at him with eyes that were wholly sympathetic.

"I don't think there's a doubt," she said, "that Prince Hohenhauer came up here to ask her to marry him. You can see for yourself what such a match would mean for him, for aside from that indisputable genius of hers—trained in later years by herself—she has great wealth and few scruples; and where he failed to win men to his purpose, she, with her superlative charm, and every feminine intuition sharpened by an uncommon experience of men and public life, would succeed. She may hate him, as Mr. Dinwiddie says—for the moment. But even if she continued to hate him that would not prevent her from marrying him if she believed he could help her to power. If it had not been for you I don't believe she would have hesitated a moment."

"'I don't think there's a doubt,' she said, 'that Prince Hohenhauer came up here to ask her to marry him.'"

Clavering, still too nervous to sit down, jerked out the whole story, omitting only the old love affair with the man who had exercised so strong an influence on Mary Zattiany's early life.

"You see," he concluded, "there are two things: Austria had taken the place in her affections that women of her age generally concentrate on human beings—it became almost a sacrament. And then—for nearly twenty years she had hated everything in men but their minds. Sex was not only dead but a detestable memory. After that rejuvenescence she had never cast a thought to loving any man again. That mental habit, at least, was fixed. When I met her she was a walking intellect. . . . . I thought I had changed all that . . . up here I had not a doubt left . . . but now . . . I don't know. . . . Put that cold-blooded mind of yours on it and tell me what to do."

"Let me think a minute, Clavey."

As he resumed his restless march,

CAN YOU ANSWER THIS QUESTION ABOUT YOURSELF?

Why is it you feel fine at times and at other times you wake up dull and tired, bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated and offensive breath? Why you suffer from such symptoms as a stuffy, wintry cold, gas on a sour stomach, heart palpitation, constipation, sick headache and a run-down, tired out and upset condition?

It is because your liver, the body's filter, has become sluggish and clogged. It cannot purify your blood, aid digestion or supply the secretions Nature uses to keep your bowels moving regularly. And you cannot feel your best again until your liver has been properly cleansed and toned.

TRY THIS TONIGHT! Just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup after the next few meals. It is so pleasant to take and you will be compeltely satisfied; otherwise druggists are authorized to refund the small cost. All we ask is that you tell others what it was that made such a big difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. We want your family and friends to use it because of what it actually does for you. DR. THACHER'S is sold and recommended by J. P. Bond, McDermid & Jury and The Warne Drug Company, Ltd. in Peterborough; The Tanner Drug Company, Ltd., in Lakefield and by leading druggists in every city and town.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A BUZZY RIDDLE

Buzz! Buzz! That's what he does.

The Twins guessed this riddle right away. See if you can:

"Buzz! Buzz! That's what he does,
Like a hungry mosquito at night,
Loafs by the hour on blossom and flower,

"Hum! Hum! Does he never get done?
My goodness! He's dreadfully busy,
I just can't see the use of so much blossom juice,
Indigestion will make him quite dizzy!

Darting this way and now darting that!
Did he get the wrong flower? Perhaps it was sour,
Well, that's good for folk who are fat.

"Like prosperous people he wears a rich cloak
Of velvet striped yellow and black,
But instead of gold money, he carries gold honey,
Not a pocketbookful—but a sack.

"Now he's making a dive for his house (called a hive),
Do you think that he's ill? It's a question!
I don't know, I can't say, but it's likely he may Just be taking a pill for digestion."

"It's a bee!" cried Nick.

"Yes, sir! That's what it is," said the Riddle Lady. "You are a smart little boy to guess so quickly. You get the prize, a piece of bread and butter and honey."

"I was just going to say the answer myself," suddenly spoke up the Six-Pence Queen. "I just know it was a bee. And I was about to open my mouth and say 'bee' just like that when that little boy said it. I think I should have half of his bread and honey."

"Well, goodness knows, anybody could tell it was a bee," said still another person. It was small Tom Tucker. "I knew it was a bee the minute you said 'buzz' Missez Riddle Lady. "I think I ought to have half of the bread and qutter and honey myself!"

"We guessed it, too!" called out half a dozen of the Old Shoe Woman's Children. "We thought it was a bee, or a bug or something like that. And as we always get our broth without any bread, we think we ought to have half, too!"

"My goodness!" cried the Riddle Lady. "How many halves do you think this piece of bread has? But there! I have an idea. Nancy, you and Nick and the Pieman and Bakerman can fix up a party. We'll have a real party and plenty of bread and honey and cakes for everybody."

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

TUBERCULAR PATIENT

Climatic treatment has always been of great assistance to the person suffering from tuberculosis. Even a change from the crowded city to the open country is often a great aid.

The real value of a suitable or mild climate is the opportunity it gives the patient for out-of-doors life and activity in the fresh air. But living the real hygienic life is as great a safeguard as certain mild climates.

Aside from mild, airy living quarters, tubercular patients, or those who are trying their best to avoid any such infection, must carefully consider their diet.

One thing must always be carefully thought of in this connection. The tubercular patient is most always the victim of a lack of appetite. Therefore, the food prepared for him should be a "tempting dish," one that cannot be refused.

The body is subject to great loss or wasting away of tissue in this disease. The necessary diet should aim to keep the body tissues from waste or being consumed faster than they can be replaced or built up. On the other hand, scientific diet must combat the attempt to overfeed or stuff the patient.

Physicians, who have made tubercular diet a specialty, agree that if the patient is fat below normal weight for age and height, he must be given energizing food to build him up to normal.

Plain fare should be the rule. A nutritious diet can be carried out successfully at an average expense. Energy foods that produce satisfactory gains depend on the individual and his digestive powers. Butter, cream, olive oil and other vegetable oils, together with bacon fat and cod liver oil are valuable.

To keep up weight and provide for the body tissue waste, use fresh lean meats, plenty of milk and eggs. Bread and butter is good tubercular fare. Avoid pies, sweets and excessive drinking of coffee or ice water. Take plenty of time in eating and avoid smoking.

TO ERECT CENOTAPH TO THE MEMORY OF BIRDS AND BEASTS KILLED IN WAR

LONDON, February 14. — In memory of the birds, beasts, and fish that died in the service of the Empire during the war, an "animals' cenotaph" will shortly be built near Hyde Park Corner.

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has raised over £2,000 for such a memorial.

There were 364,130 casualties among horses in the British Army, while dogs listed for various purposes died by the thousands.

Camels, reindeer, elephants, and oxen perished in transport service; cats were killed in research work; pigeons were shot down while carrying messages, and mice and small birds were sacrificed in the detection of poison gases. Goldfish were used to test water in gas helmets.

All these will be commemorated by the cenotaph.

Save Fuel in Cooking

Boils in 5 minutes — Boils in 8 minutes

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use

NO MORE WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS Since She Used MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Miss Bertha Charrette, Regina, Sask., writes: "I have had a lot of trouble lately, with what I thought was heart trouble, and after my unusual exertion I always felt sick.

My doctor advised a complete rest and change, but this I was unable to take.

I became interested in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so started taking them. I have now taken three boxes and am so much improved I can go about my daily work without feeling any after ill effects, and have not had any weak or dizzy spells for some time. Your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever taken, and I will gladly recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to any woman who is weak and run down."

BERGDOLL PLOT HERO REFUSES MOVIE JOB.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—America has a hero who won't go into the movies or go on the stage or write stories of his adventures for a newspaper syndicate to capitalize his performances. C. Hooven Griffis, whose effort to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, in Germany, led almost to international complications, welcomed home here said he would refuse the several offers made to him, although he is penniless.

Griffis, former lieutenant in the Graves Registration Service of the American Army in France, was greeted, at quarantine, by his parents and the Mayor's welcoming committee, who met the liner, Albert Ballin, with the official welcoming tug Macom. He was photographed and talked of his imprisonment in Germany, but refused to reveal further details of the plot to kidnap Bergdoll, which resulted in the killing of one of his companions, wounding of another and imprisonment of himself.

He said he plans to return to France as soon as he can resume working with the Graves Registration Service.

SHORTHORN MEN HELD BIG SALE OF PURE BREDS

ONE BROUGHT $105.

Twenty-three head of pure bred Shorthorn cattle were disposed of yesterday at the annual sale under the auspices of the Peterborough County Shorthorn Breeders' Association conducted by F. C. McRae, agricultural representative of the government and the auctioneers, George and Ted Jackson, of Port Perry. The total amount realized was $1,580, an average price of $68.70, which was very satisfactory, sellers said.

The best price at yesterday's sale was brought by Roan King, born March 21, 1923, bred by John Smith and Sons, Lakehurst, and sold to Bert Garbutt, R. R. No. 4, Peterborough, for $105. Two others that reached the $100 mark were Gloster Lad, bred by Beecher Matchett, Peterborough, and purchased by F. Crowley, of Peterborough; and Moneymaker, owned by Walter Bowles of Ida, and sold to W. Webster, of Peterborough. Commander, bred by Bowles Brothers, Peterborough, and sold to J. Armstrong, of Lakefield, brought only $2.50 under the $100.

The animals shown were of good average grade and the majority of them were favorably commented on by the large audience of active buyers and onlookers that gathered for the sale. The good stock sold well, indicating clearly that the buyers want the best grade stock.

In Mr. McRae's opinion a little more care in breeding and a little improvement in the quality of the stock would pay big dividends in enhanced selling values. Considering the condition of the money market and other adverse conditions, Mr. McRae said, the sale was very successful.

Escana Buxton, male, born March 20, 1923, bred by John Borland, sold to John Drain, Clarina, for $90.

Royal Marigold, male, born May 25, 1923, bred by John Borland, sold to Thomas Christie, Indian River, for $85.

Prince Vry, male, born February 7, 1923, bred by A. Wilson, sold to Michael O'Toole, R. R. No. 8, Peterborough, for $32.50.

Transformer, male, born March 9, 1923, bred by A. Wilson, sold to William Harrison, Omemee, for $55.

Gloster Lad, male, born March 15, 1923, bred by Beecher Matchett, Peterborough, sold to F. Crowley, R. R. No. 6, Peterborough, for $100.

Lady Ann Rose, female, born May 21, 1923, bred by Frank Savingy, Peterborough, sold to William Finney, Ida, for $42.50.

Fashion Craft, female, born January 24, 1923, bred by Frank Savigny, sold to C. Hancock, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough, for $57.50.

Prince of Monaghan, male, born July 9, 1922, bred by J. D. Lundy, Peterborough, sold to J. Young, Peterborough, for $45.

Duke of Monaghan, male, born August 1, 1922, bred by J. D. Lundy, sold to Thomas Petrie, R. R. No. 8, Peterborough, for $55.

Silver Prince, male, born June 8, 1923, owned by W. J. Nisbett, Peterborough, sold to Dan Cavanagh, Ennismore, for $40.

Rosebud, female, born September 26, 1921, bred by James D. Fowler, Peterborough, sold to C. Peters, R. R. No. 11, Peterborough, for $37.50.

Bonnie Charlie, male, born November 28, 1922, bred by James D. FoBler, sold to G. H. Simpson, Peterborough, for $67.50.

Montrose, male, born November 25, 1922, bred by James D. Fowler, sold to C. Prophet, Peterborough, for $42.50.

Comet, male, born June 28, 1923, bred by Bowles Brothers, Ida, sold to H. B. Wood, Trent River, for $47.50.

Commander, male, born November 26, bred by Bowles Brothers, sold to J. Armstrong, Lakefield, for $97.50.

Lancaster Girl, female, born December 30, 1918, bred by J. Smithson and Son, Peterborough, sold to R. Shaw, R. R. No. 8, Peterborough, for $80.

Red Monarch, male, born May 30, 1923, bred by John Smith and Sons, Lakehurst, sold to J. Davis, South Monaghan, for $60.

IMPERIAL OIL MEN HAD GOOD CONVENTION HERE

A very successful convention of the Imperial Oil Company employees from all the districts east of Toronto was held in the city yesterday, featured by the presence of T. H. Hawkes, assistant manager of the Imperial Oil Company.

W. A. Foster of Toronto and all his division and all of the men in A. W. Blade's division were present. The convention was in the nature of a get-together gathering in preparation for the 1924 work. Speakers declared last year was one of the most successful in the history of the company and the employees are determined, by the spirit manifested yesterday, to put 1924 over bigger and better.

All Fat People Should Know This

Fat people owe a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and are still more indebted for the reduction of this harmless, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores the world over at the reasonable price of one dollar for a box, or you can secure them direct on receipt of price from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Michigan. This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercises, for the reduction of the overfat body, to normal.

YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBOURS PAY HEARTFELT TRIBUTE TO DRECO

Suffered Dreadfully From Stomach Trouble

This and other digestive troubles made life miserable for John Murray. Then Dreco came and pointed the way to health.

"I have suffered dreadfully from stomach and kidney trouble," says Mr. John Murray, of Donegal St., Peterboro, Ont. "My food soured and came up in my throat until it nearly choked me. My kidneys were weak and gave me severe pains across my back and my joints ached with rheumatism. I was chronically constipated too. Four bottles of Dreco have made a wonderful change. I can eat most anything now without any trouble, my kidneys are stronger and the pains in my back have gone. It has also relieved my rheumatism and my bowels are regular."

No longer need you be a slave to the whims of your digestive organs. Correct and control them by taking Dreco, the famous herb and root remedy that cleanses and regulates the organs and purifies the blood. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs and is at all times reliable.

NO LONGER ON DIET

'I have had no end of trouble with indigestion the past few year," says Mrs. S. Edwards, 293 Dublin St., Peterboro. "I had to be very careful with my diet to avoid terrible gas attacks. I also had dizzy spells that would leave me so faint that I would have to go and lie down. My appetite was poor and I was chronically constipated.

"Have just finished my third bottle of Dreco and find my digestion vastly improved. Have a splendid appetite my liver is active, I have no more dizzy or fainting spells. My bowels are regular, I sleep soundly and feel better in every way."

Most of our ill health results from poor digestion. Dreco, by correcting this trouble, speedily restores the system to its normal comfort and vigor. It is made from herbs, roots, bark and leaves and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterborough by Bond's Drug Store. Go there to-day and ask for Mr. Vaughan, the Dreco Expert, and let him explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge and he will tell you honestly if he believes Dreco will benefit you. Dreco is also sold as follows:

Lakefield—E. H. Northey.
Campbellford—J. E. Birks.
And by a good druggist everywhere.

Stomach weakness, poor digestion, sluggish liver, chronic constipation, billiousness, gastritis, and other digestive complaints helped by this medicine. Dreco tones and regulates the vital organs and benefits the whole system.

Never has such a tribute been paid to a medicine as that accorded to Dreco by people right in Peterborough. The corrective properties of this remarkable remedy have proved a revelation to them. Disorders of many years standing have responded to its influence, and on every hand we hear its praises sounded.

A reputation of this kind can only be built on sheer merit. When responsible people, who can readily be interviewed, rally around a remedy in this way, it means that they really have experienced remarkable benefits from its use.

People who have not eaten a hearty meal for years now enjoy good digestion and give all the credit to Dreco. Others who have been racked with rheumatic pains or suffered constant loss of sleep now, bless the day they started using Dreco. Backaches, headaches, dizzy spells and chronic constipation are frequently mentioned as having been helped by this valuable remedy.

Statements like this that are backed by published names and addresses within easy reach for confirmation, should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco.

Dreco is safe and reliable, because it is made only from roots herbs, bark and leaves in scientifically correct proportions. No mercury, potash, habit-forming drug or other harmful ingredients enters into its preparation.

IMPRESSIONS OF RECENT OPENING OF LEGISLATURE

MONTHLY MEETING

At the West Peterborough Women's Liberal-Conservative Association's monthly meeting in Hooper's Palm parlor yesterday afternoon chairmen were named for the following wards: North, South, East, West, Smith and North Monaghan. The appointments are subject to the consent of those appointed who were not present.

As it is difficult to get attendance at meetings during the summer months, the meeting yesterday decided to , at their session in April, adjourn till the following autumn. The next meeting is called for the first Monday in March, when the members will name a date for an open evening in April, to which members of the West Peterborough Men's Liberal-Conservative Association will be invited. On that occasion a social time is to be arranged for, together with brief addresses from local members of Parliament and Legislature, and others.

Correspondence

The correspondence yesterday included appreciative acknowledgment by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and Premier Ferguson of resolutions passed at the women's annual session, expressing loyalty to and confidence in those leaders and their policies.

This women's political organization is to be congratulated upon having exceedingly capable executive heads in Mrs. Howard Fallis as President and Mrs. Roland Denne as Secretary.

Secretary Mrs. Denne read the minutes of the annual meeting, which were confirmed, and President Mrs. Fallis reported that since that meeting she had met in Toronto Premier Ferguson, who had requested her to extend to the Women's Liberal-Conservative Association of Peterborough his warmest congratulations on its successful functioning.

She also cited another gentleman as predicting that within two years West Peterborough's Women's Liberal Conservative body will be the strongest of all such similar organizations in Ontario excepting those of Toronto.

Mrs. Fallis gave to the meeting a request from the men's Liberal-Conservative Association of this riding that their sister political organization be largely represented at the men's next gathering here in Peterborough on February 22.

Dignity of Race

In presenting her impressions of the opening of Legislature last week and subsequent proceedings which she attended, President Mrs. Fallis approved of the ceremony associated with that function as preserving the dignity of this country and of the British race. And in the course of warm eulogy of Major E. F. B. Belford for his masterly address in reply to the speech from the throne, she explained that the distinguished major comes from her own county of Northumberland where, in conversation with him she learned, he had acquired his first start in the political arena at her father's knee, so to speak.

Touching on the late Drury administration, Mrs. Fallis was in one accord with Major Belford, who believed that the only thing which sustained the people of this province during those four years of incompetence and reckless expenditure was the Bible's assurance that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth."

A Wrong Impression

Continuing, Mrs. Fallis extolled Major Belford as a preacher, a farmer and a military man, to say nothing of his political acumen; and she quoted him as declaring that the idea prevalent in some quarters that a general pre-election Conservative pledge had been that if elected to power that party would repeal the O. T. A. and substitute government control of liquor was a mistaken one.

Personally he was, like others of his party, in favor of the O. T. A., and he is quite satisfied that the government are carrying out all their pledges to the electorate.

Coming Premier

W. S. Haney, of West Lambton, aged 24, and youngest member in the House, Mrs. Fallis told her audience, by his address in reply to the speech from the throne, impressed her as a coming leader in Ontario—in fact, she looks to his eventually assuming the Premiership of this Province if not indeed of Canada. She agreed with him, Premier Ferguson and others, that it is only a matter of a short time before Ontario—(especially Eastern Ontario)—must look elsewhere than to Niagara for electric energy; hence Mr. Ferguson's hearty endorsation of the St. Lawrence river project. As to Hydro and its projects in general, President Mrs. Fallis expressed agreement in the opinion that the development of electric power which in in the interests of all, should not be subject to political strife; and she thought it a pity that in such questions where the country's welfare as a whole is an issue the political opposition feels duty bound to oppose the project.

"We and our leaders should," she urged, "rise above petty politics and all united for the benefit of the people." In this respect, she had confidence in men like Major Belford and W. S. Haney accomplishing much in their efforts to establish Ontario politics on a higher plane.

That Referendum

Turning again to the O.T.A. the speaker warned her hearers that they should be prepared to justify their government in submitting a referendum to the people in conformity with Premier Ferguson's declaration that such will be done when public opinion demands it. The act has been given a trial, she pointed out, many are satisfied with its functioning, but then many also are not; and the government feels that the people have a right to vote on the question, when opinion warrants such a course. Mrs. Fallis had Premier Ferguson's personal assurance that he never voted against temperance in all his life; but, she emphasized, "this is a Democratic country, and the only way to keep the people satisfied is to give them what they want as expressed by vote. As a Democratic people we are governed by the majority's will, and the referendum will probably be submitted and the majority will rule.

In reviewing the late James P. Whitney's policy regarding temperance, Mrs. Fallis thought no politician had ever done so much for temperance than had that great Conservative Premier. He adopted the plan of gradually educating the people up to appreciating temperance conditions by introducing one act after another, each successive measure mitigating the evils arising from over-indulgence in strong drink. Abolishing treating at the bar was his first commendable step in that direction.

In conclusion, she opined that one must regard the O.T.A. from others' standpoint as well as from that of one's self, as it is hard to enforce any law which has not the support of the people. And she was inclined to the thought that the atmosphere concerning prohibition could not be cleared in any better way than by again submitting a referendum to let the people decide who are in the majority—for or against—so that the great principle of government by majority vote may still obtain in respect of liquor as of other conditions.

The Men's Liberal-Conservative Association contributed refreshments.

CUTICURA HEALS LARGE PIMPLES

On Face. Itched and Burned. Caused Loss of Sleep.

"I was troubled awfully with pimples on my face. Little white spots formed at first which later broke out in large, red pimples that festered and scaled over. They itched and burned causing loss of sleep, and my face was disfigured.

WANT HIGHWAY

venue would have been applied in this manner had it not been for the efforts of the organized motorists through the Ontario Motor League.

During the past years the various Provincial laws have been consolidated under the new Motor Vehicles Act, which came into force on January 1st last, and with very few exceptions the recommendations by the Ontario Motor League have been brought into effect.

Light All Vehicles.

One exception that I refer to is, that all vehicles in motion shall be required to carry a light at night on the highways. I think you will all agree that this legislation is not only necessary for the motorist but also for the owners of other vehicles, particularly the horse-drawn. There is no doubt that a great number of accidents and near accidents would be avoided if this legislation existed. All cities in the Province are now able to pass municipal by-laws requiring the above within the city limits, and a number have taken advantage of it; these include Toronto, Hamilton and London.

It is my hope, in the best interests of all concerned, that before very long this measure will become provincial-wide and that branch should do its share in securing it.

The matter of automobile insurance amongst the members of the League is now an established fact, and through arrangements made with a strong mutual insurance company, members can secure insurance at cost. By that I mean that the company referred to will only insure Motor League members writing the policies at tariff rates, and at the expiry of one year from the time the policy was taken a rebate will be made to the policyholders on a percentage basis according to the profits of the company. This company since its eleven years in operation has at no time rebated any less than twenty-five per cent. of the annual premium.

This action was carried out in the face of a very strong organized opposition effort, and already it can be noted that better insurance rates can be secured by automobile owners than heretofore.

We appreciate the fact that the Provincial Government believes it a good policy to issue licenses through the branches of the Motor League where possible, and our thanks are due to one of our directors, Mr. W. H. Bradburn, member for West Peterboro, for his efforts in using this branch for this purpose. We believe that the service rendered to the motorists in this regard is satisfactory, and I wish to draw your attention to the fact that the branch in no way is responsible for the revenue secured from the licenses, the secretary being held personally responsible. The amount handled this way was over forty-five thousand dollars.

Road Development.

You no doubt have noticed the improvement that has been made on the Burleigh Falls road during the past year, and we appreciate to the fullest extent the action of the County Council in this regard. I think you will all agree that as soon as possible this road should be taken over as a county Provincial highway. It is my belief that the efforts of the branch could be extended so as to assist with the co-operation of the Department of Public Highways, county and city councils, in checking up the various road systems in the County of Peterboro, with the object of securing a real programme of development on which monies available could be spent each year, so as not to make it a burden upon the taxpayers, and where money is spent it should be on the general programme of work probably for ten years.

Peterboro County has a greater number of miles of county roads than any other county in the Province, and it is without doubt a problem for the County Council to improve and maintain them adequately.

I wish to take the opportunity of complimenting the City Council on their attitude to the Suburban Commission in respect to the proposed work. I think that the city is always willing to do its share in improving and maintaining the leading entry roads to the city, and is purely a business proposition to know how much and where the city's share of cost is to be expended.

Tourist Highway.

It is my opinion that we should do everything possible to encourage the automobile tourist traffic throughout the district, and in passing I wish to acknowledge the work carried out by the Chamber of Commerce in operating the Tourists' Bureau. I understand that over two hundred automobile parties registered at the Bureau during the past summer and secured the necessary services, and our assistance in this regard was supplying the visitors with a large scale map of Central Ontario free of charge. There is no doubt whatever that this service rendered our visitors on coming to the city is appreciated and results in good advertising for Peterborough.

During the past year a ten year lease was secured by the Branch of a small parcel of land at Welcome, for the purpose of erecting a large sign directing the tourists on the Provincial highway to Peterborough, and the Kawartha Lakes. It is hoped that with the assistance of the City Council it may be possible to erect this sign and possibly a few more, which will direct the tourist traffic in this direction.

Arrangements were made through the courtesy of Chief S. Newhall of the Police Department, to present welcome cards to all foreign visitors, and I believe that this should be continued, and possibly enlarged, whereby all visiting tourists will receive a formal welcome to the city.

I believe also that everything should be done in co-operation with other influential bodies, to secure a convenient automobile ferry service from Cobourg to Rochester. This will not only be of benefit to motorists in Central Ontario, but also to American tourists desiring to tour throughout our lake districts.

From time to time we have been requested information regarding a camping sit for motorists in the city. You may remember that a joint committee of the League and the Retail Merchants' Association recommended that the northwest corner of Inverlea Park be used for this purpose, but owing to the opposition of residents in the immediate vicinity no further arrangements have been made. There is no doubt whatever that the place mentioned is the best in the city, and if it is not possible to establish a camping site there another place should be found and established, so that this city may secure its fair share of the camp-by-night motorists, who are increasing in numbers annually.

Through your kind and generous co-operation we were able during the past year to entertain the Graduate Nurses' Convention to a drive around the city, and the Detroit Passenger Club, numbering approximately one hundred and fifty in the party, from the city to South Beach.

I believe we are well repaid in devoting a small amount of time and our automobiles in entertaining these visitors, and I think it would be well for us to again consider giving excursions to the inmates of our charitable institutions at least once during the summer.

Through the co-operation of a few of our members we have been able to erect numerous road and danger signs throughout the district, but there is still a considerable amount of this work to be done, and I do not think it would be a hardship for us to make a note of any signs requirquided while we are travelling around the country, and inform the office, so that the necessary signs may be secured from the Ontario Motor League free of charge, and subsequently erected.

With the increase in automobile traffic in the city, I believe it would be well for this Branch to consider, in conjunction with the police department, the advisability of setting aside certain streets or places where automobiles may be parked, and that at certain hours of the day one way streets be used.

In closing this report I wish to to compliment our pplice department on the system of safety zones established at the main intersections by the marking of the streets, and the manner in which traffic is controlled generally, but would suggest that a traffic control signal of some kind be placed at the main intersections, so as to avoid congestion at these points.

I desire to express my deep appreciation of thes upport given to me by the directors and general membership during my term in office, and it is my sincere hope that the Ontario Motor League, Peterborough Branch, may continue to flourish and prove itself to be an organization of motoring citizens desiring to be of service in the interest of not only ourselves but of others.

I cannot close without expressing the apreciation of the Branch to the daily press, our loyal Examiner, which at all times has been ready to assist the Branch through its columns.

The Block Road Again

Samuel Armstrong of Indian River spoke to the Motor League on the relative merits of the proposed routes east of Peterboro, saying he represented the farmers who are on common ground with the motor league in seeking good roads.

A winding road is favored by farmers because of the easier grade, whereas the motorists would rather have a straight road. The winding road could be built for less than one fifth of the cost of a straight road.

"We are utterly opposed to the road proposed by the county council," Mr. Armstrong said. "It is not fit to build a road on. The county council paid $9,400 on one mile of that road and left the grade steeper than when they started. You cannot cut through a hill and lower the grade of a road without adding to its length. The suburban areas commission did not add to the length."

East Otonabee to a man, Otonabee Council and Asphodel Council condemn the policy of the county council.

Otonabee council raised $2,000 to open the block road and the money is awaiting use for that purpose. The County Council has in the face of that decided to take the crooked road and we are out to fight them."

Mr. Armstrong repeated the arguments he presented to the County Council a few weeks ago regarding the unsuitability of the north road and the superiority of the block road.

There are 19 families living on the south road assessed for $84,000 and only 4 people live on the north road on the portion under discussion with an assessment of $18,600.

Mr. Armstrong claimed the "bog hole" referred to by the opponents of the south road proposition is an asset to a suburban road, being not a bog but a live creek full of minnows.

A deputation from the district will wait on the Highways minister to present the case, Mr. Armstrong said. "We are absolutely opposed to spending another dollar on the north road. The county council has taken an attitude that is altogether wrong in a democratic country."

President Turner thanked Mr. Armstrong and assured him that the question would be taken under discussion by the executive at its next meeting on Friday, February 22.

General Business

The president, secretary, and H. O. Fisk were appointed to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Motor League in Toronto.

President Turner said the League should go on record as being opposed to reckless driving and recommended that if a member is found guilty of driving while intoxicated, he be dropped from the League as not worthy of membership..

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sanative Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. ED. BOEHNLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. It is now selling almost all over the world.

A CONFERENCE NAVY EXPERTS

Other Countries Will Be Invited to Sign Covenant

ROME, Feb. 14. — (By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.) —The Washington Naval Disarmament Conference bore fresh fruit to-day when a commission of naval experts from fifteen states convened here under the auspices of the League of Nations to draft a convention extending the principals of the Washington naval reduction treaty to all of the nations of the world.

The convention drafted by this conference will be submitted to the League's fifth annual assembly in September.

When the League Council approves, the document will be submitted to every ntaion that did not sign the Washington agreement and each of those nations will be invited to sign—and limit their naval armaments accordingly.

The conference will to-day make a special effort to meet the objections of Brazil, which, like most American States, claims that the South American armaments are on such a small scale, as compared with those of the United States and Europe, that to apply to South America the same basis of reduction as that established for Europe and the United States would prevent Latin America from ever arriving at armaments sufficiently large for the meagerest defence. Argentine and Chile have not insisted on the acceptance of the viewpoint, although they believe in the idea. But Brazil has stood pat so strongly that her position has prevented any progress toward a basis of naval limitation for South America.

The United States was the only naval power not represented at the conference, but here limitation is regarded as definitely fixed under the Washington agreement.

ALCOHOLIC

The death rate from diabetes increases a tenth in one year. A medical specialist at Johns Hopkins University blames prohibition, which has greatly increased the average American's consumption of sugar. Diabetes is a disease of the pancreatic gland, and excessive use of sugar is apt to make this gland function abnormally.

Alcohol, however, has a similar effect on the pancreas. In some respects, sugar and alcohol are twins. Drunkards, sobering up, usually eat a lot of candy. To date, the most important result of prohibition seems to be its effect on the poncreatic gland.

ONE ON CAMPBELLFORD

Motorists who have occasion to travel through Campbellford, will rejoice to learn that the Council of that town, noted far and wide as having the worst roads in the district, will probably decide to pave a portion of the streets this year. —"Havelock Standard."

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ONCE MADE MILLIONS LAUGH; AN EXTRA NOW.

Flora Finch Steps From Obscurity in Valentine Picture.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. — Flora Finch, once the greatest screen comedienne in American filmdom, is working as a lowly extra in a Long Island studio.

The woman who made millions laugh when she worked opposite John Bunny, famous comedian of 15 years ago, has been engaged "for a couple of days, and her salary is not likely to be more than $15 a day."

Miss Finch stepped out of obscurity when extras were paraded to celebrate the return to the fold of Rodolph Valentino. Her face stood out among those of the lowly extras to furnish atmosphere for Valentino's new film.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

OVERSEAS PRESS ALLOTED SEATS

LONDON, February 14 (Canadian Press Cable). — Ten seats in the members' gallery of the House of Commons are to be reserved every day in future for representatives of Dominion and foreign newspapers.

This marks a considerable advance from the previous order of things, and will enable the overseas press to report the debates.

In pre-war days the newspaperman from the Dominions was able only to secure an ordinary ticket for the strangers' gallery.

During the war, on the occasion of an important statement by a Minister, the practice was adopted of reserving the front row of the public gallery for Dominion and foreign press representatives.

This reservation, however, was made only on special occasions.

Yesterday's announcement means that the authorities recognise the expediency of overseas correspondents being enabled to hear the debates any day. The overseas newspaper men on their part readily admit the practical impossibility of their being granted regular admission to the press gallery, which already is overcrowded by British correspondents.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

People seldom buy a house, they buy an impression.

If you decide to sell a home, the first thing to do is to put in the improvements to make a good impression. These will lead to a quick sale.

The real estate commission is relatively small, so offer the local real estate man an additional incentive. Aobut $50 spent in the local newspaper describing the improvement, will also prove profitable in most cases.

Arrange the improvements to give the best impression and the result should eb a quick satisfactory sale.

HIGHER TARIFF IS SOUGHT BY GROWERS

Ask Added Ten Per Cent. Tax on Vegetable and Fruit Imports.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—Inadequate tariff protection, thereby permitting the importation and sale of foreign grown vegetables and fruits in this market in inequitable competition with similar goods produced at home is the major obstacle encountered by the vegetable growers of this province, and is one which is inflicting a severe hardship upon the industry, in fact forcing many gardeners into other lines of enterprise. This subject was discussed at some length at the annual convention of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, held in Toronto yesterday, when it was decided to petition the Federal Government to impose a luxury tax of 10 per cent., in addition to present taxes, upon vegetables and fruits imported into this country. The viewpoint of the meeting on this subject is summed up in the following resolution, which was carried without a dissenting vote:

"That we realize from reports from all parts of the province that our farmers, especially those engaged in supplying vegetables during the Winter and early Summer seasons, are gradually being driven out of business by the importation of cheap, field-grown products of the United States. We therefore [illegible] the Honorable Minister of Finance to help us obtain some relief from these disastrous conditions. Knowing as all Canadians do, that money must be obtained through taxation to carry on our governmental activities and pay our portion of the great war debt, we think that those most able to bear the burden should do so, and therefore petition you to impose a 10 per cent. luxury tax, in addition to our present taxes on our vegetable and fruit imports, which are undoubtedly a luxury in the seasons during which we find competition impossible."

The meeting opened with a large representation of members of the association, and problems of peculiar interest to this industry were reviewed and discussed during the course of the session. President W. H. Stewart, of Aylmer, Quebec, presided, and in his remarks dealt mainly with the work of the Canadian Horticultural Council, with which the vegetable growers are associated.

Cheap Labor in South.

Secretary-treasurer J. Lockie Wilson of Toronto, during the presentation of his report took occasion to outline the handicaps under which the industry was operating by reason of the competition from outside sources. "Until something is done," he declared, "to prevent the trainloads of vegetables being brought into Ontario, grown by cheap negro labor of the south, and in a country where there is no Winter, and from a country that has built its tariff walls so high that we cannot send our surplus products to them, we will, I fear, plant our seed and grow our crops in the vain hope of reasonable remuneratoin. I notice by the press that the vegetable growers of Mexico have agents in this country arranging for large shipments to Canada during 1924. If this business scheme of the Mexicans is carrier out it will mean a greater handicap to our vegetable growers who are working high-priced land, and are obliged to pay the tremendously high taxation which apparently is necessary to reduce our enormous indebtness.

"Is the Government of Canada going to allow the intensive thirtfy vegetable growers, whose manner of living is surely of a much higher standard than that of foreign or negro labor to be sacrificed on the altar of what I think is false political economy? The millions of dollars Canadians invest in these products of foreign countries have already increased and continue to increase the balance of trade against us, and further create a depreciation of our currency, which is now worth only 98 1-2 cents on the dot lar in the United States."

Weighing of Vegetables.

The members of the association carried a resolution expressing sympathy with the general provision of the Root and Vegetables Act as it applied to standardization and the weighing of vegetables in the larger packages, but disapproving the section applying to the weighing of vegetables by the producer in his retail trade on the open market. The delegates believed it to be a physical impossiblity to conform to this section of the Act under climatic conditions in Canada and, therefore, urged that an exemption be made of Section 18 as it applied to the grower himself and his retail trade.

Officers Elected.

The following are officers of the association for the current year: President, W. H. Stewart, of Aylmer, Quebec; First Vice-president, Walter J. Cooke, Kingston; Second Vice-president, Chris Fretz, Vineland Station; Secretary-treasurer, J. Lockie-Wilson, Toronto, and Directors, John Norris, Eagle Place; A. N. Lambshed Aldershot; Jos. Cyr, Cyrville; C. C. Brown, Fonthill; A. W. Lucas, London; Eli Davis, London; Wm. Trick, Ottawa; C. F. Kitney, Peterboro; F. F. Reeves, Humber Bay; A. E. Cormack, Whitby; Maurice Bay, Tecumseh; Murray Smith, Sarnia; T. W. Ramford, Belleville; L. R. Martin, Vineland Station, and F. R. H. Baker, St. Catharines.

Higher Tariff Asked.

Discussing the subject, "Staking Tomatoes," Chris Fretz, of Vineland Station, pointed out that under the ordinary methods of cultivation the average crop was 150 bushels per acre, whereas by staking production was raised to 600 bushels. One delegate in the hall informed the meeting that he had produced as much as 1,000 bushels per acre by following the staking process. Prof. A. H. McLennan, of Guelph, told the delegates what the Ontario Agricultural Colleeg was doing for the vegetable growers of this province. He likewise intimated that the greenhouses at the college were a disgrace, and asked for the support of the vegetable growers to the end that this situation might be improved, and up-to-date greenhouses established in order that the horticultular needs of the province might be edequately looked after. Other subjects which contained much useful information were: "Fertilizers," presented by [illegible] Dept. of Agriculture; "The Growing of Celery," by Jos. Cyr, of Cyrville; "The Value of Cover Crops to the Vegetable Grower," by J. Ruthven Wilson, of Port Credit; "Cauliflower," by Fred Presant, of Guelph, and "The Benefits of Vegetable Growing for our Country.", by A. Belanger, M.P.P.

The association adopted a resolution endorsing the application of the Canadian Horticultural Society to the Federal Government for legislation to require that all spray material be sold in Canada under a guaranteed analysis. It was further moved that the Minister of Agriculture of this Province be asked to expedite the printing of reports of the convention, as there was much useful information which should be speedily disseminated among the various members for their perusal.

Norwood News Budget

NORWOOD, Feb. 13.—The fourth of the series of University Extension lectures, under the auspices of the High School, was given on Friday evening last by Professor McKenzie, of Toronto. The subject was "Landmarks in Photography."

The Young People's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held a very successful educational evening in the Primary class room on Monday. The program was given by the young ladies. The chair was occupied by the president, Miss Ruby Gardner. The meeting was opened by the singing of a hymn followed by the scripture reading by Miss Olive Webster and prayer by Miss L. B. Starke. News items were given by Miss Maye Bertrand, who, in a few well-chosen words, told some very interesting things about the Province of Nova Scotia.

Miss Barbara Foote delighted the audience with an instrumental solo, and Miss Ona Finlay sang in her usual sweet voice. She was accompanied on the organ by Miss I. McConnell.

The address of the evening was given by Mrs. A. McNeil. Her subject being "Common Things, Common Evils and Common Virtues," taking for the basis of her remarks Wordsworth, Dickens and Ruskin. Mrs. McNeil held her audience spellbound throughout her address, which was both interesting and instructive. Miss Florence Burgess gave a reading "The Song my Paddle Sings," by Pauline Johnston, and Miss Rhoda Frost rendered an instrumental entitled "Woodland Streams."

The meeting was then thrown open for business and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Ruth Wildman. Rev. T. M. Wesley spoke a few words of commendation on the success of the evening. The meeting closed by singing a hymn and repeating the Myzpah benediction.

GERMAN COLONY GETS AUTONOMY.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(Associated Press).—Soviet Russia is about to give autonomy to the German colonists on the Volga, and will make the community, which has already been organized by the Volga Germans, a part of the Soviet Federation. Of the 800,000 German colonists still reported to be alive in Russia, Dr. Otto Fischer of Hamburg, who is well acquainted with the conditions in Russia, says at least 600,000 are in great distress. The majority of these colonists are Catholics. Half of the German colonists in Russia are along the Black Sea and the remainder are on the Volga, in the vicinity of Saratoff.

Some doubt is expressed by the German press as to whether the Germans in Russia along the Volga can be won over to the Soviet standard by giving them autonomy because of the extreme hardships they have suffered under the Bolshevist regime and the disorganization and death visited upon them by famine and the requisitioning of their grain and cattle by the Soviet Government.

Germans first emigrated to the Volga area 150 years ago and 50 years later the German colonists settled along the Black Sea. Of recent years there has been a great emigration of these German-Russian colonists to the United States, especially to Kansas and North Dakota. Many of them also have gone to the Argentine.

A new famine is now facing the Volga Germans, and the Berlin Catholic paper Germania is carrying an appeal for the colonists. The extremely high price of all sorts of textiles in Russia and the bad economic state of the Volga Germans make it impossible for most of the colonists to buy clothing. Many children cannot attend school because of the lack of clothing, and even the clergymen are reported to be so poverty-stricken that they have no suitable clothing to wear in the churches.

Both the Catholic and the Protestant German colonists have clung to their religion in Russia in spite of the Bolshevist agitation against all churches and the martyrdom of priests and preachers and they have clung to their mother tongue and customs.

Marienthal, the largest Catholic community in Russia, had 12,000 inhabitants before the Soviet regime. It now has only 4,000 and other centres have been similarly reduced under the disorganized and unsettled conditions brought about by the political upheaval and the famine.

Address on Immigration

(By Miss Edith Murphy)

The following address on "Immigration" was delivered to the Rotary Club at their luncheon on Monday of this week, by Miss Edith A. Murphy, one of the members of the teaching staff of the local Collegiate Institute:

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF ROTARY:

The subject upon which I have been asked to speak is so vast that it would be impossible to accomplish much in a brief discussion of it unless I limited myself almost entirely to a consideration of simply some sides of it. Our immigration problems may be grouped under three headings:

1. There is the difficulty attending the efforts of our department of Immigration to create a desire on the part of desirable citizens, in other lands to migrate to Canada.

2. The problem of selecting those suitable, rejecting the unsuitable and directing the first-named to the section of Canada needing them.

3. The task of assimilating the immigrant after he settles. The community, church and school are the chief factors here, but even in this some direct intervention by the government would be at times helpful, as I am going to point out, but today I shall stress practically entirely our government's efforts to cope with the first two problems, and I shall leave the immigrant's assimilation out of account.

Up to about 30 years ago there was a very thin trickle of immigration into Canada. However, during those apparently unprogressive years between 1867 and 1899, the last jarrings following Confederation, ceased. That quiet period was formative.

In the 26 years previous to 1899 homestead entries in Western Canada averaged about 3400 per year. From 1899 to 1904 they averaged over 22,000 per annum. As contrasted with U. S. during that period, in 1899 we got about 13⅓ of the immigrants coming to America, whereas by 1904 our share had increased to 48⅓, almost half.

The Wall Street Journal estimated that from 1906 to 1912 inclusive, 674,000 American settlers alone came to Canada, bringing with them wealth approximating $775,000,000. I like to talk about that now when the pendulum has swung the other way. Every Canadian seems at present wide awake to the fact that the statistics from the Bureau of Immigration at Washington show that for the year ending June 30, 1923, 117,000 Canadians emigrated to U.S. and that the trade returns for the month of August show that the shipments of settlers' effects going out were almost double the value of those that come in. But we are apt to overlook the fact that this movement North and South across the border has gone on always and has not been one-sided. In 1911, over 121,000; in 1912, over 133,000; in 1913, over 139,000 Americans came to Canada.

Almost 100 years ago Canada got alarmed for the first time over Canadians going to U.S., i.e., between 1826 and 1840; and periodically ever since, coincident times of depression north or south of the border, one country or the other deplores the exodus of its citizens. I have quoted the Wall Street Journal for the period from 1906 to 1912; a Canadian statistical table for the years 1900 to 1909 shows that at that time 45⅔ of all the homestead entries in Canada were made by Americans. I noticed in the Globe's Annual Financial Review this January that E. W. Beatty predicts that the present exodus of Canadians is a passing phase just about terminated now and he says that the expatriated Canadians have already begun to return on the Pacific coast. I leave the quakey field of prophecy to men like Beatty. I am merely quoting what he gives as the view of experts.

In 1913, the Canadians Immigration high-water mark up to the present over 402,000 people came here,—or, in other words, the rate of immigration for this country in 1913 equalled 5⅔ of our total population; and in the previous year had equalled 4⅔ of our whole population. Many seem to think that it would be ideal if that condition had continued or existed all the time, but it wouldn't. If we turn to the States again, it's evident why. At no time has the rate of immigration there exceeded 1½ of the population, though we in Canada often quote the U.S. and correctly so, as a country that filled too rapidly for assimilation. The moral for Canada is obvious.

The war, of course, comparatively speaking, practically froze the tap that was pouring immigrants into this country, and since the war ended our government has been trying to get that tap running again, but it is not one that you can turn on and off with absolute freedom. Beatty of the C. P. R. pointed that out in an article he wrote in 1921 on "The Need for Immigrants," in which he stressed the idea that our immigration policy should not be framed on the principle that a temporary depression or temporary unemployment is a justification for barriers against a good type of immigrant. Of course one naturally discounts what he says about immigrants because it comes from the President of the C.P.R., but he made rather a good point in that article when he indicated that the National Railways were even more concerned in a demand for population than the C.P.R. because of the extent of sparsely settled country through which so much of their mileage runs.

Every discussion of railway problems nowadays ultimately touches a note of hopefulness when the subject of future immigration is mooted. This future immigrant, according to the Daily News, is to provide adequate support for the machinery of industry and transportation which we have created, and pay for the war!!—and I suppose, though the News neglects to mention it, he will make a living for himself, too, incidentally, if he can.

Col. Dennis, chief commissioner of the colonization department of the C.P.R. in giving his testimony at the Grand Trunk arbitration said that some years ago Mr. Jas. J. Hill made the statement that a farmer adjacent to the Great Northern was worth $1,000 per annum to them. That figure Col. Dennis said was used for a long time, and "it would look as if Mr. Hill was a fairly good guesser, because when we get down to the actual facts we get the figure of $743 per year. So an immigrant settled on the land is more valuable than you might think.

Now our Canadian government for some time has had a well-defined immigration policy to encourage agriculturists and domestics to come here from the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and United States. These nine countries are considered as supplying the class of immigrants most easily assimilated and most likely to make good in Canada. The reason European immigration is restricted to these is well stated by Prof. Commons, speaking for U. S. in his book on "Races and Immigrants," says:

"A line drawn across the continent of Europe from north east to southwest, separating the Scandinavian Peninsula, the British Isles, Germany and France from Russia, Austria-Hungary, Italy and Turkey, separates countries not only of distinct races but also of distinct civilizations. It separates lands where education is universal from lands where illiteracy predominates; it separates manufacturing countries, progressive agriculture and skilled labor, from primitive hand industries, backward agriculture and unskilled labor; it separates an educated, thrifty peasantry from a peasantry scarcely a single generation removed from serfdom; it separates Teutonic races from Latin, Slav, Semitic and Mongolian races. When the sources of American immigration are shifted from the Western countries so nearly allied to our own, to Eastern countries so remote in the main attributes of Western civilization, the change is one that should challenge the attention of every citizen. Such a change has occurred, and it needs only a cf. of the statistics of immigration to see its extent. In 1882, Western Europe furnished U. S. 87% of all its immigrants; in 1912, only 22 p.c. while the share of Southeastern Europe and Asiatic Turkey increased from 13p.c. in 1882 to 78 p.c. in 1902. During 20 years, then, the immigration of the Western races most nearly related to those which have fashioned American institutions destined more than 78p.c., while the immigrant of Eastern and Southern races increased nearly six-fold. Generally speaking, that statement holds true for Canada, the great increase in immigration from Eastern Europe to Canada was unmistakable and intensified to a dangerous degree the whole problem of Canadianization.

The present Immigration Act aimed to stop that. It became law in 1910 and has been frequently amended since. It was drafted along lines suggested by our own experience and that of U. S. with their Immigration Act of 1907. Its policy was to secure immigrants to occupy land either as owners, tenants or laborers, and to exclude those who were mentally, morally or physically unfit or those who were liable to add to the congestion of our towns and cities. A fine policy but extremely difficult to carry out.

British immigrants since the passing of that act have been subject to medical inspection, and at first they had to have $25.00 in cash in summer or $50.00 in winter. Then from 1921 to January, 1923—during the reconstruction period—they had to have $250.00 if adult, or $150.00 if under 18 in addition to their ticket or money equivalent to the cost of transportation to their destination in Canada. This money qualification did not apply to farmers, farm laborers or domestics coming to assured employment. Since last January these latter classes are admitted if they simply pass the medical examination, are coming to assured employment, or have sufficient funds to maintain themselves until employment is secured. Although there is no Order-in-Council covering it, officers at ocean ports have been advised to admit under similar conditions immigrants from nine European countries. Any desirable immigrant is now eligible for entry to Canada provided he is in good health mentally and physically, of good moral character, and coming to assured employment or has enough money to keep him till he gets work.

To secure suitable immigrants from the British Isles, advertizing has been carried on by newspapers, personal solicitation, distribution of illustrated literature, exhibits of Canadian natural products at fairs, immigration lectures, farm delegates and through steamships booking agents. The lecturers gave addresses, articles to newspapers and interviews. They were generally men who had emigrated to Canada from the United Kingdom, had been engaged in agriculture and were thus able to speak of the relative advantages of farming in the Old Country and in Canada. The farm delegates were men of a similar type whose work was to visit steamship booking agencies and speak personally to intending settlers. J. C. Stead, of the Dominion Department of Immigration, speaking in Winnipeg last October, said that their department tried particularly to approach the children in Anglo-Saxon countries by supplying the schools with text-books in which the truth is told about Canada, and corrected the notion that this is a land noted particularly for its icebergs and Polar bears. Within the three months previous to last October, he said, their department had supplied 300,000 copies of these text-books for use in the schools of Great Britain, and that they were printing 225,000 more for use in the school of the U. S. Such books, he said, were supplied free to schools on application by the school principals, and the supply never equalled the demand. The beginning of October they had a request from the educational authorities of Glasgow for 20,000 copies. They were able to send only 10,000.

For a considerable period prior to 1914 Canada of course paid a bonus to certain approved Steamship Booking Agents in the British Isles and on the Continent, who agreed to distribute literature and who received in return £1 on adults and 10s. on persons under 18, provided both were farmers, farm laborers or domestic servants. Between 1905 and 1909, 16½% of all British immigrants came as a result of this bonus system and 11% of all immigrants from Continental Europe. In Canada the government had selected employment agents, usually retired farmers with an intimate knowledge of their respective localities, to whom a bonus of $2.00 was paid for each farm laborer or domestic servant placed.

Similar propaganda has been used in U. S. where there are at present 20 agencies in different cities in states from which immigration is most desired. Some years ago they used to give a commission to American agents of $3.00 per man, 2.00 per woman, and $1.00 per child, on genuine settlers induced to move to Western Canada. Between 1905 and 1909 these commissions were paid on over 5½% of all emigrants from U. S. to Canada.

To keep complete records of all the moves of every immigrant after his arrival in Canada would be a stupendous, if not an impossible, undertaking. It has never been thoroughly done anyhow, so only in a rough way can estimates be arrived at as to how many of these men brought here from Europe, Britain or U. S. often as a result of a bonus paid to secure farmers, really finally went farming. However, W. G. Smith, Professor of Psychology at Toronto University, estimates that up to 1910 about 20% of the English, 2% of the Irish, 5% of the Scottish, 45% of the American and 28% of the European went farming. Not very encouraging!

Later, from 1910 to 1918, with the new act it was better. Thirty-four per cent of all our immigrants went farming. However, 66% still went to swell the population of our towns and cities, in spite of our Immigration Act and all the machinery, if Smith's estimate is at all nearly correct, and it is not a mere guess. He gauged at from the homestead entries covering a cycle of years.

Perhaps you wonder how much money our governments lavished during those years on luring these people here. From 1900 to 1920 our governments spent nearly $19,000,000 in promoting and regulating the entrance of some 5¾ million of immigrants. The total head-tax paid by all the Chinese up to their exclusion, amounts to over $18,000,000, so that the Chinese would nearly pay for the rest.

To turn to the immediate present. There are four distinct schemes for getting immigrants here now with which I wish to deal.

The first agency I am going to mention is the Salvation Army because I can deal with its work briefly. It has been given financial assistance by our governments to the extent, all told, of $124,000, between the years 1912 and 1923. It has given continuous valuable service in its immigration work and up to 1920 it was believed they had on recent years brought out 100,000 settlers. I don't know the present total.

The second scheme is the Empire Settlement Act which has been in force since 1922. It provides for an annual maximum expenditure for 15 years of £3,000,000 and becomes operative when any overseas dominion enters into an agreement with the Imperial Government for sharing the cost on a fifty-fifty basis.

Australia and New Zealand entered into such an agreement in the summer of 1922, but Canada did not until 1923. Last session, however, $600,000 was voted for expenditure during the pregent fiscal year on passage grants and passage loans. There are three sections to this agreement:

The first section provides $200,000 for nominated passage loans to agriculturists and their families, not to exceed 75% of the cost of 3rd class ocean and colonist rail fare. The other 25% has to be paid by the nominator or persons nominated, and the 75% loan must be repaid within three years. This Nomination Scheme is handled through the banks, whose managers, without charge, assist the nominator in filling out the form, give the Department of Immigration a confidential report on the nominator's standing, conduct any necessary correspondence and finally transmit the refunds to the Department. The loans are made by means of a passage warrant issued in the London office. This warrant is printed with original, duplicate and stub. It gives the name of the person assisted, the amount of the loan, etc., and is accepted by any steamship booking office for the amount of money named in it, to be applied on the bearer's passage. When this warrant is issued in London, the duplicate is sent to Ottawa.

Now the second section in this agreement provides $200,000 for assisting household workers by giving them passage loans. Any sum needed up to the entire cost of 3rd class ocean and colonist rail fare to their destination in Canada is lent. It must be repaid in monthly instalments out of wages. Any experienced house-worker of good character may secure such a loan on a personal guarantee of repayment. The Women's Hostels usually place these workers.

The third section in this agreement provides $200,000 for juvenile passage grants during the year 1923-4. This grant amounts to $80.00 for each boy or girl brought through any of the Emigrating Societies, such as Barnardo's. To bring and place such a child costs all told about $150. There is no expectation that these grants will be repaid, but the Imperial and Canadian governments both believe that when we get immigrants from an industrial country like Britain we cannot expect grown-up people who have for years fitted into the industrial life there to settle as satisfactorily into agricultural life here as half-grown boys and girls who have not yet become cogs in the industrial life of the Old Country, and so will adapt themselves better to rural life here. Australia this year is to carry children under 12 from England free and those between 12 and 16 at half fare. You will remember how steadily our steamship companies held out when Hon. J. A. Robb tried to get a guarantee of fare reductions for immigrants from them at the time of the Federal-Provincial Conference three months ago.

Now all loans and grants made in connection with the Empire Settlement Act are arranged for and paid by Canada and half the sums expended are later refunded by the Imperial Government.

Then the third immigration scheme I wanted to mention is the $700.000 which has been lent to soldier settlers, the average loan to each amounting to $4,000. The soldiers were, at first in 1920, picked by a Selection Committee of two practical men sent by the Soldier Settlement Board to the British Isles. Later, in 1923, by Major Ashton.

Finally, fourth, there is the Canada Colonization Association which was re-organized last June. It existed for the purpose of making available for settlement at the lowest prices and on the best terms possible, privately owned undeveloped lands throughout Canada. It was a non-profit sharing organization, supported by leading industrial and financial institutions interested in our National development. In June it was brought directly under the joint control of the Federal government, Canadian National and C. P. Railway. It is managed by a Board of twelve directors, four from each of the three interests I have named. Our government has agreed to contribute $100,000 a year to its support and the two railways jointly contribute a similar amount.

It has listed a large acreage of land at very reasonable prices and on long terms ranging up to 32 years at low interest.

It has also a Welfare Department, organized to give special assistance to settlers in the selection and purchase of land and equipment. This last is an excellent idea, and is one example of that direct government intervention in the immigrant's settlement which I mentioned at the outset as at times advisable. It gives the incoming settler a fair chance of locating advantageously, and not being exploited because of his ignorance. It thus prevents him in case of his failure from having that prized possession—a legitimate grievance a against our country.

As the Hon. J. A. Robb pointed out to the Ottawa Citizen in September last, all these schemes of migration within the Empire are not meant to exclude other immigrants from elsewhere who will still be admitted as before, and the assistance I have outlined has really stimulated immigration for the first four months of 1923 it was 67% in excess of the same four months of 1922, and British immigration increased 85%.

Now we are all familiar with the sheaf of suggestions that are generously given all governments periodically. Advice is the one thing that no government ever lacks. There isn't a magazine in the country that is too light or too frivolous to feel justified at frequent intervals in turning from directing the women as to how to run their homes to the even more congenial task of telling the government how to run the country. Out of this welter of conflicting advice I should like, in conclusion, to sketch four suggestions that seemed worth considering and that have not been adopted yet.

1. Wm. Pearson, in an article in The Monetary Times about four years ago, advocated re-instituting the old system of giving a free pass to every land agent who brought up to Western Canada from U. S. three prospective settlers.

2. The London Times advocated at the time of the debate on the Empire Settlement Bill in the British House of Commons, a block settlement scheme for British immigrants which would obviate the necessity of severing their community ties. Such blocks would not have the disadvantage from our standpoint that foreign blocks have.

3. Major Ashton, Commissioner of the Soldier Settlement Board, advises the settlement of just one district at a time, moving on from there only when settlement is closed in. This, he thinks, would reduce administrative expenses by one-third, as compared with the indiscriminate aiding of settlement.

4. Major Ashton has outlined a plan that he thinks feasible for Canada which has been in operation in Australia. There, the government buys up land, adds 10% to the purchase price before re-sale to settlers, accepts 10% down from the settler and allows him the other 90% on time.

After some years' trial in Australia this scheme has proved a little better than self-supporting, and it has settled thousands of men and expended millions of dollars. Of course the Canada Colonization Association is in line with this idea, but the appropriations for it are so small that it is a mere bagatelle compared with the Australian scheme which has been a proved success.

KINGSTON WANTS TO BE TERMINAL

Representation Made to the Covernment This Morning.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Asking government to undertake development of Port of Kingston as deep water terminal of Great Lakes Grain Shipments deputation of ship owners, officials of steamship lines, ship captains and members of Kingston Municipal Council waited on Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works this morning.

F. King solicitor for Dominion Marine Association is presenting case for deputation stated that with enlargement of Welland Canal to permit larger ship of grain fleet to pass through port would be necessary for trans-shipment of grain. While ports further down, no river might be considered as terminal he said they presented problems that would prove expensive and dangerous to navigation. Though it would be number of years before work on Welland Canal is completed, it would be necessary to have terminal ready at same time.

Several of captains of lake ships, indicated difficulties which would confront navigators in attempting to take large grain ships below Kingston. With narrow channels and likelihood of fogs among islands ship would be liable to lose valuable time during necessary delays. Capt. Stinson of Steamer Kingston said that in forty five trips per season that he makes to the port of Prescott there was constant difficulty, in the handling of his ship which was only three hundred feet in length, while larger grain bearing ships are five hundred feet long. Brig. Gen4 A. E. Ross, M. P., said that question was not new one other governments had considered it and made surveys and people of Kingston were trusting in continuity of work.

Hon. Dr. King Minister of Public Works, said delegation was quite unique, representing shipping men and ship masters Board of Engineers he added had made inquiries into the matter and whole would be thoroughly alive to importance of situation.

New York Stock Exchange — and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 14.—(United Press.) — Following the sweeping reaction in the preceding session, many margin accounts were placed in an impaired position and their adjustment caused further recessions in the general list soon after the opening. At the opening, Steel Common made a new low on the move at 106 1-2, American Can at 116 3-4, Pan-American B. at 42 1-2, Baldwin at 12 5-8 and Replogle Steel 58 5-8. Overnight news brought out nothing new in the economic situation so the market's principal attention was devoted to its own internal position and the general belief was that Wednesday's reaction had strengthened the technical situation considerably.

Stocks steadied somewhat after the intial wave of selling and a slightly harder tone chaarcterized the general list around the close of the first hour. Bearish rumours of various kinds were still in circulation, however, and short sellers were active.

There was a good borrowing demand for stocks, indicating that the decline was not entirely due to profit taking. Stocks in demand included Steel, Studebaker, Baldwin, Pan-American and Industrial Alcohol.

Brokers claimed the Teapot Dome investigation still led to selling.

This may have been true, but the consensus of opinion inclined to the belief that the recession now in progress is the natural result of the prolonged bull market which has held sway.

SPEAKER THOMPSON TO RULE IN FAVOR TO-DAY

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Speaker Thompson will rule in the Legislature this afternoon that the amendment to the amendment on the reply to the Speech from the Throne, moved by Premier Ferguson yesterday, is in order. Hon. W. E. Raney asked yesterday that the speaker make the decision as he had some doubt as to it being in order. Mr. Raney will continue the debate. W. Finlayson (Conservative, East Simcoe) and Z. Mageau (Liberal, Sturgeon Falls) wil be the next speakers.

NO RUSH YET FOR THE NICE YELLOW MARKERS

Motorists show no very keen desire to obtain the yellow license plates which will adorn their cars in 1924, but officials at the Motor League headquarters say this is the usual state of affairs. There is a rush during the last few days.

The first license plate was, as usual, issued to the President of the Peterborough branch of the Motor League, Mr. R. H. Turner drew number 194-001.

TRY TO GET A RATE FOR ALBERTA COAL

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press). — It is learned here this morning that the Government is trying to get the National Railways to agree to a reasonable rate and get a considerable quantity of Alberta coal moved to Ontario before September 1. If a large quantity could be brought down by that date there would be no interference with the moving of the Western grain crop. An early reply from Sir Henry Thornton is expected.

THE MOUNTED POLICE CHARGES THROWN OUT

OTTAWA, Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press).—J. P. Smith, K.C., of Vancouver, appointed Royal Commissioner to investigate charges that members of the Canadian Mounted Police in British Columbia had trafficked in drugs, finds that the evidence is insufficient to support the charges. He finds that in a case of alleged intimidation there was abusive language but no intimidation.

The report observes that a member of the force had admitted giving a dollar to an addict to buy drugs, but said he did it as the only way to catch the man. The subject to the above, Mr. Smith finds, investigation completely exonerates the Mounted Police.

Indigestion

The nerves continue to grow weaker and weaker because the digestive system is not supplying proper nourishment and the digestive system fails for lack of nerve force.

The nerves must be restored by some other means and this is where DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD comes to the rescue.

It revitalizes the wasted nerves and builds up the nervous energy which is essential to the healthful working of the digestive system.

You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been increased to 60c. the box now contains 60 pills instead of 50 as formerly.

PERSISTENT ATTACKS OF THE MOTOR TOWN CREW FIGHTING FOR CHANCE GAVE WEARIED PETES A BUSY NIGHT

Green Shirts Peppered Joe Dwyer in First Period and Forced the Game Through Two Sessions—Petes Showed Effect of Strenuous Week and Couldn't Hit Stride.

GAME WAS CLEAN.

By beating Oshawa by 3 goals to 1 at Brock Street Rink last night and thus capturing the round from the green shirts by 8 to 3, the Petes have now reached the fourth stage of the Intermediate O.H.A. race.

As the score indicates the home talent had more trouble in earning the decision last night than they had in winning in Oshawa on Monday. True to prediction, Oshawa played much better hockey than at home while the Petes, playing their fourth game in a week, and with a three goal lead to start with, never seemed to get geared up to their proper form. The blue-sweatered crew have had a lot of hockey in the last week with two tough trips sandwiched in and without detracting in any way from the game effort made by the visitors to pull the round out of the fire it must be said that the Petes failed, except for flashes, to hit their stride.

The homesters got the only counter in the first period but Oshawa evened it up just before the second session ended. The teams started the last period with the game sewed up and the Petes three up on the round and by running in two goals in the first few minutes the Dwyer squad made sure of the game for the green shirts had taken a lot out of themselves in the first forty minutes and had nothing left to offset the result of that sudden leap ahead on the part of the Petes.

As a spetcacle the game left a lot to be desired. The checking was close and there was a tendency on the part of both teams to wander away from their positions and bunch in mid-ice with the result that there were only occasional moments of the kind of hockey that brings a crowd to its feet. The fact that the Petes went into action with a comparatively safe lead on the round attracted considerably from the excitement and there was little of the wild rooting that usually attends a third round fixture.

Oshawa's Great Effort.

Oshawa went down as they said they would—with their colors flying. The gave the last ounce they had and skated themselves into a state of exhaustion trying to achieve what was almost impossible. They checked like wild men, used their bodies to good advantage in breaking up Peterboro plays and tried everything they knew to save the situation. They used a lot more combination than at home, too, but their passing was not very accurate and they lacked system in working in. With a little more science on the attack they would have made the Petes three goal lead look none too large for the blue forwards were not backchecking with anything like their usual persistency and the rear guard as a result had a lot of work to do.

Of the Petes it must be said that they lacked their usual punch—not to be wondered at, of course, in the light of the tough road they have travelled in the past week. With a nice lead to work on the incentive to drive themselves was missing and the Petes play suffered as a result, although they had enough "pep" to go out in the last period and salt away the game after being held to a tie for the first two sessions.

Dwyer had one of his busiest evenings of the year and the visitors had the bulky Peterboro net guardian on the jump all the way. He pulled off some great stops and was beaten but once during the engagement. In front of him Parker and Halpin were strong defensively and they had to be for they had not as much assistance as usual from the front rank. On the attack Parker was a marked man and everytime he moved there were two or three green shirts in his path. There was no outstanding star on the forward line on the night's play.

For Oshawa Rowden at right wing was a tower of strength and about the most useful man on the ice. He was going at top speed all the way and driving them at Dwyer with speed and accuracy. Sammy Lowe on the other boards caught the eye of the crowd by his stickhandling and was dangerous every time he broke loose. Smith was brilliant in the nets and the defence pair, Whinfield and Heffernan much more effective than in Oshawa.

The First Period.

If anything, Oshawa had the edge in the first period although they were outscored by 1 to 0. They opened out fast and in the first twenty seconds a Houck to Lowe play compelled Dwyer to move fast to save. Rowden came right back with another dangerous rush before the Petes had a crack at Smith. Burgess being the first to locate the neighborhood of the Oshawa net, his accurate shot from well out being blocked. Oshawa were steaming along pretty fast and Dwyer had a lot of work to do.

Halpin drew the first penalty for slashing Rowden and Heffernan followed him for dumping Collins into the board. Nothing happened while the pair were off. Soon after Halpin got back on the ice Ranger was banished. Finally the Petes broke into the scoring column Collins doing the trick by sailing in and cutting loose a fast one from outside the defense that beat Smith. Halpin lost two great chances in succession shooting over the net on the first attempt and outside the post on another.

Oshawa's One Goal.

Early in the second period Ranger and Collins combined for a dangerous attack but Smith beat the pair and a moment late picked off a beauty from Ranger. The Petes were going better at this stage of the game but the final punch was lacking and Smith held them scoreless for the period. Ranger and Smith served penalties in turn but the one man advantage did not help much. Honors were about even and much of the play was in mid-ice during the session. Finally after 18 minutes of the period had elapsed and with Lowe off for holding the visitors tied up the game.

Parker and Halpin broke away together and when the former failed to pass Rowden picked up the loose puck and tore off a beautiful rush that converted into a goal by a swift shot into the corner of the net and the period ended with the teams on an even footing.

Won Out In the Last.

The Petes went out in front early in the third session and it was a cheap goal. McPherson attempted to pass to Rose in front of the net and the rubber hit an Oshawa player and glided between the posts.

Forty-five seconds after the blue shirts cinched the game when Rose faked a shot and then slipped a neat pass to Collins who went in close and beat Smith for the last marked of the evening. From then on it was merely a case of playing out the string. Oshawa shot their defence men up in the last few minutes but the squad were too tired to get anywhere.

ST. PATS SIGN HOLWAY.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Manager Charlie Querien, of St. Patrick's, announced last night that the local club owners have signed "Toots" Holway of Brockville. Holway played for the Belleville Intermediates last season, and during the series which closed recently did good work on the defence for Brockville. He is big, strong and fast, and the local owners think that he will make the grade

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE AGREES

A Compromise Schedule Calls For 168 Games, Beginning April 16 and Ending September 28—Opening Games Are Arranged.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The adoption of a compromise playing schedule, a revision of the present constitution, and submersion of the much-discussed draft issue, were the high lights of the International League's mid-winter meeting, which closed a three-day session yesterday after a stormy debate over the 1924 playing programme.

Contrary to expectation, the schedule and not the draft occupied the major share of the club owners' attention, virtually two days being spent in framing a schedule which proved satisfactory. As accepted, the revised schedule of 168 games opens April 16, a day later than the major league inaugurals, and closes September 28.

Draft Pigeon-holed.

The question of accepting a modified form of the draft such as the other Class AA. circuits—the Pacific Coast League and American Association—have approved as a result of major league pressure, was pigeon-holed by the International magnates when it became apparent that it was opposed by a decided majority of the clubs. According to John Conway Toole, president of the league, it was not formally brought up, but it was learned plans to force an issue were dropped when a canvass of owners showed only Syracuse and Toronto in favor of the plan. Chief opposition to the draft was led by Jack Dunn, Baltimore owner, and Toole.

Schedule Compromise.

Difficulties in arranging a schedule arose by presentation of conflicting drafts by Dunn and George Stallings, of Rochester. These differences, centreing chiefly around the number of double-headers on the programme, were ironed out at a conference of these men with Toole. The compromise list shows 12 double-headers, all coming late in the season. In addition, club owners are vested with power to decide holiday programmes for themselves and also to determine whether the twin bills shall be played morning and afternoon, or entirely in the afternoon.

The season openers will find Buffalo at Baltimore, Toronto at Newark, Rochester at Jersey City, and Syracuse at Reading. The same clubs will be opponents when the northern clubs open their home seasons, April 30.

Revision of the constitution, according to Toole, were largely technical and made necessary in order to bring it up-to-date after being unchanged for eleven years. No radical changes were made, he said.

American Athletes Home From Chamonix.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.— Three divisions of the Winter Sports Group of the United States Olympic team—the speed and fancy skaters and ski-ing teams— returned to-day on the Berengaria from their unsuccessful competition with the nations of the world at Chamonix, France, in which Finland finished first.

Of the hockey team, which made the best showing of any of the groups, getting to the final match, which Canada won, only one member, Clarence Abel, of St. Paul, returned. The other players remained in Europe for a series of matches.

PETERBORO' RINKS AT OSHAWA 'SPIEL

Local Curlers Make a Strong Bid For the Silverware.

OSHAWA, Feb. 13. — With plenty of frost in the air to guarantee keen ice and 34 rinks answering the roll call for the local curling bonspiel, President C. M. Anderson gave the official welcome of the local club to the visiting rinks, which came from outside points as follows.

Peterboro, three; Toronto Granites, two; Agincourt, two; Scarboro, three; Unionville, one; Stouffville, one; Claremont, one; Colborne, two; Belleville, one, and with Oshawa having 18 rinks entered all visiting rinks were drawn against local quartettes, and two Oshawa rinks playing each other in the primary rink for the McLaughlin trophy.

Peterboro's three rinks won their first games; W. G. Morrow had an easy victory over T. Henderson, of Oshawa, the latter giving up on the tenth end with the score 14-3.

R. P. Best had to go an extra end to win from C. Peacock, of Oshawa, the score being 12-11; while R. M. Waddell scored a win over Dr. F. L. Henry, of Oshawa, by 14-6.

The rinks and scores by end, in which Peterboro rinks contested, were as follows:

Peterboro—Take 2

Peterboro	Oshawa

HAMILTON 14, TWIN CITIES 2

KITCHENER, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Hamilton gave the Twin City seniors a drubbing last night wren they defeated the locals 14 to 2 and thus kept at th, head of the parade in group number one of the O.H.A. Senior Race. The game was only a good workout for the visitors who wer, leading 4 to 1 at the end of the first period and 9 to 1 at the end of the second. The team work of th, visitors was the best of the year seen here, they playing a smooth and effective combination that worked them in close on the net for hard shots.

ST. PATRICKS 4; OTTAWA 2.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Ottawa, Stanley Cup holders were not an invincible team here last night and lost to St. Patricks by 4 to 2, in a game which produced only flashes of good hockey and plenty of fireworks. No gentle tactics were indulged in by the contestants and exchanges finally resulted in a clash between Dye and King Clancy, the latter coming out of mixup with a split lip and minus a tooth. The champions, although decisively outplayed, reached the first intermission leading by 2 to 0. Broadbent and Denennay had made good on the few opportunities the visitors had of scoring while at the other end of rink, Benedict was turning shots aside with painful regularity. The Ottawa net guardian was never seen to better advantage during his long professional career.

St. Patricks were quick to take advantage of their opportunities. Jack Adams and Babe Dye were never more effective. Dye outguessed the visiting defense repeatedly. St. Pats literally played the Senators off their feet.

MONTREAL 3, HAMILTON 2.

HAMILTON, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Hamilton's play-off aspirations received a rude jolt last night when they finished on the short end of a 3 to 2 count against Montreal, and the score is hardly an indication of the play. There was no denying the French squad victory. The performance they turned in was far above any they have shown here this season, and only smart work on the part of Forbes in the last two periods saved the Hamiltons from a worse beating. The invaders checked like fiends and showed plenty of dash to their attack. Morenz turned in his best performance since joining the pro. ranks. "Red" Green was the best for Hamilton.

VARSITY WON THE ROUND.

OAKVILLE, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The University of Toronto Schools Juniors put Oakville out of the running for the O.H.A. championship when they won here last night by 6 to 4. The score on the round was 10 to 5. The U.T.S. presented a well balanced team, backed up by an extraordinary goalkeeper. The visitors led at the first intermission by 3 to 1, but Oakville rallied and tied the count at 4 to 4. In the second the U.T.S., however, had plenty of reserve power and they had the better of the argument in the last twenty minutes.

INJURED IN BRIDGE WRECK RECOVERING

Hurt in C. N. R. Train That Broke Through Bridge in British Columbia.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 13.—Reports received from Chilliwack, B.C., this afternoon indicate that all of those injured when the cars of the Canadian National transcontinental trai went through the bridge at Popkum yesterday are progressing favorably. All are expected to recover. The work of repairing the bridge is expected to be completed to-day and in the meantime Canadian National trains are being diverted over the Canadian Pacific tracks between Vancouver and Hope, B.C.

Tax Bonus to Citizen Before Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—Judgement was reserved in Supreme Court of Canada to-day in the appeal of the Workmen's Compensation Board of New Brunswick versus the Bathurst Company, involving the jurisdiction of that board.

The first case of the Quebec List was then taken up. It is an appeal of the City of Montreal versus Dupre, involving the right of th, town of Maissoneuve to grant a ten-year exemption from taxation to a citizen The case is proceeding.

International Labor Official in Canada.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 13.—Dr. A. W. Riddell, Toronto, a former Deputy Minister of Labor in the Ontario Government, but now a representative of the International Labor Office, Geneva, Switzerland, is in Nova Scotia with regard to the work of the Labor Division of the League of Nations.

Dr. Ridell proopses to travel west as far as Edmonton and will have conferences with the various Governments en route. He has conferred with the Nova Scotia Government here.

License Transient Traders in Papers.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 13.—Transient traders in daily and weekly newspapers, farm and trade publications, magazines published in Canada or books approved by a public library board, will be required to take out a license costing $5 if they desire to continue doing business in Manitoba according to an amendment adopted by the Law amendments committee of the Legislature to-day.

GUELPH WON A GAME

SEAFORTH, February 14. Canadian Press. — In the second round, Intermediate O. H. A. game, played here last night, Guelph defeated Seaforth 5 to 2. The visitors were heavy checkers and broke up the Seaforth's rushes with few exceptions.

The game was clean throughout, and referee Farlow of Toronto gave good satisfaction.

BOWLING

LEADS FOR PRIZE.

Mrs. A. Ross yesterday afternoon rolled a nice high single score of 197 and is leading the ladies for the prize this week. Mrs. Ross rolled well over 500 in her three games yesterday afternoon and this is real good bowling.

Miss Walker rolled a nice game yesterday having a score of 187 for a single game.

BIG LEAGUE BOWLING TONIGHT.

Some great bowling is expected this evening at Solomon's Alleys, both in the City Ten Pin League and in the Mercantile Five Pin League.

In the City Ten Pin League the Crescents and the High Rollers swing into action and some great bowling is expected. The Crescents are the league leaders and the High Rollers, although off to a bad start are improving steadily and have been cleaning up lately. A great battle is looked forward to by the fans and it is expected a large crowd will be at the alleys this evening to see these two teams in action. If the High Rollers can win two they will knock the Crescents out of first place, while on the other hand, if the Crescents win two they will have undisputed possession of first place.

In the Mercantile Five Pin League the Examiner, the first half winners, and the Nashua Paper, runners up to the Examiner in the first half, will clash. These two teams are now at the top of the heap in the second half and tonight they will fight it out to see who gets the strangle hold on first place. The bowling fans can be assured of a great game when these two teams meet and it is expected there will be a large crowd of spectators on hand to see them in action.

EXAMINER LEAGUE.

Last night at Solomon's Alleys in the Examiner Intershop League, six teams were in action. As a result of last night's games three teams are now tied for the championship of the second half. The Linos by taking two out of three from the Directors and the Proofers by winning one from the Jobbers created a three-corner tie. In the other games the Comps took three from the Inters and the Casters got two from the Operators. Now that the league has finished as far as scheduled games go it might be well to announce that the Inters, the league's most consistent bowlers won two games out of the forty-two played, thereby creating for themselves a very enviable record.

Some nice bowling was turned in and there was a lot of feature stuff turned in. The Linos and the Directorse had three nice games, the former winning the last game by ten pins and losing the first by five.

Some nice scores were rolled by the different bowlers. Geo. Taylor was high man of the evening with 596, just one pin more than George Cairns who rolled 595. Leonard Hayward had the high single of 286. There were other nice scores and here are some of them: Hayward 583; Johnson 568; Long 568; Stanley 568; Scates 567; Glover 561.

REBEKAHS LADIES LEAGUE

In the Rebekah Ladies League last night at Solomon's Alleys, the Pinks took three straight from the Greens.

The ladies had a wonderful evening and some lovely scores were turned in. The ladies in this league are doing some sensational bowling and last night was no exception. There was not a bowler last night below the three hundred mark and not one of them rolled less than a hunderd in a game. This is wonderful bowling, and it goes to show how the ladies are becoming acquainted with the game.

Miss D. Chambers and Miss McWilliams were both tied for the high three games, each having 377. Miss Chambers had the high single of 140.

Following are the scores:

Greens—

Miss Head	117	107	101—325

PETES HAVE BEST WISHES OF OSHAWA

Two Teams Fraternize at Banquet After Last Night's Game.

The Oshawa and Peterboro hockey teams fraternized at a little banquet at Hooper's Palm Parlors after last night's game, and an enjoyable time was spent by the players and officers of the two clubs. Ald. Nagle Phelan presided and congratulated the Oshawa team on the splendid fight they had made to win the round, expressing the hope that they would be seen here again in a game for the Brown challenge cup. He expressed the hearty thanks of Peterboro's hockey and baseball organization for the fine hospitality extended to them on their every visit to Oshawa by Mr. Joe Welsh.

Eddie Wright, president of the local club, also congratulated the visitors, and in reply Joe Welsh and Manager Ed. Donald, of the Oshawa team, expressed the hope that the Petes would win the championship, and declared they would have the best wishes of Oshawa.

Curling News

Tom Brightman was high man last night at the Curling rink, having the high score of 18 and winning from W. G. Morrow's quartette by 8 shots. A large crowd witnessed som, good curling. The Detroit Club will play here on Tuesday February 19th afternoon and evening. The Rinks playing in Orillia will play against Lindsay at home and the rinks playing in Lindsay will play Orillia at home.

Basketball

FINALS IN GIRLS' BASKETBALL ON FRIDAY. De Laval and Y.W.C.A. Are Tied.

On Monday evening the De Laval defeated the Westclox 45-11. The De Laval displayed their usual brilliant combination, but the Westclox played gamely and showed they were true sports, as they have done throughout the entire series. Lineups:

De Laval—Forwards, G. Kirn and B. Sloan; centres, E. Forester and T. Meredith; defence, F. Giroux and M. Archambault.

Westclox—Forwards, M. Merritt and G. McIlwain; centres, A. Scott and V. Martin; defence, J. McIlwain and E. Wolf.

On Tuesday at 9.30 the Y.W.C.A. defeated the Normals in an exciting game. The final score was 41-29. This was one of the best games of the season, with both teams displaying good form, and the Normal School proving worthy opponents. Line-up:

Y.W.C.A.—Forwards, G. Gimblett and P. Young; centres, M. Sisson and E. Outram; defence, C. Crookshanks and P. Hall.

Normals—Forwards, M. Jamieson and G. Kinmel; centres, R. Davidson and F. Glover; defence, F. McLaughlin and M. Nesbitt.

Referee—Miss McIntosh.

On Wednesday at 6.30 the Normals defeated the Westclox 47-2. The Normals showed splendid team work and their shooting was good. The Westclox forwards were out of luck in shooting. Line-ups as above.

Referee—Miss Littlefield.

To-morrow at 8 o'clock is the time to be at the Y.W.C.A. and see the best game of the season. De Laval play the Y.W.C.A. Both are intent on first place. The Y. W. won the first half of the schedule and want this game to make certain of the second half and get the beautiful cup which Mr. Gordon presented to the Basketball League last year. After the games coffee and cake will be served to all who took part and helped during the season. It is hoped a good crowd will be present.

The Canadian Woollens play the Quaker Oats at 8.35 p.m.

Referees will be Miss McIntosh and Mr. McLeish.

Standing to date:

	Played	Lost	Won
De Laval	4	0	4
Y.W.C.A.	4	0	4
Normals	5	2	3
Canadian Woollens	4	3	1
Quaker Oats	4	3	1

PETES TO PLAY MARKHAM NEXT

First Game in Markham Monday Night and Return Game Here on Wednesday.

Markham will be the next opponents of the Petes in their battle for the Intermediate O.H.A. honours, and the two teams will clash on Monday and Wednesday of next week, the first game in Markham on Monday and the return fixture at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday.

Markham last night eliminated North Toronto, the Petes' stumbling-block last season, overcoming the Toronto gang's lead of 3 goals, and winning the round by 10 to 8.

They will be formidable opposition for the Petes. The latter are feeling the effects of the week's series of games, but a rest until Monday night should leave them in good shape for the next round.

BROCKVILLE OUT OF RUNNING

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Brockville's O.H.A. Junior Championship chances vanish ed last night when locals lost to Queens 2-0. Queens will now meet Circle Six of Kingston in final game of series to decide the triple tie game to be played at Kingston on Friday.

Visitors used their superior weight to excellent advantage. In final frame Brockville changed their tactics, and only stellar work of Matheson in goal saved Queens from overtime at least.

THIS NOVEL TEE IDEA HELPS BEAT GOLF GALES.

MAJOR H. D. GILLIES.

It is no easy matter to play a perfect golf shot aaginst the win.

Nor is it a simple matter to play one perfectly with the wind.

Major H. D. Gillies, British star, has introduced a novel idea in tees which he claims has simplified the problem. Gillies uses an adjustable tee, the like of which has never been seen on any golf course.

It is a shaft affair. When the wind is with him Gillies adjusts the tee to a height of eight inches; when it is against him he lowers it to four.

Billy Evans Says

Athletes are the most superstitious folks in all the world. It is really amusing the part it plays in life. Perhaps in no sport is the hoodoo, jinx or superstition played to such an extent as in baseball. Every players has a certain hobby, fear or superstition. There is Eddie Collins, one of the brainest and most intelligent players in the game, yet Collins has a certain set peculiarity.

The next time you see Collins in action keep your eye on the wad of gum that is deposited on the button on the top of his cap.

In the field Collins chews gum constantly. The moment the side is retired he removes said gum from his mouth and places it on the button on his cap. If Collins does not come to bat during the inning the gum remains there until he takes his place i the field. The magic of the gum hinges around Collins when he comes to bat. The gum remains in position until the count reaches two strikes, then he removes same, places it in his mouth and is ready for the third and all important strike. He wouldn't think of continuing at bat after two strikes had been called with the gum still on his cap.

Well do I recall a game in which the gum refused to respond to the usual pluck. Collins called for time while he stepped out of the batter's box and carefully removed gum from button and placed same in his mouth.

Knowing the peculiarities of the players, wise pitchers often gain a working margin by calling upon Old Man Psychology to get in his work. One day last summer Sam Jones, star pitcher of the New York club, came to me before a game with Detroit and told me that the Tigers though he was rubbing the ball on his trousers, thereby producing a smooth spot that enabled him to get an unusual break on the ball. He informed me that he was merely rubbing the back of his hand on his trousers and that the ball in no way came in contact with same. He said the Tigrs were suspicious and he wanted to have them watch his methods rather than his pitching.

Jones struck out the first man to face him. Each time prior to starting his delivery he rubbed the hand containing the ball on his trousers. Immediately after the third strike there came a protest from Detroit.

While satisfied that Jones was not tampering with the ball, his actions made it seems as if he was, and I requested that he refain from doing so. During the rest of the game Sam worked naturally, but all the time I am inclined to think the Tigers were watching his method of delivery more than the ball. On another occasion last year, while sitting on the New York bench, I saw Jones take a cup full of water and throw it on his right trouser leg just above the knee. It made a big black spot. I asked Sam his motive, he merely smiled and replied: "I'll bet the visitors pay more attention to that spot, thinking I am cheating, than they do to my pitching. I hope they do, it will greatly help my chances to win."

SQUIBBS M. P. BRINGS REAL LAUGHS

No screen character has ever appealed to the imagination of the British public as has the character of Squibbs, the little Piccadilly flowerseller, created on the screen by Britain's Queen of Happiness, Betty Balfour. The reason is that Squibs has been invested with a wonderful personality—all joy, all life, an incorrigible optimist with a heart of gold. This personality comes over from the screen, radiating happiness—and that is the secret of Squib's success, as it is of Betty Balfour's popularity, and in the latest Squibs picture, "Squibs, M.P." it becomes more apparent than ever.

In "Squibs, M.P." our national heroine forsakes, for all but a brief spell, the familiar shawl and short skirts of the circus days, and appears as a becoming and well-gowned young lady seeking means and methods of using the windfall she won in the Calcutta Sweep to her own and other people's advantage. So, from philanderer in Paris she becomes a philanthropist in London, then a Parliamentarian to plead the cause of babies before battleships, and finally she tackles such an elusive and illusory subject as ghosts. All of which sounds deadly serious, but it is nothing of the kind, except for just one or two touches of pathos the play is a rollicking farce with situations cleverly contrived by the master producer, George Pearson, and rounded off by the individuality of Betty Balfour.

From the entertainment point of view the essential thing to know is that laugh succeeds laugh in swift succession, and "Squibs, M.P." easily proves to be the funniest film in which Miss Balfour has ever played, and she entrenches herself still further in her already unassailable position as Britain's leading screen comedienne, if not of the whole world.

The master touch of George Pearson runs through the whole production, and is particulary apparent in the characterisation. Hugh Wright's "Father," Frank Stanmore's "Honeybunn," and Irene Tripod's "Fitzbulge' are all priceless, whilst of course Fred Grove's "P. C. Lee" is Squibs' perfect sweetheart.

Added to the irrepressible fun of the whole thing Mr. Pearson has provided some remarkably telling backgrounds, ranging from some extraordinary picturesque and unusual birdseye views of London and Paris (taken from the top of the Arc de Triomphe) to a wonderful reproduction of the interior of the House of Commons (in which 400 temporary M.P.'s took their seats), the fine hotel and haunted castle interiors, and a somewhat impressionist setting for a costume ball at which Odette Myrtil dances.

"Squibs, M.P." is in some respects quite a wonderful production, but its greatest advantage is its individuality, through which it becomes one of the most enjoyable of film entertainments yet presented to the public. Squibs is at the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday.

AT THE ROYAL

NOTABLE JUVENILE CAST IN TARKINGTON FILM

"Penrod and Sam," a picturization of Booth Tarkington's famous story of boy life, is the feature at the Royal for the balance of this week. This First National picture was directed by William Beaudine and is enacted by a cast which includes Benny Alexander, Joe Butterworth, Buddy Messinger, Newton Hall, Gertrude Messinger, Joe McCray, Gene Jackson, Rockliffe Fellows, Gladys Brockwell, Mary Philbin, Gareth Hughes and William V. Mong.

Benny Alexander, who plays Penrod, is one of the best known child actors, and he has excelled himself in the portrayal of this remarkably human character. Joe Butterworth will be seen as Sam, his buddy and conspirator in mischievous adventures. Buddy Messinger, the star of the "Buddy Messinger Comedy Series," plays Roddy Bitts, the mortal enemy of Penrod and Sam. His sister, Gertrude Messinger, is Penrod's little sweetheart.

The major portion of the picture is one succession of laughs, chuckles and smiles, but there are moments of tender pathos, especially the scene which shows the death of Penrod's ldog, "Duke," "Duke" had been the sad's inseparable companion, even sharing his master's bed—without the knowledge of his parents. And there is a generous portion of romance, for Penrod falls in love early in life and manfully disregards the ridicule aimed at him as a result.

ORPHEUS MALE QUARTETTE AT ROYAL TONIGHT

It is seldom that attractions the calibre of The Orpheus Male Quartette can be secured to play a three-day engagement anywhere but in the largest cities. The Royal management is fortunate in having a Detroit representative who is responsible for this important booking. This is the feature act for the balance of the week, commencing tonight. Bob White, in bird imitations and whistling selections, is also on same program. Both these acts come highly recommended.

AT THE REGENT

DEVOTION TO DUTY THEME IN FARNUM PICTURE AT REGENT

Appears as Texas Ranger in "The Grail," by George Scarborough

Replete with the traditions of the Texas Rangers, with action from the first real to the last, the William Fox production of "The Grail," starring Dustin Farnum, comes to the Regent Theatre for three days commencing today.

The picture opens with a prologue in which the father of the hero is criticized as he dies for neglect of duty. Growing to manhood, the boy sets up duty as his god and it is said of him that he would handcuff his brother if duty called. With this characteristic Chic Shelby becomes one of the most feared Rangers who ride the open space.

How he finally has to choose between love and duty and stands by his decision, forms a story which not only establishes a fine moral, but argues that, after all, duty should come first. Dustin Farnum has the leading role and is ably assisted by Peggy Shaw, Leon Barry, Carl Stockdale, Frances Raymond, James Gordon, Jack Rollins, Alma Bennett, Frances Hatton and others.

The story was written by George Scarborough and the scenario was done by Charles Kenyon. Colin Campbell directed the picture.

AT THE GRAND

"THE UNWANTED CHILD"

"The Unwanted Child," the latest play from the pen of Florence Edna May, whitch comes to the Grand theatre for two days is considered the most brilliant drama produced in two seasons.

It is a play rich in humor, spiced with sentiment, bubbling with amiable philosophy and fragrant with charm. It is delightfully written and just as delightfully acted. And it creates a more convincing illusion than may be found in a dozen average good plays. Through the perfect team-work of the authoress and the players there are innumerable moments when even the most hardened enemy of matrimonial bonds fels that the woman might be forgiven. For "The Unwanted Child" is a radiant success. It is easily more brilliant than its predecessors as its story is more sufficiently novel and the development of the plot is a sheer delight. The settings are attractive and effective, while the play is perfectly directed and the cast is almost ideal. Special lecture for ladies delivered at the daily matinees.

BUILDING SOCIETY HAD GOOD MEETING

Officers Elected for the Year — Six Per Cent. Earned.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Workingmens' Building and Savings Society was held in the Bank of Nova Scotia offices last evening. The secretary's annual report for the year 1923 showed that the society had a very successful year, the net earnings from mortgages, stock loans and government bonds yielding the shareholders' profits at the rate of approximately six per cent. per annum compounded monthly. The meeting elected the following directors for the year 1924:
At the directors' meeting, held at the conclusion of the shareholders' meeting, the following officers were elected:
President—James Lynch.
Vice-President—James Garrow.
Treasurer—James Murty.
Secretary—J. Corkery.

SAYS IT WAS A GOOD BARGAIN WITH MINERS

SYDNEY, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—"We made very best bargain that it was possible to make" was emphatic statement by Provisional President Silby Barrett, over long distance phone from Truro last night. "Miners should have followed instructions to return to work which has been issued by Provisional and International officers, and remained at work until such time as those who had concluded agreement had an opportunity to discuss terms of contract and arranged for holding of referendum vote which would give miners an opportunity to either accept or reject agreement."

LABOUR PARTY MUST EXPLAIN

Ex-premier Asquith Precipitated Crisis in the House Yesterday.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, February 14. — Ex-Premier Herbert H Asquith, Liberal leader, who led the attack upon Ramsay MacDonald's Labour Government in the Commons yesterday, is believed to have left a loophole whereby MacDonald can escape an embarrassing, possibly a fatal, position.
The Labour Cabinet held a late night session, and the Prime Minister may make a statement in the House on the subject of the Ministry of Health's order for unemployment doles of the Poplar District—the subject of controversy.
Asquith's attack the upon alleged squandering of these doles, threatened to bring the new Government to a point where it would have to face a vote of censure in the Commons, a vote which inevitably would mean defeat for Ramsay MacDonald.
It was recalled to-day, however, that near the end of his speech Asquith alluded to the possible establishment of some sort of an inquiry into the whole problem of doles. By this suggestion, political observers believe he may have left MacDonald a means of escape.
George Lansbury, left wing Liberal, and a member of the Poplar Board of Guardians, who once went to jail for authorising unemployment doles over the head of the London County Council, said in an interview to-day:
"The only solution to the present difficulty is for the Prime Minister to meet Mr. Asquith's attack by a detrmined effort no, to put Poplar in the dock nor to break up the Cabinet—but to remove the poor law evils of this country.
"Talk of the Government compelling R. M. Wheatley Minister of Health, to resign or of endeavouring to get the order reimposed, is absurd No Government under Mr. MacDonald or any one else, pretending to represent the Labour movement, dare do any such thing."
Apparently one of the reasons for the Liberal "bombing" of the Labour camp at the very outset is Asquith's desire to show disaffected members of his own Party that although Liberal leaders are in some degree responsible for the accession of the Labourites to power, he (Asquith) and his colleagues have no sympathy with Socialists' ideas. Moreover, the Liberals, not the Labourites, really hold the balance of power.
The general trend of Liberal opinion regarding former Premier Asquith's attack on the Labour Government in connection with the Poplar unemployment doles, is rejected in the Westminster Gazette this morning.
"If hard-pressed local officials all over the country are to be encouraged to ignore the law, to give what relief they choose and raise money as they can, the area of pauperism will be enormously extended, and honest work will be at a discount.
"That way lies ruin for all the great industrial areas.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT ST. MICHAEL'S TO-DAY

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press.) —Ablaze with a thousand lights and resplendant in magnificent robes of exalted dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church, the sanctuary of St. Michael's Cathedral was the scene of one of the most impressive ceremonies of that church, when Right Rev. Monsignor O'Donnell, pastor of St. Annes' church, Toronto, was made Bishop of Victoria, B.C., by the Papal Envoy in Canada, His Excellency Monsignor Pietro Di Maria, in the presence of fifteen Archbishops and Bishops, twenty-five Monsignors and three hundred Priests from the various parts of Canada.
His Excellency celebrated the mass of Consecration, Archbishop McNeil of Toronto and Archbishop Sinnott, of Winnipeg, were assistants, and Bishop O'Brien, of Peterborough, preached the sermon.
At the end of the mass Bishop O'Donnell was presented with an address and a purse of gold.

LEWIS AUSTIN BACK IN A CANADIAN GAOL

GUELPH, Feb. 14. — (Canadian Press.) — Lewis Austen, who is charged with taking part in robbing of the Royal bank here in December, 1922, when more than thirty thousand dollars worth of bonds were taken from the deposit vaults, arrived in Guelph this morning from Little Rock, Ark., in charge of Provincial Inspectors Miller and Boyd. He was lodged in jail and will come up for preliminary hearing later in the week. The trip from Arkansas was made without incident.

SIX MORE CASUALTIES.
LONDON, Feb. 14th.— (United Press.)— Six separatists, including the leader, Jager, were killed to-day at Banduerkheim, according to an exchange Telegraph Berlin despatch.
A United Press Berlin despatch, reports that a mob, which mishandled a small group of separatists at Banduerkheim, near the city hall, was disposed by French troops. No mention was made of casualties.

MAHOMETTAN IS DEAD
VIENNA, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Yussuf Maca Mahomettan is dead at Vagoubitza, Jugo Slavia at age of 120 years, according to a Belgrade despatch. Yussuf married twice, and one of his surviving sons is only 17 years of age.

JAMES DOYLE IS BACK TO BASTILE

In police court this morning, James Doyle, who was charged with stealing a suit of underwear from the jail, was sent back to the hill for another two weeks. Some time ago, he was caught beating his way on a C.P.R. freight train and sent to the Peterborough jail. When his time was up, he walked out with a suit of underwear belonging to the jail, and was again apprehended. In the meantime, Port Hope police authorities wrote to the police here that Doyle, whose proper name is given as Lavis, had jumped his hotel bill there, after stealing a car in Hamilton and taking it to Port Hope. Parties from Port Hope identified him as the man who brought the car in, and Hamilton requested Chief Newhall to hold Lavis. On completion of his sentence here, he will be taken back to Hamilton, to face the charge of stealing the car.
Doyle, whose proper name is given as John George Alexander Lavis, has an international criminal record which traces back for some years. In 1917, in Hastings Borough, England, he was fined forty shillings for stealing a jewel case; in 1918, at Manchester, he received a month's sentence for stealing a watch; in 1919, at Westminster police court, he got six weeks for stealing, under the alias of John Patrick Morris, in 1919, once more in Hastings Borough, a sentence of three months at hard labour for the theft of a suitcase, and in 1921, in Hamilton, Ontario, he was fined $50 on a vagrancy charge.

CANADIANS FOUND IT EASY ON OTHER SIDE

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Beattie Ramsay, a member of the Canadian Olympic hockey team, which carried off the honors at Chamonix several weeks ago, returned home this morning, the first of the Canadian contingent to arrive.
Commenting on the championship series, he stated that the Canadians could have beaten the United States team twenty to nothing had the play been clean, the referee competent and straight hockey alone played. He said the referee had not the slightest knowledge of hockey as it is played in Canada.
Ramsay gave his opinion that any fair senior team in Canada could defeat the United States.
The Canadian team are guests of the Canadian Club at a dance in London to-night, and sail for home on February 22 on the Metagama.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon, from the family residence to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. M. C. Mackinnon will officiate.

IN MEMORIAM.
CURTIN—In loving memory of David Curin, who departed this life one year ago to-day:
The midnight stars are gloaming
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,
But who we could not save.
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights are past,
His ever-patient, worn-out frame,
Has found sweet rest at last.
The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still!
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by his loving wife and family.

MACDONALD NOT CONTENT UNTIL TAX LIGHTENED

Since Capital Levy Has Been Rejected, Liberals Or Conservatives Should Produce An Honest Scheme to Relieve the Nation From Incidence of Debt Burden.

POLICY ACCEPTED.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Government in the House of Commons Thursday was subjected to a rapid-fire of criticism and questions on every conceivable subject, most of which the Ministers were inclined to parry. But when the debate concluded last night, no division had been taken. Thus, Premier MacDonald's declaration of policy was accepted without challenge.

The Prime Minister made two important statements, the first with respect to national defense, when he declared emphatically that he wished to avoid any policy calculated to increase armaments and that the Government was inquiring into the whole problem with the object of preventing the growth of war conditions, and, second, that as the country had rejected the idea of a capital levy, it could not be enacted in the present Parliament.

Asquith's Position.

The novel position of a minority Labor Government continues to supply amusing incidents. Austen Chamberlain alluded to former Premier Asquith's peculiar position, describing him as "sitting on one side of the House, speaking on the other, and voting alternately on one side and the other," which created much laughter.

Another amusing passage arose from an attempt by Mr. Chamberlain to elicit what sort of Parliamentary defeat the Government would regard a vote of censure. To this, Mr. MacDonald replied that it was impossible to define.

"Defeat on the Poplar question might be a vote of censure," he said, "but I can imagine a defeat on Poplar which would not be a vote of censure at all. That very convenient political phrase, 'wait and see,' was revived yesterday. I propose to keep it alive today, but I can assure the House that the Government will not remain in office five minutes after a vote depriving it of its sense of dignity."

Russian Recognition.

Mr. Chamberlain made the principal attack on the Government, and raised a number of interesting and important points, especially concerning Russian recognition, a capital levy and imperial preferences, which drew a long reply from the Prime Minister, throwing further light on the Government's general policy.

With regard to Russia the Prime Minister reiterated that the Government had been assured that Russia, far from trying to repudiate her obligations, was now anxious to see the wishes of the British Government in all outstanding questions, and, further, concerning the suggestion that Italy had got the advantage of England in this respect, Mr. MacDonald thought it not indiscreet to express the belief that the British Government would get the same terms, or terms of equivalent value to those of any other power recognizing the Soviet Government.

National defense furnished another interesting topic, and the Prime Minister repeated and enlarged on his well-known views, aiming at improved foreign relations as a means of enabling economy in the cost of defensive services, but not to the extent of endangering the nation's safety.

National Debt Enquiry.

The day's proceedings brought developments in the question of the national debt. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Phillip Snowden, replying to a question earlier, had stated that the committee of inquiry

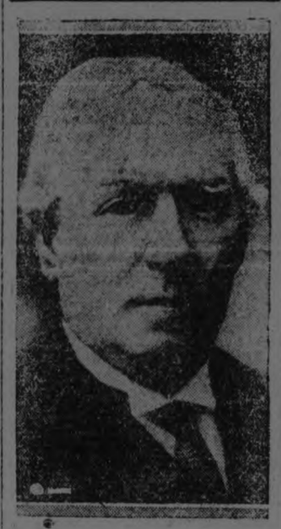
OPPONENTS NOW



It was John R. Clynes (below) deputy leader of the House of Commons, who introduced the fateful amendment of no confidence in the late Baldwin Government in Great Britain and Herbert Asquith (above) who supported it. Now they are as far a part as the poles.

Asquith's attack on Wednesday in the "Poplarism" incident has seriously embarrassed the Labor Government. "Poplarism" is a freshly coined sobriquent for the theory that all citizens have the right to work or to maintenance at public expense.

The Board of Guardians of the Poplar division of London exceeded the prescribed scale of doles to families, and according to the statutes the Guardians became personally liable for the surplus. This feature of the regulations was rescinded by John Wheatley, Labor Minister of Health, on the ground that it was absolute. Asquith threatened that the Government must reconsider this decision or lose support of the House.

Clynes has promised the opportunity of a special debate on the subject which is likely to be disposed of in a general enquiry into the problem of doles. Government opponents contended that the surplus regulation tended to check the liberality with public funds shown by Poplar's Guardian.

DEEP WATERWAY CANAL PROJECT FAVORS OTTAWA

Would Permit Ocean Liners to Steam Up to the Capital — Cost Half a Billion—Divert From St. Lawrence Scheme.

PREPARING BILL

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 15.—Authorization to proceed with a project to construct canals which owuld permit ocean liners to steam into Ottawa is being asked in a private bill which is now being prepared for submission to the Dominion Government. The proposals, which involve the expenditure of about $500,000,000, would tend to divorce Canada from the International Deep Waterway schemes.

The canal system would eventually solve a vital problem, the production of sufficient power to meet the demands in Ontario and Quebec as the project includes the development of power at such points as may be deemed essential. The proposed company is to be called the Confederation Canal and Power Co.

The Construction of the canals and the deepening of channels on the proposed routes would necessitate the employment of hundreds of men and the operations would extend over a period of nearly 10 years The need for action on the project is clearly shown by the promoters who point out that an all-American canal system is now before the Congress and if facilities are provided to send ocean liners from New York to Buffalo as outlined in the American proposals Canada would lose a recognized advantage in great lakes transportation.

DOCKWORKERS WILL STRIKE

Unless Last Minute Settlement Saves Situation. the Dock Laborers Will Walk Out To-Morrow

By PERCY M. SARL

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(United Press).—One million dockworkers prepared to-day to quit work tomorrow and tie up every port in the United Kingdom unless a last minute settlement cancels the strike orders.

Scenes at the huge docks of the Port of London at daybreak where of unprecedented activity as shipping companies speeded efforts to clear the cargos before the impending paralysis of transport should.

The dockworkers' executives and employers were in conference seeking to break the deadlock that has existed since February 1.

The threatened strike is national in scope. It was voted at a meeting of national delegates representing the transport and general workers union (300,000 members), The National Union of General Workers (443,000), The National Amalgamated Union of Labor (170,000) United Order of General Laborers (150,000) Amalgamated Society of Enginemen, Motormen, Electricians, etc. (40,000) and other similar organizations.

The men's complaint is that wages since 1920 have fallen from 16 shillings a day in the large ports and 15 shillings a day in the small ports to ten shillings and nine shillings respectively.

They ask reversion to the former rate and a guaranteed week in the larger British ports to-day there are more workers than jobs.

Consequently the men line up at dawn and a foreman picks in order the number he needs for the day.

To Dissolve Harvester Firm, Uncle Sam's Aim

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The legal battle to compel the International Harvester Company to dissolve into three parts in accordance with an agreement made five years ago, has been reopened here by the Federal Government.

The chief aim of the Government, according to A. S. Meyers, special Assistant United States Attorney-General, who is conducting the prosecution, is the separation of the McCormick and Deering properties. The Government asks in its petition that the International organization be divided into three distinct, independent and unrelated companies.

The original case, which resulted in the agreement to dissolve was tried in St. Paul when the company was charged with being a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

RANEY AND FERGUSON CLASH IN U. F. O. CLAIM TO CHIEF OPPOSITION

Farmers Will Continue the Fight at Every Opportunity, Declared Raney, Who Contrasted Legislature's Action With That of Prototype the British Commons.

Finlayson Breaks In.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Through Hon. W. E. Raney the farmer group in the Legislature gave notice yesterday afternoon in the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne and its two amendments that they would continue to fight at every opportunity to be the official opposition of the Legislature. The statement read by Mr. Raney further stated that they would protest at the start of every session of the present parliament.

Mr. Raney several times got into clashes with Premier Ferguson and once at the request of the speaker withdrew the word "ruffianism" as he applied it to the Prime Minister. He pursued to greater detail the case of the farmers as set forth in their petition for recognition. W. Finlayson, a new Conservative member, attacked Mr. Raney whom he followed in the debate. He referred particularly to the articles Mr. Raney has written for a Toronto newspaper declaring they embarrassed the present administration in the enforcement of the O.T.A. Sam Clarke, veteran Liberal member from Northumberland, adjourned the debate.

Vague On O.T.A.

Mr. Raney said that the Premier had been indefinite in his announcements on O.T.A. policy and quoted him as saying that he would satisfy every reasonably minded man.

The former attorney general attacked the Premier for his criticisms of some methods adopted in the enforcement of the O.T.A. particularly a reference that women of bad repute were engaged to help spotters. The Premier interrupting said that it was on the records that such a woman had been paid money. Mr. Raney said he would not accept such an interpretation.

Speaking of the office Mr. Raney said he was glad to be relieved.

"So was the province" commented the Premier.

"That remark is characteristic of the ruffianism of the Prime Minister" replied Mr. Raney amid shouts of order.

The Premier requested a withdrawal of the word ruffianism. The Speaker ruled the word unparliamentary and its was withdrawn. Continuing Mr. Raney said that the Premier should leave the future of the farmer party to providence and the people of Ontario and not to try by autocratic methods to get rid of it. He declared it was not for the House to say who the opposition was to be. The people by their votes decided it.

Continue Protests.

"Who authorized the Prime Minister of this province to put public opinion in a straight jacket?" he asked and then completed his speech by reading this statement: "The Prime Minister in his speech of yesterday to this House has assumed the position that it is unnecessary for him to justify by argument or show of reason why the supporters of the late government should not be recognized as the chief opposition party in this assembly. Refusal by a Prime Minister to recognize the majority opposition party as chief opposition is so obviously contrary to all parliamentary practice and so far representative that, as a party, we must continue our protests until such time as our requests are granted.

"Until the rights of the majority opposition party to constitute the chief opposition in this House are recognized, we shall continue to

Canadian Exports To France Higher

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press)—An increase in imports from France since the trade agreement between the two countries came in force last September is noted in a Government return published yesterday. During the last three months of 1923, imports for consumption from France amounted to $4,351,148, an increase of $869,943 over the same period in 1922. Exports of Canadian produce to France in the same quarter in 1923 totalled $6,240,493 an increase of $2,083,401 over the same period in 1922.

ORDER MINERS BACK TO WORK

Springhill District, Nova Scotia, Ignores Officials and Decide to Take Referendum and Finance Own Strike.

SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The coal miners of Nova Scotia were notified in a circular letter yesterday, signed by Provisional President Silby Barrett and his associates in the signing of the recent wage agreement with the British Empire Steel Corporation, that no referendum vote would be taken on the agreement until the miners had returned to work according to the instructions given them by himself and international representatives of the United Mine Workers of America.

Caledonia, one of the large Cape Breton Island locals, voted yesterday to return to work, but the mainland Springhill district, employing about two thousand men, who are perhaps the most prosperous miners in the Province, decided Thursday they would not return to work until a referendum had been taken and further took steps to finance a separate strike of their own should the other districts return to work. Springhill has been marked by its insistence on the return of 1921 wage rates since these were reduced; and by their refusal to have anything to do with a "radical" regime. They broke from the rest of the district for the period of the so-called "Red" regime last year.

It was reported that the other mainland district, Pictou, was considering returning the referendum ballots unopened. Pictou, like Springhill, is generally more prosperous than the large Cape Breton districts.

Meetings are being held through the Cape Breton district and final decisions of the various locals will probably not be long delayed.

SHIEK TAUNTED PRETTY GIRL TO HOLD UP STORE

Gave Her a Revolver and Told Her She Was "Yellow" If She Failed--Conscience Drove Her to Confess.

JUDGE PRAISED HER.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15.—Although Mrs. Anna Strawn, 20, pretty girl bandit, who confessed in court that she robbed a drug store clerk at the point of a gun, when the boy "shiek" told her she was yellow if she didn't do it, will have to face a Grand Jury investigation and police prison term, the presiding judge told her "she was a plucky girl, and he admired her," because her conscience impelled her to make a clean breast of the whole affair.

Anna last December met and married a man after a brief courtship. Within a week she became suspicious, because her husband, although always supplied with money, never seemed to have a regular job. She left him.

A few days ago, out of work and despondent, with but 38 cents in her pocket, she visited a picture show. Sitting next to her was a youth of 17, who learned her story when she wept.

"Come and live with me," he pleaded. "I'll cure your troubles."

Her happiness lasted four days.

Then, pressing a shiny new revolver in her hand, the "sheik" told her to go out and rob a store.

"You're yellow if you don't!" he told her.

Smarting under his taunts, she started out. She passed a dozen stores before she "screwed her courage to the sticking point" and staged the hold-up.

A lone clerk in a drug store was the victim. The loot was $50.

Escaping safely, the girls' conscience troubled her. Two days later she went to a telephone and called her victim.

When she identified herself the clerk said:

"I'm busy. Call me a little later."

When the girl called again police had been tipped off, and she was arrested as she left a telephone booth a few blocks away from the scene of her crime.

In custody she made a clean breast of the whole affair.

"My conscience troubled me after the robbery," she said. "I couldn't sleep; I couldn't eat. So I decided to call the clerk and tell him how sorry I was. I couldn't give back the money, for I'd used it to pay a debt.

"I'm glad it's over, though. No primrose path for me. I'd rather go to prison than live that way!"

Anna was born in a little southern Ohio mining town. When 13 she went out in the world to seek a living. She scrubbed and washed windows, lack of education preventing her from getting a better job.

Reform organizations have interested themselves in her case. It is likely that when her case is called in court she will be given a suspended sentence and a chance to make good.

"A conscience is a good thing," the Court told her. "I don't so much blame you as society, Anna, I hope something may be done for you."

FARMER BIT AT STOCK PREMIUM

London Motors, Limited, Must Return $3,000 and Note For $1,000—Affairs Misrepresented — Gets Judgment.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Justice Lennox, presiding at the Middlesex Assize Court yesterday, ordered the London Motors Limited to return to J. W. Wilkinson, Westminster Township dairyman and farmer, $3,000 and a note for $1,000 paid by the latter for stock in the concern. The judge claimed that the affairs of the London Motors had been misrepresented by the defendant.

Wilkinson in his evidence claimed that W. H. Stansell, President of the Motor Company, in selling the stock promised him 8 per cent. on his investment, employment at $50 per week, positions for his two daughters as soon as production was started, and a bonus of 800 shares of stock. Defendant denied all these statements.

BIRD FANCIERS ELECT DARRAH FOR PRESIDENT

Peterboro Poultry Association Returned Popular Leader For Third Term --Other Officers Appointed.

ANNUAL MEETING

At its annual meeting last night the Peterboro Poultry Association reported a very successful year.

George Paxman, superintendent, congratulated the Association on the excellent work of the President, who had worked energetically for the good of the Association.

Mr. Darrah replied that the credit should go to the officers who had helped him. He regretted that the public did not appreciate more the benefit to be derived from support of the Poultry Association.

The auditor, Fred. Holmes, reported favorably on the finances of the Association. New coops were purchased last year, and there is a substantial balance in the bank, considerably better than at the close of the previous year.

Messrs. Paxman and Robson moved the adoption of the treasurer's and auditor's report.

The secretary, W. J. Nesbitt, reported on securing new premises for the Association meetings in the Farmers' Hall on Simcoe Street, the Labor Hall having become too small for the gatherings. General satisfaction was expressed with the change, Mr. Robson remarking that the Association was hatched on Simcoe Street, and would continue to thrive there.

The question of insuring some of the Association's property was opened, and Messrs. Paxman and Lang proposed a committee to investigate.

It was decided, on motion of Messrs. Paxman and Nesbitt, that the board of directors this year be reduced to twelve members and the officers.

A motion of Messrs. Robson and Lang to elect the secretary by general ballot instead of as hitherto by appointment of the directorate was lost on a standing vote.

Officers Elected.

From a ballot with three names Tom Darrah was again elected President. He was nominated by Messrs. Lang and White. His opponents were Fred. Holmes, nominated by Messrs. Throop and Paxman, and H. Lucas, nominated by Messrs. Nesbitt and Holmes.

H. Lucas was elected first vice-president by acclamation, J. T. C. Lang, the former ineumbent, refusing to let his name stand, and Fred. Holmes also withdrawing his name.

No Reply on Rum Pact From United States.

OTTAWA, Feb 14. — The United States government has not yet signified its desire to publish details of the pact recently concluded between the United States and Canada to prevent rum-running across the international border. Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, stated that the details of the proposal which was submitted to Washington ten days ago have elicited no reply from the United States government. Whatever agreement is reached between the two governments will be published simultaneously in the two countries.

FERGUSON URGES A HOME DEVELOPMENT

Only Way to Build Up Wasted Resources--Better Immigrants Comfng.

TORONTO, February 15 (Canadian Press). — "There has never been a time in the history of either Ontario or the Dominion when the future of this Province depended so much upon the development of our natural resources as at present," said Premier G. H. Ferguson last night at the twenty-second annual banquet of the Canadian National Clay Products Association.

"During the war," he continued, "vast wealth and sources of wealth were destroyed, and these have got to be replaced. To do this we must tap the sources of raw materials, and train people to conver, them into finished products. In order to consummate this end we must have greater population, but, even so, an unrestricted immigration policy would be altogether undesirable. In order to improve immigration conditions and to avoid tragic experiences such as immigrants have had in this city during the winter months, we have instituted a new immigration policy in Ontario, with the co-operation of Ottawa. Our immigrants are being personally selected in England, and jobs here arranged for them before they leave Great Britain, so that in future they may be better fitted to take an active part in the development which is bound to come.

BIRD FANCIERS

S. E. Moncrief was elected second vice-president by acclamation, Messrs. Nesbitt, Fisher, White and Simmons refusing to accept nomination.

The board of directors for this year is composed of George Alleway, W. Fisher, R. Carr, R. M. Brown, W. T. Child, G. Grange, H. T. Lush, W. Stewart, F. Robson, W. J. Spence, E. H. White and A. R. Robson.

W. J. Nesbitt was appointed secretary for his fourth term; K. Throop was appointed treasurer, and F. Holmes and J. T. C. Lang are auditors.

Honorary directors are: G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons; D. Johnston, M.P.P.; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Mayor J. J. Turner, and Warden M. P. Coughlin.

Through a lamentable oversight, George Paxman was omitted from the list of direitors when it was passed by the meeting, but the Association could not afford to lose his valuable services, and the board of directors appointed him superintendent.

Twenty-Eighth Year.

The Peterboro Poultry Association, offspring of the Peterboro Farmers' Institute, this year celebrates its twenty-eighth birthday. It was inaugurated on December 18, 1893, and the first board was composed of: Honorary President, J. R. Stratton; President, Fred. Davidson; Vice-President, George Pratley; Secretary - Treasurer, W. Collins.

SPENDERS

Two-thirds as much money is spent for gum, by Americans, as for insurance, according to Dr. John A. Stevenson, vice-president of the Equitable Life. This strikes us as about the last word in contrasts. It indicates that the element of fear is being eliminated in our civilization, in the matter of money. We are a race of spenders. Viewpoints vary, regarding this situation.

However, the national income is 70 per cent "insured."

SIMMONS QUITS KU KLUX KLAN.

ATLANTA, Feb. 15.—Official announcement was made to-day at the imperial palace of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan that Colonel William J. Simmons, founder of the Klan has resigned as Emperor and as a Klansman and disposed of all his interests in the order for a consideration of $145,000 cash.

Official announcement of Simmons's withdrawal said that in a contract made on Saturday he disposed of all his copyrights and royalties and renounced his Klan stipend of $1,000 a month.

Pledged to Peace

Under the contract he agreed to cease all opposition to the Ku Klux Klan and the regime of Dr. Hiram W. Evans and pledged himself against participation in any movement to "disorganize, disrupt or in any way interfere or cause dissatisfaction among members of the Klan.

But Klan officials said they had received information Simmons has placed himself at the head of a new organization, the Knights of the Flaming Sword.

Klan Krest, the home which the Klan gave Colonel Simmons on Peachtree road, is to be retained by him.

Under the terms of the contract pending litigation between the Simmins and Evans factions is to be dismissed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—Dr. W. H. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, confirmed the story of the settlement between his faction and Simmons's.

BABY ON STOVE GAS TURNED ON

Young Mother Found Dead With Arms Around Nine-Week's Old Baby.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—With her hands resting on the dead body of her nine-weeks-old baby, Mrs. Marjorie Walls, aged 22, was found dead at the foot of a gas range in her home in Broadview Avenue yesterday afternoon. Despondency over the illness which had set in following the birth of the infant was given as the cause of the double tragedy. The baby had been laid on an oven door which opened downward. A rug had been placed on the floor, and the mother had stretched herself upon it and placed her arms over her infant's body. Gas was found escaping from three fully turned on burners and from a heater attached to the stove.

It was stated that the young mother had threatened to end her life and had left a note, which was handed over to the Coroner.

BITERS

Mosquito, pest and disease carrier, is being studied by government experts. They find that the adult females, which do all the "biting" to get blood for their young, thrive quite well on a diet of fruit, especially bananas, and honey, molasses and other sweets. Blood, however, is absolutely necessary for the development of mosquito eggs.

HALIFAX HOUSE OPENS SESSION WITH CEREMONY

Speech From the Throne Referred to Nova Scotia's Industrial Progress and Stimulation of Tourist Traffic Into the Province.

Power Development.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 15. — Accompanied by all he pomp and pageantry that have descended to her offspring from the Mother of Parliaments, the fourth session o fthe 14th Legislature of Nova Scotia was opened here on Thursday afternoon by His Honor McCallum Grant, Lieut.-Governor of the Province.

The Province Building over which fluttered the distinctive standard of Nova Scotia, a blue St. Andrew's cross, centred by a red lion rampant, was the scene of a brilliant function.

A guard of honor from the Royal Canadian Regiment in garrison here received the Lieutenant-Governor at the Province building when the Vice-Regal party arrived at three o'clock, while the strains of the National Anthem were drowned in the thunder of guns from the Citadel.

The Speech from the Throne expressed gratification at the industrial progress of the province during the past year, the success of the fruit harvest, the fisheries, and the increase of the coal output. It forecast legislation whereby the government would shoulder part of the cost of schoolbooks and dwelt upon he hydro electric development at East River and Sheet Harbor with an intimation of further progress in this direction. Highway improvement carried on throughout the year was the subject of commendation, while the benefits accruing to industry by the abolition of the freight rate differentiate were noted.

*The Speech form the Throne took account of the formation of he Nova Scotia Tourist Commission, and pointed out the increase of tourist traffic with its resultant financial benefits to the province, while the subject of immigration was touched.

The efforts of the government to attract immigrants to this section of he country were outlined. With regard to labor, it was declared that the Legislature would have an opportunity of giving effect to the resolutions passed at the conference between the Federal and Provincial governmens concerning the Labor sections of the Peace reaty of Versailles.

A substantial financial surplus was promised by he government when the balances for the year were brought down, while the necessity for exercising the strictest economy in governmental expenditures was emphasized as part of the government policy.

COAST INDIANS VISIT CAPITAL

Anxious About Report of 1913 Commission Involving Land Rights in British Columbia — Conditions Forced on Them.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14. —A deputation from the Allied Indian Tribes of British Columbia is in the city to interview the Dominion Government on the matter of Indian rights in that province. The immediate cause of the presence in Ottawa of the delegation is the report that has recently reached the Pacific province to the effect that the Government is about to pass an order-in-council adopting the report of the Royal Commission on Indian affairs in British Columbia appointed in 1913. This report is not considered in favorable light by the Indians in British Columbia who claim that their land rights are not clearly defined and that the amount and nature of the compenstaion to be awarded is not definiely fixed. As the order-in-council which authorized the appointment of this commission contained a clause to the effect that the adoption of the commission's report would mark "the final adjustment of all matters relating to Indian affairs in British Columbia," the Indian view is that before this report is adopted by order-in-council, there should be a definite agreement between the Indians and the Government.

If the order-in-council goes through the effect will be, they claim, that the Indians will be requested to agree to certain conditions; but whether or not they do agree, the conditions will be forced upon them.

The deputation consists of P. R. Kelly of Nanaimo, B.C., chairman of the Allied Indian Tribes of British Columbia; Andrew Paull, of North Vancouver, secretary of that organization; and A. Leonard, of Kamloops, member of the executive committee. The members of the deputation have been requested to state to the Government what they consider an equitable basis of settlement. They are accompanied by Mr. O. E. O'Meara, if Victoria, general counsel to Alhed Indian Tribes.

TOWNSHIPS PAY THEIR COUNCILLORS, WHY NOT VILLAGES AND TOWNS?

Campbellford Councillor Believes Public Service Should Be Recognized Out of the Treasury — Hastings Considered the Proposal to Pay Its Voluntary Servants But They Repulsed the Temptation.

MEETING OF DOCTORS

Campbellford, Feb. 15.—There is at least one councillor, who for the present does not care to disclose his identity (preferring to obtain the opinion of the ratepayers on the subject) who believes that the members of the Town Council should be paid for their services. The councillor referred to has been a member for several years and knows just what sacrifice is required of men in public positions. It is not the actual time that the council in its regular or special sessions that counts but the hours between such sessions that the committees are required to devote to their duties.

Thre is no question as to the right of the members of a municipal council to vote themselves a salary if such he the sentiment of the majority. The statute is clear on this point. It is provided that in towns and villages the council can pass a bylaw providing that the members shall be paid at a rate not to exceed $5 a day. For the larger cities the maximum compensation is higher.

The local councillor who is tired of rendering the public service for which he receives neither money nor thanks, regards it as an injustice that the member of a township council receives $100 a year with additional pay for extra services in some cases, while those in the town work for nothing. He points to other towns in this district where the councillors are paid, and argues that Campbellford should not be an exception.

What Hastings Did.

In the closing hours of the council of Hastings village last December, one of the members proposed that the councillors vote themselves a salary of $3 for every regular and $2 for every special session held during the year 1923. He was over-ruled by the majority, those opposing the proposition apparently being disinclined to face the voters on such an issue. A. E. Chapman, one of the councillors, held that the question of salary was one on which the ratepayers should have a right to declare themselves.

Gathering of Doctors.

Dr. Bell, of the Provincial Board of Health, was here to confer with the local doctors on matters concerning the health of the public. The conference was held in the office of Miss Reba Veitch, the public health nurse, who is working here under the auspices of the Provincial Board. District Health Officer N. H. Sutton of Peterborough, Dr. W. F. Loucks, local M.O.H., and all the town physicians were in attendance.

Miss Veitch has begun her work in the Public schools, inquiring into the health conditions of the pupils. Scales have been obtained upon which to weigh the children to see whether they are up to the standard weight of their years. Sufficient progress upon which to base a report has not yet been made.

Miss Veitch has in her office furnishings required in her work, articles of clothing suitable for children of certain years and dishes required for the preparation of different kinds of food. In a short time mothers' conferences on the care of children will be held.

News Notes.

Josiah Tinney advertises in The Examiner his brick residence on Centre street for sale. Mr. and Mrs. Tinney intend to make their home with their daughter a short distance from town.

The Arlie Marks Stock Company began a three days' engagement at the Regent Theatre last night. Their offering last night was "When Dreams Come True." The bill for Friday night is "The Little Girl That God Forgot," and for Saturday night "The Queen of Queer Street." "Old Kentucky" will be presented at the Saturday matinee.

6000 FOREST FIRES A YEAR IN CANADA

Cost the Country Fifteen Million Dollars, Mr. Robson Black Told the Montreal Paper Club.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14—(Canadian Press).—Six thousand forest fires a year are making Canada poorer every year by more than $15,000,000 and are threatening the ultimate extinction of the many towns and cities almost entirely dependent on the forest and its inter-allied industries. This was the estimate of Robson Black, secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association in an address before the Montreal Paper Club here yesterday. He cited the cases of the town of Grand Mere, Kenogami and Chicoutimi as instances illustrating his latter point.

Mr. Black noted the opinion of Sir Clifford Sifton that with its forests lost, Canada would not be able to support more than 3,000,000 people. As a result of forest depletion, Mr. Black stated that in certain sections of Northern Ontario and Quebec there is now a smaller population than there was 25, 50 and 60 years ago.

MEN HELD ON A MURDER CHARGE

MONTREAL, Feb 15.— The unlooked-for appearance in court of a witness whom the defence had vainly sought, the placing of that witness under guard by order of the court in spite of his protest that he had not received a subpoena; the nervous breakdown of Joseph Duguay under the strain if a six-hour cross-examination and his sudden confrontation with the missing witness were the principal feature of the hearing in the Court of King's Bench here yesterday of the murder charge against Edward Frellier and Alfred Dagenuis, charged with killing Mrs. Bergeron in a house on Beaudry street in January 1922.

Duguay who has confessed that he was an accomplice to the crime, stated in evidence that he had suffered qualms of conscience and had sent L. Lemay to Montreal to give information to local detectives. The man Lemay could not be traced at the preliminary trial, but was seen and placed under guard at yesterday's hearing. Duguay had to be assisted from the witness box in a semi-faint ing condition when he saw Lemay held as a witness.

The afternoon session was taken up with a cross-examination lasting three and a half hours of Corinne St. Jean who was present in the house during the murder. She asserted that she had been bound and rendered unconscious by Frellier during the crime. She admitted that she had not aided the police in discovering the alleged murderers and had even denied knowing them when they were first brought before her. Her reason was that she feared she would suffer the fate of Mrs. Berger son if she gave evidence against Frellier. The case is continuing.

Transportation Need of Alberta Lumbering.

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 14.—Assistance rather than restriction, is needed by the lumber industries of Alberta, A. B. Donley, a local lumber company official, told the Royal Commission on pulpwood here today Getting timber to the mills is an expensive item in this section of the country and unless something is done to assist the lumber operators much of the dormant wealth in Alberta's timber resources must go to waste.

Mr. Donley recommended that the Government undertake to make the rivers of the province safer for log-driving and thus, in a large measure eliminate the necessity of having to construct spur lines to get timber to railway shipping points.

PETERBORO MEN STILL CURLING

OSHAWA, Feb. 14.—(Special.)—The Oshawa curling bonspiel reached the semi-finals in the McLaughlin trophy event late to-night, with two Oshawa rinks skipped by H. A. Porter and D. F. Johnston; one Peterborough rink skipped by R. M. Waddell and an Agincourt rink, with R. G. Greene, giving the ice and turns in the honor list, and these four rinks will go on the ice at nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

W. G. Morrow, of Peterborough, went down before Archie Paterson, of Scarboro in the second round of the main event by 16 to 13, while Ray Best, also of Peterborough, dropped his second round game to Fred Gilding, of Toronto Granites. Both of the defeated Peterborough rinks are still in the Consolation event for the W. F. Eaton Trophy, which will reach the semi-finals tomorrow morning.

ARE YOU ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

Stop Worrying! Be Restored by a Home Treatment Costing Only Few Cents a Day

Nerve exhaustion is the result of using up the body's nerve power—the energy that keeps you vigorous, strong. Without vital nerve force the body becomes deadened; the mind becomes tortured with worry and fears; your worn out nerves seem actually to cry out in agony.

Women with overstrained nerves grow thin, pale, haggard and are prematurely old. Men who have exhausted their nervous systems find their way to success blocked by their own weakness.

There is no magic way to restore the nerves. Nerve power—the vital force of life—is created only within our bodies. When the body is so worn out that it can not store up nerve strength then it must have a restorative. Just as soon as we begin to restore our bodies so surely will we begin to regain nerve power and vitality.

There is a safe home treatment for nerve exhausted men and women; a treatment that is absolutely harmless and costs only a few cents a day. Get from your druggist at once a generous size bottle of Wincarnis, the restorative for sufferer from weakness and nerve failure. Take this Wincarnis treatment for twelve days and you will understand what it means to regain nerve power and vitality.

SIDELIGHTS ON CIVIL SERVICE

Down in Ottawa, where at present the Civil Service is supposed to be in a condition of abject terror, fearing the axe which is prophesied as shortly to be about to descend and sever from their respective jobs many of the luminaries of Governmental offices, the prospective victims are busy with all sorts of arguments as to why there should be no curtailment of the numbers employed or of the honorarium received by the many workers on the Federal pay roll. Up to the present, the affair seems to present the aspect of a sort of "tag" game. "You're it!" cries a Conservative voice, gaily loading the burden of responsibility on the back of the present leaders, and insisting, through the columns of a Conservative organ, that the Civil Service in present times is a scandal and a shame. "On the contrary, you're it!" declares the Liberal faction, firmly returning the "tag," and pointing with decision to the statements which show that the figures compiled by the Conservative sheet include, in the years of the Liberal regime, both "inside" and "outside" service employees, while, in computing Civil Service charges luring the Conservative leadership, the writer omitted to remember "outside" figures, making his totals smaller by considering only "inside" payments.

Genevieve Lipsett-Skinner, writing in the Toronto Sunday World, gives the total of Civil Service payments during the year as approximately sixty millions.

"No living creature knows the exact amount, because so many of those receiving monthly cheques from the public treasury are listed as "temporary employees." Some have been on the temporary list for more than thirty years, and numbers have been there from ten to twenty years. The temporary description has two advantages—it helps to hide the appalling number who live at the public trough, and it makes it possible for the Government to pay higher salaries than it could do if the emporary one was properly classified and transferred to the permanent force. Permanents can be only paid a certain sum, but there is practically no limit to the amount that can be paid to those classified as temporary."

The term "inside" refers to those employees of the Civil Service who are at work in Ottawa, and is used to distinguish them from the "outside" civil servants scattered over the country. It is of the "inside" workers that Mrs. Skinner treats in her article. She says:

"Those who believe the millenium will come with a six-hour day, could usher it in at once for themselves—by joining the Civil Service. Six hours is the working day of the "inside" service in winter, and during the summer months when they knock off work at four p.m., it is reduced to five hours. Most of the Civil Service families in Ottawa have summer homes up the Gatineau or at Britannia Beach, and putting up the shutters at four o'clock gives them a chance to catch an early train, and enjoy the lake breezes and mountain air during the late afternoon. Then on Saturdays the year round, these favored sons and daughters knock off work at one—just four hours those days.

"One who has a penchant for statistics has figured out the total number of hours our civil servants work in a year as 1,480. Compare that with the 3,000 hours ordinary taxpayers work.

"But do the civil servants work all the time that they are credited with? Every member of Parliament knows they don't. A reputable member of the press gallery counted forty civil servants on the Rivermead Golf Course, one afternoon last autumn—when they were supposed to be in their offices.

"The amount of crochet and embroidery done during office hours in the Civil Service at the capital, if laid end to end, would fill the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. I have seen stenographers making the loveliest nighties of two-ply georgette (for a friend's trousseau), at 11 o'clock in the morning. Some girls are more ambitious, and have made dresses while on duty. A reporter sailed into an outer office the other day where one girl clerk was acting as model for a new party frock. Now somebody may say, the girl had nothing to do, so why shouldn't they sew? The point is if the office which employs them can't keep them busy for six hours a day—then the staffs can well be cut. There are too many of them for the work they do."

Mrs. Skinner asserts that many employees are kept on the pay roll all year, although their work is done in four or five months. The secretary of the Speaker of the Senate, she says, who is actively engaged only when Parliament is in session, is employed the year round. "Her principal duty during the past eight months has been the directing and mailing of the Christmas cards sent out by Mr. Speaker's wife, who lives on a ranch in British Columbia."

In the matter of providing jobs for relatives and friends, "the Deputy Minister of one department has been the arch sinner. In the days before the Civil Service Commission, he gave his son a job, while said son was a college student. He worked in the department in summer holidays, and when the academic term was in progress the son's wife did his work In the same department, a man who preaches in one of the Ottawa churches is employed at a tidy salary. A man novelist who turns out a novel a year receives $4,000 a year from a Governmental post.

"The population of Canada has increased 25 per cent. since 1912, while the Civil Service has increased almost 250 per cent.

"Do you know that it requires a staff of 253 permanent Ottawa officials to look after our 2,500 militia men and three trawlers which constitute our joke fleet? That means an Ottawa official to every ten soldiers, and the salaries average $1,900 a year. Twenty years ago the department of defence cost $45,000 per year, and was administered by a staff of 36 officials. In all probability Canada was just as well equipped to defend herself as she is today."

SUBMIT EIGHT HOUR DAY BILL

British Minister of Labor Will Introduce Measure to Ratify the Washington Convention—Affect Twelve Million Workers

LONDON, eFb. 15.—Minister of Labor Shaw last night informed the House of Commons that the President of the Board of Trade would speedily introduce a bill in Parliament designed to give effect to the Washington convention for the eight hour day. The Minister added that provided the bill was enacted without amendments contrary to the provisions of the conventions respecting hours of labor and other matters, it was proposed to ratify the convention.

Mr. Shaw last Friday foreshadowed the proposed ratification of the Washington convention when he told a deputation from the Trades Union Congress that the MacDonald Ministry would favorably consider the matter at an early date. The deputation said 12,000,000 workers in Great Britain would benefit by ratification of the convention and that there was much disappointment among them that no steps had been taken in this direction.

The deputation informed Mr. Shaw that non-ratification by Great Britain had encouraged a tendency in other countries to extend hours of labour and that nothing could protect British industry from unfair foreign competition so effectively as putting the Washington convention into operation.

THE LINDSAY ROAD

The Peterborough branch of the Ontario Motor League has decided to co-operate with the effort being made by Lindsay citizens to have the Lindsay-Peterborough road designated as a Provincial highway.

Not only for the benefit of tourists, but also of many residents of this district, the improving of this road is a necessity.

The traffic over it during three parts of the year is very heavy, and in its present condition it is providential that there has not been a series of serious accidents.

Not only is the road decidedly hilly in nature, but it is so narrow in sections as to render it almost impossible for two vehicles to pass without one of them going into the ditch—and at one point leaving the road means being mired in a swamp.

In view of the heavy inter-city traffic between Lindsay and Peterborough and of the larger number of tourists who have occasion to use this road each summer, it becomes highly necessary that the highway be made safe.

Its inclusion in the Provincial highway system would be of very material benefit to a widespread district, and the Motor League is acting in the public interest in falling into line with the Lindsay campaign for better road conditions between Peterborough and our Victoria County neighbors.

HANDS OFF!

With the time for the assembling of the Federal Parliament drawing nearer, come tales of the planned assaults of political cohorts on the Canadian National Railway mangement. There will be a great many questions asked about the Hotel Scribe deal in Paris, and there will be attempts to do this for one section of the country and that for another. Such is the nature of legislative bodies in all self-governing countries. It is one of the reasons why so many people look askance at the idea of any Government being in the railroad business, or any other, for that matter.

But Canada owns the National Railways. Assuming control was the only way out. They are not yet paying capital charges, but they can be made to, and will be some day an enormous asset to Canada, if the lines are not made into a political machine. Already a vast improvement has been made, and now the prospects are bright for an influx of American farmers into our prairie country, where the Government-owned railways are weakest.

Politicians must keep their hands off the Nationals. They must not seek to placate constituencies by obtaining unessential improvements that the lines, considering their present financial condition, cannot afford to make. It's strictly up to the nation, if it wishes to solve its railroad problem, to serve notice to the politicians that they must pursue a policy of "hands off," and leave the business management of the road to Sir Henry Thornton, whose work has already been so fruitful of good results.

A STEP FORWARD.

One announcement made by Premier Ferguson in his speech in the Legislature on Wednesday last was of much significance and interest was that dealing with the intention of the Government to help establish in Ontario a system of farm detention homes for boy and girl delinquents.

This is a leaf taken from the book of the Quebec Government, which has established a simular farm home at Shawbridge, Que., and has already demonstrated the success of the experiment.

It has been a weakness in this Province that the system of punishment and correction for those whose feet have first strayed from the straight and narrow path has thrown young offenders into the company of older and hardened criminals, with the result that the first slip was never recovered.

More than one gunman and killer has been created by the education imparted in jails and penitentiaries by men old in crime to youngsters who are thrown into their sphere of influence.

The Quebec plan, which is to be followed in this Province, will remove the youthful delinquents from the contamination of hardened criminals and take them "out into the open spaces," to quote from the Premier's speech, "where they can be given schooling and engaged in useful employment."

The scheme, which is not to be altogether a Government one, as it will be financed by philanthropic citizens of the Province who have volunteered their assistance, is a forward step that should have good results.

It is progressive and humanitarian and should have the general support of the Legislature regardless of party differences.

PROTECTING THE IMMIGRANT.

The Ontario Government in seeking to assume control of the supervision of young immigrants is showing that it has recognized the harm done to the reputation of this Province and of the Dominion generally by the impression created in Great Britain by the suicide of two Ontario "home" boys.

It does not always ensure that the young immigrant is well placed, and the follow-up system is not of a nature that guarantees that the best results are being secured, either from the standpoint of the employer or the boy himself.

The Provincial Government has the machinery to ensure a more thorough and surer supervision, and there seems little doubt that if Ottawa approves of the proposal the condition of home boys and girls in this Province will be better safeguarded than it has hitherto been.

The Premier proposes that while the Federal Government will continue to pay the costs the supervision be entrusted to the Province, and as a further protection the Provincial Government will license the homes which bring immigrant boys into Ontario so that they will be more closely under the control of the Government.

Action of this kind is needed to assure the people of Great Britain that boys and girls sent out to this country will be protected.

The knowledge that the Provincial Government has accepted responsibility for the supervision of these young immigrants would have a very steadying influence and help to correct the distorted ideas of Canadian conditions that have been created by the recent tragedies on Ontario farms.

GET DOWN TO BUSINESS.

The squabble over the Progressive group's claim for recognition as the official Opposition in the Legislature is unseemly and disappointing to those who hoped that business would be the keynote of the present session.

Hon. Mr. Doherty and his party have a legitimate claim for consideration, and the Premier in ignoring the fact that the remnants of the previous Government are the second strongest group numerically in the House is displaying a determination worthy of a better cause.

The contention that the result of the general election was a rejection of the U.F.O. Party and an endorsation of the old two-party system is begging the question.

There were more U.F.O. members elected than there were Liberals, and the group headed by Mr. Doherty have a clear title to the position of official Opposition if the matter be looked at from a standpoint of justice and common-sense.

Mr. Ferguson gains nothing by the position he has taken; on the other hand, he is hurting himself and his followers by seeking to maintain a stand that is so manifestly unfair as to win for the Progressive group the sympathy of many who were hostile to the U.F.O. cause last June.

The present situation should be cleared up by a recognition of the Progressive Party.

Until that is done it is certain that there will be dissatisfaction and recrimination and that the business of the session will be delayed as a result.

Ontario expects economy and business methods from the new Government, and is not very much elated over the political manoeuvring that has so far distinguished the proceedings of the session.

"LEAVE US ALONE."

The Ottawa Journal has not been backward in talking of the expense of Government and of Government service.

It has lost no opportunity for calling attention to the totals spent by departments; it has published its opinion that grants for public works during the last session were made with the idea of creating good-will for the Government rather than meeting the needs provided for in thes figures.

Now that the Government has decided on its course of action, which calls for a housecleaning of the Civil Service, and the consolidation of department so that one, and perhaps two, may be absorbed into others, the Ottawa paper has passed over no opportunity to attack the move, says the London Advertiser. In fact, it has sought to create openings for such attacks, referring in a recent issue to the Government's "mushroom passion for economy."

The reason, of course, is that the largest industry in Ottawa is the Civil Service, and the Journal is not going to see a single person chopped off who can possibly hang on to a job, even if it is in a department that is overmanned and crowded beyond the dictates of good business practice.

That attitude, were it persisted in all over the country, would mean that the Government would meet opposition and defiance in every step it took to reduce expenses and taxation. If Ottawa has more people on the payroll of the Government than are needed, it is the duty of the Ottawa Journal, since it has been clamoring for a scaling down of expense, to give every reasonable assistance in its power toward attaining the end it has advocated.

If the Journal is not willing to take that attitude, then it places itself in the position of saying "the Government must cut expenses everywhere except in Ottawa." It is an attitude so local and parochial that the wonder is that the Journal would allow itself to be placed in such a position.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Greater Toronto's population, according to a directory estimate is 790,000. The Provincial capital is getting large enough to abandon village ways.

Of course, nobody could have recognized that U. F. O. Party the morning after the last Provincial election.

If the Legislature were induced to waste less time it would undoubtedly result in less money being wasted.

The Ontario Agricultural College is to have a course in baking. Surely farmers' daughters do not have to go to college to learn how to make bread.

Until municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments set the example, there is reason to doubt the efficacy of a thrift week campaign.

Speaking of the wedding of Prince Erik, the Toronto Telegram sees in the demonstration the same moral that the Examiner found in that event. Says the Telegram: "The mob scene at Ottawa once more emphasizes the truth that this Continent is inhabited by a sturdy, uncompromising race of democrats to the hilt. The inhabitants of Ottawa scorn royalty and despise titles with a sincerity and splendor seldom revealed outside the U.S.A. The mob scene at Ottawa is the most soul-stirring demonstration of triumphant democracy this Continent has witnessed since the title-hating sons and daughters of the great Republic crowded each other into the Detroit River in a mad rush to get a close view of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in 1860.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

CONTEST.

Dan Dobb Announces Winners of Three Big Prizes.

Contest for our six most important words has closed. We beg to announce the following prize winners. Due to lack of space the names of the winners are omitted.

First prize: "Address of a reliable bootlegger" is won by the six words, "I didn't know it was loaded."

Second prize: "One nomination for president" is won by "I found that it was loaded."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—Early sales today were made of only the pick of the butchers and a choice steer sold at 7 cents a pound. A couple of baby beeves brought $7.40 a cwt. Medium and poor butchers sold from $5.25 down to $4.00 a cwt. and a number of canner cows went at $1.25 to $1.75 a cwt. A car of milkers and springers went out to-day for Quebec. These were good and averaged over $100 each.

The few calves on sale were sold at steady prices.

Lambs closed the week steady. light choice lambs hold firm, but there is not nearly so good a market for the heavy coarse lamb.

Hog receipts for the week were 11,308 and this was sufficient to make a weak market. Wednesday's hogs sold at $7.00 a cwt. f.o.b. and this was the quotation over the week end.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

CHICAGO, February 15 (Canadian Press). — Cattle, receipts 9,000; beef steers and fat she stock unevenly higher; top matured steers, $11.65; average weight 1,457 pounds; other matured steers, $11.60; best baby beef yearlings, mixed steers and heifers, $11.50, weighty steers, $10.75 to $11.25; desirable beef heifers 25c up in spots; fat she stock 10c to 15c higher; bulls firm, vealers 50c lower; to 15c higher; closed very slow with bulk to packers, $6.50 to $9.50; few upward to $12.00 to outsiders; stockers and feeders steady, slightly improved action on better grades.

Hogs, receipts 40,000; opened 10c to 15c higher; closed very slow, with most of early advance lost; good and choice 250 to 325 pound butchers, $7.20 to $7.35; desirable 170 to 225 pound average, $7.00 to $7.20; best grades 150 to 160 pound average, $6.90 to $7.05; packing sows, $6.00 to $6.25; desirable weighty slaughter pigs, $4.00 to $6.00; estimated holdover 15,000.

Sheep, receipts 12,000; fat lambs generally strong; sheep and yearlings strong to 25c higher; feeding lambs steady; fat wooled lambs, $14.40 to $14.90, top, $15.00; choice clipped lambs, $12.50; best yearling wethers, $12.35; aged wethers $10.00; bulk fat ewes, $8.50 to $9.00; feeding lambs, $12.00 to $13.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, February 15 (Canadian Press). — Wheat scored a material upturn in price yesterday, but profit-taking sales then led to a reaction. The advance was due chiefly to buying based on belief that the United States import duty on wheat would soon be increased 50 per cent.

The maket closed unsettled at 3-8c lower to 1-4c gain, May $1.10 5-8 to 3-4 to $1.10 3-4 and July $1.10 3-4 to $1.10 7-8.

Corn, although easing back a little with wheat, finished 1-8c to 1-4c to 3-8c up, oats unchanged to 1-4c higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat market were reached after the definite announcement that the Federal Tariff Commission had reported the cost of producing wheat in this country was 85c to $2.19 a bushel compared with 53c to $1.19 in Canada. However, long before the definite figures in the report were available, it was widely known that the findings of the Commission were such as almost to make certain a prompt advance in the wheat tariff.

Some buying also was due to crop damage complaints, especially from Illinois and Ohio. On the other hand, the subsequent setback was emphasised by word that Pacific Coast offerings of wheat to the Atlantic seaboard were at a sharp discount compared with Chicago.

IRELAND PLANS TO GIVE BONUS TO HOME-BUILDER

DUBLIN, Feb. 14.—With Ireland facing a housing shortage, the Dail is planning to grant a bonus to home builders. From a $1,500,000 fund it is proposed to grant subsidies of $300 for three-room houses, $400 for four rooms and $500 for five rooms. Local authorities throughout the Free State are planning to grant bonuses not greater than those the Free State offers, as well as to pass legislation spreading payment of the building and land costs over a period of 19 years.

The Logging Bee

IN Canada's early days the logging bee organized the co-operative power of our pioneer communities in the generous spirit of mutual helpfulness. There was no other profit looked for.

In the same spirit to-day, Mutual Life Insurance organizes mutual co-operative helpfulness for the protection of the widowed and the fatherless or the aged.

Mutual insurance is not organized for profit. All profits go back to the policyholders. Each contributes to the strength of all, and the strength of all is used for the protection of each.

MENTALITY OF SEX IS EQUAL.

In the Earlier Years the Woman Was Physically Weaker Than the Man.

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The old idea that woman is weaker physically than man will be as obsolete as the feeling that she is inferior mentally.

This may be the situation if Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher of Leland Stanford University, whose book, "Woman's Physical Freedom," has just been published, has sized up the matter correctly.

"Increased scientific knowledge of woman's physiology has shown that the physical weakness and incapacities supposed to be inherent to sex are not due to sex at all, but to removable causes," she says.

"With her characteristic directness the modern girl has grasped this fact and proceeded to remove the removable. She has done this by exercise, sensible clothes and sensible diet."

The sweet frailty of those languid heroines of Dickens and Thackeray with their fainting, listlessness, hysterics and neurotics were the result of wrong clothes and lack of exercise, Dr. Mosher avers.

In a group of 92 college students examined by Dr. Mosher in the 90's skirts varied from nine to 15 feet in width with an average of 13.5 feet. The weight of these garments suspended from tightly laced waists was often greater than the combined weight of all the clothing worn by the girl of today.

"Today," she contrasts, "the college woman, mentioned particularly because she happens to be more available for statistics, with her larger waist and lithe body, is already an inch and two-tenths taller than the girl of 30 years ago and she is fit for any kind of work."

So she believes it is the coming generation that will really answer the much discussed question as to what women's real capabilities are. Then, for the first time in history, women will measure up evenly against the men of their generation.

ARRESTED WIFE OF COCA-COLA CANDLER

Bride of Breach of Promise Suit Winner Found in Apartment — Whiskey Bottle on Table.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 13.—It was not Cocoa Cola that Mrs. Asa G. Candler, wife of the soft drink millionaire, drank in the fashionable apartment where she is alleged to have spent the night with a woman companion and two men.

Chief Beavers, who led the raid in the residential, declares he found a bottle of whiskey there. The elderly multimillionaire's young bride of last June was arrested together with W. J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, prominent business men. The three were charged with violating a city ordinance defining a disorderly house, but the illness of Chief Beavers has caused an indefinite hearing of the case.

Mr. Candler, who last week won the $500,000 breach-of-promise suit instituted against him by Mrs. Onezima De Bouchel, of New Orleans, was silent concerning the arrest of his wife. His attorney, W. D. Thompson, said Candler would make no statement.

On the police docket Mrs. Candler gave her age as thirty-four, while Mr. Stoddard gave his age as forty-four and Mr. Keeling as forty-five. Mr. Candler is more than seventy years old and has been married once before.

DARING BANDITS LOCK STAFF OF BANK IN VAULT

Four Unmasked Men Robbed Molson's Branch Bank in Montreal West of About $3,000—Revolvers Overawed Staff of Three.

NOON HOUR RAID.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15. — Holding up Manager O. L. Letourneau, E. Raymond, cashier, and M. Taillefer, an assistant, and locking them in the vault, four armed men robbed the branch of the Molson's Bank, 1285 Cote des Neiges Road, in the west end of the city, of between $2,000 and $3,000 shortly after 12.30 yesterday afternoon. The manager's wife from her home above the bank premises heard the shouts of the imprisoned men and released them afer they had been in the vault a few minutes. Apparently the Cote des Nieges Road was deserted when an automobile drew up near the branch, and four men entered the premises.

Messrs. Letourneau, Raymond and Taillefer were in the main room of the branch when the men levelled their revolvers and shouted "Put your hands up and be quick about it."

With raised arms the manager and his assistants were backed into the vault, and the hold up men turned the handle, imprisoning them.

Neighbors saw the four bandits drive away a few seconds later in a western direction.

Mrs. Letourneau heard nothing of the hold up and was only made aware of it by the hammerings and shoutings of the imprisoned bank officials.

The hold-up men were not masked and good descriptions of them have been furnished to the police.

Montreal Catholic Schools Seek Loan.

QUEBEC, February 15 (Canadian Press). — Study of the Bill of the Montreal Catholic School Commission was commenced by the Public Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly yesterday.

Chief Justice Lafontaine, chairman of the Commission, led off for the Bill, which asks for the loan power of $6,000,000 and an increase in the Catholic rate of from 7 to 10 mills.

Just previous to the adjournment of the Committee at one o'clock, Premier Taschereau suggested hearing some of the arguments of the opponents, so that when study of the Bill is resumed next Tuesday, the Committee will have an inkling of both sies of the case.

This was done, and the representatives of the proprietors stated that they felt the amount asked for was excessive, and involved a heavy increase in the rate.

The matter was then adjourned until next Tuesday.

RANEY AND FERGUSON

register our protest and make our demands with the opening of each session of this Parliament and otherwise as occasion and opportunity may arise."

Should Disintegrate.

W. Finlayson, (Con. East Simcoe) a new member followed. He congratulated the Liberal leader on his appointment to lead the party and referring to the Farmer group said "when that group disintegrates and a decent time has been allowed for mourning we hope that its leader (Mr. Doherty) will return to his old party and help us in lending his services to the agricultural welfare of the province."

He thought the farmers should offer a reward for a name for their party. He said that no man had contributed more to the success of the Conservative party in the last last elections than Hon. W. E. Raney. He accused the Farmers while in office to trying to get Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and Sir Adam Beck out of public life so that they could better their own ends. He attacked Mr. Raney for his articles in a Toronto newspaper on enforcement of the O.T.A.

"He has," said Mr. Finalyson, "since June last attempted to make money and politics out of those articles which are the most offensive I ever seen. They embarrass the people now trying to enforce the law. If he wants a peaceful life in this legislature he had better refrain from writing such articles."

Raney's Argument.

Mr. Raney after a few congratulatory remarks plunged into a case for official recognition of the farmers as the chief opposition. He declared that he would not believe that the Prime Minister in taking the attitude he did had the sanction of the Attorney General (Mr. Nickle). He would not believe either that he had advice from the legal members of his party that the action was either constitutional or legal. He pointed to the Mother of Parliaments as a precedent. When Labor secured more members that the Liberals it immediately became the chief opposition and had been but a short time ago called upon to form a government. Mr. Asquith the Liberal leader would not lend himself to suppress the expressed sentiments of the elector.

It had never occurred to U.F.O. members that they would not be the official opposition. He quoted the Premier from a newspaper report as saying that the designation of the opposition was a government matter. "That is exactly what the Family compact did in this province and caused the rebellion", said Mr. Raney, "and the same statement could not have been made in England since the reign of George third. He complained that it was gross discourtsey to the Speaker.

The Premier—There was no Speaker at that time.

"Yes but there was a Speaker designate. Everybody knew who it was to be" replied Mr. Raney. He said the premier was attempting to strangle opposition. He invited the Premier to say where he had ever told th electors in the election campaign that he would not recognize the farmers.

"I didn't then and I haven't since or now" said the Premier.

"Did you say that the country was going back to old party lines everywhere.

"We all said it" replied Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey.

ORANGE LODGES HELD A MEETING

L. O. L. No. 558 Will Become a Part of the Norwood District..

BRIGHTON, Feb. 14.—The Loyal Orange County Lodge of Northumberland convened in the union lodge room in the village of Brighton on Tuesday evening, having been postponed by the Wor. Co. Master, J. H. Belford, on account of the state of the roads and weather from Feb. 5. Much important business was transacted which will materially assist the primary and district lodges in the jurisdiction of the county.

A petition from L. O. L. No. 558 was presented requesting the county lodge to grant permission to allow them to become a part of Norwood district, as Percy district lodge convened much farther from them than Norwood.

The petition was granted as far as the county lodge was concerned, and a recommendation forwarded to grand lodge to sanction their action.

L. O. L. No. 1365 and 507 notified the county officials of their decision to amalgamate under the warrant of L. O. L. No. 1363. This matter was also approved by the county officials.

L. O. L. No. 2322 was congratulated by the county recording secretary as their report showed no loss in membership from any cause whatever, and a very substantial increase.

L. O. L. No. 558, of Hastings, showed the largest net increase.

Cobourg and Brighton districts were well represented, while only one, L. O. L. No. 108, Warkworth, being the sole representative of the seven primary lodges that make up Percy district, was present, they having a fine turnout.

The credential committee reported an attendance of 52, which was considered excellent on account of weather and road conditions.

The next place of meeting will be in the lodge room of L. O. L. No. 108 Warkworth, on the first Tuesday, February, 1925.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Co. Master, A. B. McIntosh, L. O. L. 514, Cold Springs; Co. Dep. Master, O. Waters, L. O. L. 108, Warkworth; Co. Chaplin, Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, L. O. L. 186, Brighton; Co. Rec. Secy., W. J. Latimer, L. O. L. 620, Wooler (address, Orland); Co. Fin. Secy., B. C. H. Becker, L. O. L. 186, Brighton; Co. Treas., W. E. Davidson, L. O. L. 1363, Codrington (address, Morganston); Co. Marshall, J. J. Andrews, L. O. L. 127, Cobourg; C. Lecturers, Wm. Storms, L. O. L. 186, Brighton, and J. G. Honey, L. O. L. 261, Roseneath.

The lodge was duly closed after the installation of the above officers. The delegates then retired from the lodge room to the Clarendon Hotel where an excellent supper had been prepared by the proprietor, Mr. Harrison. The congratulations of the delegates are extended to the village of Brighton for being the possessor of such an up-to-date hotel, the management of which will meet with the approval of the most fastidious.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspooniuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package. Tanlac wiped out

England Sets the Best Styles in Sport Suits

By HEDDA HOYT.

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 14.—(United Press).—An edict from Paris decreeing that gowns should be a trifle longer to "cover up the plump ankles that come from wearing high-heeled shoes," brought a furious protest from Lord Beaverbrook's London newspaper, the Evening Standard.

In behalf of the Englishwomen, the London newspaper stated that English women have no need of covering up their shapely ankles, which are more slender than those of the Parisians. And from recent observations one should say that the English champion of "nether portions" was right.

To begin with, the English woman is above all a sports woman. She wears swank little suits of sporty lines throughout the day. Short skirts are quite essential to her, as London streets during the winter months are damp and muddy. English women strive to be sensibly dressed rather than modishly dressed for the street. Their sports shoes and woollen stockings are quite a contrast to the spineless slippers and cob-web hosiery the Americans and Parisians favor for the stormiest of days.

While Paris sets the world's styles for evening and afternoon frocks and accessories, London can be said to set the styles for sports wear. There are no women in the world who wear sports clothes as well as the English women of means who are never garish in their attire but achieve perfect harmony through correct and harmonious color combinations.

Knitted Sports Costumes.

The knitted sports dress of slender lines which is to be the last word in spring and summer sports wear originated in England, and there it is that we find it in all its shadings of color and silhouette variations. Soft powder blues, tans, greys, greens and canary yellow are colors most often used this season. There are simple types which use but one color, frocks with floral border designs worked into the material, horizontal and vertical stripe effects, plaids, checks and blended tones. Bands of contrasting or blending shades often begin at the hem and extend to the knees on the one-piece knitted frock. If sleeves are long, they are bell-shaped and the band treatment is used on them. Lines of black often accentuate the outline of the various bands. For instance, a frock of canary yellow which slips on over the head, has its skirt trimmed with rows of white outlined in black. The long sleeves carry out the same banding idea.

Sports dresses made of velvet are popular at present at the English resorts. One particularly lovely one is of white velvet made on straight lines and unbelted and uses as its only trim a huge V-shaped pocket edged at the top with a narrow band of ermine and finished at the pointed end with a cluster of ermine tails. Over this is worn a little hip-length cape of white velvet with its shirred roll collar edged in ermine and finished at the fastening with clusters of ermine tails. There is a turban of white velvet that accompanies this costume and a white cane with a brilliant red handle adds a gay color note.

Knitted Boyish Suits.

One sees the English version of the Parisian boyish suit in the knitted double-breasted jacquette and skirt combinations which are made in navy blue, tans, greens and greys. These are worn with blouses following mannish lines with tucked shirt fronts, turn-back cuffs and starched turned-back collars.

Next in importance to knitted wear for the coming season, we have the men's shirting materials which hold such a prominent place at the winter resorts at present. Stripes favored are wide and run vertically rather than horizontally. Gowns made of this material are always extremely simple as to line, depending upon their very simplicity for their smartness. The blouse portion usually closes just as a man's shirt does with pearl buttons. The collar is like that used on a man's sports shirt and is left open at the neck, forming a V. There is a narrow belt made of the material and the skirt is short and slender lined. Stitched bosom fronts are often used to give a tailored effect.

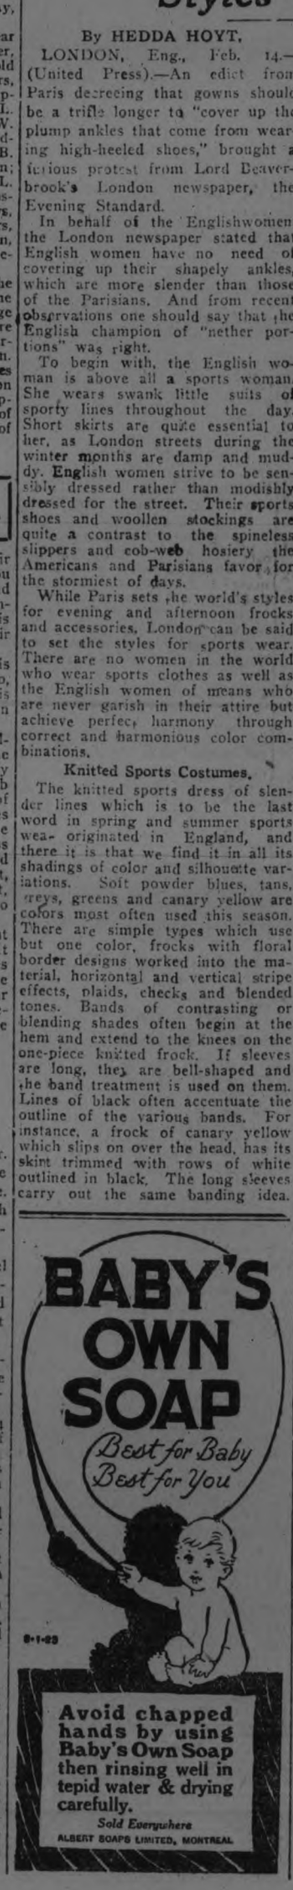
Steel Industry Report Considered Next Week.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Consideration of the report on condition in the Cape Breton steel industry will not begin until next week. The Royal Commission which submitted a report, headed by Dr. Robertson, has finished its labors and returned home, but the report itself will not be signed until Friday, when Dr. Robertson returns to Ottawa from Toronto. The Prime Minister stated to-night that the findings of the commission will not come before the Cabinet Council until next week. Meantime the report is in the Prime Minister's office awaiting the formal signature of the chief commissioner.

Cut in Wages Perturbs Montreal Fur Workers.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14. — Fur workers in Montreal are perturbed at the action of a local shop which has announced a cut in wages of ten per cent to its employees. The cut, it is alleged, is a breach of the general understanding with the Fur Manufacturers, that no reduction will be made. Morris Kauffman, president of the International Fur Workers Union of the United States and Canada, will arrive in Montreal to-morrow evening to attend a meeting to deal with the situation. In the meantime the employees of the shop in question are remaining at work pending instructions from the president.



How Other Cities Solve Problems

Sawdust Instead of Gravel.

In a case which came up at the Division Court, Hepworth, Judge Greig gave judgment for George Golden of St. Edmond's Township, who brought action against the Township of Amabel to recover $49 being the cost of repairs to his car, damaged last summer.

It was that shingle sawdust had been used in place of gravel at the place where the accident occurred.

Saves Money on Coal.

Alderman Sherring requested at a meeting of the Hamilton City Council that local coal merchants be extended the privilege of tendering on supplies of coal for the city.

Mayor Jutten replied that the city was now saving from $1.50 to $2.00 per ton by purchasing coal direct from the mines in Pennsylvania He would be pleased, however, to receive offers from local coal dealers.

Erects New School.

Ford Town Council at its regular meeting passed a by-law authorising a $23,000 debenture issue to cover the cost of a new public school in the south-end of the municipality. Work on the structure already has begun.

Short of Fire Equipment.

The report of the Inspector of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association states that the present water supply in Woodstock is 32 per cent. short of the requirements for fire protection, that the department is deficient in hose carrying apparatus and that the water pressures are so low that a fire engine of a capacity of not less than 600 imperial gallons per minute is required.

An extension of the water mains, more hydrants in the business section, additional men on the brigade, and a more complete fire alarm system are among the other recomendations made by the Inspector.

MacDONALD

on this subject would probably be confined to nine or ten men, but none of them members of Parliament. He believed, however, that when the names were announced they would give universal satisfaction.

Premier MacDonald, in the course of his speech, contended that some reduction of the burden of the national debt was inevitable if the nation was again to be in a position to compete in the world markets. It was not a party question or a stage of socialism. He considered that since the country had rejected the Labor remedy, namely a capital levy, which could not be enacted in the present Parliament, it was up to the Conservatives or the Liberals to produce some scheme to save the country from the exceedingly bad effects of the heavy debt—and some honest scheme—because he considered every repudiation or inflation as dishonest, and would reject either of those alternatives. But, until the problem was solved, he would not be happy.

Poplarism Problem.

Concerning Mr. Asquith's ultimatum to the Government over the Poplar question, which Wednesday night seemed likely to threaten the existence of the Government, the Prime Minister appeared but little disturbed and ventured the prediction that the question would be settle by a single day's debate. He took the view that the so-called Poplarism fwas a problem which it was as much to the interest of the other parties as his own to solve.

There were indications today that the Liberal Party as a whole is disinclined to support the extreme attitude Mr Asquith took last night, and this view is confirmed by the terms of the motion issued last night, which the Liberals will move to initiate the debate on the subject the Government has promised for an early date.

This motion is in no sense a censure motion, likely, if carried, to lead to the defeat of the Government. It simply states that the action of Health Minister Wheatley, (in giving the Poplar Guardians a free hand in the distribution of unemployment relief), might encourage illegality and extravagance, and urges that the real remedy is to be found in reform of the London Government and of the poor law system.

The attitude of the Labor Party is that the question of relieving unemployment, should be taken altogether out of the hands of the poor law guardians, which is considered demoralizing and degrading, and that the present system of granting relief surrounds the unemployed with an atmosphere of Poplarism.

Abolish Workhouses.

It is believed that the Liberal Party, as well as the Labor Party, is ready for the abolition of the present system of poor law relief, and favors abolition of the Boards of Guardians and poor law unions, or workhouses, as they are generally called, and that the functions of relief for the poor should be placed on the same basis as education and other public services, namely, in the hands of County Councils and similar bodies. According to the terms of the Liberal motion, it appears as though this may supply a way out of the tangle which may be acceptable to both Government and Liberals and relieve the Government of the embarrassment which Mr. Wheatley's action has caused it, for although the Ministers were ready to support the Minister of Health, his action was not approved altogether by them.

Clothes More Peppy For Dad and Grandpa

By "THE STROLLER"

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (United Press).—So far as "old men's clothes" are concerned, there doesn't seem to be "such animal" any more. The familiar uniform of the middle aged and aged man—plain, severe and generally black or blue serge—has been displaced by the heterogeneous array which the more youthful men are adopting. Of course, the sensible men are not running to such extremes as are their youthful progeny, but all the same, there is a distinct swing toward a little more "pep" in dressing up dad and granddad.

And while the oldsters have been assimilating a few points from the youngsters, the younger element has been adapting some of the comfortable features that formerly were found almost exclusively in garments made for elderly men. The college type of clothes you see worn has stolen the looseness, the easy fit, the widely spaced buttons, the wide, straight hanging trousers, directly from the clothes worn by men whose college days have vanished into the mist of the years. Of course, the styles are vastly different, but the youth of today realizes that in wearing a suit that is not a straight jacket, a sense of calm well-being is induced.

Of course, professional men—lawyers, doctors, barristers, and the like—are adhering more or less to their professional severity in the choice of their dress. But the business man is using care in the selection of his suit and overcoat. He is, without any sense of being foppish, choosing those garments which set off his "good points." It has taken a long time to bring the male contingent to the realization that clothes are something more than protection from the weather, but the man who would be a success in almost every line of endeavor must realize that there is perhaps a grain of truth in the old saw that "clothes make the man."

Thieves Carried Off Newlywed's Presents.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—A recently married couple's wedding presents valued at several hundreds of dollars were among articles taken by thieves in several robberies late yesterday afternoon and last night.

The newlyweds victimized were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charbonnier, living in the north end of the city. Thieves entered by opening a rear window.

Over $300 worth of furs were taken from the home of R. M. Fraser, living in the east end of the city by thieves who used skeleton keys during the absence of tenants.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

Fighting Diphtheria with a Pump

DIPHTHERIA is now being robbed of its death terrors with the aid of an electric suction pump, the invention of the late Dr. Henry L. Lynah, who was attending laryngologist and intubationist to the Department of Health's hospitals in New York City.

So efficacious has Dr. Lynah's invention proved to be that already, according to the estimates of doctors, it has been the means of cutting down the death rate among victims of diphtheria from 33 1-3 per cent to 10 per cent.

The false or diphtheria membrane that forms in the patient's throat during a case of diphtheria is a serious menace to breathing and may easily result in death by suffocation. By the use of the electric pump this membrane is drawn off as fast as it forms.

According to Dr. William T. Cannon, head of the Willard Parker Hospital, New York City, where Dr. Lynah's pump was first used, the invention finds many uses in throat operations, in the drawing off of matter and keeping air passages clear.

Thus more and more, electricity is becoming one of the medical scientists' most potent allies in waging ceaseless war against disease.

For many centuries one of the most terrifying things which could be said to the parents of a sick child was the dread word "diphtheria." It was almost like pronouncing a death sentence so frequent were the fatalities. Anti-toxin was first used in 1894 and since that date there has been a marked reduction in the death rate. In 1913 the Schick test, which determined the susceptibility of humans to diphtheria and toxin-anti-toxin, which is used to immunize susceptible cases, was first used. Dr. William H. Park, director of the Bureau of Laboratories of the Department of Health, was the first to use these preventive measures on a large scale as a public health measure.

But there was one grave danger that none of these remedies could entirely offset. They could not always prevent the possibility of suffocation which resulted from closing of the larynx and trachea due to the formation of the diphtheritic membrane. Sometimes relief was given by the use of steam inhalation to the front of the throat. When these measures failed it was necessary to insert a tube to relieve the condition.

Intubated cases of diphtheria are very apt to develop aspiration broncho-pneumonia and it also requires a skilled operator to insert a tube with the minimum risk to the patient.

About a year ago, at the Willard Parker Hospital, New York City, Dr. Robert Gover, attending laryngologist, and Dr. R. P. Hardman, resident physician on the diphtheria service, decided to use suction on all cases of laryngeal diphtheria as a routine measure. This was the first time that it had been adopted by any hospital and the first time also that any careful account of its efficiency could be recorded.

The treatment itself is simple enough. A metal tip open at the end and attached by a silk-covered rubber tubing to a vacuum bottle is placed at the opening of the larynx or air passage, the motor is started and the suction produced through the vacuum bottle, and the tubing draws up the diphtheritic membrane which was closing the passage. This was tried out again and again with remarkable success and it has reduced the number of intubated cases over 50 per cent.

Using the Electric Suction Pump to Remove the Dangerous Membrane That Forms in the Throat of a Victim of Diphtheria.

The use of the tankless air compressor, invented years ago by Dr. Sidney Yankauer, in the treatment of diphtheria also has revolutionized the handling of this disease.

The machine, which is now being used with such great success in saving lives that otherwise would be lost, operates as a combination pressure and suction outfit. It was originally designed for use in tonsil operations to keep the field clean and for the draining of sinuses. Its suction effect is now used to draw the dangerous diphtheritic membrane from the patient's throat and thus prevent the fatal strangulation.

Victims of diphtheria whose conditions are so serious that they have to have tubes in their throats are called "tubers." Some of them are chronic "tubers," and they must carry the tubes in their throats for several years. They can have them removed only at the peril of being strangled or suffocated by clotted throats.

So serious are some of these cases that they are virtually met at the door of the hospital by a physician with a silver tube in his hand so as to lose no time in clearing the little victim's breathing. Even then there is danger, for there is often so much strangling membrane below the tube that it blocks breathing. An operation is then performed, the throat cut open and a tracheotomy tube inserted.

Another improvement in the treatment of diphtheria is the direct injection of anti-toxin into the veins instead of into the subcutaneous tissue as formerly.

Exploring Utah's Region of Mystery

IF someone were to tell you that there is a section of this country as large as New Jersey which lay unmapped, unexplored and practically unknown to the world until 1923 you would probably laugh at the assertion. "How could that be," you would be prompt to exclaim; "certainly all parts of the United States have been explored and mapped long ago." But the first statement, startling as it may seem, holds true nevertheless.

It was not until last Fall that "The Vast Unknown," a region of mystery in Utah, was explored for the first time by an expedition of the National Geographic Society in charge of Neil M. Judd, of the department of American anthropology of the national museum. Mr. Judd and his assistants spent two months in complete isolation in this unknown section of Utah. During that time they did not see a single wild animal and the only traces of human beings were remains of prehistoric Indians.

The wild territory, which borders on the Colorado River, is so situated as to make it difficult for human beings to enter it, not to say live in it, according to a contributor to the Pathfinder. The many deep and dangerous canyons serve as a natural defense against trespassers. It is probably true that a few roving Indians, cattlemen and prospectors have penetrated it to some extent, but the expedition was unable to find maps or any reliable information dealing with that section from the State, Government or other authorities. The section is a subject for countless rumors and stories, however.

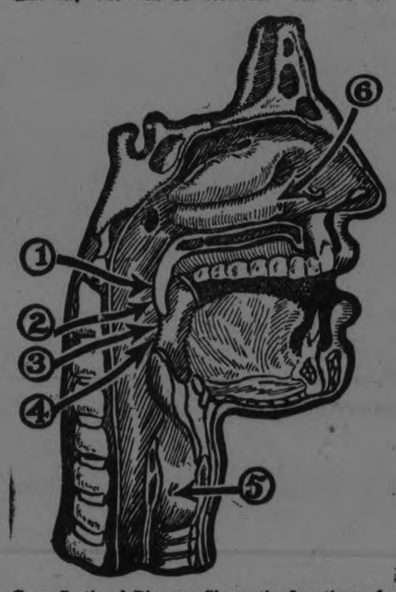
The section measures some 400 miles across. Little if anything grows there. It is a vast area of rocks and sand, pitted with deep and impassable crevices. It is practically bare of vegetation and almost waterless. Practically the only way to obtain water there is to dig, and dig deep, for it. There are some water holes but the liquid was so foul the expedition's mules would not drink from them. Much quicksand was encountered.

The expedition, outfitted with eleven mules, left Kayenta, in the Navajo reservation in northern Arizona, in early October and proceeded north, crossing the San Juan River, then in flood, to the Colorado. Sometimes the party made only four miles a day. Through signs placed on the rocks thousands of years ago by ancient Indians, Mr. Judd was enabled to find trails over many difficult places. A number of habitations of prehistoric Americans were found in canyons. Some canyons were twenty miles long and had to be avoided. In all, thirty-two days were spent in the region.

The present Indians have a horror of the locality and tell many strange tales about it. Of course, the section is of no economic importance, but it is a country of rare beauty to those who appreciate desert scenery. Mr. Judd describes the sandstone as varying in color from a light yellow to blood-red, and the shadows in the canyons range from hazy blue to deep purple with occasional patches of green marking the rare vegetation.

How You LAUGH, CRY, COUGH, SNEEZE and SNORE

THE acts of laughing, crying, coughing, sneezing and snoring are what physicians call involuntary actions. It is almost impossible to fake a laugh or a cry so naturally that any one will be deceived. The ear instantly detects a false note. Even the most skilful actors and singers never quite succeed.



Cross-Sectional Diagram Shows the Locations of the Organs Involved in Producing Various Complicated Muscular Acts, Such as Laughing, Crying and Sneezing. 1 Clearing the Throat; 2 Snoring; 3 Coughing; 4 Crying; 5 Laughing; 6 Sneezing.

The difficulty lies in the fact that laughing and crying are naturally produced largely by the involuntary muscles, as a contributor to Popular Science Monthly explains it, and because all forms of "abnormal respiration," as they are called, are much more complicated operations than is generally supposed.

A laugh, for example, is produced by holding the vocal cords tense and producing a clear resounding note by forcing a series of short expiratory blasts against them. A hearty laugh may include as well the vibration of the larynx and pharynx.

In crying, you partially close the glottis, the slit-like opening into the larynx, and take a short deep inspiration and a prolonged expiration. If the crying lasts long enough, there is a sudden spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm resulting in the abrupt inspiration and expiration sounds in the larynx and pharynx, familiarly known as sobbing.

To cough, one first takes a deep breath, then partially closes the glottis, and directs against it a violent expiratory blast which forces the glottis opening and expels any mucus or other irritating matter accumulated in the air passages.

In clearing the throat a current of air is driven from the lungs and forced between the narrow space between the root of the tongue and the depressed soft palate.

A sneeze consists of an inspiration, often very rapid, and then a sudden blast directed through the nose. The glottis remains open throughout the operation.

In snoring, an unusually steady and prolonged inspiration and expiration is set going through the open mouth until the soft palate and uvula are set in motion by the vibration of the air currents.

Motor Car POWER from the ROAD

FRENCH engineers are working on a plan whereby motor cars may yet spin along the highways without the use of an internal power-plant. The force that drives the car will come from the road itself, or rather from a few inches under the road.

The basic idea of the plan, according to Science and Invention, is to provide electric power for driving vehicles which can be "picked up" as the cars progress.

A car equipped with a motor will have under its body a coil of wire forming a collector, much as a loop antenna is used on a radio set. A short distance under the road surface a cable will run, supplied with current from a central station. This current will be picked up by the collector coil on the car and used to run the motor.

The plan presented certain difficulties which were not solved until the invention of the radio vacuum tube, which allowed the central station current to be stepped up to sufficient frequency to accomplish its purpose.

According to the latest scheme, four cables will be strung under the roads; two will carry current in one direction, and two in another. The position of these cables will be indicated by lines painted on the road itself—red, perhaps, in one direction and green in the other. Current from the central station will be sent to substations where it is stepped up into high-frequency alternating current. In such form it can be picked up by the collector coils under the cars. A mercury-vapor rectifier in the car itself will change the high-frequency A. C. to low-frequency D. C., which can be used to drive the motor. Speed control is accomplished by the use of a choke-coil which allows more or less current to pass. Cars will carry an auxiliary storage battery for emergencies and for use on non-powered roads.

It is also proposed to drive railway trains by means of overhead wires from which the current is taken by induction, thus doing away with trolleys or friction contacts.

How CLIMATE Affects PERFUMES

THE manufacture of scents is closely interwoven with the growing of flowers in huge quantities, and the French perfume-blenders attribute much of their success to the soft and kindly climate of the "Midi."

The center of the French industry is in the little town of Grasse, tucked away in the Alpes Maritimes, and surrounded by garden upon garden as far as the eye can see. These gardens contain every imaginable flower for the making of scents. Hundreds of women are employed as "pickers," and day by day heavy cartloads of jasmine, orange blossom, lilac, roses or violets, according to their season, are conveyed to the busy factory.

It is of first importance that the perfume should be extracted the day the flower is cut. The next day is too late, for the precious fragrance has flown.

Tens of thousands of kilogrammes of every flower are dealt with in the factory each day. The treatment varies for the different flowers, but some idea of the extent of the work is gauged by the fact that to produce one single kilogramme of essence 2,000 kilogrammes of violets are required.

Some flowers are submitted to a process of distillation; others are treated with highly refined alcohol. It is by the first of these methods that eau de cologne is obtained from orange blossoms.

In some other cases the flowers are completely disintegrated, and the petals carefully removed from the stalks, to be spread out in shallow glass bowls which have been prepared with a particular kind of grease or paste. This material has the power of absorbing the perfume from the petals. It is afterwards scraped from the bowls as a highly scented pomade. By means of alcohol, the scent manufacturer is then able to draw the fragrance from the pomade, and produce the very essence of the flower.

In addition to the "essences naturelles" obtained in the country, which form the basis of the French perfumes, the manufacturer avails himself of facilities much farther afield, bringing back treasures from all parts of the world. Bulgaria affords him the essence of roses, Sicily the essence of bergamot, the Bourbonic Islands the essence of geranium, and Manilla the essence of ylang-ylang. Even the animal contributes his quota, since it is from the wild goats of Thibet that musk is produced, while "ambre," familiar addition to French eau de cologne, is drawn from that faithful server of feminine needs, the whale.

Interesting, and indeed useful, as are the commercial possibilities of synthetic perfumes, they must not in any way be confused with the wonderful flower essences described, which have much the same relationship to one another as the "vin ordinaire" with the "chateau" of renowned vintage; in fact, perfumes, like wines, have their vintages, depending upon a good or bad season for the flowers.

Preserving EGGS for Next WINTER

THE Chinese are said to preserve eggs by burying them in earth. At the end of a year they are dug up, and by the Oriental epicure are deemed delicious. That idea somehow does not appeal to people of this country. But the water-glass method already enjoys some degree of popularity in this country, and the Department of Agriculture recommends it highly.

At this season of the year eggs drop rapidly in price, and the thrifty housewife will find it profitable to buy a lot of them and put them through the water-glass process, with a view to keeping them over until next Winter, when hens stop laying and the cost of their oviproduct soars skyward.

Water-glass which is silicate of soda, is cheap and can be bought at any drug store. The only apparatus needed is a stoneware crock. A five gallon crock will serve to hold fifteen dozen eggs and the preserving fluid.

The fluid is prepared by mixing one quart of water-glass with nine quarts of water. The crock should be scalded and dried. When it is cool, pour in the water and add the water-glass, stirring well.

Then put in the eggs which should be covered with two inches of the fluid. Place the crock in a cool, dry spot, with a piece of waxed paper tied around over the top. That is all.

Perfectly simple. When next Winter comes, the housewife will have good eggs at low cost.

Where MEN Wear Thick, Black VEILS

AMONG the Tuaregs of the Sahara the common position of the sexes, as understood in this country, is completely reversed. These swarthy brigands—for they lead an existence of murder and plunder—spend all their lives behind a thick black veil, bedeck themselves with gaudy jewelry, and are afraid to do their own courting, according to a recent visit or to this desert tribe. Nor can they marry until they are able to provide the requisites of a household for their brides, and to do this they murder the unfortunate drivers of passing caravans.

But their savagery pales into insignificance where their women folks are concerned, leaving them perhaps the most unromantic, desolate, and bashful of men. A Tuareg waits patiently and companionless year after year until some desert queen asks for his hand, and then, overjoyed at the thought that a woman has condescended to marry him, willingly supplies her with a wedding dress and turns over to her everything he has in the world, except his weapons.

It is the young Tuareg girl who climbs aboard a mehari, or racing camel, and trots unchaperoned and unafraid fifty miles across the shifting desert sands to make a call on her handsome but bashful lover. Up to the time she marries the Tuareg girl is a regular female Lothario.

But once settled down to married life, she becomes a faithful wife. Until at last, tiring of her husband, she puts his wooden box, containing all he calls his own, out of their common tent. This is his conge. It is the sign that she has divorced him, a quick and happy conclusion for the young wife at least.

Explorers who undertook a dangerous journey into the heart of the Sahara made other interesting discoveries as to what distinguish the Tuaregs from the ordinary Arabs and other inhabitants of the Sahara. They believe in jinns and evil spirits. The women are the best educated and have all the say about bringing up the children. Descent is traced through the female line, so that the son of the eldest sister, and not his own son, assumes the leadership of the tribe when the old Sheik dies.

The life of a Tuareg maiden—in a manner of speaking—accords with her own sweet will. If she takes it into her head to see her lover, she simply mounts a camel and rides off to visit one of his family, who gladly puts her up as long as she wants to stay. The expense she adds to the household is trivial, as the fare consists ordinarily of sour milk or cheese from goats and camels, with now and then a cup of sweetened tea or coffee.

It is the common practice for two or three women to join together in their love pilgrimages, traveling about from one camp to another, where they hold what are called "courts of love." At these the young men of the tribe anxious to make an impression on the desert queens file before their critical eyes, gallop on their meharis, whirl their spears and perform other warlike exercises.

Whenever a young man receives the favor of one of these girls he never starts on an expedition without paying his respects to his lady love and begging from her as a mark of her favor a charm to protect him. A finger ring, upon which the girl inscribes her name or some sentimental motto, or a bangle which the warrior fastens to his arm, are considered the appropriate things for this occasion.

When Birds Were as Large as Horses

IN so far as birds are concerned, some of the oldest fossils, in the matter of time (Miocene), which have fallen into the hands of science, are those representing the great, flightless, fossil avian giants of Patagonia in South America. They belong to the Phororhacidae.

Judging from such parts of their fossil bones as have been found, they were evidently great terrestrial birds of prey. Some of the species were small, but this is made up for by the others; and in the case of one of them (Brontornis), it had a high bone considerably larger and longer than that of an ox.

Skeleton of a Giant Prehistoric Bird Over Eight Feet in Height That Once Lived in Patagonia.

Of all the flightless birds of this group, however the most remarkable was the giant phororhacos; it must have been over eight feet in height, with a skull bigger than that of a full-grown horse, and deeper from above downward. Scientists know little or nothing of these birds or what led to their extinction. With its great hooked beak and powerful claws of great size, phororhacos must have been a terror to the animals upon which it preyed. Skulls and some other bones of this bird have been discovered.

ABOUT "HOME" BOYS AND GIRLS DO THEY "FIT" IN ONTARIO?

A Trip With a Barnardo Inspector on His Visit to Wards of Institution Within Fifty Miles of Toronto Throws Light on the Question Raised By the Bulpitt Case.

(By ARTHUR HAWKES)

Near Goderich a "Home" boy, five months in Canada, has hanged himself; and his farmer-employer has admitted physically punishing him. It would seem that young Bulpitt, who was a brilliant French scholar, would never have been put on a farm if the people who sent and received him had really understood the possibilities in Canada for English youths who can speak French like a Parisian. Hard on the Bulpitt case comes another of a lad who took Paris green because he was rebuked and lightly slapped. This looks like a melancholy freak in psychology, partly induced by the Huron tragedy. One is just now interested in these cases rather from the point of view of the Kelso proposal to turn over the inspection of immigrated "Home" children to the Ontario government.

Without criticizing the Kelso scheme it may be as well to relate the experience of one day's visiting of "Home" wards, with an inspector of the institution which was responsible for these additions to Canadian citizenship. The vital factor in the long-distance guardianship of boys and girls who are placed with Canadian employers is the personal, affectionate touch which comes only from a high quality of humanity in the inspectors, from a prdie in the Home they serve, and from a care for the reputation of all parties to this phase fo the populating of Canada.

I spent a day with Mr. Kidner, who visits "Home" boys to see that they serve well and are well treated. Mr. Kidner is a Canadian. He has none of the old-world ideas of "charity" children; but is a natural-born father and friend to every youngster he meets. He took me to see two girls who are placed with Hamilton families. He had never seen either of them before—the girls are visited by women inspectors, three times as often as the boys. He can call a girl of seventeen he has never before seen by her Christian name and make her feel that an old friend is speaking. That sort of fatherliness is a natural gift, not acquired with a salary. Where this quality goes into every day's work the question of governmental inspection does not arise, though the question of government support for this oversight of thousands of potential Canadian citizens might well become an affair of practical politics. But to the visitation of boys, the other side of Hamilton.

We drove first through the snow to an old boy from the Home, who has a young boy from the Home working for him. The old boy owns his farm of a hundred acres, has a small family of his own, is highly respected in his neighborhood, and talks all the way like an Ontario farmer of the kind who becomes secretary or president of his U. F. O. club. He is one of seven children, whose father died in Berkshire, and whose mother could not support them all. Four are on this continent, all doing well; three in Ontario, the two brothers with farms of their own and their sister married to a farmer.

This one—call him Mr. Wellband—keeps ten cows, two teams of horses, has a Ford, and stands gladly and boldly by the Home that stood by him. He gets his help from the Home, and the young Londoner he now has told me he is perfectly happy—as, indeed, he ought to be in a house of plenty, with a boss who has gone through his own experience, and whom it is an honor for any man to count among his friends.

Mr. Kidner planned our trip so that we would land at the Wellband farm for dinner—the first time in years he had managed to appear at meal time. It was a means of grace to see this example from the romance of salvage which is the true charm of the scientific, Christian immigration of the children of calamity to the land of hope.

Young Boy Works For Old Boy

From Wellband's we went to a place two or three miles down the road, and found a farmer feeding his Shropshires in the yard, whence he sent us to the barn to find Fred, his "Home" boy, who has been with him three years—two of which were school years. Fred was busy in the cow-stable, a cheerful little chap who had once been a Cockney, but had picked up his aitches and generally had gathered the lingual flowers of the little red school house. You know whether a boy is in pretty good interior shape if you talk to him ten minutes and try him out with questions that he doesn't recognize for inquisitions. It was obvious that Freddie didn't regard either the visitor, whom he knew well, or the one he had never seen before, as inspectors. Mr. Kidner was his old friend come to give him a call—and what more could an onlooker wish to observe?

Thence we drove three or four miles further, to find Charlie Wellband's brother, unhappily now a widower, and "batching" it with his "Home" boy, across the road from his sister, who had gone to town. We heard that they were drawing firewood from the bush half a mile away, and found them there. The junior was another Freddie, announcing that he liked Canada, and was well satisfied with his place. Here again one could see easily that the relationship between boss and boy was extremely good. Sometimes over in London, when the "Home" managers hear that a land-owning farmer in this province requests his hired boys to call him by his given name, they cannot hide their astonishment, and maybe a little fear that the dignities of life are in some danger in this free and lucky land.

Working on the adjoining farm was an old "Home" boy, but long since passed beyond the legalized jurisdiction of the "Home." He was in good standing, had come back with distinction from the war, and was a Kidner intimate, like the rest. For, in this "Home" economy, touch is maintained to the utmost possible extent. Kidner is always seeing or telephoning to his old boys as he goes through eight counties seeing the young boys.

Our last country call was at a farm which, in summer, nestling below a high and sylvan escarpment, must be a beauty spot indeed. At the house we enquired for Percy. The farmer's daughter—the very best specimen of young Ontario womanhood—greeted Kidner as an old friend and said Percy was some place around. In a few minutes Percy drove in with a team. "Hello, Perce," from Kidner—and the talk was intimate and free, with a joke from Kidner about the imminence of a razor, and a serious inquiry from Perce as to whether the "Home" had heard from his brother over in Haldimand, who had been remiss in answering a letter. Next summer Perce would be eighteen, and perfectly free to make his own bargain where and with whom he chose. He didn't know whether he would stay where he was, but most likely he would, as they wanted him to remain, and he was having a good time with the folks around.

Perhaps one should say something about the girls we saw. The first had been in the "Home"—or, rather, under the "Home," for she had been boarded out—since she was nine months old, and had had a year's training before leaving England. I saw her in the drawing room, so that she might be free to say all her mind to the father of a bevy of girls. Why did she come to Canada? Some friends of hers had come and she heard from them, and of course "the opportunities are much greater here."

Girls Happy on Farms

Did she like Canada? Rather. The winter was lots of fun, and the summers lovely. Friends? A few—it wasn't good to have too many. Did she read much? As much as possible, for she hoped later to go to Hamilton hospital for her training. Happy? Of course. Did she keep up any communication with England? Oh, yes, she wrote to mother regularly, and her brothers and sisters, too.

Thus the girl—and next the mistress. Mrs. Barnstead had had "Home" girls before, and hoped for another when Mary had gone to the hospital. The last letter from Mary's predecessor was written in New York, where she had gone for special training in one of the larger hospitals, after graduating from Hamilton.

The other girl we found with the parents of two small children who are her especial care. She came in—a little bit of a thing, though of sturdy shape and cheerful, unaffected mien. Her speech, even after three years in a Canadian home, showed that Winnie had been a Londoner all right. But she was now a Hamiltonian of Hamiltonians. Quite happy in her place, thank you very much. Getting books from the library, but buying more than she used to do. Everything just fine—and not a word about what it was delightful from the head of the house to hear. At Christmas-time, he said, Winnie was sending cards and little presents to England, and consulted his wife about sending something to the Homes, as a little token of her gratitude for what they had done for her. She sent five dollars—and it was just like her.

"Oh, yes," he said, it was a pleasure to see Winnie getting along physically, as well as financially. "My wife had wanted a girl for some time; but her application was a long way behind, when the spring party of girls came to Peterboro' three years ago. She telephoned to the matron, though, who told her that all the girls had already gone but one, and she was so small that nobody would take her. Would she try this one? Well, my wife said to send her along, for she thought that perhaps a smaller girl would be easier to train. I went to the station to meet her. It was a wet day and she looked like a little drowned rat, when I found her on the platform.

"By the way," he went on, "is my memory right that at eighteen they make their own bargains? You see, we don't want to lose her; I don't think there's much danger; because we like to think she's happy here. She's a little wonder."

This is a conservative story of a day seeing the wards of a "Home" within fifty miles of Toronto. It is recorded here merely as a small contribution to the solution of a question which poor Bulpitt's case has thrown into acute relief on both sides of the Atlantic. The facts, as they were seen by one who, after all, is pretty well seasoned by over thirty years of delving into all sorts of public and semi-public affairs, surely intimate clearly enough that where the milk of human kindness flows through an institution that was founded on "In asmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these," the state may support and does not need to supplant those who are doing a social service of incalculable benefit to the future of Canada.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescents lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician your kidneys at least twice a year.

Of course Americans trust in God. You can tell that that by the way they drive.—Sharon, (Pa.) Herald.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Take out title insurance if you buy a piece of land with a shady title.

Many men buy land with a shady title at some time during their lives. They probably figure that they want that particular piece of land and no one will bother to contest the title.

Perhaps they go ahead and build a house on their property. Then sometime later they find that they really have no title after all, and they have a house on another man's property.

This is rather an embarrasing situation, in addition to being expensive.

The simply and obvious way to avoid such a predicament, and still be satisfied, is to take out title insurance, which protects your title to the land and indemnifies you if your house is taken from you.

ORLAND COUPLE TO STAND TRIAL

Mrs. O'Brien and Edward Ash Committed by Magistrate — Charged With Bigamy.

COBOURG, Feb. 15.—(Special).—Mrs. O'Brien, who was arrested in Campbellford last week, following the disclosures in connection with the Orland shack where her daughter was found with her dead baby, was charged yesterday before Magistrate Lloyd with bigamy, and Edward Ash was charged as an accomplice in it. They were committed for trial before a county judge.

In addition to the bigamy charge, Ash answered an accusation of stealing chickens from Pete Montgomery of Brighton Township. Some evidence was taken in this case and Ash was remanded in custody.

Mrs. O'Brien gave some evidence in which she said she was married to O'Brien at Watertown, N.Y., and lived with him 25 years. Then he left her, giving her 50 cents. A son helped to support her for a time and then she met Ash, who offered to take the two younger of her seven children if she would go with him. Some time after this they were married in Campbellford.

FELL FROM BALCONY WHEN SHAKING RUG

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Falling from a balcony on the third floor of the Maitland apartments, Maitland street, last evening, Mrs. Bessie Gallagher, aged 42 years, was instantly killed. Mrs. Gallagher had gone out on a small balcony leading from her apartment to the rear of the building. She was shaking a rug when her right foot slipped on some ice and she fell forward over a 14 inch railing.

REVOLUTION LEAVES DEAD STREWN HILLS

PALOVERDE, Mexico, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Genearl Gonzalo Escobar, by 48 hours of continuous forced marching through the mountain passes of Guanajuato, with 3,000 crack cavalary of the Obregon army, fell suddenly on 2,500 cavalry, under the personal command of General Enrique Estrada, on Wednesday.

To-day General Estrida is in flight toward the city of Morella, with about 500 cavalry, and organized revolution in Western Mexico is only a memory. The hills around are strewn with dead.

Contractor Contests Award of Arbitration.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The case of Grothe versus the City of Montreal was heard before the Supreme Court of Canada and will be continued. The appellant was a contractor charged with the working building the La Salle Bridge. The work was abandoned after the greater part was done, and in order to settle the matter the Legislature of the Province of Quebec passed a bill submitting the matter to a board of arbitration. An award was made which was paid by the city to the appellant, who claimed a further amount of $2,200 and interest, and the question at issue is whether or not the award of the arbitrators was final. Judgment was reserved in the case of the City of Montreal versus Dupre.

HASTINGS ORDER HELD BIG DANCE

Third Annual Dance of the I.O.D.E. Was Big Success--Hastings News

HASTINGS, February 15. — A successful and well-attended social event was held in the Opera House, Hastings, last evening, when the Darontel Chapter, I.O.D.E., held its third annual St. Valentine dance.

The hall was suitably and tastefully decorated for the occasion. The windows were draped with red curtains and hearts, cupids, and darts formed many pretty designs around the walls.

The colour scheme was red and white. Streamers were fastened from corner to corner and balloons of all colours were fastened along each streamer, the centre being caught up with a large bunch of the balloons, which floated out merrily over the heads of the dancers.

The patronesses who so ably assisted in making a pleasant evening for the guests were:

Mesdames A. V. German, Wm. Hill, P. M. Howard, J. Cruickshank, A. B Spellman, W. A. Baker, A. N. Bailey, G. Kerr, W. M. Fowlds.

A lovely lunch was provided, the young girls of the Chapter waiting on the guests, serving the refreshments from dainty wicker baskets.

Music was supplied by the Bon-Ton Orchestra of Belleville, and those taking part dressed in novelty costumes.

Those present from out of town, were:

Messrs. Ken Bulford, Bill Bertram, Percy Locke, Ken Cairns; Charlie Scott; Lefty White; Campbellford; Dr. and Mrs. Bussy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh Campbellford; Mr. Shandon, Trenton; Misses Helen Reindeau, W. Funeral Yesterday.

The funeral of Miss Mary Murray who died in Detroit on February 12th, took place yesterday afternoon. The corpse was brought in on the 1.09 C.N.R. train.

The pallbearers were Messrs. H. B. Wilson, Jno. Taylor, W. R. Learmouth, J. C. Wilson, A. V. Gerneau and C. R. Fowlds.

Deceased was well known here, having lived here all her life until the family moved away a few years ago.

Rev. D. A. Thompson of St. Andrews' Presbyterian church, conducted the service at the cemetery. The casket was opened here at the depot for the benefit of friends and relatives.

Mrs. A. V. Chapman of Winnipeg, sister, and Mr. Harold Murray, of Detroit, accompanied the remains to Hastings.

Interment took place in the family plot in Trent Valley cemetery.

Vital Statistics.

Vital statistics of the village shows that during 1923 there were 24 births ,7 marriages and 10 deaths.

Personal Mention.

Mr. R. E. Sedgwick of Peterboro spent Thursday in town.

Mr. E. Breithrupt of Kitchener is spending a few days in town on business.

Messrs. J. A. Lonergan of Peterboro and John Lonergan of Lindsay, spent Thursday in town.

Mr. E. Wall was a business visitor to town on Thursday.

Mr. Frank Gillespie of Kingston, spent Thursday and Friday in town.

Mrs. R. M. Simpson has returned home from visiting friends in Campbellford.

FIELDING DOING WELL.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Steady progress towards recovery of the Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, who recently suffered a serious illness, is reported from his residence. Mr. Fielding is doing well, his relatives report.

THREE PERPETUAL PENSIONS

LONDON, Feb. 15. — (Canadian Press).—In reply to a query at question time in the House of Commons yesterday as to whether the Government would take steps to terminate perpetual pensions which were being paid in respect to services rendered to the State more than a century ago, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Philip Snowden, said there were now only three such pensions being paid. One of these, he added, probably would be commuted shortly.

WHEN KINGS RODE TO DELHI

(By Francis Yeats Brown.)

India, with her 300 million people and her 30 million gods is still, as Mark Twain said: "a land of dreams and romance, of fabulous wealth and fabulous poverty, of splendour and rags, of palaces and hovels, mother of history, grandmother of legend, great-grand-mother of tradition."

But today, the great-grandmother of tradition has shingled her hair and is learning to ski down the easy slope of democracy. Those who know her well, feel that these things do not suit her dignity.

At this moment India's Parliament (elected, incidentally, by five million voters, 240 millions being unenfranchised and the remainder subjects of Indian princes) is discussing the problem of self-government. Messrs. Motilal Nehru and Rangachariar, Hindu citizens with "advanced" and "moderate" views on Swaraj, respectively, are urging Lord Reading's Government to grant India full Dominion status, and threatening all sorts of calamities if their wishes are not fulfilled.

Their speeches and the speeches of men like Mr. Das, the Congress leader are reported extensively throughout the British Empire and create an impression that soon the last British soldier will have left India.

If we did leave India, the Empire would probably be the gainer today. But we shall not do so, firstly because the majority of the people—to the number of roughly double the population of the North American continent—rely on the British to keep law and order, and secondly, because the small body of agitators themselves fully realise that their only hope of survival as agitators, or indeed as anything else, rests on the ring of British bayonets that keep off the warlike races of the North.

* * *

India is not a single country, but a sub-continent composed of 80 different races separated by barriers of creeds class and color as definite as those which divide a Mexican from an Esquimaux. She is not a nation in the sense of being a homogenous people; she has been held together py the Aryans and the Moghuls in the past and by the British today. But when the strangers within her gates are assimilated or defeated, she becomes a witch's cauldron of bloodshed and conspiracy.

Even Mr. Gandhi, saintly and charming personally that he is (and no British official has ever come in contact with him without admiring and liking him, even his jailer), would be lost without the British connection. Seeing further than many of his Hindu fellow-countrymen, it is significant that since his release he has been speaking of the "deplorable disunion" between Hindus and Mahomedans. Indeed "dis-union" is too mild a term; the Moslem cherishes the mild Hindu as a rancher does a rattlesnake.

The ground that Mr. Gandhi walks on, is literally worshipped by hundreds of thousands of his followers, but neither he nor any of the Swarajist leaders can count any considerable following among the warlike races, and they are the people who count.

The Swarajist following is chiefly among the teeming population of the Ganges basin, Bengal, and the south-people who have been subject to more virile races since the dawn of history.

* * *

Two years ago there was a great clamor for immediate Home Rule. Among merchants who had enriched themselves under British rule, among the lawyers who loved our High Courts, among the minor-official horde that bureaucracy always breeds, the cry was India for the Indians. But when this cry came near enough to fulfillment to make them realise just what kind of an Indian—a man with hair on his chest and a rifle in his hand—the India of their rhetoric would in actual fact belong to, they began to do some hard thinking.

And they have been thinking ever since about how to eat their cake and have it, how to do without the British and yet keep them handy in case of trouble.

Sir Malcolm Hailey politely reminded the Swarajists a few days ago that: "Full Dominion status would mean control of the Indian Army . . . , which might result in the power won at the ballot box by non-martial races, passing into the hands on the removal of British control."

The Afghans could bring 40,000 armed men into India at a moment's notice, and the Gurkhas at least 20,000. At a conservative estimate there are 280,000,000 defenceless people in India, ready today, as they have always been, to fall a prey to the first invader trained to the life of camps.

When I saw Sir Rabindranath Tagore at this home at Santiniketan, I put this question to him directly: "How will you r country fare when it is invaded, as it certainly will be when the British leave it?"

"We would be conquered again," he answered, "but our new rulers would at least be Orientals." His poet's eyes seemed to see beyond the turmoil of our times, to some ultimate truth beyond my ken.

* * *

East is East indeed, and perhaps Tagore's opinion that no Western nation can satisfy the spiritual needs of the East is a true one. But practically the difficulty of evacuating India is simply that it would be a betrayal of trust and cause anarchy and suffering without measure.

The Sikhs would carve out a kingdom for themselves in the Punjaub. The Pathans and Afghans would carry the green standard of the Prophet down to Rawalpindi or beyond to join hands with the Moslems of the Punjaub and Rohilkund, staked out for themselves a slice of the rich lands of Oudh and Bengal against the time when "India is free." India would become a happy hunting ground for adventurers and a paradise for thugs. But it would be no place for Messrs. Motilal Nahru, Rangachariar and their associates.

This is no imaginary picture of evils which may occur in centuries to come. It is the possibility of next year and the probability of the next decade.

A hundred thousand armed men—disbanded soliers chiefly—are waiting for the knell of British dominion to strike. When that hour comes, the news agencies will no longer be reporting the speeches of the Legislative Assembly, but battle and murder and sudden death.

However none of this may come to pass if the Swarajists are clever enough to realize the Nemesis that overtakes all who would hold India. They have the example of the British before their eyes who can neither govern nor go. They cannot govern efficiently because they are rightly pledged to give the Indians an increasing control of their own affairs and they cannot go because if they did, their work and their proteges would be utterly undone.

Dilli dur ast: the old proverb "It is a far cry to Delhi" is being proved true again today and it may be a long time before another race than the British rides down the Delhi road to seize the sceptre of Hindustan.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EXAMINER:

Sir,—The referendum will be along this year, no doubt, and people will be asked if they want liquor in the control of the Government and for sale to people with permits to buy or would they rather continue as at present where there is no public sale. Drinking liquor or doing anything that is hurtful to our fellowman is a sin. We cannot abolish that sin totally, it is true, but if we are prohibitionists we can try to. Government control is not trying to. Jesus Christ had the idea that the only remedy for sin was belief in Him and His saving power. But He did not know about Prohibition. If He had He would have said: "We must prohibit the means of sin and then we will have no sin. Coaxing people to sin and then telling them to repent is no good." That's what He would have said and it is what prohibitionists are now telling both Christ and God. Whoever votes for prohibition votes to say that the way to reform and save the world is not by repentance as Christ said, but by prevention. Had there been prevention by prohibition there would have been no crucifixion and no need of it. You may call this modernism if you like but it is talk that is worth ten of the old kind. Much of the old Christianity is out of date.

Preaching repentance and the salvation of men by asking them to become better men, while we are letting them run riot with whiskey and permitting them to do it is waste of time. Any prohibitionist knows that Christianity is a failure. God lets people do what they like and holds them responsible for it. Prohibition will not let people do as they like. It is the opposite of God's way. He promises salvation hereafter. Prohibition promises it for now. The question for all honest thinking men and women is, "Are you going to let your Christianity stand in the way of saving your fellow from the temptation of drink?" That is the question. Necessity is slowly showing people that the old belief is wrong and has had its day. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of repentance, and an ounce of prohibition is worth ten pounds of salvation.

DOES EVERYBODY KNOW YOU?

You have all probably heard the story of the old-timer who had been in business in one locality for years and who felt that he knew everybody in town. For that reason he could see only a waste of money when a new clerk whom he had hired started out to do a lot of advertising. The new man wasn't satisfied with his employer's arguments, however, and did some investigating on his own hook. At the end of the month he was able to show his employer the names of hundreds of people, many of m— had lived in that locality fully as long as he had been in business, who had never bought a dollar's worth of goods at the store, and another extensive list of people who had never even heard of the store. He emphasized the fact that new people were coming into the community all the time and there was only one way to reach them and that was through advertising.

You can't rest on your laurels in selling any more than you can in athletics. If you stop training, you stop going.

If you stop advertising, people forget you.

Don't get the idea that everybody in town knows you. They don't. They have to be continually reminded of the existence of your store and the merchandising you are doing.

Velvet Cream Pie from Oregon

Crust

1½ cupfuls flour
½ cupful Crisco
½ teaspoonful salt
about ⅓ cupful water

Filling

3 eggs
⅔ cupful sugar
¼ teaspoonful salt
2 tablespoonfuls cornstarch
3 cupfuls milk
1 teaspoonful vanilla

Crust

Add salt to flour, cut Crisco in with a knife, using enough water to make paste, which clears bowl. Roll out, bake on inverted pie plate; prick well with fork to prevent bubbles.

Filling

Beat egg yolks. Mix together cornstarch, sugar, salt. Add to eggs, mix thoroughly. Stir this into milk; cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. When partly cool add vanilla; fill baked crust. Cover with meringue, brown in oven.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

EPIDEMIC OF AGENTS BOMBARD MILLBROOK

Daily Vaudeville Stunt in Front of the Town Hall in Effort to Sell Fire Extinguishers--It Pays to Advertise, Says Councillors.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 14.—Millbrook has apparently been the Mecca of agents for chemical fire extinguishers from numerous firms since the publication of the Council minutes last week, when it was stated that the municipality contemplated the purchase of this kind of apparatus for fire protection. Every train has brought its quota of eager opponents of various kinds and makes of these particular articles.

Considerable excitement and amusement has been furnished the citizen by the demonstrations staged outside the town hall. On Tuesday morning a big pile of boxes, and paper, well saturated with coal-oil, was set on fire and found representatives of one American firm proceeded to demonstrate their wares. Either through inexperience, or for some other reason, the only result was that the flames grew hotter and higher, in spite of valiant endeavor to quench same with the chemical extinguishers from four separate quarters. Seeing the futility of their efforts, like the Arabs, the demonstrators "silently stole away," and the citizens shovelled snow diligently until the flames were smothered.

Exit the "Fyre-Fyghters," for that time.

A second demonstrat ion was staged on Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the same place but with better judgment in building the fire, which was not on quite so large a scale, and with apparently more experienced operators, for this time the flames were conquered. Three or four different firms were represented, and a large crowd gathered to enjoy the unusual sight.

The "city fathers" are being besieged with letters, and personal appeals to examine extinguishess of all makes and methods of operation, even the advantages of asbestos shingles being urged by one enterprising firm which, as one councillor remarked, "would shingle the whole village and make things safe from the start."

The moral seems to be that chemical fire extinguishers are chiefly useful in emergency cases indoors. Should a small fire start it may be quickly put out, and probably property saved and loss averted, by having one on hand for prompt use. From this standpoint the Council proposed the plan of having the municipality supply two at the fire hall, and suggesting purchase by private individuals, the municipality paying part of the expense and a due proportion being borne by the householders, or business men who decide to buy.

NEWS BETHANY AND DISTRICT

Missionary Society Held a Meeting -- Personal Mention.

BETHANY, Feb. 14.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held in the basement of the church on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. T. G. Ryley, president, occupied the chair and conducted the devotional exercises. A paper was read on the imigration from Asia by Mrs. T. Jackson. Several other papers relating to the same subject were read which proved very interesting. At the conclusion of the regular meeting a committee of ladies prepared a supper, the convenors were Mrs. D. Lowes, Mrs. W. Byers, Mrs. J. Reynolds and Mrs. R. L. Crerar. Supper was served at the usual hour and although the roads were very heavy over sixty friends came to help the Society with their quarterly tea.

The young people are holding a carnival on McKinnon's Pond, in the near future. They are arranging transportation for all those wishing to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Card were visitors in Toronto on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. Arnott was a visitor in Lindsay on Wednesday.

Mrs. Grey, of Toronto, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brown.

Mrs. W. Foster was a visitor in Lindsay on Wednesday.

Quite a number from here attended Mr. Cody's sale, held on the Wilkinson farm on Wednesday, a fair price being received for all chattels.

Mrs. P. C. Brown, who has been confined to the house for the last several weeks with a split knee-cap, was removed to Nichol's Hospital, Peterboro, on Wednesday to undergo further treatment.

Mrs. F. O. Dawe is spending a few days with her father, Mr. T. Blake, Peterboro.

CONTRAST

Man in scientific fields is winning control over nature on an astonishingly wide scale. The General Electric Company displays the largest electric light bulb ever made—150,000 candlepower. Alongside it is the smallest electric light, a bulb the size of a grain of rice, used in delicate surgical operations, such as that recent removal of a tack from a baby's lungs.

By ancient standards, we are a race of magicians.

ICICLES

Regarding this discussion of whether or not the climate is changing—winters milder than formerly—you may have observed that our generation does not see the huge icicles that used to hang from the eaves. We recall icicles larger than baseball bats, lots of them. It was great sport for a lad, in the days when Bryan was making his first runs for the presidency, to knock down the big icicles with a stick, then run for safety as they fell.

In some ways, it was as big a thrill as radio.

BIRD IN HAND PLAN OF FINANCE LEADER

OTTAWA, Feb. 14. — "However much I would like to help you I am going to hold on to that $560,000 until I have received at least a considerable part of the amount which is owed to the Dominion government for seed grain advances."

This was the reply of the Hon. James A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance to a delegation representing three provincial wheat growers' associations which waited upon him and other members of the government shortly after noon to-day.

"In holding this money I am guided by the report of the Canada Wheat Board which handled the wheat so well that it produced a surplus. The recommendation of the board was that the surplus should be used for the relief of needy western farmers."

AYRSHIRE SALES IN THE DISTRICT

Menie District Breeders' Club Active—Many Sales.

F. M. Rutherford, secretary-treasurer of the Menie District Ayrshire Breeders' Club, of Bonar Law, writes to The Examiner regarding the increasing popularity of Ayrshire cattle. He says: "The following is a report of some Ayrshire sales made by members of our Menie District Ayrshire Breeders' Club recently. Ayrshires are moving very briskly in this section, a good evidence of the fact that farmers are looking for a breed that will give a good flow of milk with a good test and economical to feed. Also the city people are swiftly beginning to realize that they should buy milk guaranteed to test 3.6, instead of buying milk without knowing how it will test. There are several Ayrshire breeders in the province at present delivering milk in villages, towns and cities, free from tuberculosis germs, and testing 3.6 butter fat. For the protection of young people consuming milk, all milk dealers should be compelled to get their milk from tested herds and free from tubercular germs."

Among the sales listed recently are the following: John Locke, president of the Club, a choice yearling heifer, to Stewart Laurie, Agincourt; Robert Little, Trentview farm, vice-president, two choice yearlings and a cow, Trent View Lena, a real show cow and producer, to S. Laurie, also four fine cows to Mr. Arnoldi of Brighton, and a four-year-old bull to Thomas Kerr, of Campbellford; Charlie Macoun, Marchand Farm, Campbellford, three cows to Mr. Arnoldi, and one cow to Thomas Hume, of Cobourg; Fred Hendy, of Hastings, seven two-year-olds, a yearling and a calf to F. M. Rutherford, Bonar Law, and a grade Ayrshire to Mr. Simms, of Stonewall, Manitoba; E. A. McCook, Pine Grove farm, ex-president of the club, also sent some young bulls to New Ontario; John Oddie, Burnlea Farm, Campbellford, seven choice cows and a calf to W. Steen and Sons, Hillsburg; P. Oddie, Campbellford, three grades to Mr. Steen; Mr. Hume, Humeshaugh Farm, one of the finest cows in the district to S. Laurie of Agincourt, and a bull calf to Mr. Oddie, Campbellford; Fred Howes, of Harold, one cow to Will Hume of Campbellford, one cow to Robt. Little, of Campbellford, and two cows to Steen and Sons, Hillsburg; Charlie Dunham, Harold, two cows to Simms, of Stonewall, Manitoba; George Dunk, of Campbellford, six cows to Simms of Manitoba, and five to Steen and Sons; Thomas Kerr, of Campbellford, two choice cows to Steen and Sons; Burton Bateman, Bonar Law, one fine cow to Steen and Sons; F. M. Rutherford, Bonar Law, one senior bull calf to Charlie Dunham and Son, Harold, and one junior bull calf to George Campbell and Sons, of Castleton; two cows to Ray McLaughlin, Oshawa, nine cows to Simms, of Stonewall, Manitoba, two heifer calves to Delbert Barr, Harrowsmith, and one heifer calf to William McComb, of Bonar Law.

Less Time— and sweeter, cleaner clothes

NO one wants to spend an unnecessary minute at washing clothes, so wise women will use Sunlight Soap. It has a sure, gentle way of doing the wash that no ordinary soap can equal. The blend of in Sunlight cause it to lather richly in even hard water and give it wonderful cleansing power without hurting hands or clothes.

It is a pleasure to use Sunlight — the purest laundry soap in Canada.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Feb. 14.—The regular meeting of the Cobourg Women's Institute was held at the Northumberland Club rooms, when an interesting address was given by Rev. James T. Daley, D.D., Superintendent of the Children's Shelter at Port Hope, on the good work that is being accomplished by that institution. He cited the reconstruction of shattered homes to be one of the first aims of the Society and told of instances where this had been accomplished, and of the beneficient results of the work. He said the Children's Aid Society always exercised care as to the homes in which their wards are placed. By the influence of the Society also positions are secured for children when they reach an age at which they are capable of earning money and are qualified to do so. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Daley by the ladies.

A June Meet

The Cobourg Driving Association expects to have its race track at Horse Show Park ready for a proposed meeting about the first of June. The grounds are to be under-drained and the track put in first-class condition. It is hoped to have this work completed in May. If this meet is successful, others will be held throughout the season.

Will Be Deported

An immigration official from the Department came here last Thursday and took William McIntosh Shields, alias Sheppard, away for deportation back to Scotland. The man was serving a term for theft from a fellow employee on one of the car ferries.

To Toronto for Treatment

A veteran of the recent great war, John Cowen, who went overseas with the 139th Northumberland Battalion, has gone up to Toronto for treatment at the Christie street Military Hospital. While overseas he was blown up by a shell and had his head injured and his ear-drum fractured.

Boys Raised .266

The boys of East Northumberland were asked to raise $85 in the Bond selling campaign recently put on, but the grand total has aready reached $266. In Brighton alone $193 was raised. All the centres have not reported.

A Successful Threshing Syndicate

The Vernonville Farmers Threshing Syndicate held their annual meeting on Saturday afternoon at Eddystone. It is stated that the past season was far the best in the history of the organization. A very gratifying dividend is stated to have been declared to the shareholders.

POWER DEVELOPMENT SCHEME FOR OTTAWA

TORONTO, Feb. 14. — There is an almost unanimous feeling among the members of the Legislature that the Ontario proposal for power development on the St. Lawrence cannot be ignored or refused by the Federal Government.

Premier Ferguson said this morning that he thought there was a very favorable feeling at Ottawa towards the proposition.

WHEAT PRODUCTION LOWER IN DOMINION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The cost of producing hard spring wheat in the United States last year ranged from 65 cents to $1.19 a bushel, while in Canada it ranged from 53 cents to $1.10, the United States Tariff Commission found in its investigation in connection with the application for an increase in the wheat tariff.

Hourly Test makes Quaker Best

The superior baking quality of Quaker Flour is due to the selection of the wheat and the scientific manner in which it is milled. Even more important is its uniformity.

Flour must maintain an unvarying quality to produce the best baking results.

Every sack is milled the same. That is why it always bakes the same.

Quaker Flour

Always the Same-Always the Best

Every sack of Quaker Flour is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A SPRINGTIME RIDDLE

Round as teacup and lined with moss.

"Here's a springtime riddle for everybody to guess," said the Riddle Lady next day when she arrived in Riddle Town, having driven the whole way from her palace on the hill in her golden coach.

The Riddle Lady didn't like automobiles.

"That's nice," said Nancy politely. "Spring is the nicest time of year, so it must be a nice riddle."

"I can't be sure about that," answered the Riddle Lady, "because I wrote it in an awful—I mean a dreadful—Or I should say, a great hurry. Company came just as I was starting it and stayed and stayed and stayed and I had to hurry it together in about five minutes. Listen now and I'll read it to you:

"Round as a teacup and lined with moss,
Woven of grass and bits of floss,
Padded with down from Mother Bird's wing,
Daddy helps to build it, while both of them sing.

"Hidden by boughs of a green spreading tree,
I can't see them, but they can see me.
Guarding the nursery they have made,
I wouldn't touch it! Why are they afraid.

"Three lovely eggs all speckled with brown,
Put mostly of blue, 'twould be grand for a gown.
What can it be, this most singular thing,
Where Mother Bird lays all her eggs in the spring?

And time must go slow for I don't s'pose she knits,
While Daddy goes hunting—he digs and he tugs,
And brings her a breakfast of earthworms and bugs.

"And after a while when the birdies hatch out,
It's easy to see what the rest were about,
'Tis a cradle they builded, the finest and best,
Though to see it you'd say 'twas a dickey-bird's ——."

"Nest!" shouted everybody with one voice.

"I knew it would be too easy!" declared the Riddle Lady. "How I am ever going to divide the prize, I don't know."

"What is the prize?" asked Jack Horner.

"It's something everybody should take in the spring," said the Riddle Lady. "I made it myself. I boiled some sassafras and boneset herbs and catnip and sulphur and molasses all together and put it in a great big bottle. I have it! I'll give everybody a spoonful!"

But mind you, by the time she got the cork out 'n' everything, there wasn't a soul in sight.

Britain's Heavy Bill For Destroyed Cattle.

LONDON, Feb. 14, — The gross amount of money paid to farmers in the United Kingdom by way of compensation for animals destroyed by the authorities, in the effort to stamp out foot and mouth epidemic, is estimated at 22,803,000 pounds. A statement to this effect was made in the House of Commons to-day, in answer to a question.

Reports of the foot and mouth out breaks have been dwindling of late and it is believed that the epidemic has been brought under control.

WHAT THE PACKAGE DOES.

Tea growers have found from experience that it is necessary immediately to pack tea in air-tight metal lined chests to preserve the flavor and goodness of the leaf. Equally so is an air-tight package necessary for the small lots of tea for individual consumption. Bulk tea is always inferior tea because it is exposed to air. The "SALADA" air-tight aluminum package is the most efficient way of preserving tea known.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

FOOD COST

There is no more important relation among the many conditions and items which make for a healthy, strong body than proper food and proper eating habits. When the right kinds of food are supplied to the body and digestive processes are normal in their functioning, all the various elements and chemical combinations which make up the body perform their activities naturly and the energy and strength necessary for robust health are produced.

But there is such a vast difference in the quality and quantity of food, according to the state of poverty or riches in which a family or individual is situated, that health is often a mere matter of money.

The average individual must take the proper amount of proteids, fats and carbohydrates as daily food in order to have a healthy growth and renewal. If excessive amounts of any of the three classes are taken, or if the amount of one is deficient, it will not be long before the health will be injured and bodily resistance lowered. But only a certain part of our vast population choose their food wisely or well. I am not so sure but that the poorer classes might be far healthier than their more fortunate brothers if the knowledge of how to purchase the right kind of food could be given them.

No matter how poor one may be, it is unwise to save in food expenditure at the expense of health. What food for a family of five should cost a week may be averaged according to the family income. The amount in many schedules that different cities and civic bodies have given out varies from $8.26 to $12.86. The cost of foods is one way of determining what the doctor's bill for an average family may be.

It is good advice that good health largely depends on good food. Good food in this instance being a wise selection of the different classes, not forgetting the vegetables and vegetable oils.

Tanlac Wiped Out Troubles Says Datton

"I was just about 'all in', but Tanlac has built me up so I feel as fine and health as I ever did," is the characteristic statement of George Dalton, well-known contractor, 84 Bridge St., Niagara Falls, Ont.

"My appetite had failed me and the little food I did force down caused such stomach pains I could hardly stand the pressure of my clothes, and my heart would palpitate like I had heart trouble. My nerves were so bad I couldn't climb a ladder I trembled so at times, and I couldn't sleep right at all.

"Tanlac has wiped out my troubles and put me to eating like a wolf and my nerves are so steady I can work with ease on a hundred-foot scaffold. I sleep like a rock, and I'm so strong I feel like I could almost move a house by myself. Tanlac is genuine fine medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40-million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

CANAL TONNAGE INCREASE 11 P.C.

Traffic Through the "Soo" Locks Exceeded Only By Record Season of 1916 — Late Navigation a Factor

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.— (Canadian Press.)—The net increase in traffic on all Canadian canals was 1,198,261 tons or eleven per cent. Increase over the 1922 traffic according to figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Canadian steam vessels using the St. Lawrence canal showed an increase in tonnage of 594,327 tons and United States steamers showed a decrease of 269,968 tons.

On the Welland Canal traffic increased 364,493 tons or eleven per cent. All grains showed increases except corn aid flax. Wheat increased 162,925 tons or 5,430,800 bushels and United States wheat decreased 5,273,000 bushels.

The traffic through the Canadian and United States locks at Sault Ste. Marie during the season of navigation aggregated 91,376,831 tons, being surpassed only by the record of 1916 when 91,888,219 tons passed through. The long open season with an absence of severe storms, the heavy harvest in the west, the revival of the steel industry and the absence of shut downs in the coal mines were large factors in the traffic through the canals. The last passage through the Welland canal was on December 14, and through the St. Lawrence Canal on Dec. 10.

There are compensations. In a town where merchants don't believe in advertising, there is no parking problem.

ONE FOR DAD

I think it is time to be writing a rhyme
Extolling the virtues of dad.
It's gone far enough, and sure does seem tough
To think of the snubs you have had.

We write much of mother, and tell how we love her;
We offer our hearts at her shrine;
We praise her ornately (she takes it sedately)
Hereafter it's FATHER FOR MINE!

Of course, I'll admit she deserves quite a bit
Of love and affection, no doubt;
always have said it, she gets all the credit
While father's most always left out!

Who toils in good weather and bad hose arms bear the burden—who scarce gets a word in?
You can bet your sweet life that it's dad!

ow long have you waited for praises belated
We'll make your starved heart feel glad;
nd while we're about it let's stand up and shout—
Three ripping hot cheers for Old Dad!

—Clara S. McCulley in Rotarizonian.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A MAN

When is a man qualified to be a man?

When he knows how to sympathize with men in their sorrows, yea, even in their sins—knowing that each man fights a hard fight against many odds.

When he has learned how to make friends and to keep them, and, above all, how to keep friends with himself.

When he loves flowers, can hunt the birds without a gun, and feels the thrill of an forgotten joy when he hears the laugh of a little child.

When he can be happy and high-spirited amidst the meaner drudgeries of life.

When star-crowned trees, and the glint of sunlight on flowing water subdue him like the thought of one much loved and long dead.

When he finds in every faith that which helps any man to lay hold of higher things, and to see majestic meaning in life, whatever the name of that faith may be.

When he can look into a wayside puddle and see something besides mud, and into the face of the most forlorn mortal and see something beyond sin.

In such a man, whether rich or poor, scholarly or unlearned, famous or obscure, Nature has wrought her sweet ministry and the World has given him a place which is fit to livezin.

CHILDREN'S LICENSES

Children driving toy automobiles, if the cars are propelled by any power other than muscular, must get a license like those of their fathers, in Connecticut. Parents have been buying many toy gasoline autos for their children, so that this ruling had to be made.

FEDERAL-AID ROADS

Ten years from now, according to the law now in effect, we may expect to have 200,170 miles of completed well-paved highways in this country. At present there are only about 27,000 miles of such roads. The federal-aid system calls for this work in co-operation with the states.

STAINED WOOLENS.

To remove stains on colored goods particularly on wool materials, sponge with alcohol containing a little ammnia.

CLARIFYING FAT.

To clarify fat pour boiling water over it and heat until completely melted before you set away to cool. The grease will form a solid cake of fat on top of the water and any impurities will be easily removed from below.

CAP AND RIBBON.

Some of the newest and smartest hats are not much more than a cap with a twist of ribbon falling off one side. They fit very neatly over the close shingle bobs.

ACCREDITED HOLSTEIN HERD ESTABLISHED BY W.F. FALLIS, MILLBROOK

"Black and White" Pure-Breds of "Windermere Farm" Are Free of Tuberculosis As Shown By Official Tests--Owner Realized Doom of Untested Dairy Cattle.

HAS MANY RECORDS.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 15. — Dr. Nichols, of the Health of Animals Branch, Department of Agriculture, Toronto, paid his official visit to the farm of W. Fred Fallis last week, applying the tubercular test to his accredited herd of pure bred Holstein cattle. Only one reactor was found among the 20 to 25 tested and this was disposed of according to government regulations. Dr. Waugh, of Toronto, being present when the cow was slaughtered.

Mr. Fallis was this year elected president of the Durham County Holstein Breeders' Club. Twelve years ago he began his herd of "black and whites" with the purchase of one cow, and, by breeding, has increased it to its present proportions, having bought only two animals since his initial purchase.

In 1920, believing that the doom of the untested pure bred dairy cow was sealed, he decided to put his herd on an accredited basis, and though there are discouraging features in attaining this object, Mr. Fallis believes it most desirable and well-worth while from the standpoint of health, and of better sales. Three initial tests must be passed clean before a herd is fully accredited, and, in Mr. Fallis' case, the first of these saw a clean sheet returned; at the second, twelve month later, one reactor was found, and the third time none had to have the "T" stamped upon the ear, the government brand that infection has been found. Official tests are made at regular intervals at no expense to the owner, and in almost four years Mr. Fallis has lost only five animals through reaction to the tubercular test—a very small percentage in comparison with other and larger herds in the district.

Buy "Clean" Cattle"

Beginners are strongly advised to make their initial purchase from a "clean" herd, thus lessening the likelihood of infection. One of the discouraging features lies in the fact that a herd may be infected from a neighbor's untested cattle, or, if taken to the annual fall fair to be exhibited, from unhealthy animals on the grounds or in the show ring. To combat this evil a motion was introduced at the recent annual meeting of the Holstein-Fresian Association held in Toronto, asking that only cattle from accredited herds be allowed to compete at fairs receiving grants from the Holstein men. The resolution passed by a vote of 40 to 35, and the move will act as a warning as to what may be expected in the near future.

A Champion Cow

In 1914, one of Mr. Fallis' cows held the champion milk record for the Dominion, producing 26,844 lbs. of milk, and 10,041 lbs. of butter in 12 months, and bringing her owner a more than province-wide publicity as a successful breeder of the "black and whites." This successful showing was in connection with the record of merit test which requires milking four times a day, with proper feeding, to produce results worth while. Owing to press of other farm duties, Mr. Fallis has not recently kept up the R. O. M. testing which is concerned with limited periods of time. The record of production, which deals with annual results, his herd is still inspected for, and Mr. Frank Little, of Campbellford, R. O. P. Inspector, recently paid his official visit to the farm, the finding of 3.6 p.c. butter fat being a fair record.

The Financial Side

Financially it is scarcely possible to say that results are satisfactory, especially since the war have prices decreased. Previous to that time Mr. Fallis received as high as $415 for one cow, $325 for another, and $220 for others. Now, $170 is, perhaps, a fair price to be obtained, though Mr. Fallis has in his herd animals for which he would expect to receive from $200 to $225. At present, the government, which allows two-thirds of the value when an animal has to be killed because of infection, makes $150 the basis upon which compensation is reckoned. Some improvement from the financial standpoint may be noticed at the annual sale of Holstein cattle, under the auspices of the Durham County Club, which takes place in Bowmanville next month, and at which two or three animals from the president's herd will be offered for sale.

New Classification

To give the small breeder a better chance to show what his cows can do, and to increase the profits from milk production, the Dominion Holstein Association, in annual convention, decided upon another classification in testing work. It will now be possible for a man milking twice a day only, under ordinary farm conditions, to make a record. Or he may milk four times a day for 30 days to permit monthly records and then twice only for the remainder of the year under the regular rules regarding calving, etc. Results in such cases to be classed separately by the secretary. From three to seven thousand dollars will be spent by the association in publicity work, because it is believed the time is now opportune for pushing the "black and whites." This will doubtless result in the formation of many new herds and experienced breeders like W. F. Fallis not only advise purchase of "clean" animals but that the pedigree of each be thoroughly kept. Haphazard breeding does not spell success.

Uses Milking Machine

For some years Mr. Fallis had used a milking machine on his farm, finding it a labor saver and advising its use even with a comparatively small herd. The plan of weighing the milk from each cow each time of milking is followed on "Windermere Farm," as is usual with an accredited farm, the record of same being carefully kept, with the chart tacked up in a convenient place. Since Holsteins are not beef cattle, nor is their milk as rich in butter fat as some other breeds, but milk production is higher; it is from this latter source that financial returns must be looked for, together with the sale of cattle making a good record.

Mercana Calamity Posch, yearly record 26,448 lbs. milk and 10,041 lbs. butter. Seven-day record, 707 lbs. milk, 27.4 lbs. butter.

Content Lulu Korndyke, yearly record, 14,666 lbs. milk, 600 lbs. butter. Seven-day record, 542 lbs. milk, 22 lbs. butter.

Lulu Ranwerd, two years old, yearly record, 10,388 lbs. milk, 435 lbs. butter. Seven-day record, at three years old, 48 lbs. milk, 21.8 lbs. butter.

Jean Pauline Emma, eight months' record, 15,300 lbs. milk, 603 lbs. butter. Best day's milk record, 91 lbs.

Famous Princess Is Dying Alone and in Poverty.

BERLIN, Feb. 13. — (United Press) —Once favorite of the German Court and noted for her striking beauty, the Princess of Pless is dying in a Berlin sanatorium of tuberculosis of the spine.

This famous beauty, born to the British West family, is ending her days in hopeless and straightened circumstances. Some time ago the princess obtained a divorce from the Princes of Pless, one of Germany's wealthiest men. Gossip had it that the divorce was a pre-arranged affair, especially as the Prince was interested in marrying a young and beautiful girl.

This girl, however, is a Catholic and hitherto efforts to have the second marriage permitted are reported to be unavailing. The princess is allowed a modest alimony, but this is now scarcely more than pin money.

During the war the Princess of Pless was regarded with suspicion by the kaiser, who felt she was too friendly to people of her own race. The princess was a ministering angel to hundreds of British officers and tommies in German hospitals and prison camps.

And the old court society still recalls the mysterious death of Archduke Adolf Friedrich of Mecklenbourg-Strelitz. Gossip had it that the kaiser sent him a revolver with which to end his life rather than to have him tried on spy charges, because of his friendship for the beautiful British-born princess.

The doctors say she may live three months. She is dying alone, ignored and deserted by the host of friends who danced attention in the days when she held sway in a castle unequalled in Germany.

J. J. TURNER FIRM ANNIVERSARY

(From Canadian Lumberman)

An historic concern, which is closely associated with the lumber industry and is celebrating its fiftieth year in business, is the firm of J. J. Turner & Sons, Limited, of Peterboro', Ont. This organization, which is so widely known, early adopted the slogan "Everything in Canvas." The present head is J. J. Turner, who last month was elected mayor of Peterboro' by a large majority in a triangular contest. He has devoted many years to the service and welfare of the community. The business was established in 1874 by J. J. Turner, Sr., the father of the present chief magistrate of Peterboro', who came from London, England, and settled in Port Hope. He began in a very small way in an old frame shed and it was necessary to execute all sorts of contracts to make a living. In the early 80's Peterboro' was a thriving community which gave the firm considerable business in awnings and other supplies. At that time the Ontario & Quebec Railway was being constructed through the eastern part of the province to Toronto. The late Senator Cox foresaw that Peterboro' would be a better distributing point and suggested to Mr. Turner that he remove there. This was done in 1885 and Mr. Turner occupied small premises opposite the market but gradually extended, the business growing appreciably year by year. In 1902 ground was broken for the erection of a handsome new building on George Street, three stories high, with basement and in dimensions 40 x 100 feet. This structure soon became congested and eleven years ago two more stories were added, making five floors with basement.

The business steadily expanded until the goods of the company enjoyed a market in every province from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The house has a reputation for supplying first-class goods and the following incident illustrates the thought and care given to the reputation of the firm and the quality of its product:

During the building of the T. & N. O. Railway and development of Northern Ontario, there was a large influx of settlers, who required tents, pack bags, tarpaulins, grey blankets, straw ticks, horse blankets, etc. The goods of J. J. Turner & Sons were extremely popular, but the latter soon found competitive lines were underselling them through supplying inferior goods. This matter was laid before the senior member of the firm and a suggestion was presented to put a cheaper line (unbranded) in order to hold the trade. The reply of Mr. Turner, Sr., which is characteristic of any firm desiring to guard a good name, was,—"We will not manufacture or offer for sale any goods to the public on which we would be ashamed to stencil our name."

In November, 1916, the senior member of the firm died, but the business has since been carried on under the same name, by the four sons, J. J. Jr., R. H., A. W., and W. F. R. H. Turner retired in 1922, and this enterprising and progressive concern is now conducted by the remaining three brothers, who report that trade prospects for the present year are most promising.—Canadian Lumberman.

Celebrating Betrothal, Chinese General Has 1,100 Soldiers Baptized

PEKING, Feb. 15.—(By Cable).—Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General," in command of the troops around Peking, celebrated his engagement to Miss Li Techuan, student secretary of the Peking Y.W.C.A., by baptizing 1,100 soldiers on the drill ground east of Peking.

Following an address by the General, eight pastors, including several American missionaries, assisted in the actual baptism by squads.

It is estimated 3,000 of Feng's 30,000 troops and 90 per cent. of the officers now are Christians.

Feng's wife died last December, and go-betweens were arranging to have him marry the daughter of President Tsao-Kun, but he preferred a Christian wife.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS ARE OPPOSED BY FERGUSON

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The determined opposition to the principle of separate schools as being the system bound to affect adversely the development of young Canadians was voiced by both Mayor Hiltz and Premier Ferguson at a meeting of Brunswick Lodge, held last night for the purpose of presenting two speakers with certificates of honorary life membership. The Premier, however, modified his remarks by pointing out that it was his duty as first Minister and as Minister of Education to uphold the constitution of the country and that the constitution provided the right of separate educational institutions for those of the Roman Catholic faith.

It has been planned to rebuild a suspension bridge erected 100 years ago in Wales that was a pioneer of that type of structure.

Old Man Short

OLD MAN SHORT

Old Man Short is self-made. When he was eighteen years old he was working for ninety cents a day and saving most of that. As he grew older he began to earn more and save more, and in the course of time he began to buy land.

By the time he was forty, he owned the biggest general store in town and kept fifteen tenant farmers on his plantations.

Prosperity did not make him wasteful. He continued to nurse the nickels and taught his boys the art, so that with the passing of the year the name Short became a synonym in our town for wealth.

The Short boys married well, and their wives became social leaders, but the old man retained his place at the head of the table and remained the town's chief citizen. He is a deacon of the church; is invited to attend Board of Trade banquets at the county seat; represents the local Masons at Grand Lodge; and several times each year gets his name in the state's leading newspaper. His fame extends one hundred miles in each direction.

Last year a poet of national reputation moved to our town. He is a pleasant, easy-going chap wholly innocent of vanity, and has become very popular.

He is not popular with the Short family. Old man Short never misses an opportunity to ridicule and belittle him. You see, tourists who come through no longer ask if this is the town where Mr. Short lives. They ask if this is the town where the poet lives.

Famous Guys

MARK TWAIN: The life of America's great humorist demonstrates a number of things that need to be demonstrated frequently. It demonstrates that a sense of humor pays greater dividends than a sense of dignity; that a man may be hungry and jobless, but is not licked until he surrenders; that a fine sense of personal honor is a profitable possession. It demonstrates another truth, however, that should be even more welcome to the citizens of a country where all are climbers—that success has few superiors as a civilizing agency.

The Mark Twain who wrote "Innocents Abroad" was crude and rough. His humor was slap-stick humor, coarse and unlovely. But acquaintance with success and the niceties that are the awards of success developed a new Mark Twain, whose humor was subtle and delicate. He was a backwoodsman and became a polished gentleman.

America's history is full of such men—old Ben Tillman, for example, who went to the Senate a wild man with a pitchfork, and left it a grave and civilized gentleman.

Culture is not a birthright. It is the polish men acquire by rubbing elbows with men who have it. And the fact that it can be acquired late in life, when success has opened the way to the environment where it is found is sufficient proof that Democracy is justified of her children.

Willie Willis

Little Willie Willis waded barefoot in the snow Monday evening to show the Ryan boys how a real man could endure hardship. This morning his temperature was down to 101.

THE BUTCHER BOY AND HIS BRIDE

Hiram Has the Stuff Heroes Are Made Of

"But again on Thursday morning and yet again on Friday he appeared as faultlessly attired."

Hiram, the butcher boy, left the house across the street Wednesday morning arrayed as for a party. His shoes were shined; his collar was white; and he wore his best blue serge. Daughter observed these things from our front porch and ventured to inform us that Hiram was going to the county seat. But again on Thursday morning and yet again on Friday he appeared as faultlessly attired, and persons who patronized his market found him encased in a spotless white apron.

Things like these cannot happen in our town without occasioning remark, and our curiosity caused us considerable suffering until the girl came over this morning as we were eating breakfast and made explanation.

"Have you noticed the scenery that adorns my husband?" she wished to know. "Well, that's what competition does. Ever since that rival meat market started up I've been after Hiram to spruce up and look sanitary. You know, most of the marketing is done by women, and no woman likes to buy meat from a man who has been wearing the same shirt all week and decorating it with red stains. Hiram kicked at first, but he saw I was right; and Tuesday night he gave in and took a bath. Usually when he is taking a bath on Saturday night he sings, 'Shall We Gather at the River,' but this was an unusual occasion and I heard him singing, 'I am a Stranger Here.' He takes a bath every night and puts on fresh clothes every morning, union suits and everything.

"That's one thing I like about Hiram. He's a fighter. He isn't very happy about this daily bath business, but he says he's going to put that other market out of business, no matter what hardship it costs him."

Atta boy! This Valley Forge stuff tries the souls of men, but the spirit that can endure it will never know defeat.

LVII. (Continued)

"Do you mean to say you believe she'll throw me over?" demanded Clavering fiercely.

"I mean that Madame Zattiany has long since reached the age when power means more than love—in a woman of that calibre. But you, in turn, have tremendous power over her. Sweep her off her feet again and make her marry you."

"You don't believe she's gone to Washington?"

"I do not. If that was all he wanted of her, why didn't he telephone? I am sure he could be ambiguous enough to defeat the curiosity of any listeners-in. But a man of that sort does not ask a woman to marry him over the telephone——"

"But Dio thinks——"

"How long do you think you can stand inaction?"

"Not another hour, by God. I'm nearly mad as it is."

"I thought so. You are about the last man on earth equipped to play the waiting game."

"You don't think she means to return here?"

"Never. She's too much of an artist for one thing. She might be willing to begin a new chapter, but she knows that asterisks in the wrong place are fatal. This interruption has done for your idyl!"

"I had thought the same thing." He sighed heavily.

"Oh, yes, Clavey dear, you are an artist yourself. No matter what happens never forget that it is your destiny to be a great one."

"Artist be damned. If—if—God! If I lose her—I'll never write another line."

"I don't doubt you think so. But you're only just begining to know yourself. You got a few glimpses, I should think, while you were writing that play."

"Don't mention that play to me. I hate it. If I hadn't let myself go with the damned thing I'd have had my wits about me and would have married her off-hand."

"I wonder. Was she so very anxious to marry?"

He turned cold. Fear flared up again. "What do you mean by that?"

"Well, I don't know that I mean anything. Except that like all women she probably wanted to enjoy the thrilling hopes and fears and uncertainties of that never to be repeated prelude, to the limit. Now, better wake up Larsing and order the car if you mean to catch that morning train. If you don't want to go back to bed I'll sit up with you. You can sleep on the train."

LVIII.

He left next morning in a dense fog. As Larsing rowed him across the lake he could not see its surface nor the wall of trees on the opposite bank, and in a moment the camp was obliterated.

Only Gora and Larsing knew of his departure. Even Dinwiddie was still asleep. Larsing had made him a cup of coffee, and Gora had packed his bag, moving like a mouse in his room. She kissed him good-bye and patted him on the back.

"I'll go out myself in a day or two," she said. "You may need me down there."

The fog thinned gradually and the Ford made its usual comfortless speed down the mountain. When they reached Huntersville the valley was bathed in early morning sunlight, and Huntersville, asleep, shared the evanescent charm of the dawn. It was a beautiful and a peaceful scene and Clavering, whose spirits had descended into utter gloom while enwrapped in that sinister fog, accepted it as a happier portent; and when he was so fortunate as to find an empty drawing-room on the express, he went to bed and slept until the porter awoke him at Tarrytown.

It was his first impulse to rush direct to Murray Hill, but he knew the folly of doing anything of the sort. He needed a bath and a shave and a fortifying dinner.

He concluded that it would be unwise to telephone, and at nine o'clock he approached her house, reasonably calm and quite determined to have his own way. But the house was dark from cellar to roof. Every window was closed although it was a warm night. He sprang up the steps and rang the bell. He rang again, and then kept his finger on the button for nearly five minutes.

He descended into the area, but the iron bars were new, and immovable. Moreover, a policeman was standing opposite. He approached the man in a moment and asked thim if he knew whether the house had been open earlier in the evening. Yes, the officer told him, he had seen one of the servants go in about half an hour ago.

Clavering walked away slowly. If Mary had gone to Washington, why had the servants not answered his ring. It was too early for them to be in bed. Then his spirits, which had descended to zero, rose jubilantly. Hohenhauer! It was against him she was barricading herself. No doubt she would feel herself in a state of siege as long as the man remained in the country.

He went to the nearest hotel and telephoned. He was prepared to be told, after an interminable wait, that there was "no answer," but in a moment he heard the voice of the butler. Obeying a sudden impulse he disguised his own.

"I should like to speak to Madame Zattiany.

"Madame has retired."

He hung up. He had ascertained that she was at home and his spiritual barometer ascended another notch. He'd see her tomorrow if he spent the day on her doorstep. He bought [illegible] and spent a very agreeable evening at the theatre.

next morning, but he forced himself to eat a good breakfast and read his newspapers. He was determined to show her that he was completely master of himself. She should be able to draw no unfavorable comparisons with Hohenhauer, whose composure had probably not been ruffled in forty years. His comparative youth might be against him, but after all a man of thirty-four was no infant, and in some respects he was as old as he would dignity and self-control, and whatever might come he would sacrifice neither. But he sighed heavily. 'Whatever might come.' But he refused to dwell on alternatives.

It was ten o'clock when he presented himself at Madame Zattiany's door. As he had hoped, his ring was answered. Hohenhauer was not the man to call on a woman at ten in the morning.

The footman permitted himself to stare, and said deprecatingly: "I am sorry, Mr. Clavering, but Madame told me to admit no visitors—"

"Did she?" He entered and tossed his hat on a high Italian chair. "Kindly tell her that I am in the library and shall remain there until she is ready to come down."

The man hesitated, but after all Clavering had had the run of the house, and it was possible that Madame believed him still to be in the mountains. At all events he knew determination when he saw it, and marched reluctantly up the stairs.

Clavering went into the library. He was filled with an almost unbearable excitement, but at least the man's assertion that she was at home to no one cemented his belief that she meant to see nothing further of Hohenhauer.

He glanced round the beautiful mellow room so full of memories. After all he had been happier here than he had ever been in his life—until they had gone up to the woods! The room's benignant atmosphere seemed to enfold him, calmed his fears, subdued that inner quiver. Surely she would surrender to his influence and to his—whatever had happened. He knew she had always liked him the better because he did not make love to her the moment they met, but today he would take her by surprise; give her no time to think.

But, as Mrs. Oglethorpe had once told him, a clever man is no match for a still cleverer woman.

At the end of fifteen minutes the footman opened the door and announced:

"Madame is in the car, sir, and begs you will join her."

Clavering repressed a violent start and an imprecation. But there was nothing to do but follow the man; fortunately he did not have what was known as an "open countenance." Let her have her own way for the moment. He could—and would—return with her. For a moment he felt primitive enough to beat her.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

RAISINS

Try adding raisins to meats, as well as to breads and cakes. The result will be nourishing and delicious.

One-fourth cup of finely chopped raisins mixed with one-half pound hamburg steak adds much to the flavor.

A few raisins sprinkled over ham while baking in cider or grape juice improves the dish.

Raisin sauce for meats is novel but piquant with boiled meats, beef heart or liver.

Raisin Sauce for Meats

Three-fourths cup seeded and chopped raisins, 2 tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg.

Melt butter, stir in flour and add aisirns. Stir in lemon juice and water. Add seasoning and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth.

Raisin Sauce for Puddings

One cup seeded and chopped raisins, 1½ cups boiling water, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, few grains salt.

Cook raisins slowly in the boiling water for ten minutes. Add sugar. Melt butter, stir in flour and when perfectly blended slowly stir in the raising mixture. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cinnamon and lemon juice. Serve warm.

SOUTH MONAGHAN DEBATERS HAVE PERFECT SCORE

Won All Four of Their Oratorical Contests in the Peterboro League--Sleigh Drive to Peterboro From Centreville a Pleasant Trip.

SING LIKE KIWANIS

day evening a sleigh-load of young people from South Monaghan gathered together at Centreville and went from there to Peterborough, to attend the last debate which was to be held this season in the Peterborough County league, against the Peterborough and South Monaghan U.F. Y.P.O. clubs.

The night was ideal for the occasion and the young folks enjoyed themselves thoroughly on the way by "group singing," giving "club yells," telling jokes, etc., while Mr. Willis Hall very kindly furnished the conveyances.

The Peterboro U.F.Y.P.O. club hall was well filled with a crowd of young people from not only their own club, but also many from Zion, Indian River, besides many outsiders.

A splendid programme was arranged for the occasion by the members of the Peterboro club. The meeting opened with the president, Mr. Gordon Hancock, and secretary, Miss Ackie, in the chairs. The minutes of the former meeting were read and adopted, followed by group singing for twenty-five minutes. Reading by Master J. Ackie; group singing again for fifteen minutes.

The main feature of the programme the debate, then followed.

The subject of the debate was: Resolved, "That the use of modern labor-saving devices has done more to lighten the labor of the farmer than to reduce the drudgery of the housewife in the farmhouse."

The affirmative was taken by South Monaghan debaters, Messrs. Douglas Deyell and Harold Bebee, while the negative was upheld by Peterboro, Misses Tully and Muir, and after the leader of the affirmative's reply, the judges who were Mr. Tarvas for the affirmative, Miss Petire for the negative, and Mr. Brown for the neutral judge, retired to a side table to come to a decision, and the remainder of the programme was enjoyed; solo by Miss Mary Lewis, "Down on Old Ohio"; encore, "If Winter Comes." Solo by Miss Redman, "My Buddy"; encore, "Tucky Home." Solo by Alex. McGregor, "Beware."

Lunch was then served by the ladies and everyone did full justice to the dainty refreshments.

The neutral judge, Mr. Brown, then gave the decision which was in favor of the affirmative, and after the singing of the National Anthem, the happy South Monaghan members again set out on their return trip home, having won the four debates in the Peterboro County League. As this i s the first year that the South Monaghan club has been organized, they naturally feel extremely proud of not having lost any debates in their first year in the debating league, and of being able to bring the Peterboro U.F.O. cup the trophy that the teams have been working hard to win home to South Monaghan.

Those who attended the debate from this district were Misses Stutt, K. Isbister, C. McConnachie, D. Deyell, and Messrs. W. Waterman, Tarvas, D. Deyell, C. and W. Hall, S. McGill, E. Hutchison, H. Dawson, H. Bebee, H. Campbell, F. Barnard, R. Rutherford.

MACDONALD AFTER GERMAN WARMAKERS

Premier Outlines Proposal in French Journal

PARIS, February 15 (British United Press). — "I have never declared that I was ready to call an international conference on reconstruction," Premier MacDonald told the London correspondent of Le Matin in an interview published in that journal to-day.

"My ideas thereon so far as very vague. I wish the authors of the plan success but I have other ideas. I desire ambassadorial conversations between the French and British representatives and personal conversations between members of the respective Governments if necessary. After that, a conference might possibly settle the outstanding problems.

"I desire to settle Europe's evils in accord with France. We must overturn the German Imperialists and the warlike junkers."

The political writer Pertinax attributes Von Seeckt's abandonmen, of dictatorial powers to a desire to curry favour with the Americans and the British, because the experts are [illegible] Governments regarding the German economic and financial situation.

"Germany believes her cause will be served by abandonment of the trappings of dictatorship," says the writer.

CHEQUE ARTISTS ARE ROUNDED UP

Gang of Three That Operated Here is Behind Bars--One Was Cold.

As an aftermath of the unfortunate Ray Harnett case, in which that young man was arrested under mistaken identity and charged with passing worthless cheques, three members of the gang who really did the work have been rounded up on information supplied by the Peterboro police department.

James Robert St. Claire is one of the gang that operated in several cities before coming to Peterboro, but met its nemesis in the local force when Chief Newhall forwarded information regarding the methods and appearance of St. Claire to Chief Thompson of Windsor, formerly a Peterboro Chief, that led to the apprehension of the whole gang. St. Claire is awaiting sentence in Windsor, while the other two men appear in Stratford court this morning.

Chief Thompson forwarded a copy of St. Claire's photograph to the Peterboro police department, and seven reputable citizens identified him as the man who victimized them on February 2.

St. Claire was well - known as James A. Harris, alias J. A. Wells, alias A. J. Wells, alias Robert J. Martin, and many other names. The two other men who operated here are well-known in crookdom. One of them bears a striking resemblance to the unfortunate Ray Harnett, who was mistakenly identified by several merchants as the man who had passed the worthless cheques on them. The mistake is easily explained by Chief Newhall, as several persons who spent many hours with the real cheque artist say they found it difficult to notice the difference between Harnett and Fleming. There was one peculiarity by which [illegible] distinguished from Harnett. Harnett has "working" hands, while the accused's are slender, tapering and distinctively musical.

The two men who were caught in Stratford gave their names as Moulton Todd and J. Pollock, and answered descriptions sent from Peterboro. The cheques these men tried to pass off were drawn on the Royal Bank for $18.50, signed George E. Davidson and endorsed E. A. Foster. Twenty cheques made out for the same amount and signed by the same person were found in one man's possession. One of the men was wearing three suits of underwear and two pairs of socks.

The gang may be brought to Peterboro to answer for the activities here.

BUSINESS FOR HALF CENTURY

Interesting Record of Expansion Revealed at To-day's Kiwanis Club Luncheon.

Fifty years in business was the subject of an interesting address given at to-day's Kiwanis Club luncheon by Kiwanian J. J. Turner. The firm of J. J. Turner and Sons has reached its golden jubilee year and the story of its humble beginning in Port Hope in 1874 and its development during the last half century is a tribute to the aggressiveness and integrity of its founder, the late J. J. Turner who passed away in 1910.

President John R. Marshall presided at to-day's meeting and to-day's guests included Dr. A. Moir R. H. Turner and Kiwanian James Jupp of the Riverdale Club, Toronto. The latter extended fraternal greetings. Kiwanian Hugh Nevin contributed a solo that was appreciated by the club. The booster to-day was Kiwanian Charlie Cook of the De Laval Dairy Supply Company. The prize winners were Kiwanians Wilfrid Huycke, Joe John and George Henderson.

In recounting the business exploits of the De Laval Company since its establishment in Peterboro Kiwanian Cook informed the members that goods made in the Peterboro plant are shipped to all parts of the world, including the United States, which is the home of the parent plant. The company specializes in centrifugal force. Kiwanian Lloyd Hamilton said he did not know what this meant. His efforts to find out were interrupted by the chairman who threatened to impose a fine if he continued to interrupt the speaker. Continuing Kiwanian Cook said that this centrifugal force as applied to the machinery manufactured by the De Laval Company was used to separate cream from milk sediment from oil and to clarify varnish and for many other purposes. Some of the largest liners are using De Laval machinery also many of the varnish manufacturers in Canada. In addition to this the company manfactures a complete line of milking machines, separators, silos, ice cream plants and dairy equipment of all kinds.

Turner Anniversary.

John James Turner, the founder of the present firm of J. J. Turner and Sons, was born in 1850, said Kiwanian Turner. In early life he was apprenticed to the sail making trade and on completion of his apprenticeship took passage on a sailing vessel for a world wide cruise. In 1872 he emigrated to "America," as it was then called and settled in Hamilton, later forming a partnership and establishing a business in St. Catharines. In 1874 the late Mr. Turner disposed of his business in St. Catharines and founded a sail-making business in Port Hope. One of his first customers was the late R. M. Roy, father of Mr. Fred Roy of this city. Mr. Turner equipped Mr. Roy's yacht with a new suit of sails and the prestige that resulted from the subsequent prize winning efforts of the vessel was reflected in increased business for Mr. Turner. In serving the public Mr. Turner stopped at nothing. When asked if he could put some new cane bottoms in a half dozen chairs he said yes. He did the same thing when he was asked to put a new stand on a grindstone. The business expanded and included such towns at Peterborough, Lindsay, Belleville and Cobourg. The speaker recalled the box stove slung by chains to the rafters and the rope ends that were used by Mr. Turner senior on boys who needed something more impressive than words. The idea of suspending the stove from the rafters was to provide more room in the sail loft to spread the sail out on the floor. In 1885 the Port Hope business was disposed of and the father and family sailed for England, where they intended to remain. However, they returned the following year and at the suggestion of the late Senator Cox, Mr. Turner established his business in Peterborough, first occupying the store now occupied by Mr. Turners' grocery store on Water street, opposite the market and later taking up larger quarters in the store on Brock street now occupied by Mr. Butcher. The firm then moved to the Lundy block at the northwest corner of King and George streets and in 1902 moved into their present quarters on the opposite corner. The first building was a three storey structure, and a few years later two more stories were added. In 1916 Mr. J. J. Turner passed away and the remaining members of the firm have never varied from the business traditions created by the father. Turner products are found in every land and their popularity is due to the high standards set by the founder of the firm.

TWO PERSONS DEAD AND NINE MISSING

Number of Others Hurt in Early Morning Fire.

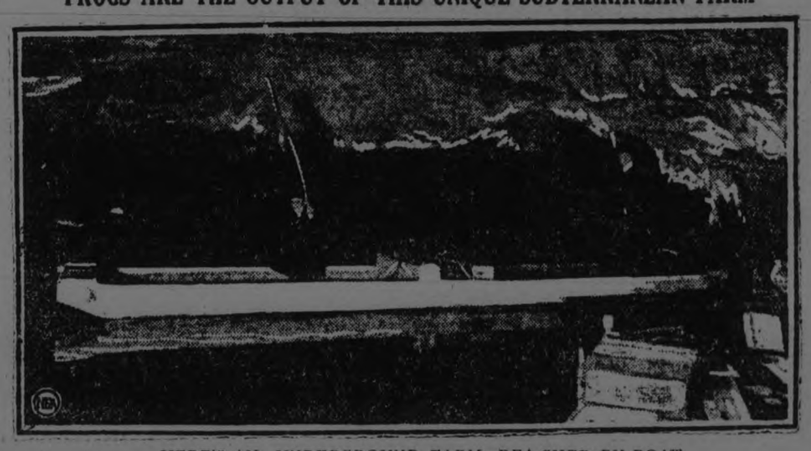
MONTHELIER, Vt., Feb. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Two persons were killed and nine are missing, and believed to have lost their lives in a first which destroyed the Lawrence building on Main Street early to-day. A number of others were seriously injured. The loss is estimated at three hundred thousand dollars.

The dead are Walter Washburn, prominent insurance man, and Mrs. J. Waterman, both sustained fatal injuries when they jumped from windows and missed the life-net.

WON REFEREE'S DECISION.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 15. — "Tut" Jackson, negro heavyweight, won the referee's decision over Battling Siki in a ten round bout here last night. Siki was in poor condition and Jackson won seven of the rounds.

FROGS ARE THE OUTPUT OF THIS UNIQUE SUBTERRANEAN FARM



HERE'S AN UNDERGROUND FARM—REACHED BY BOAT.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 14.—Add to the skunk, mushroom rattlesnake and other freak farms the underground frog farm.

Robert Smith, near here, has it. A cave half-filled with water is the "acreage," and as a result of even temperature and quiet, the big green hoppers he ships to St. Louis and Kansas City command top prices at all times of the year.

A boat is necessary to reach the "farm," which is a limestone-walled cavern, at one end of a small lake. The temperature is always 60 degrees in the cavern, so winter and summer it is so attractive that Smith's "stock" never wanders away.

ROTARY DANCE

The Rotary-Annes added another item to their list of successful social affairs when their card party at the Peterboro Club drew an attendance of nearly three hundred people. Seventy tables of cards were played and a score or more dropped in later for the dancing, which took place from eleven o'clock to half past one. The big lounge room, the ball room billiard room, and card room were utilized by the ladies, who carried out their decorations in the pretty Valentine fashion, using quantities of hearts and cutouts in the garnishing of the rooms. On the curtained windows, square shields of pink and white paper, with frilled edges, were placed. The wall lights were shaded with pale blue silhouetted with tiny cupids, and enormous pale blue baskets hung from the chandeliers, festooned with the red hearts that draped the big wall baskets of green grasses and ferns. Refreshments also were characterized by the Valentine ideas, and the tally cards were red and gold cupid's arrows.

The guests were received by the President, Mrs. F. L. Roy, and the patronesses, members of the executive: Mrs. R. H. Turner, Mrs. J. H. Seels, Mrs. C. H. Rogers, Mrs. H. O. Fisk, Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. C. G. Graham, Mrs. S. D. Hall. Arrangements for decorations were in the hands of Mrs. J. H. Seels and Mrs. C. H. Rogers, Mrs. H. O. Fisk looked after the refreshments, and Mrs. Gerald Wood was convenor of the committee in charge of the card tables. Excellent music for dancing was provided by Ken. Brown's three - piece orchestra. Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mrs. Chas. Ackerman, Mr. D. Lawrie and Mr. Jas. Doris, the consolation award going to Mrs. F. Skinner. 'Five hundred' prizes were won by Mrs. A. Moir and Mayor J. J. Turner.

Among those present were noticed Mayor and Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. D. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wrenn, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Glover, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Canadian Stock Exchange ——And Mines—— | New York Stock Exchange ——and Curb Prices——

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, February 15 (United Press) — Stocks were fairly active at the opening, with the price changes showing some irregularity. Dupont and General Motors both opened lower The latter stock went down to 15, 1-2 under the recent high, probably due to the fact that an expected extra dividend was not declared at yesterday's directors' meeting.

Leaders like Steel, Studebaker, and American Can, showed only fractional digerence Coppers were stronger, Anaconda advancing 5-8 to 40 7-8, and Cerro de Pasco 1-2 to 48 1-2.

Independent Oils showed a stronger tone, Marland selling above 38 and Phillips at 38 3-8. Pan-Americans remained about unchanged.

On a fair amount of business the General list developed considerable irregularity during the first hour, with various stocks fluctuating within ranges of a point or so.

Around 11 a.m. numerous issues were at the best prices, reached for the day. Pan-Americans made a slight recovery just before that time, after they had dipped to within 1-2 point of Thursday's low.

B stocks sold up to 42 33-4 up 1 from the morning's low, while A advanced to 45 1-4.

BURGLARS STABBED THEIR ASSAILANTS

Three Men in Hospital as Result of Trying to Stop Burglars in Neighbour's House.

OSHAWA, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Stabbed about the arms and shoulders, Jack Gillespie, Fred Hubbersfield and Henry Baldwin, are lying in Oshawa General hospital in a critical condition as result of an attempt to capture two burglars who entered the home of Roy Murphy on Masson street, here last night.

The wounded men are neighbors and when they heard that burglars had entered the home of Murphy adjacent, the occupants of which are out of town, they hurried to the house and engaged intruders who are believed to be foreigners. A fierce battle was fought in which knives were freely used by the burglars, and, weakened by loss of blood, Gillespie, Hubbersfield and Baldwin were forced to give up the struggle while the two men escaped.

Hubbersfield is in a very serious condition having been stabbed through the left lung.

LABOR IS DIVIDED ON CHURCH UNION

Leader Opposes Union Bill While a Labor Member Supports Measure.

WINNIPEG, Man., February 15 (Canadian Press).— In the Manitoba Legislature last night a Bill to incorporate the United Church of Canada was given a second reading.

John Queen, the Labour leader, opposed the Bill. He said he was not interested in the progress of the Churches, but opposed the Bill from a sense of public duty.

The Labour leader described the Churches as 'docile servants of the dominant class in system," as "vassals of the State,' 'and as constituting "a menace to the welfare of the people."

The United Church movement he regarded as an attempt to get a further stranglehold on the people, and as a movement forced by economic conditions.

He declared the question was one of property and was a legal matter which should be settled by the Courts.

William Ivens, Labour, supported the measure. The matter of property, Mr. Ivens declared, he regarded as irrelevant He was looking for a new creed, social, economical, and political, and in the meantime he would support the Union Bill.

LOCAL JUNIORS LOST HARD FOUGHT BATTLE TO MOTOR TOWN TEAM

MANY PENALTIES.

OSHAWA, Feb. 15.—The Peterborough juniors lost a hard fought battle last night with all the odds against them. Oshawa players are a bunch of fast skaters and backcheckers and seemed tireless. Their goalie, Garrison, was almost unbeatable. He cleared time after time when the Petes were right in on top of him. With a large crowd of rooters and a referee who favored them, they managed to down the Petes to the tune of 6 goals to 3.

The Petes put up a good battle and gave every ounce they had, but they could not push the puck past Garrison in the Oshawa nets. When they did manage to get through and score in the first period, Referee Armstrong claimed the pass in front of the nets was an offside. On several other occasions he called offsides on obth teams that were pretty close, and seemed to delight in sending Peterborough men to the penalty box for little or nothing, while on the other hand the Oshawa boys, with their confidence in Armstrong, ran wild. They received a great mnay penalties in the last two periods, but in the first period there was hardly any period of time that the Petes had a full team on the ice and once they battled against the onrush of the Motor Town boys with four men to their whole team, who, Henry Cheu was chased for tripping instead of Williams, who was the offender. Mulholland was also waved to the penalty box for tripping when it was Holland who committed the offence. The Petes had hard luck throughout the game and the right score should have been 5 goals to 4. Harold McDougal scored on a neat pass from Mulholland early in the second period which was claimed by Referee Armstrong to be an offside pass. The fifth goal for Oshawa, scored by Lott, should not have been counted as the pass from Corbeau was easily two yards offside, but the referee missed it. Although there were 13 penalties handed out the game could not be classed as a rough one as most of the penalties were minor ones and several of them were undeserved. The Petes drew 7, while Oshawa got off with 6.

There wasn't much to pick in the line of stars from the Peterboro lineup, as they all turned in a good game of hockey. M. McDougal, Mulholland and Holland were the goalgetters for the Petes, each getting one while both the fast right wing man for Oshawa got three of his teaf's six, with Corbeau registering twice and Palmer once. Corbeau and Nott were the outstanding players for Oshawa, while all of the rest turned in a good game

Garrison in goal was the Petes' mystery man, as he seemed almost unbeatable. In every period of the game the Petes bored in on him, but they found him almost a stumbling block in their path. Oshawa are a heavier aggregation, and their team play and back checking was a feature. They have a strong steady team, but the Young Petes are confident of snatching the group's title from them on Monday night, when they clash in the Brock street ring.

The game started off at a fast rate with both team showing all kinds of speed and stick handling. The Petes tried to get their combination working, but the narrowness of the ice put the ki-bosh on it. About one minute after the opening Collins was penalized for barely putting Stephens against the boards. A few seconds later Cheu was benched for tripping when Wiliams was the right man. This left the Petes in a bad fix to start with. While Collins and Cheu were off Lebarr was peppered with shots from all angles, but he saved beautifully.

The Petes got away for several nice rushes but the dogged backchecking of the Oshawa forwards broke up their rushes and when they did get through the defence Garrison was always in the way of their shots.

Both teams battled away for several seconds, but without results. When Collins was chased for upsetting Corbeau, Palmer scored their first goal on a close-in shot after he had carried the puck the length of the ice. Seven and a half minutes later Corbeau scored a nice goal on a pass from Stephens at the mouth of the net, giving Lebarr no chance to save. Williams made a clever rush but the Oshawa net guardian was too good for him. Collins worked in close for a shot but he failed to put the puck behind Garrison. The Oshawa forwards came down, lined across the ice, in a clever rush, only to have Lebarr rush out and receive the pass. Lott took a lone jaunt down the ice and tore a fast one into the corner of the net from outside the defence, making the socre 3-0.

The Petes had a little the better of the play in the latter part of their frame, but when the gong sounded the score stood the same 3 to 0.

Second Period.

The second period opened up with Lott being benched for tripping Mulholland. Mulholland made a rink end dash, but missed the goal post by inches. Lott was once more waved to the penalty box for upsetting H. McDougal.

H. McDougal scored the neatest goal of the night on a pass from Mulholland, but the pass was declared offside. Lott drew his third penalty in this period for tripping Williams when he was right in on the goalie.

M. McDougal scored from a corner shot after 6 minutes and thirty seconds of play. Lott missed an open net when Corbeau's pass got out of his reach and his shot went wild.

The Petes 'forwards went through on a neat combination rush, but Referee Armstrong saw an offside. When the period ended the score stood—Oshawa 3, Peterborough 1.

Third Period.

The third period started at a fast clip with both teams giving all they had and showing flashes of good combination.

Mulholland took a long jaunt down the boards and shot high over the nets, the puck bouncing out and glancing in off the goalie's skate. Cheu was handed out a penalty for body-checking when he collided with Conlin. Holland scored the Petes third goal, tieing up the score, on a pass from Williams outside the defence.

Corbeau came back 10 seconds later on a long, swift shot.

Lebarr was then peppered with shots from close range, anl at last Lott slapped one into the corner of the net.

Half a minute later Lott came back and pushed another one past Lebarr for their sixth counter, leaving the Petes with three.

For the last 8 minutes the Petes put up a wonderful battle, and only through hard luck were they robbed of several counters.

H. McDougal male a clever dash, his sho, missing the top of the net by a hairbreadth.

M. McDougal worked through the defence and right in on top of the goalies, who rushed out and blocked the shot, that looked like a sure goal.

Twenty seconds before the final gong, N. Collins duplicated McDougal's feat, but he could not push the puck past Garrison.

Final Score.

Oshawa 6, Peterborough 3.

SARANAC LAKE SPEED SKATING

Finish In 220-Yard Dash Almost a Dead Heat — Judges Conferred to Reach Decision.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., February 15 (Canadian Press). — Alfred Nuhfer of Saratoga Springs, won the 220-yard, and Paul Forsman, of New York, the one-mile event, at the opening here yesterday of the national amateur speed skating championships.

The 220-yard dash furnished the thrill of the afternoon, being nearly a dead heat between Nuhfer and Forsman. The judges conferred before reaching an agreement on the winner. To spectators the race appeared to be a tie. Both skaters fell just after passin the line in an exciting finish.

As the races were delayed an hour to permit the arrival of the Olympic team, which missed a train at New York, the mile event did not start until nearly dusk, and the lights about the rink were used.

This event was not as exciting as the opener, but there were several spills.

Charles Gorman, of St. John, N.B., came in third, but was disqualified on a technical foul.

It is expected that the half and three-quarter mile races will be run to-day, but the programme had not been definitely dtcided upon last night.

The summaries:

220 yards—Won by Alfred Nuhfer, Saratoga. Paul Forsman, New York, second; Charles Gorman, St. John, third. Time, 19 2-5.

One-mile — Won by Paul Forsman; Harry Kasky, Chicago, second; Edward Reed, Chicago, third. Time 2.46 4-5.

Point scores: Forsman, 50; Nuhfer, 30; Kasky, 20; Gorman, 10; and Reed, 10

INDIANS INCREASED LEAD

STRATFORD, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Stratford Indians increased their lead in the Senior O.H.A. big four group by defeating Galt Terriers here last night by 6 to 0. Redmen's combination and stickhandling was only feature of game, as visitors were unable to stop local attackers. Dolson in local goal turned in his best game of season and terriers gave him plenty to do, in their efforts to escape a blanking. Stratford scored half its goals in first and remainder in last, middle period going scoreless.

Marston Almost Missed Tourney

Decided Not To Play After Reporting To Chicago Days Too Soon For Event But Changed Mind.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

An agitated young man emerged from a hot, stuify telephone booth in Blackstone Hotel in Chicago in early September, moping his brow furiously.

"That settles it," he mumbled. "I'm going back home and I'll never play in a national golf championship again."

MARSTON

It was Max Marston of Philadelphia. Max's ire was aroused by the fact that he had come to Chicago ten days too early for the amateur classic. A change in the playing dates had been made and Marston wasn't notified.

Whether he went back home or stayed to practice is not a matter of public knowledge. But it is a matter of record that he ultimately won the championship, his first success in eight attempts.

Obviously, Marston was happy that he changed his mind and stayed for the battle—a battle which returned him triumphant over Jess Sweetser, defending champion, in a sensational 38-hole finals match.

Marston's campaign had its beginning back in 1914, Francis Ouimet beat him that year. The next year Bob Gardner beat him at Detroit The Ouimet-Gardner combination, incidentally, has been a scourge to Marston. The two of them, at different intervals whipped him in no fewer than five championships. Marston got a modicum of revenge at Flossmoor last fall by flattening Ouimet in a brilliant give-and-take fight.

Marstin is 32—old for an amateur champion— a splendid all-round golfer, one of the finest putters known to the game, and the equal of any in playing out of trouble.

The champion advocates the explosion shot in recovering from sand traps. "It's safer than a chip shot," says Marston, "because the player, taking a full swing, is less likely to look up, and looking up is what ruins most bunker shots. A firm, even stance is necessary. Do not merely stand on the sand. Wiggle your feet around in the sand until you feel comfortably balanced.

"Line the ball up with either your left toe or heel, depending upon the lie. Grip the club firmly, use an upright swing, and take the club back slowly. You are not to hit the ball. Strike about three inches back of it. Naturally you must take plenty of sand. The shorter the distance to the green or pin the more sand you take.

"Do not let the body power get into the shot too soon. The primary work is done by the forearms, the body effort comes next.

"And, finally, be sure to let the club head come all the way through the sand after the ball has been struck."

The NUT CRACKER

PLAYING THE WINTER RESORTS.

Sunstroke Beach, Fla.—Times are changing faster than gray hairs in henna dye factory. Used to be fashionable to stay home and brag about snow-edged weather you absorbed in unstinted quantities. Now if you don't go to Florida for winter you are social outcast and common as ham-and-egg orders in railroad station hashery.

Vacation time used to come in summer when weather was hotter than jazz dancers' heels. Now it comes whenever Uncle Henry feels his niblick needs exercise in southern sand traps or Aunt Molly runs out of conversational sparring partners on her home grounds.

By-laws of Amalgamated Order of Winter Resorters compel all masculine legs to slide unblushingly into knickers. Legs concealed in full-length pantaloons have no social standing in community and always arouse suspicion that the gents haven't much to show, if anything.

Trip to winter resorts is restful and educational. Gives you chance to study human nature in all its comical aspects. You get to see all the business princes and social quinces at play. This is always a quart-size treat. The delightful informality of the thing thrills you, like watching trained seals spear smoked herring at feeding time.

Why guys with long beards go around in short pants is bigger mystery than Mr. Doheny's beautiful friendship for Mr. Fall, and almost as funny. Now if the bare-knee flappers had started the idea we could see some reason for it.

Amazing thing about hardened resorters is terrific struggle they put up against having pictures taken for Sunday supplements. That's why you never see intimate robin's-eye view of Astorbilts on boardwalk, Rockefellers on links or Goulds on beach .....Not until you turn to Section Two, Column one, anyway.

All resort intimates go in for smoking on lavish and ornate scale. Fags must never be introduced to quivering aristocratic lips without formality of three-foot holder.

MYSTERIOUS SIGNS SILENCE KICKS; UMPIRE BELONGS TO SAME LODGE

BY BILLY EVANS

Umpire George Hilderbrand of the American League is a Mason and proud of it. Thereby hangs an interesting story that was put over by another American League staff of umpires.

On the way out to the ball park in Boston last summer, a passerby greeted Hilderbrand thusly "Hello, Noble." Hilderbrand's partner expressed ignorance and was informed that it was merely a greeting between Shriners, much after the manner the Elks greet each nother with a "Hello, Bill."

Hildebrand's partner then proceeded to paint a pretty word-picture as to what a great organization the Masons are. He dwelt on the fact that the Masons always had the reputation of sticking together in dristress.

That afternoon a particularly close play decided the ball game in favor of Boston. On the visiting club was about eight Shriners. When Hildebrand called the runner out at the plate with what would have tied up the game, Hildebrand was surrounded by visiting Shriners.

In the club house after the game, Hildebrand's partner asked him if the Masons didn't have some sign that it would be possible to give one another on the ball field in order to avert trouble like that of the afternoon.

Hildebrand rather indignantly said that on the ball field a fellow had to stand on his merit, that he couldn't ask for hedp or consideration from brother Shriners because of an adverse decision.

"Well, the reason I ask you that question," said the other umpire, "is because of several things that happened a few weeks ago while I was working with Bill Dineen and Dick Nalin. You know they belong to the Knights of Columbus, and several times when members of their organization started to protest close rulings that went against them, Nalin and Dinneen made some peculiar sign with their hands and that settled it, the players immediately returned to their position.

Hildebrand listened intently and expressed surprise that such was the case, saying there was nothing like that in Masonry. The umpire then wrote Nalin and Dinneen, explainin gthe situation and asking them to carry out the poke.

The ext time Nalin worked with

Hildebrand he made a lot of mysterious motions after every close decision. Dineen did likewise. Hildebrand was sure something was doing. One day after a particularly close decision at the plate against the Chicgo White Sox, Nallin started to wave his hands at Schalk and Ray began to protest. Only a slight kick was made.

In the dressing room that evening, Hildebrand asked Nalin what was the idea in making so many passes at Schalk, informing him that he was a Mason, not a Knights of Columbus.

"Those were Elk signs I passed to Schalk," said Nallin with a smile. "You know even us brother Elks always stick together on the ball field."

To this day, Hildebrand doesn't know whether he is being kidded or not.

West Point Cadets First Trip to Canada.

WEST POINT, N.Y., February 15 (Canadian Press). — The Army hockey squad will journey to Kingston, Ont., to-day, where it will play the Royal Military College of Canada on Saturday.

This is the first time an Army athletic team has competed outside the country.

Permission to make the trip was granted by the Secretary of War after invitation had been extended by the Canadian Government through the State Department in Washington.

Major-General Fred W. Sladen, the superintendent of the United States Military Academy, will accompany the West Point party, and will be the guest of Major-General MacDonnell, Commandant of the Royal Military College.

Joe Jackson Arrested On Charge of Jerjury.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., February 15 (Canadian Press). — Joe Jackson, former Chicago White Sox outfielder, was arrested by Judge John J. Gregory in the Circuit Court late here yesterday on a charge of perjury.

The action of Judge Gregory was taken a few minutes after Jackson's suit for $18,500 against the Chicago American League club was placed in the hands of the jury.

Jackson's bail was set at $5,000.

GOLF DRIVING CONTEST.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas., February 15 (Canadian Press) — W. G. Bucher, an amateur of Kansas City, won a golf driving contest here yesterday when he set the ball 289 yards, a yard farther than Jim Bares, New York pro, and former national open champion, who was second.

Arthur Gladstone Havers, British open champion was third, with 285 yards.

BRAMPTON OUT OF RUNNING

BRAMPTON, Feb. 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Hamilton put the locals out of the O.H.A. junior running here last night, when they won by 3 to 1, taking the round by 9 to 4. The game was peppery.

Both teams tried hard, but it was only a fair exhibition of hockey.

JUNIORS GOT SURPRISE.

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press.)— Milverton surprised the local O.H.A. juniors last night when they held them to a 6 to 2 score in the first game of the second round. Further than that the visitors led 2 to 1 at the end of the first period, and had visions of an Owen Sound team in the final nearly abandoned in the minds of fans.

BOWLING

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

Last night at Solomon's Alleys, in the Mercantile Five Pin League there was witnessed between the Nashua Paper and the Examiner three of the most sensational games ever witnessed in this league. The Nashua Paper took two out of three but only after some hard fought and strenuous battles. They won the last game by only four pins after both teams had rolled the sensationally high scores of 991 and 995. In the first game the Nashua Paper rolled a wonderfully high score of 1019 while in the second game the Examiner came right back and almost equalled the Nashua gangs high game by rolling 1004.

The Examiner set up a record for the Mercantile League when they rolled 2841 for their three games, while the Nashua crew rolled 2720. This is the best rolling that has been turned in in the Mercantile League and both teams lived up to the advance reports on the caliber of the games that were to be witnessed.

Without taking any credit away from the Nashua crew it might be said that the Examiners' team of last night were not the regulars, only one man of the regular team being there. But after last night's performance it can safely be said that the regulars will have a hard job getting their positions back after the scores set up by last nights' bowlers. This team on last night's play thoroughly justifes itself in remaining as the regular aggregation.

The bowlers sure turned in some great rolling. Leonard Hayward was high man of the evening rolling the wonderfully high score of 734 for his three games, and by so doing he smashed Al. Parker's high record of 701 for the league flying. Hayward was on last night, and he was hitting them dead and boy how they did spread. It just seemed as if that boy couldn't get nothing but strikes and when he finished he had the beautiful score of 734. Hayward rolled for his three games: 244, 276 and 214, and boy this is sure great rolling. He was ably assisted in his wild rampage by his team mate George Johnston who came through with another high score of 607 for his three games. The rest of the boys on the Examiner team rolled nice scores. For the Nashua outfit Ballard turned in three beautiful games for a total of 625, while Parker was right on his heels with 617 for his three. Fallon was just nine pins short of 600, he having 591 for his three games. The rest of the Nashua crew turned in good games. Parker had the high single of the evening with 281.

As can be noticed the boys were there and just take one more glance at those scores the Nashua's first game, the Examiner's second and the last game of both these teams and boy if you dont' think there good you should buy a one way ticket to the North Pole.

Following are the scores:

Examiner—
Johnson	176	230	201	—607

BRINTON CARPET LEAGUE

Last night in the Brinton Carpet League at Solomons' Alleys the Dominions took two out of three from the Carltons. Some nice bowling resulted from last night's games. Leether was high man for three games with a nice score of 618 and also had the high single of 211, in fact he rolled over 200 in every game which is good steady rolling. Roonley rolled 535. Following are the scores:

Dominions—

CITY TEN PIN LEAGUE

Last night in the City Ten Pin League the High Rollers pulled the unexpected and took two out of three from the Crescents. By so doing the High Rollers gave the Canadian Packing team undisputed possession of first place and also gave the Canadian Packing a royal chance to win the honors.

Some nice rolling was turned in, but not as good as was expected. Both teams were a little off color but the fans enjoyed the evening's entertainment given them by these two teams, as both aggregations fought three hard and close games. The Crescents just won the first game by seven pins.

J. C. Green was high man of the evening having a nice score of 567 for his three games. Alex Miller was next with 551 and Solomon rolled and even 500. Pigeon with 210 had the high single of the evening.

Following are the scores:

Crescents—
Rose	113	126	146	—383
Pigeon	210	154	124	—486
G. Green	133	131	...	—264

CANADIAN PACKING GIRLS WERE BOWLING.

A lot of girls from the Canadian Packing plant were over at Solomon's Alleys last night and had a great time bowling. Some nice scores were rolled by the girls, and they all seemed to enjoying themselves immensely and seem to take a lot of fun out of the game. These girls are visiting the alleys weekly and are fast becoming good bowlers.

MARMORA, Feb. 15.—In a Trent Valley High School League game last night Marmora defeated Tweed by 7-2 in what was conceded the best game seen here this winter. The score was 3-2 for Marmora at the end of the second, but in the third they walked away with it, and ran in four goals. A. Shannon was referee. The teams were:

Marmora: Goal, C. Neil; defence, Hughes and Murphy; c, Auger; r. w., R. Neal; l.w., Brady. Subs, Sweet and Wells.

NATIONALS LACK SOUTHPAWS.

Clarke Griffith bemoans the lack of southpaws on his Washington club. The veteran George Mogridge is the only dependable and he can only stand a limited amount of work.

ALL SAINTS' TEAM DEFEAT ST. PAUL'S

The All Saints' Church team went down to their second defeat in the Church League last night at the hands of the St. Paul's Church sextette when they were handed a trimming to the tune of 10 to 1

The Anglican outfit looked the better team at times, but in many cases when they were near the St. Paul's goal, they lacked the team play for a counter.

The St. Paul's sextette worked cleverly, covering up every hole in their line, every man working and doing his best

Rishor and Lewis, the net guardians for the teams, worked well, although Lewis had the breaks in the game.

Avin Davis refereed satisfactorily. Following were the line-ups:

St. Paul's — Goal, Rishor; defence Henry and Fraser; wings, McDonald and Deyell; centre, Pogue; sub., M. McDonald.

All Saints — Goal, Lewis; defence, Warde, Hope; wings, Parrington and Frost; centre, McGill; subs., Gimblett, Griffin, and Jay.

RUTH AT HOT SPRINGS.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., February 15 (Canadian Press) — Babe Ruth, New York Yankees' premier slugger, arrived in Hot Springs yesterday from his Sudbury, Mass., farm, for his annual 'boiling out" and battle against surplus weight.

Ruth appeared to be in splendid condition, and is already without a great eal of the avoirdupois that he brought to Hot Springs last year.

The slugger said he had only about 15 pounds to remove.

SKI CHAMPIONS.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., February 15 (Canadian Press). — Three national amateur ski champions emerged last night from the first day's competition of the National Ski Association tournament here

Rolf Mangseth, of the Itaska Ski Club, Coleraine, Minn., won the boys' jump title; Gunner Michelson, New Hampshire University, became the inter-collegiate titlist, for the jump, and Robert Reid, of the Nansen Ski Club, Berlin, N.H., carried off the honours in the 10-mile cross-country race.

JUNIORS WERE LUCKY

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Overwhelming favorites to win by 3 or more goals, University of Toronto Juniors were rather lucky to hold Aura Lee to a 2 to 2 tie in first game for group honors played last night. Aura Lee had best of argument during greater part of game especially in second and final periods Aura Lee scored their two goals in second period but neither team could dent twine in final session. Return game will be played to-morrow afternoon.

WILL NOT TRY PITCHING

George Sisler ridicules the idea that he intends to take up big league pitching again. Sisler says that if his eye trouble makes is impossible for him to perform at first, he is through with the playing end of the game.

HOYT STILL PEEVED.

Report has it that Waite Hoyt is still a trifle peeved about Manager Huggins failed to start him again after he was knocked out of the box in the first game of the 1923 world series.

The International League batting averages reveal the fact that the first four hitters were left handers. The first 10 leaders were evenly divided.

THE FIRST DIVISION

When Donie Bush, the mite manager, brought Washington into fourth place last season, he turned a tric that the Nationals have only accomplished on six other occasions. For in all the years that the Capital hamlet has had a team in the American League it has landed in the select section just seven times. Three seasons it has finished in fourth place, two in third and two in second. Like the St. Louis Browns, Washington has yet to annex its first pennant.

VANCE STARTS SOUTH

"Dazzy" Vance, strikeout king of the National League, is the first ball player to start south. The Brooklyn twirler is en route to Florida in his "flivver." His destination is Clearwater, where the Dodgers will train. Due to the uncertainties of touring in a "fliv" Vance believes in getting an early start.

WALKER REAL STAR

Manager Art Fletcher of the Phillies regards Outfielder Curt Walker, secured from the Giants, as a better man than any New York fielder with the exception of Young.

WORRIED ABOUT RIGNEY

Manager Cobb of Detroit is worried over reports from Texas that Shortstop Rigney is having hip trouble that may handicap his play, possibly keep him out of the game for some time.

S.P.S. BOYS CLASH WITH LINDSAY C.I.

On the Broek Street Rink Tomorrow Afternoon For the Eastern Championship.

The Lindsay Collegiate Institute team, carrying with them five of this year's Junior O.H.A. players, will invade Peterboroughtt to-morrow and clash with the local S.P.S. boys, who put the P.C.I. team out of the running and defeated the Lindsay boys on their own ice by the score of 3 goals to 1, giving them a two goal lead on the round.

To-morrow's game will decide which team will meet Markham, and a good game is assured the fans. The Lindsay boys are confident of a win and will likely bring a large crowd of rooters with them, while on the other hand the local puck chasers, who will have Neil Collins and Jack Lebarr of the Peterborough juniors, on their line-up, have been practising steadily. The game is called for 1 o'clock.

NO BREAK IN UNION AS MINERS GO BACK

SYDNEY, N. S. Feb 15.—(Canadian Press).—Acceptance of the new wage contract of miners in U.M.W. District 26 now seems a certainty. At various meetings of the United Mine workers locals in Cape Breton last night the mine workers decided to return to work under the new wage scale secured at Montreal this week.

Resolution adopted at these meetings carried the provision that the miners would return to pits only when the majority decided to accept the contract. In other words, there will be no break in the union ranks.

Dominion Number 1, is working to-day and most of the other pits will resume operations to-night.

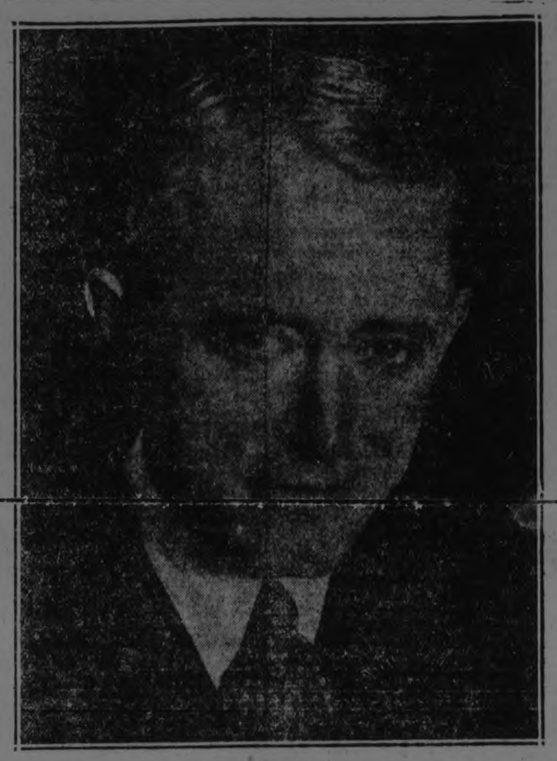
CHASED FROM THE RACE TRACK WANTS $20,000 DAMAGES

WELLAND, Feb. 15.—Ethan Allan Heller of Buffalo sued the Niagara Racing Association at Fort Erie for $20,000 damages for ejection from the race-course there.

The defendant claims that if plaintiff was ejected from the course it was done by persons who had no authority to do so.

SLUGGER FOR ATHLETICS

In Max Bishop, secured from Baltimore, Connie Mack adds another slugger to the Athletics. Bishop, with 22 home runs, tied Webb of Buffalo for circuit swat honors.



GEORGE M. COHAN, FAMOUS AUTHOR AND PRODUCER OF INTERNATIONAL SUCCESSES.

"SO THIS IS LONDON."

In a contest for the capital prize for the creator of wholesome stage humor, it isn't likely there would be but a single entry, and that one, the inimitable Geo. M. Cohan. To the theatre-going public of the entire country, and even of conservative London, where he has received the homage of King and common, his name unqualifiedly conveys par in popular stage diversion. "The Cohan Brand" is a slogan that invariably tests the capacity of the theatre, and this season is adding laurels by the presentation of "So This Is London," which ran all of last season at the Hudson Theatre, New York, and is now delighting our English cousins at the Prince of Wales Theatre in London. It is said to be rich and abundant in whimsical humor and charm that makes for genuine and hearty entertainment, and the master hand of Cohan is evident all through it. It satirizes in a delightful way the generally accepted idea of the pro-American abroad and his cousin, the pro-Britain. It is a comedy designed to make the two great English-speaking countries understand each other better for having had a good laugh at each other's expense.

The reason for the great success of "So This Is London," can be told in a few words. It is everything that most of the present-day alleged comedies are not. It brings a wealth of clean, everyday comedy designed to produce genuine laughter without recourse to the risque and the vulgar appeal. It has a little mission to perfrom, that of fostering a better feeling between Americans and Englishmen, and does it so cleverly that there is not the slightest tinge of preaching or exhortation. There is a satisfying love story without a villain or a third angle. It is the kind of a play that can be unqualifiedly recommended to one's best friend.

The company which Mr. Cohan is sending here is the specially organized city production, including Allen H. Moore, Ralph Locke, William Dean, Reginald Carrington, Donald Hall, Eugene Shakespere, William Hasson, Blossom O'Bryan, Marjorie Dalton, Eugenie DuBois, Barbara Allen and others.

Curling News

The four scheduled games played last night on the curling rink were very good exhibitions of curling. The only game of the evening that was not close was the one between H. F. Foote and R. F. Downey, the former winning by 10 shots. E. L. Bowes and J. Skinner put up the closest competition of the evening, the latter being nosed out by 2 shots. J. H. Connall's score showed a decrease of 3 shots when compared with J. W. McDermid's, while G. B. Boucher won from J. D. Moore by 5 shots. The following is the personnel of the rinks and their results.

The lady curlers who journeyed to Montreal this week made a very creditable showing for themselves and for Peterboro. Matched against some of the strongest rinks attending the Bonspiel, they were beaten in their first effort only on the last end of a fifteen-end game, in much the same fashion as they met defeat last year. The Outremont rink which conquered them after a hard-fought battle, with a score of 10-12, was easily victorious over a Toronto rink the next day, defeating their opponents from the Queen City by a score of 15-9.

In the preliminary round, the rinks were:

Outremont.	Peterboro.

The ladies' Tankard competitions take place in Toronto next week. It is probable that two rinks of local lady curlers will attend, when they commence at half-past nine o'clock on Wednesday morning, Feb. 20th, at the Oakwood Club, Christie Street. These two rinks will be skipped by Mrs. W. H. Hill and Miss F. Gladman. The personnel will be announced later.

Its dates changed by turning its handle, a rubber stamp has been patented that, including its inking pad, can be carried in a vest pocket.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"The Unwanted Child,' 'Florence Edna May's sensational success which comes to the Grand for two days commencing today is a happy combination of comedy romance and drama, with superlative settings. If all the world loves a lover, a large section of that world despises the adventures of a dissolute and intriguing lover and what does this same world think of his accomplice? Florence Edna May, celebrated authoress, had this in mind when she wrote "The Unwanted Child."

The play is a fine bit of dramatic craftmanship, and its cast presents it with such consummate artistic skill that it will compel theatregoers to extol its merits on every street corner; for there is a thrill in "The Unwanted Child"—a thrill so effectively woven into the play that it carries the spectator to the pinnacle of surprise dramatics. It has become a tradition that a Florence Edna May play brings a sure prospect of an evening in the company of skilled artists. Also that it means something superior in the judgment this authoress has in the settings, in the use of lights and in the effects to sunulate nature, all parts of which is recognized by the term "atmosphere."

An onlooker tells us Miss May seems to reach the high point of her play in the earlier scenes, expressed with much naturalness and directness. While in the last act her emotional tensity has dramatic force, it is as the affectionate maiden of the first act and the distracted bride parting with her love for the sake .....? Seats are now on sale.

Grand Opera House eight-piece orchestra will render several selections.

AT THE CAPITOL

There are plenty of laughs in the Capitol enfertainment for this week-end. They begin with the comedy, "Boys to Board," and continue on uninterruptedly through the funniness and humor of "Squibs, M.P.," one of the likeable Betty Balfour pictures. Squibs is the lady who won the hearts of her movie audiences as a London flower-girl, who captured the Calcutta sweepstakes prize, and went to Paris for a gay holiday with her incorrigible old dad. In "Squibs, M.P.," she is having a wonderful time in Parisian dressmaking establishments, where she meets Miss Fitzbulge, a corpulent lady intent on the subjugation of Squibs' father. With the peculiar twist that the Betty Balfour pictures employ to such good effect, the two ladies become engaged in a "milk" war. Miss Fitzbulge has a thriving milk business, which Squibs' father momentarily mistakes, through her references to the "drink of the poor" for something stronger, and Squibs immediately goes into the same business, in competition with the lady for whom she has conceived a strong dislike. Squibs attends a bal masque as a "Czecho Eskimo" officer, and fights a poison duel with her own father. Later, she has a fierce fistic battle with the Fitzbulge lady, and when she finds that the fat spinster is about to run for Parliament, she decides to put up Charlie Lee, her policeman lover, as an opponent, and they have a wonderful time canvassing for him. Squibs employs rotten eggs to drive Miss Fitzbulge from a platform where she is making a political speech. There are some interesting scenes here, showing the Londoners going to vote, the huge 'busses draped with electioneering placards, and Squibs, in her flower girl attire of short skirt, small hat and shawl, in the forefront. An attempt at the last moment by Squibs' father to bribe a voter shoves Charlie out of the running, and Squibs is put in at the last moment, and elected. Her maiden speech in Parliament gives the producers an opportunity for a unique setting in the House itself, with its benches packed with members.

Later, another turn is given the production by the party's visit to an aristocratic mansion for a week-end stay, when Squibs' dad attempts to shake hands with the butler, and otherwise distinguishes himself. A ghost-haunted wing leads to one of the most laughable incidents of a hilarious production, and incidentally to the retrieving by Squibs of a decade of life of which her father has shorn her in a characteristic manner.

The English ways and manners, the English conversation, the buoyancy and life of Betty Balfour, and the funny ways in which episodes are handled in these pictures, makes much of their interest and charm for Canadian audiences. They are quite different to the ordinary run of feature picture, and correspondingly interesting.

The comedy is a particularly good example of the art of Hal Roach's rascals, the group of juvenile players who seem to enjoy their fun so thoroughly. The little freckled and blackfaced and fat laddies are out in a boarding-home with a bad-tempered matron, whose husband, a mild little man, joins the lads in a runaway adventure that leads them to a bootlegger's den and subsequent hair-raising episodes.

AT THE ROYAL

"PENROD AND SAM" IS PERFECT ENTERTAINMENT.

In writing about "Penrod and Sam," a picture which opened an engagement at the Royal Theatre yesterday, one is tempted to call it one hundred per cent. perfect. This reviewer forgot that he was there in an official capacity, so potent was the feature's appeal to him. And as he is writing this, smiles are playing around the corners of his mouth and involuntary chuckles are interrupting the business at hand.

Of one thing we are certain—the next time we see advertised a picture written by Booth Tarkington and directed by William Beaudine we will mortgage the house or sell the automobile, if it is necessary to do so, to gain admission. These geniuses have created a photodrama that is without a doubt one of the finest that the screen has ever offered. It does not contain any million dollar sets and there is no "eternal triangle" in it, but it is entertainment in a superlative degree.

The story is one about boys—the kind of boys you meet every day, the mischievous urchins who get on your nerves at times but who captivate your heart withal. And this picture proves that their activities, games and lives form as fascinating drama as any concerning adults.

Here is a picture that you will want to see more than once. Here is a picture that will make you laugh with a heartiness of which you did not suspect you were capable—and then bring a tear to your eyes—no matter who you may be. The picture aims at your heart and it strikes the mark.

Benny Alexander is cast as Penrod and Joe Butterworth plays the part of Sam. They make you forget that they are acting before the camera, so natural are they in their roles.

Not only do we recommend that you see "Penrod and Sam," but we urge you to do so.

VAUDEVILLE ALSO MAKES HIT AT ROYAL.

Bob White offers a novelty whistling and singing act at the Royal that we consider worth the admission price alone. It is the best act of its kind we remember seeing, or rather hearing. The Orpheus Male Comedy Four is also out of the beaten track of vaudeville. There is a lot of travesty and fun and some very good harmony singing in their offering. It's a good show all through.

AT THE REGENT

Romance and action, typical of Dustin Farnum pictures, mark the Fox production of "The Grail," which opened a three-day engagement at the Regent Theatre last night. A capable cast larger than the ordinary western picture requires, gives Farnum admirable support. Peggy Shaw, former Follies beauty plays opposite Farnum, as the Texas clergyman's daughter with whom the young Ranger is in love.

Sworn at his father's death bed to face duty despite all else, the Ranger is called upon to arrest a youth near and dear to his sweetheart. Torn between love and duty, he remembers his father's warning and follows that stern advice, risking love and life itself in the cast. But in the end of course, kind fate turns the tables and it is proven again that the call of duty may not be overlooked.

The story was written by George Scarborough after careful study of the traditions o the Texas mounted police. Dustin Farnum, familiar with his west and its ways, is ideal in the part assigned to him and other memb ehtosre atscf members of the cast are equally well placed. Among them are Alma Bennett, Virginia Warwick, Leon Barry Ethel Wales, Richard Headrick, Carl Stockdale Jack Rollins and others.

INFORMATION VAGUE.

LONDON, Feb. 15. — It was stated in official quarters this morning that there was no information indicating as stated in the published reports, that James O'Grady, Labour Member of Parliament for Southwest Leeds, was not going to Moscow as the British ambassador.

ANOTHER KISSING MATCH

SAVANAH, Ga., Feb. 15.—"Young Stribling will meet Mike McTigue, the world's light heavyweight champion in a six round no decision bout on March 31, in Jersey City," it is officially announced by "Pa" Stribling, father and manager.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
Is Pleased to Announce the Engagement of George M. Cohan's
International Comedy Success
SO THIS IS LONDON

For Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22-23, with Matinee Saturday. This will beyond doubt prove the outstanding comedy event of the season. It ran for a year at the Hudson Theatre, New York and has just closed a year's engagement at the Prince of Wales Theatre London. The company that will appear here is the same that just concluded a week's engagement at the Royal Alexandra, Toronto, where the press proclaimed it the most wholesome and laughable comedy seen there in years. Mail order will be received at once and the management suggests the early purchase of seats.

Society

The local lady curlers who went to Montreal this week for the Ladies' Bonspiel, were among those entertained by their Montreal hostesses. The Montreal Gazette of Wednesday's issue says:

The tea and reception given yesterday afternoon by the local Ladies' Curling Clubs at the Montreal Curling rink, in honour of the visiting ladies who are in town attending the annual Bonspiel was very largely attended and a most enjoyable social event. The guests were received by Mrs. E. A. Whitehead, Mrs. G. K. White, Mrs. W. F. A. Magee, Mrs. E. B. Hastings and Mrs. G. H. Cornell, and during the afternoon an orchestra rendered selections. The long tea table, which was decorated with silver trophies filled with yellow tulips, daffodils, and white jonquils, interspersed with potted ferns, was presided over by the folowing ladies who took turns in pouring tea and coffee throughout the hours from 4 to 6 o'clock: Mrs. Robert Paul, Mrs. Charles Hare, Mrs. G. H. Park, Mrs. J. Gordon, Mrs. R. Dettmers, Mrs. H. McBride, Mrs. J. J. Sophus and Mrs. C. Trenholme. Assisting in serving were Miss G. Waud, Miss McComb, Mrs. J. A. Annett, Mrs. MacGillvray, Mrs. H. Adams, Mrs. Murdock, Mrs. A. MacLean, Mrs. Peter MacLaughlin, Mrs. C. Goulden, Mrs. H. B. Miller, Mrs. C. E. Houston and Mrs. H. Lucas.

Ladies from Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick clubs were among those entertained. Peterborough ladies mentioned included Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. R. H. Turner, Mrs. H. W. Cressman, Mrs. W. J. Oke, and the Misses E. Morrow, Helen Munroe, F. Gladman, M. Neill.

The Golden Link Rebekah Lodge No. 81, I.O.O.F., held a very pleasant dance and card party in the G.W.V.A. Hall last evening, attended by nearly two hundred people. Valentine decorations, in bright red hearts and cutouts, made a pretty setting. Excellent music was provided by Ken Blood's orchestra from Port Hope. The guests were received by the Noble Grand, Miss May Caird, and the patronesses: Mrs. Wm. Hartley, Mrs. B. Watt, Mrs. E. Morton, Mrs. Chas. Wylie and Mrs. D. W. Clark. Mrs. Robert Martin had charge of the card tables and Mrs. Wm. Freeburn supervised the service of dainty refreshments.

Miss Regina Vallincourt of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matthews.

The many friends of Mrs. J. D. Richardson, St. James' parsonage, who has been ill for some time, will be pleased to learn that her condition is improving.

The talent tea which was to have been held in the parsonage of St. James' Methodist church, was held yesterday afternoon in the church parlor, on account of the illness of Mrs. Richardson. There was a good attendance and the ladies were very pleased with the success of their tea. The parlor was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations. The president of the society, Mrs. A. Wilson, received the guests in her usual bright way. Those assisting were Mrs. R. Stokes, convenor of the social department of the society, and Mesdames Sergeant, Pratt, James, Rowe, Prest, Saunders, Kitney. A musical programme, in charge of Mrs. T. Brown, was much enjoyed, and included instrumental selections by Miss Mary Wood, Miss Florence Saunders and Miss Olive Prest, and vocal solos by Mrs. E. McKinstry, Mrs. H. Doig and Mrs. E. Kitney.

TRANSIENT TRADER ANNOYS MERCHANTS

Deputation Says Hawkers Have Advantage in Not Paying Taxes.

TORONTO, February 15. Feb. 15. —Urging the introduction of a private bill which would, if passed by the House, bring about drastic changeses as far as the retail trade is concerned, a deputation of the Retail Merchants' Association waited on Hon. Lincoln Goldie, and Hon. Geo. Henry at the Parliament Buildings this morning.

The deputation which was promised consideration of its request, urged the introduction of a bill which was presented in draft form, which would amend the Hawkers and Peddlers and Transient Traders Act.

It was pointed out that at present hawkers and door to door peddlers had a tremendous advantage over the legitimate retail trader, owing to the fact that the latter was subjected to all forms of taxation while the transient trader paid taxes to no one.

The bill would provide that the arrying samples from door to door and taking orders for others than retail merchants or wholesalers would be an offense unless license fees, set out by the bill, were paid to the municipal treasurer.

The sale of bread and milk in municipalities would be exempted under the measure.

RANEY INSISTS ON ASKING QUESTIONS

Wants to Know if Any Member of Government Promised Referendum.

TORONTO, February 15. — W. E. Raney is still asking questions on the legislative order paper relative to O.T.A. matters.

To-day he asked if any member of the government before the last election made a promise that if the Conservatives were elected there would be a liquor referendum.

He wants to know who made it, where and when—if such a statement was made.

J. G. Lethbridge, E. Middlesex, also asked if the government intends to introduce legislation this session, looking to improvement of hotel conditions in the province.

OSHAWA JUNIORS ARE THROWN OUT

Bowmanville Will Meet Local Juniors Here on Monday Night.

Word was received this afternoon from the O.H.A. that the Oshawa Juniors have been thrown out as the result of the protest entered against them by Bowmanville, and the latter team has been declared group champions.

This means that the Junior Petes' trip to Oshawa last night was wasted—except for the experience and practice gained.

They will now play Bowmanville, the first game here on Monday night and the return in Bowmanville on Wednesday.

The Bowmanville team held Oshawa to a tie in the group race, and were only beaten out by a narrow margin in the play-off. They will give the Petes a big argument for the honours, and the local youngsters will have to be on their toes all the way.

J. Cummings, of Toronto, will referee the game.

There is nothing in the North Toronto protest against Cowie of Markham, as that player's case has already been considered by the O.H.A., and the Markham-Peterborough series will go through as announced, the first game in Markham on Monday and the return game here on Wednesday.

H. H Jacobi, of Toronto, will handle the bell.

NINE UNIONS INVOLVED BY TWELVE THOUSAND MEN OF THE DOCKERS

Great Number of Transport Workers May Be Affected By Strike That Threatens to Tie Up the Whole Industry — Labor Minister's Mediation Failed to Bridge Differences.

REJECTED SHILLING.

LONDON, February 16. — Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts Minister of Labor Shaw has made during the past few days to bring about a settlement of the dispute beween the dock workers and their employers, it has been impossible to unravel the tangled skein, and last evening the dock workers ordered their men on strike to-day at noon, in all ports of the United Kingdom.

The collapse of the negotiations arose out of the refusal of the employers to make any advance over the terms they offered the dockers last Monday, an increase of one shilling ad va in the wages of the men, and an inquiry into the question of the "decasualization" of dock labor. The dockers rejected the offer.

Delegates of the National Council of Port Laborers' Association from various cities, who have been attending conferences here, are postponing their return home at the special request of Minister of Labor Shaw, who intended to hold another conference to-day to be attended by delegates from both sides to the controversy. It was explained last night however that this conference would not have the effect of postponing the putting of the strike into effec.

Blames Employers.

The breakdown of the negotiations is attributed by the dockers mainly to the attitude of the London employers who refuse to grant any concessions on the subject of decasualization, except another inquiry.

The dock men also are equaly as firm in insisting on their demands for a two shillings advance in wages.

Unsteady Unemployment.

This second great industrial strike in the short life of the new Labor Government will, it is believed, be of great embarrassment to the Ministers at a moment when they apparently had made a favorable impression on Parliament and the country.

Contrary to the recent railway strike, the dockers will have a certain measure of public sympathy. Casual labor at the docks has been an admitted grievance which constantly has been cropping up during the last quarter of a century. It has been partially remedied from time to time but never disappeared entirely.

Minister of Labor Shaw made public the provisions of a bill which will be introduced in Parliament shortly by Ben Smith, and which will be sponsored by Ben Tillett and other Labor leaders. It aims at decasualization of dock and waterside labor, but it is considered that its fate will be uncertain in the present Parliamen. The bill provides that a joint council of employers and workers shall frame a port registration and insurance plan under which all dockers shall be registered and be guaranteed a certain weekly wage. Each port would have its insurance fund to which every registered worker would contribute, while the government would make a contribution to it on the same scale as under the existing unemployment insurance act. In the event of the employers and the workers failing to agree to furnish the necessary machinery to put the law into effect, the bill would give the Minister of Labor large powers to enforce the execution of the Provisions of the Act.

The employers issued an official statement last night in which it is asserted that they offered to submit the question of an advance of two shillings in the wages of the men to arbitration.

Serious Situation.

A strike of the dock workers in the British Isles undoubtedly will bring about a serious situation. Not only are the 12,000 dockers involved, but also an immense number of other workers, including railwaymen and men engaged in transport work connected with the dock industry belonging to nine different unions.

Should the strike eventually come into effect all these men will be rendered idle.

Recently the National Union of Railway Men of Great Britain promised full support to the dockers in case they went on strike. The statement of this union asserted that its members would decline to handle freight coming from the docks, and that the union also would deal with any question of "blackleging."

It has been asserted that an increase of two shillings a day in the pay of the dockers would cost the employers about 2,000,000 pounds annually.

Farmer Homeless By Morning Fire

OWENBROOK, Feb. 14.—(Apsley Correspondence.)—The farm house occupied by Mat. Caru at Purdeyville was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning. The occupants made up the fire early and returned to bed, and some time later awakened to find the roof ablaze. Nothing was saved of the contents, and the occupants were fortunate in escaping with their lives.

WHEAT TARIFF ALREADY HIGH

Just As Prohibitive As Any Further Increase By United States Can Make It, Says Hon. J. A. Robb.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press). —While Cabinet Ministers yesterday refrained from any official comment on the proposed increase in the United States wheat duties, the general feeling here is that the present duty constitutes a prohibitive tariff so far as Canadian wheat is concerned.

When shown an Associated Press despatch quoting President Coolidge's opinion that the present duty of thirty cents a bushel probably will have to be increased, Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, expressed the opinion that the present duty would be just as prohibitive as any further increase can make it. "Of course," said Mr. Robb, "the United States has a right to impose any duty it sees fit, but I think thirty cents a bushel is already prohibitive."

The Prime Minister and the Minister of Agriculture reserved comment until some official notice reaches them of the proposed increase.

NEW MEMBER TO OPEN THE HOUSE

F. L. Kelly, Liberal For Cape Breton, Receives Honor Following Tradition—Last Elected Government Supporter.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The first formal speech in the Canadian House of Commons this session will be delivered by F. L. Kelly, Liberal member for North Cape Breton and Victoria (Nova Scotia). According to the tradition which gives this honor to the last elected Government supporter, Mr. Kelly has been chosen to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. His motion will be seconded by T. A. Lapierre, Liberal member for Nipissing (Ontario).

Mr. Kelly was elected to the House of Commons in July last to represent the seat made vacant through the elevation of Hon. E. D. McKenzie to the bench. Mr. Lapierre was elected in Nipissing in 1921.

METHODISTS IN FAVOR OF UNION

Saskatchewan Private Bills Committee Told Only Opposition Came From Some Presbyterian Congregations.

REGINA, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Opponents of the Church Union Bill did not get a chance to voice their arguments at Friday's session of the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature, it being decided to adjourn the hearing for one week, when their side will be heard.

Rev. A. J. Tuffs, speaking in favor of the bill for the Methodists, said he did not know of any organized opposition by the Church in any part of Canada. Other speakers stressed the point that the opposition came only from certain Presbyterian congregations. It developed that the Congregational churches in Saskatchewan had voted unanimously for union, and with respect to Congregational churches in Canada, only those who have voted in favor, 96 per cent., are affected by the bill.

British Columbia Is Eager For Preference.

VANCOUVER, B.C., February 16 (Canadian Press). — British Columbia, through its Agent-General in London, has put before both the House of Lords and the House of Commons its views on inter-Empire trade in the form of a memorandum on the proposed preference on fruit and canned salmon.

It urges that other nations are waging a commercial war on British-made goods, making it imperative that, in every way compatible with the policy of the various Governments, preference should be granted on British products.

CANARY KILLED IN SMOKY FIRE

Dog Was on Verge of Collapse When Fire Chief Gimblett Came to Rescue--Shed Gutted This Morning.

This morning when the thermometer was registering many degrees below zero the Peterboro firemen were aroused from their beds by an larm from Box 15. When they arrived at 172 Wescott street, where the fire was they found a shed at the rear of the dwelling about 50 feet long and 25 feet wide in a mass of flames.

The flames which were high into the sky had caught the house and were making good headway. The firemen arrived in time to save the house but the shed was gutted and the roof burned off. The loss has not yet been estimated.

At 4.15 yesterday afternoon they received a telephone call and also Box 16 was pulled. The fire was in the kitchen of the dwelling at 294 Lake street and was caused by an overheated stove that was situated too close to the wall. The fire damage was small but the damage by smoke will be considerable. A canary was smothered to death and a dog was also on the verge of collapse when it was found by the chief and carried out into the fresh air.

The firemen were also called out to a chimney fire at 7.12 last evening at 134 and 136 Simcoe street. No damage was done.

Quebec Drys Split And Work Suffers

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—"Ever since our forces have been divided, the temperance work in the province has, to use a slang expression, all gone to the dogs," declared S. J. Carter, president of the Quebec branch of the Dominion Alliance at its 45th annual meeting here Friday. The tone of the meeting was pessimistic, the general opinion being that the launching of a prohibition offensive in the province will have to wait until the bodies at variance compose their difficulties and inaugurate a settled and unified policy. At present the Quebec prohibition federation contests the provincial field with the Alliance.

Mr. Carter in his annual presidential address criticized the Quebec Government for repealing the Canada Temperance Act in the counties of Missisquoi and Stanstead.

A MORATORIUM MAY BE GIVEN

One Solution of the Present Tangle Over Reparations.

PARIS, Feb. 16. — (By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Correspondent).—It is believed that the conference of experts headed by General Dawes of the United States which has just completed its investigation into Germany's capacity to pay reparations will report to the Commission of Reparations about March 1st, after which a plenary conference will be held in Paris.

The experts have just returned from Berlin, and correspondents in the German capital understand they have arranged a complete program for the solution of the tangled reparations problem which has harrassed Europe ever since the Paris Peace Conference.

While the program of the experts is guarded carefully, it is understood that their recommendations will include:

1. A two-year moratorium for Germany.
2. Economic liberation of the Ruhr and Rhineland, without disturbing the military occupation.
3. German reparations payments on a scale depending on the excess of her experts over imports.

BRITISH AIRMEN PREPARING FOR NEW ADVENTURE

ROUTE MAPPED OUT.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— Gasoline, oil and supply depots will be established along the coast of Alaska among the Aleutian islands and in Japan for the benefit of the British airmen who will attempt the round-the-world flight in the spring. The work of placing these depots will be undertaken by H. M. C. minesweeper Thiepval which leaves Esquimault on February 28. The Thiepval will carry Lieut. Col. L. E. Brooms, organizer and supply officer of the flight and will be absent on the cruise for nearly three months.

Through the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force, the British airmen will be assisted from Yokahama to St. John's, Newfoundland, nearly half way round the world. The Canadian Air Force is in charge of all details of the cross-Canada part of the flight.

The Thiepval on leaving Esquimault, will proceed to Alaska where depots will be established at Fort Wrangell, Yakutat, Cordova, Port Chatham and Chignik on the Alaska peninsula. In the Aleutian Islands there will be depots at Dutch Harbor, Nazan Bay, Chapel Cove, Kisska Harbor and Chicagoff Harbor. Supplies will be left in the Komandorski Islands, at Myedni Island and Nicholski anchorage. Leaving the islands the Thiepval will go to the Lower Kamohatka River and Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula. Then down the Kurile Islands calling at Cod Bay, Onekotaw Island, Broughton Bay, Yeteroup Island and her last port of call is at Nemora, the northern islands of Japan.

Lieut. W. R. Beech, R.C.N., will command the Thiepval and Lieut. A. R. Pressely, R.C.N., will be second in command.

Silk Smuggler at Cornwall Caught

CORNWALL, Feb. 16.—Local customs officials made the haul of a trunk at the C.N.R. depot a few days ago which contained silks to the value of about $1,500, which weer being sent to Montreal after being smuggled across the line. The man in charge is alleged to be Morris Rosen of Montreal and Thursday night he settled with the officials by making out a cheque for over $1,800 in payment for the goods, duty and sales tax.

An ingenious scheme was worked to get the goods through. The silk was stored in a farm house near Bombay across the river, and was brought over in small parcels and collected at a farm house eight miles east of Cornwall. When a sufficient quantity was in store to fill a trunk or two, the silk was sent on to Montreal. It is suspected that in the last three months at least a dozen trunks have gone through in this manner.

PARKS COMMITTEE PASSED ESTIMATE

Discussed Leasing of Riverside Park and Heard Deputation Regarding Armour Hill Park.

The Parks Committee of the City Council last night drew up its estimates for the year, heard a deputation from the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham asking relief from taxes, and decided to ask the athletic organisations in the city to make offers for Riverside Park for the summer.

One request had already been received, and some members of the committee thought this application should be given consideration without asking for others, and the chairman's vote was required to break a tie.

The advisability was discussed of erecting monuments at the entrances of the parks to the memory of the late Charlotte Nicholls, benefactress of the city, and a start was decided on for 1924.

Want Taxes Remitted.

A deputation consisting of Miss Isabel Morgan, Mrs. R. H. Parsons, and Mrs. T. H. Glover from the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham, with reference to Armour Hill Park, said the League would like to use the money spent last year on taxes for other purposes. There will be no money realised from rent this year since it is planned to plant 5,000 trees, and cattle could not be pastured there.

The League intends to do a little development every year

Mayor Turner suggested using the gravel from the Hunter Street side of the park to fill in Riverside Park, and thus make a trade by which the taxes would be reduced.

The deputation requested that the Women's League be relieved of the payment of the 137.00 taxes and the water rates amounting to $25.00 a year.

The chairman, Alderman E. M. Turner, and the Mayor were appointed a committee to consider the matter.

No Street Car Reduction.

H. L. Seymour wrote regarding town planning and offering his services to the city.

A letter from the Hydro-Electric Commission saying it is impossible to reduce the rates on street cars, created some discussion.

Ald. Meyers suggested it is better not to annoy the Commission in view of the losses they are carrying.

Mayor Turner suggested a conference with the H. E. P. C.

Ald. Crowe said a few years ago Sir Adam Beck was willing to set a price for the city's purchase.

Mayor Turner and Ald. Phelan proposed that a request be sent to the commission that a representa-

TWO WITNESSES NAMED BY JURY FOR SAME CRIME

Man and Woman Placed Under Arrest For Murder at Conclusion of Trial of Their Confederates in a Montreal Flat Robbery—Victim Betrayed By the Woman.

CHOKED TO DEATH.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16. — Edward Frellier and Alfred Duguay, were found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Arthur Bergeron yesterday in the Court of King's Bench, and were sentenced to be hanged on May 16th.

Alfred Duguay and a girl, Corinne St. Jean, who had been held as material witnesses, were yesterday recommended by the jury to be hanged with murder in the same case.

Mrs. Bergron was strangled in her house on Beaudry street, on January 26, 1922.

Story of Crime.

The murder of Mrs. Arthur Bergeron, a woman 59 years of age, was committed on January 26, 1822, at 328 Beaudry street, in the east section of the city, where she kept a flat.

Corinne St. Jean frequently visited Mrs. Bergeron at this house and evidence at the trial was to the effect that she was intimate with Frellier.

Frellier, Dagenais and Duguay were known to the police. According to Duguay's evidence, the three men and Corinne St. Jean met on January 26, 1922, at 275 St. Lawrence Boulevard, where Frellier roomed, and decided to rob Mrs. Bergeron. Duguay said that Corinne St. Jean was to signal to them and that they were then to come upstairs to Mrs. Bergeron's flat It was, he said, arranged to have a mock gagging of the St. Jean woman and according, he declared, that he bound her lightly with torn pieces of a bed sheet when the Beaudry street house was entered. He affirmed that Frellier jumped on Mrs. Bergeron holding a hand over her mouth to prevent her from calling for help. According to Duguay, Frellier struck her several times on the right temple. In the meantime he said in evidence that Dagenais was engaged in searching through a cupboard and Dagenais later took a ring from the victim's finger. Duguay testified that he took nine dollars from Mrs. Bergeron's stocking.

This was the total cash proceeds of the murder.

Corinne St. Jean contradicted this evidence as to her share in the affair. She swore that she had been roughly handled by Duguay, and had fainted. When she recovered, she said that the men were leaving the house, and she found Mrs. Bergeron lying on a bed, apparently dead

The court ordered that Duguay and the St. Jean woman be detained at once.

Protest Innocence.

Just before sentence was pronounced the two accused protested their innocence, and they received the verdict calmly. Frellier's brows were knitted while Dagenais wore a puzzled look. Most of the jury and the judge were visibly affected. The jury were out for 40 minutes.

After the verdict the foreman of the jury said: "I have been entrusted by my colleagues to make a painful request. We recommend the immediate arrest of Alfred Duguay and Corinne St. Jean as accomplices in the murder of Mrs. Bergeron."

"I order that they be arrested at once," answered Mr. Justice Wilson.

MARMORA NEWS

MARMORA, Feb. 16. — On Thursday evening the Young People's Society of the Methodist Church held a house social at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomson.

The evening was begun by a few games such as magic writing and other guessing games.

A contest "things our grandmother missed" was an interesting feature of the evening. Miss Ila Bonter and her partner Mr. Ross Sine were ties with Miss Topper and Mr. Donald Marett in the contest.

"Barber Shop" and "Faith, Hope and Charity" were games which young and old enjoyed especially after they were told the joke in the games.

Other games such as "Cross Question "Truth or Dare" Consequences" were played later in the evening. A very dainty lunch was served by the Programme Committee.

In spite of the many other engagements on that night a large number were present and all enjoyed a jolly evening.

When You Feel It Coming

—When that old Headache sends its warning that you are going to suffer—take ZUTOO. When you feel a Cold coming on take ZUTOO. At the first sign of a pain—at the first feeling of sickness—take ZUTOO.

You will be all right in 20 minutes if it's a headache, or the next morning if it is a cold. Pain all gone, and the whole body refreshed.

Don't wait—don't take chances. Get ZUTOO Tablets to-day—and have them ready to take at the first sign of a Headache or cold and TAKE THEM.

SHOW A DEFICIT FOR LEGISLATURE

Tuesday Will See the Close of the U.F.O. Financial Regime--Record in Expedition.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.)— A deficit of several millions, with the exact amount not yet being disclosed by the Provincial Treasurer, will be presented to the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday next as constituting a record of the last year of the Drury government stewardship ,according to information published to-day. On that day Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., will table the public accounts in the Chamber and will deliver his budget address, the first one of the Ferguson regime and one which will finally close the chapters in Provincial accounts which the U.F.O. legislators have written.

The bringing of public accounts into the chamber at this early period in the session's life says the report will be a second record for the legislative expedition which the Ferguson government has achieved during its two weeks in the Chamber. Never before have public accounts been brought in so early. Never before, furthermore, has the Chamber received legislation on its first day of actual sitting, as was the case this year when the Government brought in several bills which have now been printed and are ready for second readings.

No New Taxation.

The fact that the budget speech is scheduled for Tuesday means that Monday is to be made the most eventful day in this years' legislature so far. The debate on the speech from the throne will have to be wound up and the members will have to vote on two amendments, one declaring confidence in the government and the other, for which Hon. Manning Doherty is responsible, declaring that the Government lacks the confidence of the House because it has failed to recognize the Progressives as the official Opposition.

It is not believed that the Provincial Treasurer's speech this year will announce any new taxation.

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, addressed the House yesterday, resenting the attitude of Manning Doherty, leader of the farmer members in regard to the Liberal party's acceptance of the place of official opposition.

Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agricuture, announces measures to stamp out foul breed among bees.

Replying to questions of W. E. Raney, Attorney General Nickle declared that the present government was enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act. The Government announced that the salary of J. P. Jaffray as emigration agent at Glasgow was $200 per month.

DECORATED LININGS.

Decorated linings are the most striking feature of many suits, particularly in costume suits where the theme of the design exploited in the human bodice is carried further in the lining.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Proposal to Use the Jail Building For a Better Purpose--Social Events

CAMPBELLFORD, February 16. —T. J. Horkins, one of the directors of the Seymour Agricultural Society, who has been taking a leading part in the movement to have the Government erect an Armouries on the Fair Grounds the building to be used at Exhibition time by the merchants and manufacturers for the display of their goods has another idea for the improvement of the town. He says that the need of a municipal building is generally admitted, but that the question of expense has always been urged when action was suggested.

Mr. Horkins believes that the stone structure known as the Jail could be rebuilt so as to answer the purpose for years to come. He would tear down the structure, which contains excellent stone and other valuable building material, and figures that it could be put up again at a cost of not over $5,000

This matter he proposed to bring to the attention of the Town Council.

The Jail building is now used for election purposes, and as a lodging-house for the occasional vagrants who pass through the town. Its sanitary arrangements are defective, but the building was put up in the days when material was cheap and only the best was used.

Annual Sleigh Drive.

The Sunday School Room of the Methodist Church was a lively place from four to seven o'clock on Friday afternoon, when about two hundred and fifty scholars and teachers and ladies of the Home Department met for their annual sleigh drive and supper.

The young folks had a jolly sleigh ride and then came back to the Sunday School Room, where the tables were laden with good things. Sandwiches, cake, and coffee seemed to disappear as if by magic, and the boys and girls were in the best of spirits, and enjoyed themselves immensely.

The following men were kind enough to bring their sleighs and take the boys and girls for their drive: Messrs. H. Stotts, C. A. Loucks, Thain, L. Carr, and Walter Clarke.

The ladies of the Home Department took charge of the refreshments, and the response was very generous, as there was abundance for everybody.

Oddfellows Entertain.

On Friday night the assembly room of the I.O.O.F. was filled with ladies and gentlemen, on invitations from the Loch Lomond Lodge, No. 248. The decorations were red and white hearts strung across the room and on the walls, giving a gala appearance. The members of the mens' lodge with their wives and the Rebekahs with their husbands and friends, made a large company. The Noble Grand, Miss Stella Keir, was in the chair and in her opening remarks welcomed the visitors and said it was a pleasure to entertain them. The following programme was given and by the encores showed that the audience enjoyed the different selections:

Instrumental solo, "Cathedral Chimes," Mr. Geo. Lucy.

A short history of the organization of Oddfellows was given by Mr. S. A. Maguire. They all believed in the Supreme Being and all men as brothers. All their precepts and orders were taken from the teachings of the Bible. Their sole object to do good. They were in number two million nine hundred thousand, counting both the men's and ladies' lodges. They have donated two hundred and ten millions for relief work. The first lodge of Rebekahs was the Victoria lodge in Belleville.

Duet, "When the Ebb Tide Comes In," Miss L. Ballantyne and M. Jamieson.

Recitation, "Jack Raggarty the Raftsman," Mr. Geo. T. Salter and an encore "How Socrates Sot the Pen."

Reading, "Tim Murphy's Stew," Mr. T. Craighead.

Solo, "Asleep in the Deep," Mr. Gledhill.

Reading, "The Usual Way," Miss F. McComb.

Solo, "A Talk About Jobs," Mr. D. Jamieson. Encore, "Farmer's Boy."

Song, "How Father Killed the Cock-a-doodle-doo," Mr. Poulton.

Solo, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," Mr. Lucy.

Mr. Jamieson sang "Shipmates of Mine" by request, and Mr. Gledhill "Learn to Hope," also by request.

At the close of the programme the National Anthem was sung.

The committee in charge then passed the refreshments and a pleasant social hour was spent. The rest of the evening till the small hours was spent in music and jolly intercourse.

THE HUGHES CUP.

OMEMEE, February 16. — A large number of fans accompanied the local Hockey team to Lindsay on Thursday evening, where they met the Valentia team to play for the Hughes Cup. They were defeated by a score of 1-0, and therefore were ruled out of the County competition.

HARBINGER OF SPRING.

CAVAN, February 16. — Mr. Louis Pudsy saw a meadow lark in the barnyard this week.

BAILIEBORO, February 16. — It has been several years since so few cattle in the Township of South Monaghan have been winter-fed for market. Although in most places there is an abundance of winter feed, farmers consider that they incur a loss to winter-feed cattle at the present low prices.

The majority of farmers either sold their fat cattle in the fall of 1923, or they are running them over until the grass comes in the spring.

At present most of the farmers are engaged getting out their winter's wood supply and getting it sawed and split ready for the stove before spring arrives.

Cutting Ice.

During the week the villagers and the farmers of the district who store a supply of ice for the summer months have been busy hauling their year's supply to their ice-houses.

The ice is cut out of the lake, just opposite the wharf at Bewdley, and hauled four miles to this village.

It is a splendid grade of ice this winter, there being practically no slush ice, and there is from 18 to 20 inches in depth of good, blue ice.

RUTTAN FUNERAL AT TRENT RIVER

Mrs. Margaret Ruttan Buried at Centre Cemetery--Services at Church and Home--Many Floral Tributes.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 14.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Ruttan was held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Service was held in the Methodist church at two o'clock conducted by the pastor Rev. E. O. Seymour. The remains were not taken to the church. The choir rendered favorite hymns of the deceased among the number was 'Will Your Anchor Hold."

Beautiful floral tributes were from the following:—Trent River Sewing Circle; Mr. and Mrs. John Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brown; Young Men's Class of the church; Mrs. D. Smith and daughter Mrs. Pound of Kingston, Trustee Board of the church; King's Daughters' class. After the service at the church the committal service was read over the remains at the home of Mr. John Ruttan.

The pall-bearers were: Mr. John Waters, Henry Pollock, James Mann Frank Brewer, Andrew Carnrite and Luke Ellis. The interment took place at Centre Church cemetery.

Mrs. D. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Pound of Kingston arrived for the funeral of the former's step-mother, the late Mrs. Margaret Ruttan.

The following attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Ruttan:—Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Wyld, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie, Sr., of Havelock, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Innsley of Healy Falls.

Miss Lyla Ruttan came from Toronto to attend the funeral of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Margaret Ruttan.

Mr. George Waldie from the West ren provinces is visiting his sisters, Mrs. John Sedgwick.

The many friends of Mr. Sam Doupe will be pleased to know that he is making a daily improvement to wards recovery.

PROHIBITION AGENT SHOT A U.S. SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—United States Senator Frank L. Greene, of Vermont, was shot and seriously wounded while walking with his wife in Pennsylvania Avenue last night by a prohibition agent in pursuit of bootleggers.

As they were passing an alley they heard shooting, and the Senator sought to locate the trouble. As he stepped toward the alley a bullet struck him in the forehead and he sank into the arms of his wife just as an automobile filled with bootleggers dashed out of the alley.

OIL RUMOR HIT BROAD AND WALL

Heavy Selling in Friday's Stock Market Due to Uneasiness About Oil Lease Enquiry.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—An avalanche of selling orders poured into to-day's stock market on the widespread circulation of reports that one of Wall Street's most prominent traders had suspended his operations on the long side on the ground that public confidence had been undermined by the recent sensational disclosures at the Washington oil lease inquiry. Net losses in the active issues ran from one to eight points, while Fisher body, which had advanced from 163 to 205 in the last six weeks, broke 13 points.

Powerful financial interests, who usually come to the support of such standard issues as United States Steel and Baldwin Locomotive, apparently permitted the reaction to run its course, the former stock dropping 3 1-8 points, and the latter breaking six points. The average of 20 leading stocks in the industrial and railroad groups showed net losses of about 3 1-4 and 1 1-4 points, respetcively, bringing them back to where they were about a month ago.

FAR-REACHING EFFECTS.

LONDON, Feb. 16. — (United Press).—The British press sees far-reaching effects, which eventually may become international in their scope, growing out of the oil leasing scandals uncovered in Washington. The morning newspapers devote much space to what is described as a virtual "panic" in Wall Street as a result of the revelations. Typical of the comment is that of the London Daily News, which says:

"Deplorable affairs are shaking American politics to its foundation. Soon it will become difficult to find a politician whom the public does not believe to be in some way implicated. When the facts are finally established, there may be so great an upheaval in the political parties that the re-actions will affect American relations in Europe."

The "panic" in Wall Street referred to by London morning newspapers probably has its foundation in the slump among leading stocks yesterday as a result of uncertainty growing out of the oil investigation in Washington.

Added to this was the circulation of an opinion attributed to Jesse L. Livermore, one of the heaviest market operators, that the political future has been so clouded by the oil probe that stocks in which the general public are interested will unlikely be able to hold their own.

The turnover of stock on the market yesterday was the largest since May, 1922, totalling 1,854,906.

Dominion Not Paying Share to Education.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Declaring that the Dominion Government was not contributing its fair share towards education, C. A. Tanner, member for Kildonan, St. Andrew's, suggested in the Legislature the calling of a conference of municipal, Provincial and Federal authorities to settle the rate of contributions each should give.

Mr. Tanner made his suggestion during a debate on the "closed school" problems of the Province.

Discussing the amalgamation of the University of Manitoba and the Agricultural College, Hon. T. C. Norris, leader of the Liberal group, said the Farmers' party had robbed the agricultural college of the best man—Premier John Bracken—it ever had as president "for the sake of making him a politician."

DISGRUNTLED ABOUT CAR ITALIAN SHOT SALESMAN

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Disgruntled, it is alleged, over the car he purchased recently, Antonio Gravina, a young Italian yesterday afternoon fired three shots into William Smith, an automobile salesman with a local firm.

One bullet entered his thigh, another pierced his leg, while the third lodged in his neck. Smith's condition, while serious, is not dangerous. Gravina dropped the automatic pistol and fled immediately after the shooting. He was still at large late last night.

Says Vicks Is Only Remedy For Croup

Quebec Mother Enthusiastic Over Vaporizing Salve.

Every mother wants her children to be active and to grow strong through outdoor play. But frequent colds sap their vitality, cause loss of school standing, and keep youngsters puny and delicate.

Mothers who use Vicks VapoRub for children's colds find that the kiddies can play outdoors and that their cold troubles can usually be checked overnight.

Applied externally, Vicks acts like a liniment or poultice. In addition, the ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages. This double action quickly loosens up a cold.

Mrs. Leon Crandall, Box 247, Lake Megantic, Quebec, writes: "I used Vicks VapoRub for my little girl when she had croup, and I found that it relieved her at once. It is the only remedy for croup, and I would not be without it."

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Company, 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Through Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

Stubborn Coughs

Stop Quick With Home Made Cough Mixture

Not until you make your own cough mixture—a half pint of it for a small sum—will you know how easy it is to stop any bad persistent cough as if by magic.

It's pleasant-tasting, but that don't stop it from knocking out a cough quicker than anything else in the world. Children love it.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength)—to this add a litle granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

This loosens the phlegm, stops the irritation, allays the inflammation, cleans out clogged nostrils, and causes sore throat and hoarseness to disappear.

With speed almost beyond belief this home made cough mixture stops the toughest hang-on cough, and all because in it there is a substance (too costly for ordinary cough syrups) that immediately covers the membrane like a soothing healing poultice and blessed relief comes at once.

And it is always worth while to bear in mind that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

Get Parmint and get better.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER.

The suggestion of Past President R. H. Turner of the local branch of the Motor League that any member of the organization convicted of driving a car while intoxicated should be expelled from the membership of the organization, would have a very good effect.

The man who attempts to drive while under the influence of liquor has lost all claim to consideration.

The law says he must go to jail—and behind the bars is the only place for an individual who by his conduct makes himself a menace to the public safety.

Such a man is as great a source of danger to people in other vehicles and to pedestrians as would be a drunken man discharging a revolver right and left in a crowded street.

The motor car is a machine that by reason of its speed, weight and size requires careful handling in the maze of city traffic, or the county highway as well.

The man at the wheel requires all his faculties about him at all times; his nerve must be good and his brain functioning clearly if the car he drives is not to be a source of danger.

Clearly then a motorist who attempts to manoeuvre a car while his brain is befuddled with liquor is undertaking a task that is utterly beyond his ability, and he must be dealt with as any other person who threatens the safety of the public has to be handled.

Certainly there should be no welcome for men in an organization that aims at taking the peril out of automobiling both as regards the man in the car and the man on foot.

SHOULD BE DEPORTED.

The stabbing affray at Oshawa the other night calls attention to the fact that there are a lot of foreigners in Ontario who need to be forcibly reminded that there is no occasion for carrying knives as weapons in this country.

A week or two ago a Peterborough boy attending a hockey match at Belleville had the misfortune to let go of a beam to which he was holding in an attempt to see the ice. He happened to fall on a Russian standing beneath him, and before he could get on his feet again the foreigner drew a knife and deliberately stabbed the youngster in the arm. The assailant was ready to repeat the attack with more serious results had not bystanders come to the rescue.

For this murderous attack the Russian was sentenced to two months in jail.

The sentence should have been much more severe under the circumstances.

In fact, it should have been lengthy enough to show this man and others of his like who resort to the knife where an Anglo-Saxon depends upon his firsts that there is no place in Canada for men who stab without compunction whenever they get involved in an argument.

Foreigners who carry knives for purposes of offence should be deported.

There are too many of these gentry in Canada now, and it is to be feared that a two months' sentence for an offence such as that described above will not convey the warning that is desirable.

Such men must learn the lesson that weapons of any kind are not required in Canada, whatever may be the custom in their native land.

THE DATE OF THE REFERENDUM.

Premier Ferguson has refused to be drawn as to the intention of the Government in regard to a referendum on the Ontario Temperance Act.

The machinery for authorizing a vote is being provided, but the leader of the Government declines to say when the referendum is to be submitted.

The Government will take full responsibility, according to the Premier, of gauging public opinion and deciding when there is a sufficient pressure of feeling in favour of submitting the question to the people.

He does not say how public opinion is to be gauged, but the influence is justified that the members of the Government will be the barometer by which the Premier will decide that the time is ripe for a referendum.

In other words, the whole thing will hinge upon the individual members and the reports they bring from their constituencies.

If there is among the supporters of the Government in the House a preponderance of members in favour of an early submission of the O.T.A. to the people it is reasonably certain that the Premier will not have much difficulty in deciding that public opinion demands a chance to vote on this question.

On the other hand, if the members are divided the referendum may be held in the background for some time.

In this connection it may or may not be significant that one of the first private members on the Government side of the House to take part in the debate is Mr. William Finlayson, M.P.P. for East Simcoe, who has announced his opinion that the referendum should not be taken until the municipal elections at the beginning of 1925.

HELPING THE SUBURBS.

It will be difficult for the municipalities of Ontario to find a good point in the Metropolitan Area Bill which Hon. George S. Henry has announced—in fact, the strenuous opposition of the urban centres may be expected.

The bill, which, by the way, has not yet been introduced before the Legislature, proposes that very generous treatment shall be accorded by parent cities to the suburban districts around them in the matter of water supply and sewage facilities, and also assistance in carrying the burden of the cost of education.

From the viewpoint of the suburban resident the bill would be a most welcome piece of legislation, but the taxpayers of the cities are likely to kick over the traces if they are asked to go down into their pockets and find money with which to help the people who have moved out into a suburban area to escape the expense of city life.

The cities would not object to helping their neighbors outside the urban limits if it could be done without adding to the demand upon the city taxpayer, but when that is impossible and the bill would merely mean that more revenue would have to be raised from the people already overburdened with taxes there will be strong and justifiable opposition to the principle of Mr. Henry's measure.

The majority of suburban residents located outside the city limits to escape the city taxes.

They have their choice—if they want the conveniences of city life they must become urban residents and help to pay for them; on the other hand, if they prefer to live outside and thus dodge the cost they ought to be prepared to do without the conveniences of the city, or else provide them at their own expense.

At all events they cannot reasonably expect the city man to help furnish them with luxuries while they dodge their share of the expense.

ONE ANGLE OF THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

We are constantly being reminded of the old saying that it is a poor rule that hasn't many exceptions. A famous example was the military rule that the only kind of an army worth a continental was a regular army with years of training and experience behind it. That rule got a rude jolt in the Great War, when millions of English, Scotch and Irish, Welshmen, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and Americans, with no experience and precious little training, gave a particularly good account of themselves when brought up against the trained armies of Germany.

Another example is the rule that the best class of immigrants for such a country as this are farmers, and that it is wasted effort to put on the land men who have had no practical experience in farming. Admitting the correctness of the first proposition, we every now and then run up against hard facts that tend to shake our confidence in the positive value of the latter. A case in point has just come to hand. Each year there is held at Chicago what is known as the International Live Stock Show, the awards of which are justly held in very high esteem both on this continent and elsewhere. At the 1923 show Canada captured 15 of the 25 prizes in wheat, 28 of the 35 for oats, and a similar percentage of high awards in other grain classes. The Dominion did equally well in live stock.

The point we are coming to, however, is that the man who secured the world's wheat championship (Canada, by the way, has entered this particular competition 13 times, and won 12) was H. G. L. Strange of Fenn, Alberta. Now one would naturally suppose—remembering the widely accepted rule—that the winner was probably a Canadian farmer of long experience, or at least one of our new citizens who had had equally long farming experience in some other country. But what are the facts? Major Strange is an Englishman, a civil engineer by profession, who served with distinction during the war as an expert in the poison gas section of the Imperial forces. Before the war he was for some time manager of a gas company in Hawaii. Surely not a very promising record for a successful wheat farmer, if previous experience in farming is to be the only or even the principal qualification.

After the war, casting about for a congenial occupation, Major Strange elected to try the Canadian West, and to go in for mixed farming. In a comparatively short time he has not only built up a very successful and profitable farm, but has managed to outstrip farmers of lifelong expetience in the contest for the wheat championship. At this year's show he also won the irst place for yellow field peas. He has also won the first place for yellow field peas. He has lish black hog, claimed to be the original bacon type; and has been equally successful in raising poultry. Being a broad-gauge man, Major Strange has not rested content with his own personal success, but has branched out into the big field of public service. He is today President of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association and represents Western Canada on the Dominion Advisory Seed Board. He is also Secretary for the Alberta Poultry Breeders' Association, and a very active Secretary, too.

It may be noted that Canada's 12 world wheat champions include, in addition to this civil engineer, a tailor a market gardener, and a book-stall clerk—all turned successful farmers. We are not attempting for a moment to prove that it is not desirable to secure experienced farmers as settlers on our western lands but we do think it well to forget the idea that none but such can expect to succeed, because the facts do not support such a contention. We are entirely in accord with the statement that "inexperience and lack of training constitute no handicap to successful farming in the Canadian West, provided a man brings the right human qualities to bear upon his task and enthusiastically co-operates with Nature, who is so kindly disposed to this particular area." Experience is a very good thing, but much more important are intelligence, the will to work, and the right disposition. If we can get men of this type as immigrants, we need not worry because they have had no previous experience as farmers.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Ferguson-Doherty-Raney daily fight in the Legislature is growing monotonous. It is time the controversy was ended.

"Cafe Bandits" is a misleading heading in a newspaper. It seems it refers to a number of crooks who have been robbing cafes—not to the proprietors.

Herrin, Illinois, should have a broadcasting station if only for the fight news that could be sent out.

The Progressive group in the Legislature may not be designated as the official Opposition, but its members are evidently determined that it will be an opposition anyway.

The number of hockey teams dropping out of the O.H.A. race is almost as good a sign of spring as is the small boy with his marbles.

The most important date of the next year or two to a lot of people is that to be selected by the Ontario Government for a referendum on the O.T.A. And Mr. Ferguson does not seem to be telling.

This young fellow is out of luck. He has to keep on riding, because some day he may need a horse to escape from the women.

The wire doesn't say if any women were after him when he fell and broke his collarbone. If they were, he managed to escape, because he is still single.

CARTER BARRED FROM TUT TOMB

Chief of Police Refuses to Allow Excavator to Enter--Government Blames Carter for Disagreement.

LUXOR, Feb. 16.— (Canadian Press).—Howard Carter presented himself at Tutankhamen's tomb yesterday and was refused admission by the chief of Police, who presented a written order from the Government. Mr. Carter then retired.

Government Blames Carter.

The Egyptian Minister of Public Works said Thursday that when Howard Carter visited him on February 7 their conversation was of the most cordial character. Mr. Carter then raised the question of certain ladies being admitted to the tomb on the 13th, which was the day appointed for the press inspection, but the Minister declined, and said that even the wives of Cabinet Ministers could not be admitted to the tomb until after the 17th, when public visit were to be allowed, and an agreement was drawn up and signed on that basis.

Mr. Carter again raised the question on February 12, and submitted a list of 22 names of ladies, whereupon the Under-Secretary for Public Works telegraphed the Minister from Luxor.

The Under-Secretary, Mohammed Sagloul, then informed Mr. Carter that ladies could not be admitted on the 13th, whereupon Mr. Carter protested to him and closed the tomb.

The Ministry took the most serious view of it, and their further action was under consideration. In the meantime all possible measures had been taken to safeguard the tomb and to exclude all unauthorized persons. Mr. Carter could never say that the Egyptian Ministers had not met him fairly.

Premier Said Zaghloul Pasha said "I will do everything necessary. The matter is having my consideration."

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—Top steers were $8 a cwt., and a few made $8.25. Heifers 1,100 to 1,200 lbs. brought $6.75 to $7.25; short keeps, $6.90 to $7.25; cows, $5 to $5.50, and bulls, $4.25 to $5 a cwt. In all, about 1,000 head were obtained and shipped, and the buyers are prepared to buy a full supply next week, having secured ample boat space.

Business in butchers' cattle was not keen, even for the best, owing to the poor beef demand occasioned partly by the cheapness of pork. One extra good 1,200-lb. steer topped the market at $8.25 a cwt. and the carcass will likely go to Bermuda. For the best class of local trade, butchers did not bring much over $7.25 a cwt., and the number of these was quite limited. Real good loads of mixed steers and heifers sold at $6.50 and $6.75. For good general butchers the market was about $6 a cwt. Useful medium beef cattle went between $5.25 and $5.75, and common butchers sold as low as $4 a cwt.

Butchers' cows and bulls were fairly steady, and some of the best were taken for export. Tops were $5.50 and $5, respectively. Good cows were $4.50 and $4.75 and mediums, $3.75 a cwt. Bulls below the grade for export were not too firm, but many of the bologna bulls sold over $3. There was little done in feeding cattle this week, but small bunches of stockers sold easier at $4.75 a cwt. for some 1,000 lbs. each. Milchers and springers were selling fairly steady, and good ones were thought to be $10 each higher in instances. For the incoming week, there is no hope of a responsible market, except for good to choice butchers and export cattle, and those only just warmed up will probably increase the 25-cent a cwt. decline which occurred this week.

Calves lost from 50 cents to $1 a cwt. for the week, although an extra choice veaier sold at 14 cents a pound on Tuesday. For good calves, commission men say it is hard to get over 12 cents. Good mediums are selling from 9 to 10 cents, and common calves, 7 to 8 cents.

Lambs were generally firm for the week, but this was mainly in the light choice ones. Buyers are looking for those below 90 lbs. each, and some Southdowns sold at 16 3-4 cents, the top for the year. Other choice lambs were 14 1-2 to 15 cents, and those 110 lbs. and over were not wanted much above 13 cents. Choice sheep, around 120 to 130 lbs., are easily sold at around 8 cents.

Packers succeeded in getting hogs down half a dollar a cwt. from last week, and are still dissatisfied with the $ 7f.o.b. price. The run again this week helped them out, and it would seem to need a slow up in shipments to bring about any recovery in the price.

DAIRY SHORTAGE.

LONDON, February 16 (Canadian Press Cable). — Despite heavy arrivals of New Zealand dairy produce there is likely to be a shortage of butter, cheese an other supplies, according to advices received by the New Zealand High Commissioner.

The January output was down 10 per cent on account of dry weather, and unless plentiful rains arrive soon autumn exports will probably show a more marked decrease.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Market was slightly easier for fresh, and dealers state that storage eggs are very scarce, the price has been advanced slightly for storage extras, but this will not have any material effect upon the market, as the number of storage extras available is extremely small.

Toronto fresh lower, specials 56, extras 52, firsts 48. Storage unchanged. Receipts of poultry much lighter, prices unchanged.

Manitoba and aSskatchewan markets unchanged.

Alberta receipts heavier, though supplies still a little short. Calgary dealers quoting delivered extras 37, firsts 35, seconds 20.

Hogs, 46,000; closed strong, active; bulk butchers, $7.20 to $7.30; top, $7.35; bulk packing sows, $6.10 to $6.30; killing pigs unchanged.

Sheep, 8,000, killing classes, generally strong; feeders steady; bulk fat wooled lambs, $14.50 to $14.75; top, $15.00; best fat ewes, $9.50; bulk, good medium and handy weights, $8.75 to $9.25; bulk, feeding lambs, $13.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, February 16 (Canadian Press), — Wheat suffered a sharp fall in prices yesterday, dragged down by heavy selling associated with breaks in stock market values and in cotton.

The close was unsteady, 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 to 2 1-8 net lower, May $1.09 3-8 to $1.09 1-2 and July $1.08 3-4 to $1.08 7-8.

Corn lost 1-8c to 1-4c to 3-8c and oats 1-8c to 5-8c.

Lowest prices of the day prevailed in the wheat pit as trading came to an end, with liquidating sales from Eastern holders dwarfing all other factors. Earlier, the market had shown an upward tendency, chiefly owing to reports that an advance of the U.S. impor, duty on wheat would be ordered next Monday. The early strength in the wheat prices, however, appeared to depend more on temporary absence of selling pressure than on any increase of demand.

Besides expectance of a higher tariff rate was offset to a considerable extent by the fact that there is fully 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian bonded wheat in this country at the present time. The market effect, too, of steps toward financial aid for the North-West seemed to be generally looked upon as having been discounted.

POISON PEN MAN MADE A MISTAKE

Used a Hard Pencil in Writing on Pad-- Persecuted Aged Gentleman.

HAMILTON, Feb. 15.—Hamilton has a poison-pen artist. His indentity for a time was a mystery to the police, but at last he made a slip which landed him into their hands, and William Godden, said to be of good education and in receipt of remittances from an English family, was found guilty of sending threatening letters to John Schwenger an aged gentleman. Godden was remanded for sentence.

Mr. Schwenger had been receiving letters containing threats, and often couched in obscene language. They came through the mails, were pushed under his door, or delivered to him in other ways. In addition to this, his rooms were broken into two nights in succession, and on another occasion coal oil was poured on his doorstep, and a match put to it.

Suspicion at last rested on Godden, who was in the same building, and the police entered his room.

The slip which led to Godden's capture was in writing with a hard pencil on a pad. The impression of what he wrote in a letter to Mr. Schwenger was found on his pad.

When confronted with this yesterday he said the book had been stolen and returned to his room. He shrugged his shoulders when asked he thought this would be believed.

The Magistrate in remanding him for sentence, said he should be ashamed of himself for "descending to a thing like this."

ARREST IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF FARMER

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 15.—One arrest has been made in connection with the death of Robert MacKenzie, a farmer, who resided some three miles from Cobourg, and who a few days ago was found frozen to death on the roadside.

Provincial Constables Norman Maker of this city and H. Cousens of Cobourg effected the arrest.

ENGINEER REWARDED

FORT WILLIAM, Feb 15.—For risking his life at the time of the Schreiber fire, Thomas Bryant, C.P.R. engineer, has been awarded a letter of appreciation and a cheque for $100. He saved Engine 5336 from destruction by moving it out of the fire zone.

Hardwood Floors

they cost little--they last forever

HARDWOOD floors are the last word in economy. Their first cost is not high—and they last a lifetime. Let us quote you on sufficient flooring to cover your old floors or on your requirements for your new house. Hardwood floors never wear out—the wear comes not on the wood, but on the varnish and wax. That's how they economize in money. In time and effort they save tremendously. In beauty and charm—in actual selling value—they add immeasurably to the value of your home.

Seaman-Kent Hardwood Flooring is made in Plain Red Oak, Quarter Cut White Oak, Birch, Maple and Beech—each of which has its own individual character and beauty.

BUSINESS TONE IS CONFIDENT

Toronto Wholesalers Optimistic Although Trade Is Not Rushing—Vancouver Reports Steady Progress —Regina Is Quiet.

WINNIPEG, February 16 (Canadian Press). — The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited, states:

Halifax — Not much change in the general trade conditions reported but wholesale trade is meeting expectations.

St. John — Wholesale trade reported fair. Retail business is inclined to be slow. Collections are normal.

Montreal — Hardware trade shows some improvement during the past week. In boot and shoe lines retail stocks are being reduced by sales. Wholesale drygoods business has been a little slow the last few days. In the retail trade however, there has been some improvement. Collections generally very slow to fair.

Toronto — The general tone in wholesale trade is one of confidence, although no rush of business. Retailers buying in small amounts although orders are numerous. The retail trade continues to be stimulated somewhat by the usual mid-winter sales and general turnover is satisfactory. Collections generally are classified as being fair. Mining business brisk. Pulp and paper business making steady progress.

Winnipeg — Wholesale business practically unchanged. Fair amount of business being done and retail trade has picked up somewhat.

Regina — Business in wholesale lines has been quiet the past week. Retail trade is slow. Collections slow.

Saskatoon — Wholesale lines reported fair in volume of business. Retail trade on quiet side. Collections fair.

Calgary — Wholesale business is holding its own, while retail trade has been stimulated by outside visitors here for the carnival. Collections of old accounts still slow.

Vancouver — General wholesale business still showing improvement and steady progress. Same conditions apply to retail trade. Collections fair. General trade improvement expected.

FATHER AND SON IN MURDER CASE

Each Accuses the Other of Death of Son's Daughter — Son Arrested on the Father's Charge.

BRIDGETOWN, N.J., Feb. 16.—Father and son, each accusing the other of slaying the latter's fifteen year old daughter, faced each other in the county jail here yesterday.

Thompson Dickson, fifty-five year old father of Emma Dickson, whose battered body was found near her home in Bricksboro on September 22, last, yesterday for the first time faced his aged father, Benjamin Dickson, on whose testimony he was arrested and formally charged with the girl's murder.

He, himself, has made a counter-charge aaginst the 85-year-old man.

As the old man, who is still vigorous, accompanied by detectives, entered the jail he walked to his son, extending his hand in greeting. The younger man drew back.

"No, Pop, I can't do it," he said.

In the presence of Detective Frank Lore and Prosecutor Ward the two men again reiterated their charges that the other had killed the girl.

CAVAN COMMUNITY HALL ACTIVITIES

Will Celebrate Anniversary Next Week—Cavan News.

CAVAN, Feb. 15.—The anniversary of the opening of Cavan Community Hall will be celebrated on Wednesday evening, February the twentieth. There will be a fine banquet served in the basement of the hall, and afterwards a good programme given in the auditorium of the hall.

A play will be given by a number of young people from Blackstock. There are eleven in the play.

Mr. J. Casey, Valentia, visited Cavan friends recently.

Mr. Trew will occupy the farm vacated by T. Harkness.

Miss Washington, Bethany, has returned to her home after a visit with Mrs. Milligan.

J. Moore had his hand badly cut on Wednesday morning, while working on the slab saw at Graham's lumber camp. He was taken down to Dr. H. A. Turner's hospital to have it attended to. It will be necessary for him to go down each day for a while to have it dressed.

W. M. Cody held a sale of stock and implements on the Wilkinson farm Wednesday afternoon. A few years ago Mr. Cody purchased this farm from Mr. W. Wilkinson. He has had the timber, suitable for lumber, cut and at the sale the farm was also offered for sale. There was a reserve bid on it.

The stock and implements sold fairly well; one team of horses, accustomed to camp work, was purchased by Mr. L. Graham for use in his lumber camp for the sum of two hundred and seventy-five dollars.

J. Wilson, of Port Hope, was the auctioneer.

Mrs. Jas. Paul has returned from a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Harper, Peterboro.

Mrs. Albert Tinney has been seriously ill, but is recovering.

No More Sleepless Nights—Finds Health in Internal Bathing.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Queen's Hotel, Rapid City, Man., writes:

"For the last few years I have been a sufferer from indigestion, nervous debility, insomnia, and allied troubles. My health became so bad that I despaired of living through the winter. Loss of appetite and sleep were making by condition unbearable. I purchased a J. B. L. Cascade, and though only using it for a short time, have obtained remarkable results. My appetite has returned, and I am now enjoying the most refreshing sleep that I have had for years. I regard it as a God-send."

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others, fewer Pills and Laxatives would be taken and very much less suffering from constipation and the accompanying stomach and nervous troubles resulting from it.

If you are robbed by constipation of the sound sleep and good appetite so essential to health and vigor, you should not lose a day in availing yourself of the simple home treatments which hundreds testify have meant for them a new lease of life.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing. It is shown and explained at the Warne Drug Company.

HOW TO BOOST YOUR TOWN

Praise it.
Improve it.
Talk about its good points.
Remember it is your home.
Tell of its many advantages.
Tell about its live business men.
Help your public officers to do the most good.
When strangers come to town be as courteous as possible.
Support the local institutions that benefit your town.
Look ahead of self when the good of all the town is to be considered.
Be public-spirited, enthusiastic. Let sunshine radiate and penetrate with your daily work.

A Health Secret

It is frequently claimed by physicians that nine-tenths of all human ills may be traced to neglect to keep the bowels regular and the liver and kidneys active.

The result is an accumulation of poisons in the system which cause pains and aches and give rise to such dreaded diseases as appendicitis, Bright's disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, etc.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the ideal regulators of these vital organs because they act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and ensure a thorough cleansing of the system.

You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been increased to 35 cents, the box now contains 35 pills instead of 25 as formerly.

Likewise Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is 60 cents a box of 60 pills, instead of 50 cents a box of 50 pills. Edmanson, Bates & Co. Ltd., Toronto.

MARMORA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEET

Mrs. Fraser Bowen Presented Interesting Report of Provincial Institute Convention.

MARMORA, Feb. 15.—On Wednesday evening the regular missionary meeting of the Young People's League was held in the Methodist church. Miss Bessie Sweet gave a splendid paper on India. Miss Sadie Moran gave a fine recitation. The collection for Missions amounted to ten dollars.

The programme was short as the league is having a social evening on Thursday night. The contest on Wednesday was keen. The 'red' side thought they were the winners, but in the final count it was found that the 'whites' were ahead by one mark.

Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute of Marmora was held at the home of Mrs. E. Bell, on Wednesday evening. In response to the roll-call each member gave the name of the most interesting book she had read recently.

The question was asked whether the Institute desired to have a speaker from the Department this summer, and it moved and seconded that there be one.

Mrs. Fraser Bowen gave the report of the Provincial Institute convention held in Toronto last November.

This report was given in such a bright, interesting way and with such vivid descriptions that the ladies felt they could both see and hear the speakers.

Some of the important subjects discussed were: (1) Whether the present education took young people from the farms and if the children on the farms should have more agricultural training. (2) What was being done for the feeble-minded children of Ontario.

A few of the pithy remarks were:

1. Health is goodness.
2. If a woman wills, God wills, so a woman should will and will and will.
3. Woman's place is in politics as well as the home and man's place is in the home as well as in politics.

At Winter Fair

The delegates had also been at the Winter Fair and a very interesting description of it was given.

During the evening a phone call, with greetings to the meeting, came from Mrs. H. Wiggins, of Belleville.

Mrs. Wiggins was an enthusiastic member of this Institute until she moved to her new home in Belleville last December.

Mr. Bell then adjusted the radio and a number of musical selections were heard from Pittsburg and other broadcasting stations.

Miss Lorraine Bell, also added to the enjoyment of the evening by several well-rendered piano selections.

Mrs. Bell served a dainty lunch and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Those present were Mrs. C. Nichol, Mrs. Bleecker, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. F. Wells, Mrs. Doupe, Mrs. (Dr.) Jones Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson, Mrs. Clare, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. C. Gladney, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. F. Bowen, Mrs. Pinar.

Marmora Personals

Mr. James Shannon, who has been ill for some time, is on the way to recovery just now.

The Young Ladies' Dramatic club are taking their play "Miss Fearless and Co." to Campbellford on Feb. 18th, and to Tweed on Feb. 20th.

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

C.P.R. HAS STAKE IN VANCOUVER

Vice-President Coleman Says Company Hopes to Maintain Premier Position on Pacific, Where It Pioneered.

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 16—(Canadian Press).—In an address before the Canadian Club here yesterday, D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of Western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, referring to the development of Vancouver as an ocean port, said that his company was bound to keep the premier position of the Pacific Ocean, where it had pioneered, and hoped to help build the greatest seaport on the northern Pacific coast on Canadian soil.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, he said, had moved to Fort William this fall more grain than all the United States railways had moved to three terminals at Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago.

He urged freer immigration and said that Canada should lower the rate of taxation. Federal Provincial and municipal, for the people who fled from the yoke of the taxpayer would not wish to come to a country where the burden was no lighter.

NEWS COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Feb. 15.—A pleasant event took place one evening recently at the Bethesda Presbyterian church manse at Horwood, when Mr. W. J. Isaac, who has been the efficient treasurer of the church for several years was presented with a club bag and cane by members of the congregation who assembled for that purpose. Mr. Isaac has resigned his position as treasurer as he expects to leave shortly to spend some time with his daughters, Mrs. Thompson, of Hiawatha and Mrs. Sherwin, of Balsam. At an opportune moment the presentation was made to Mr. Isaac, the gift being accompanied by the following address:

Dear Mr. Isaac:

As you have resigned as treasurer of the Bethesda Presbyterian church after some twelve years or so of most faithful service, we feel that we cannot accept your resignation without at the same time expressing to you in some tangible way, our heartfelt thanks for all that you have done for us, and our deep regret at the fact of your resignation. Our main motive, therefore, in gathering together at this time is to convey to you our appreciation of the valuable service you have rendered our church, to express our sorrow that you feel it necessary to resign your position as treasurer, and to wish you every comfort and blessing in life. We all most heartily hope that your health may improve and that we may have the pleasure of having you in our midst for years to come.

As a slight token of our esteem and appreciation, we ask you to accept this club bag and cane. May they ever remind you of your many friends in Bethesda and of their appreciation of your valuable service in the church.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

J. N. ROSEVEAR,
THOMAS ROBSON,
Managers

JAMES BUTTERS,
A. CARRUTHERS,
F. McCULLOCH, Elders.
T. McCORD, Minister.

Mr. Isaac made appropriate reply A very pleasant evening was spent with Rev. and Mrs. McCord as the genial host and hostess.

Mr. Andrew Carruthers has been appointed to succeed Mr. Isaac as treasurer.

WHITE FLOUR CHEAP IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—American women keeping house in Berlin assert that white flour is virtually the only food which now retails for the same price as in pre-war days. Foods generally are 40 t 50 per cent higher than in 1914.

Money Scramble to Get Japan's 8 Per Cent. Loan

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — Heavy over-subscription of the $150,000,000 Japanese loan was announced to-day by J. P. Morgan and Company, head of the nation-wide banking syndicate which made a public offering of the bonds. No estimate of the total of excess orders was obtainable, but it was said that subscriptions for the $25,000,000 worth of bonds offered in Holland numbered several times that amount, and that a heavy volume of orders came from Switzerland and Sweden.

USE WATER WAGONS.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 16.—(United Press).—Probably movie fans wonder just how to reconcile stories of Los Angeles' sunny skies and Hollywood movies with pouring rain. However, the secret came out at a recent council meeting. It was shown that the film companies rent the city's water wagons to make rain storms and pay 30 a day for their use, besides providing the water. It is said Los Angeles realizes several thousand dollars a year from this source.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Several Social Events in Town Including St. Valentine Parties.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15.—Miss Isobel Bygott and Master Jack Bygott gave a Valentine party to about thirty of their friends on Thursday night at their home on Sebastapool Street. The invitations were for six o'clock. The house was suitably decorated for St. Valentine's Day and the supper served was also in keeping with the day. The evening was spent in contests, games, music and dancing. The young folks spent a very pleasant and jolly evening.

A Bean Supper

The bean supper in the Parish Hall on Thursday night was quite a success. It was under the auspices of the Willing Workers of Christ Church. The programme was given first, wih Mr. Gledhill as chairman. The programme follows: Reading, selected, Miss F. McComb. Solo, "Sing Me To Sleep," Mrs. Nicol. Song, "Heroes and Gentlemen," Rev. G. C. Clarke; responded to an encore, "Carolina." Reading, "The Hat," Mrs. R. W. Scott; encore, "How To Be Happy Though Married." Song, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," Mr. Bygott. Solo, "The Road That Brought You To Me," Miss Atkinson; encore, "I Gathered a Rose."

The company then went to the basement, where the tables were set, loaded with good things to eat, hot baked beans, cake, coffee, etc., to which everyone did justice. A social hour was spent upstairs, during which time Rev. G. C. Clarke favored the audience with another solo.

The Anglican Church is very busy these days as there are two special days next week as well.

On Monday the choir has made arrangements with the Anglican Young People's Association, of Marmora, to come over and present the play, "Miss Fearless and Company." This play is under the direction of Mrs. Frank Pearce of Marmora, and there are ten in the company.

Then, next Thursday the Bishop of Keewatin will be here and address the ladies at 3.00 and the children at 4.15, and the public at 8.00 o'clock, Thursday night. He will have views showing his work in the west.

Installing Officers

The installing team of the I. O. O. F. is kept busy these nights. They went to Springbrook on Tuesday night and installed the officers there for the coming year. After the ceremonies were over a banquet was tendered them and all report a good time. The team is composed of the following: District Deputy, Bro. R. A. Dunk; Bro. J. Dooher, Bro. P. Sherwin, Bro. G. T. Salter, Bro. J. McEachern, Bro. H. Petherick and Bro. R. J. Bullen.

Afternoon Tea

A very pleasant afternoon was spent on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Plummer, when about 30 of her friends gathered for afternoon tea. After a social hour or two they were served to a very dainty lunch.

Mrs. A. Hay entertained a lot of her friends to an afternoon tea ox Thursday. A social time was spenn and a dainty lunch served at sit. o'clock.

Policemen Offered Incentive—Time Is Longer For Hold-Up Men Than Mere House-Breakers.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—For one house breaker, 10 days vacation; for one hold-up man, 30 days vacation. Such are the benefits that will accrue to Charleston policeman who capture and obtain conviction of the criminals who have plunged this city into a series of burglaries and robberies. The rewards have been promised by Chief of Police John Britton, who includes in his campaign some advice to Charleston citizens.

"Keep a gun handy for housebreakers," is part of the advice, which also urges keeping houses locked at night. Another request is that citizens shall be both prompt and accurate in giving information to the police concerning crimes or attempted crimes, and in this connection he pointed to a recent instance, when, he said, an error was made in giving the address and the burglar had a 20 minute start on a squad of police when they went to the wrong house.

DOCTORS TALK DIPLOMA MILLS.

Congress Will Discuss the Protection of the Public From Fakes.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—Protection of the public against incompetent physicians, and corrective measures concerning the alleged sale of medical diplomas and irregularities in state licensing boards, are among the principal topics for discussion at the congress on medical education, medical licensing, public health and hospitals, to be held here March 3-5. The congress is sponsored by the American Medical Association.

Medical education in America and Europe between 1909 and 1924 will be reviewed by Abraham Flexner, secretary of the general educational board, New York, who, in 1909, attracted wide attention when he presented his report on medical education up to that time. Medical education and culture and public benefits from recent improvements, are subjects to be handled by Dean Stephen Rushmore of Tufts, and Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president, Carnegie Foundation for Teaching, New York.

The sessions on March 4 will be devoted particularly to the problem of protecting the public against incompetent physicians.

EXPERTS WILL STUDY AFRICAN EDUCATION.

British Government May Assume Control of Work Hitherto Done By Missionaries.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—An Anglo-American commission has left England to study the educational systems used in East, Central and South Africa and to dra wup a report as to the best line on which the educational needs of Africa may be met.

The expedition will visit Abyssinia, Adis Abeba, Kenya and Uganda, and then proceed to Belgian Africa. The expenses of the trip are being paid from American bequest funds, and by British Missionary societies.

Hitherto 90 percent of the educational work among native Africans has been through missionary enterprise, but this commission will work with the British government in order to allow the latter to assume control of native education in the future.

One of Our Most Valued Foods

The first food that we take on coming into this world is Milk, and it should be remembered that Milk is the most nearly perfect food furnished by Nature.

Milk contains the three fundamental elements—protein, fat, and sugar—together with the most important minerals and vitamines in such proportion as to render it an exceedingly desirable food.

Milk made into nourishing soups, creamed vegetables, puddings, and cocoas is a good way to serve it for the cold months.

Milk is more easily assimilated when taken with bread or other foods. For many ailments the curative powers of Milk are unrivalled. They act on the nervous system, the liver, the blood vessels, the heart, and circulation. Milk is an excellent sedative and is valuable in nourishing the body in many conditions affecting both old and young.

HIGH FLIERS PUT ON AN ENTERTAINMENT

Good Musical Program Provided by Sunday School Class.

Last evening the High Fliers Sunday School class of the Park street Baptist church put on a very enjoyable entertainment in the basement of the church, which was a decided success, a really fine musical programme beng greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present. The instrumental numbers, a pianoforte solo by Master W. Townsend and a trombone solo by Mr. Thorpe, were especially well received, both being heartily encored, and bringing forth in each case another fine selection. The recitation by Mr. Percy Luther was well rendered and also his encore number. The vocal solos by Mr. James Browne, Mr. A. Thompson and Mr. Percy Luther were greeted with much applause, Mr. Browne having to respond the third time before his audience were satisfied, and each number being encored. The programme was as follows:—

Remarks by the chairman, Rev. W. E. Morrow, pianoforte solo by Master Walter Townsend, vocal solo; "In Old Madrid," by Mr. J. Browne with encore; "Mother Machree," reading; Mr. P. Luther (encored), trombone solo, Mr. Thorpe, and encore, "Rosy Morn," vocal solo, "Anchored," by Mr. A. Thompson, encore; "Mary of Argyle," vocal solo; "That Old Gang of Mine," by Mr. P. Luther, vocal solo; "The Song that Reached my Heart," by Mr. J. Browne. A minstrel entertainment by the High Fliers' Class was the opening number of the second part of the programme with songs by Messrs. W. Saunders and M. Dunkley. The Harmony Quartette composed of Messrs. Saunders, Marchen, Beatty and Bradley gave several selections and songs were rendered by Messrs. Batley, Grant, Saunders and Nicholls. The opening chorus was followed by jokes by G. Nicholls; "Baby six months old," G. Batley; "What a Man Picks up," W. Saunders; "Way Down in Caroline," W. Adams; "Bill or Gold Piece," D. Grant; "Poultry Joke," G. Nicholls; bone selection, P. Beatty; "Traded His Wife," M. Dunkley; "Join the Army, Mr. Elliott," M. Dunkley; "Upidee," Mr. Batley; "What a Cat Has," Mr. Nicholls; "Suit of Clothes," a selection by the Harmony Quartette; "Sweet Adeline," by Messrs. Saunders Beatty, Hutchinson, Bradley by Messrs. Dunkley and Saunders; "Why always scratch head," by J. Marchen; "Water in Watermelon," a song; "Polly Wolly Doodle," by Messrs. Batley, Grant, Saunders and Nicholls.

"God Save the King."

The High Fliers' Class wish to extend their hearty thanks to all those who so ably assisted them in the first part of the programme.

HON. E. J. McMURRAY ON THE HOME BANK STORY.

Gave Out Brief Statement Regarding Dealing of His Firm.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor-General of Canada, this morning gave out a brief statement in regard to a despatch from Winnipeg, stating that the legal firm of which he was a member figured among the list of losses of the Home Bank. "I have not seen the article referred to," said Mr. McMurray. "My legal firm in Winnipeg, which was a large one at the time, had in the usual course of business dealings with the Home Bank, which were absolutely honest, as the then managers of the bank, Messrs. McHaffey and Reid, can testify. Western securities were given which were valued at many times the amount of the loan made. The war, as is well-known, gravely depreciated western securities. The securities are all there, and with revising conditions can take care of the account. I have nothing further to say until I have seen the newspaper article."

AN ADDRESS POULTRY AT PRINCE OF WALES

At the Prince of Wales School yesterday evening an appreciative audience of adults and children listened to an instructive lecture on Poultry, given by Mr. Jos. Darrah, president of the Poultry Association. The lecture dealt with such matters as the best varieties of hens for meat or egg production, the housing, feeding and fattening of fowl, and their preparation for market; and the best methods of packing eggs for the market. The different features were well illustrated with slides which added much to the interest and value of the lecture. All who attended appreciated very much Mr. Darrah's generosity in giving such a useful and thorough discussion of the subject of profitable poultry keeping.

Before the lecture the following programme was given: Chorus, "O, Canada," violin solo, by Stanley Northrop; recitation by Irene Foster; dances by Isabelle Thompson and Mary and Emily Hemphill; piano selection, Fred Parsons.

LEAVE TO APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Leave to appeal to the Privy Council was granted this morning by the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, in the case of James B. McLachlan, Cape Breton Labor leader, convicted at the October criminal term of publishing seditious libel, and now serving a term of two years' imprisonment in Dorchester Penitentiary. The decision was handed down by Chief Justice Hon. R. E. Harris, who said he had some doubt as to the question involving "public importance."

GENERAL LUDENDORFF TO BE PUT ON TRIAL.

MUNICH, Feb. 16. — (United Press). — The trial of General Ludendorff, German War Lord, for participation in the "Bear Hall Rebellion" of November 8, has been postponed until February 26 it was announced to-day.

The trial was originally scheduled for February 18.

Ludendorff with Adolph Hitler, Fascisti leader, and seven others will face the Bavarian court, charged with treason for their leadership in the opera bouffe, "Putsch."

MISS SOPHIE KOHEN AGAIN ON WARPATH

Issues Writ of $10,000 Against C.P.R. Saying They Tried to Ruin Her Business.

TORONTO, Feb. 16. — Miss Sophie Kohen, carrying on business in the name and style of the Canadian Coal Supply, and acting in her own behalf, yesterday filed a statement of claim in her suit for $10,000 against the C.P.R. On January 17 when Miss Kohen appeared before Charles Garrow, K. C., Master of the Supreme Court, she was instructed that she must include names of witnesses. On Jan. 21, on reappearing, she was instructed that her claim must be amended in some particulars, and was informed that she must pay $30 costs. "Although what it is for I have not yet been able to find out," she said yesterday morning. The writ in the suit was issued on March 6 last year.

Plaintiff's claim is for damages arising out of defendant's alleged negligence to comply with sections of the Dominion Railway's Act, in failing to make deliveries of cars of coal to consignees, as instructed in proper form to do so, and instead demanding freight and demurrage charges, which it is claimed were not owing. Failure to deliver a car of coal ordered to be sent to the Jail Farm at Thornhill, and selling the same by defendants for less than the freight charges is also complained of.

Means Taken to Ruin.

Numerous instances are given of alleged hurried and improper sale of carloads, and it is alleged that "every means were taken to ruin the plaintiff's business. The defendants have sold cars without accounting to the plaintiff for them, without jurisdiction whatsoever." Cars of coke and coal "improperly and without shadow of right seized by defendants and sold by them were without exception at the time of such seizure under contract of sale by us to our customers. The defendants have not accounted to the plaintiffs for the proceeds of any sale by the defendants. The defendants have induced my customers to refuse to purchase coal from me by making statements to such customers reflecting on the quality of the coal supplied by me."

BUCKLED CORSETS.

Some of the most luxurious corsets are made of flesh colored chiffon over fresh colored silk, and they fasten on one side with a buckle.

BUSINESS TRADE PROGRESS MUST WAIT ON ESTABLISHMENT OF REAL CREDIT

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(United Press).—Great Britain's recognition of Soviet Russia by the new Labor Governmen, of Premier MacDonald means the diplomatic restoration of the Russians to interpational relations, but economic restoration must wait on Russia herself. Resumption of trade between Russia and the world on an important scale depends on the confidence which financiers will have in Russia's future integrity.

Diplomatic recognition, it is hoped by the British workingmen, will be followed by the opening up of Russian markets for British manufactures. If this happens, unemployment in Great Britain will decline. But it cannot happen unless British merchants are willing to send their goods to Russia. Reluctance to give the Russians credit has been the principal drawback to Anglo-Russian commercial intercourse since the war. British merchants have never shown in the past special trust in political recognitions of foreign revolutionary governments. They have decided the buestion of credits apart from recognition. They have often guessed differently from their Government, and often guessed earlier.

Taking a Chance.

British foreign trade is in the hands of venturesome pioneers, however, who continuously make fortunes by taking risks. The risk of Russia has been very cautiously approached to the present. Nevertheless, there are signs that risks are being taken. They have been moderately successful, and that is all. For British unemployment to fall on an important scale, British traders must show far more venturesomeness in Russia than they have done.

There is every pressing reason in Great Britain for bringing about successful trade relations with the Russians. But recognition of the Soviet by the MacDonald Government is as far as the British can go. The next move must be on the part of Moscow. It will be necessary for tre Bolsheviki to demonstrate to the satisfaction of international traders that their credit is good and that they are restoring Russia's own productivity. Until this is done, all Europe may recognize Russia without producing an economic effect.

Hope has been expressed by Russians that recognition would be followed by the granting of foreign Government loans to Moscow. If this were to happen it would be only because the foreign Governments would expect the money to be spent with their own nationals for purchasing manufactures for Russia. The American Government has taken this step, in roundabout fashion, by subsidizing American farmers for sending foodstuff to Russia.

Loans to Russia.

Loans to Russia in such forms would be scarcely disguised philanthropy, not for the Russians, but for the people making the loans. The Russians cannot get back to the right road to prosperity until they can borrow abroad on their own credit as a nation, and use the money for internal development. Then foreign trade will follow in the only permanently safe path of exchanging goods for goods.

How far Russia is from being able to take this course remains to be seen. Lenders are reluctant to advance money unless there is a reasonable probability that it will be returned. Any Government's attitude toward its past loans has a long felt influence. This influence never is permanent; but it lasts a long while. That is the principal reason why Russia may expect difficulties in capitalizing the mere fact of British political recognition of the Soviet.

THE NOVA SCOTIA GOVT. IN SLUMBER

Economic Conditions of the Province Are Steadily Growing Worse Says Speaker.

HALIFAX, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press)—That while the Nova Scotia Government had been "asleep at the switch," economic conditions on the province had become worse, and that the depopulation of the rural districts was traceable to administrative inactivity, to imposition of the conditions that were intolerable for various branches of the Nova Scotian industry were charges levelled by D. G. Mackenzie, M.L.A. (Farmer) leader of the opposition in the Nova Scotia Legislature, when the house resumed debate on address in reply to the speech from the throne yesterday.

Mr. Mackenie dwelt at length on abandonment of the whole settlements in his own county of Cumberland, due to decline of lumbering. He charged that responsibility for this rested with the government.

Touching on coal mining, Mr. Mackenzie blamed the government, as a custodian of the people's property, for allowing mines "to be so bedevilled that work can go on or go by default at bidding of autocrats." He had asked the last session, he said, for reconstruction of the British Empire Steel Corporation and declared that the members of the house had gathered the impression that an investigation into this matter would be granted, but, he said, "the government was slumbering."

TWO BILLS SPONSORED BY HON. L. TASCHEREAU

QUEBEC, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The contents of two bills sponsored by Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Provincial Premier, and known as the "Blue Sky" legislation, are made public.

Under this legislation, it is proposed that no company may issue or sell any bond or share in this Province until it has furnished all possible information as to the affairs of such a company, whether Canadian or foreign, under the penalty of a $1,000 fine or three months in jail.

FIRE DESTROYS A BLOCK IN SYDNEY

LONE DUCK ON LOCAL MARKET

Wood and Meats Main Objects for Sale on the Market.

The warm sunshine tempered the cold of the farmers' market this morning. The upstair vendors were comfortable in the heated hall. On the open section, rugs and bags were used to stand on.

At the curb, a big white horse wore a long icicle on his nose, probably a result of the habit that kept the two big bays in front of him sampling the snow with appreciative vigour.

Wood and meat are the main objects for sale just now, in the open section.

One or two vendors have honey, selling at 75 cents for a five-pound tin of the mixed variety, and there are a few apples and roots on sale.

Beef was 9c and 11c this morning, and pork 13c and 15c.

Good-looking loads of wood could be purchased for $8.00 and $9.00. A load of long birch saplings was $5.00.

Butter and eggs and fowl were plentiful.

Chickens were selling generally at 25c a pound, with a few dealers asking 27c, and the plump birds of the "milk-fed" species getting 38c.

A few geese were 25c a pound, and a lone duck was 20 cents.

Turkeys, few and far between, were 35 cents a pound.

Eggs were selling from 45 to 48 cents a dozen, and butter from 43 to 50 cents a pound.

A CAFE BANDIT PUT UP A FIGHT

One Dead and Several Wounded in Pistol Fight

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 16. —One dead and three dangerously wounded is the toll of a pistol fight in the heart of Salt Lake city's business section last night, when the police attempted to arrest Wiliam Lee, an alleged cafe bandit.

Lee, cool and deliberately, and evidently a marksman, after he had killed one policeman, and wounded another, turned his gun upon his woman companion, wounding her, and then shot himself through the abdomen.

The dead and wounded are: Patrolman Nolan Huntsman, aged 26, killed instantly when shot through heart. Patrolman B. H. Honey, aged 34, shot through the intestines, expected to die. William Lee, about 35, of San Francisco, a hold up man, shot through the abdomen and head; death a matter of hours. Beatrice Hunter, about 28, San Francisco, shot through the cheek, may recover.

UTILITIES PLAN FOR NEW FILTER

Superintendent Given Authority to Proceed With Its Erection—Meeting Today.

At a meeting this morning of the Peterboro Utilities Commission, with Robert Hicks in the chair, the superintendent of the Waterworks Department, Ross L. Dobbin, was given authority to procure the necessary material and install a new filter at the filtration plant. The new filter, it was claimed, would relieve the electric situation by taking the water load off the power peak hours.

The financial report of the electrical department was received, and several matters affecting the internal organization of the departments were discussed.

NORMAL SCHOOL HELD AT HOME LAST NIGHT

The annual 'At Home' of the students of the Normal School was held last evening in the school building, under the auspices of the Normal School Literary Society included in the programme of the evening was a presentation of the charming little one-act play, the farce comedy, "Spreading the News," by Lady Gregory, given under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, followed by the usual promenade.

The guests, who numbered nearly five hundred, were received by Mr. and Mrs. D. Walker, Miss E. MacVannell, and officials of the Literary Society; the president, Trevor Miller the vice president, Miss Lahcashire, and the secretary, Miss Moore. Decorations were carried out in the Valentine manner, with quantities of red hearts and cupids. In the library where a sumptuous supper was served, candles and red carnations were used.

The play was presented in a manner that reflected great credit on the young performers and the able direction of Mrs. Bingham. The different parts were rendered with pep and vigor, and the humor of the bright little comedy that portrays the woes of an unfortunate Irish farmer, was brought out with excellent effect by the members of the cast. An admirable setting for an Irish fair had been contrived by the stage manager, Francis Crough, who worked hard to get a good effect for the production, assisted in capable fashion by Mr. A. F. Hagerman, one of the Normal School staff, who looked after the stage lighting. Costumes worn were apprpriate and colorful.

A well-executed Irish jig which preceded the performance was directed by Miss M. R. Rannie, who superviesd the quartette of graceful dancers; the Misses Kathleen Blackburn, Elizabeth Kist, Marie Johnson and Norine Koen.

The village fiddler for the dance was Eugene Beach. The Normal School orchestra, directed by Dr. H. G. Park, gave an overture; "The Merry Minstrel," and also played a bright selection; "Irish Airs" before the production of the play. The president of the Society, Trevor Miller, in a brief, clever speech, welcomed the students atnd their guests, gathered in the big assembly hall. The cast of the play was as follows: Bartley Fallon, whose part in a crowning day of misfortune was splendidly taken; Jerry O'Connor, Mrs. Fallon; Eva Staley, Red Jack Smith; Neil Stewart, Shawn Early; Michael Clancy, Tim Casey; Clara Zufelt, James Ryan; Wm. Duggan, Mrs. Tarpey; Hilda Riddell, Mrs. Tully; Bessie Sargeant, Joe Muldoon of the police; Alex. Izard, the Magistrate Harry Darling.

tive arrange a conference. This carried, Aldermen Meyers and Stocker not voting.

G.W.V.A. Request.

S. Whatley requested the use of Riverside Park for May 24th when the G.W.V.A. will hold its annual field day. This letter was not dealt with.

Riverside Park.

A letter from the Peterboro Baseball Association asked that if the administration of Riverside Park in 1923 had met with the approval of the city council it be again leased to the Association for 1924.

On motion of Ald. Meyers and Stockers the Peterboro Baseball Association and the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association will be asked to report to the city council whether they wish to lease the park this year and how much they are prepared to pay.

Ald. Phelan said that he would not support the motion since he did not think the city council should write anyone asking for an offer.

Ald. Morrison expressed accord with Ald. Phelan. He felt that the Peterboro Baseball Association should be given the preference.

Ald. Phelan said any club interested in promoting sport would be sufficiently alive to enter an offer.

Ald. Jones expressed disapprobation of the motion, saying if the P. A.A.A. wanted the park they should have written for it.

Ald. Stocker and Meyers and Mayor Turner voted in favor of writing both clubs. Ald. Phelan, Jones and Morrison voted contrary, and the chairman. Ald. Turner cast the deciding vote in favor of writing for offers.

Estimates Drawn.

The estimates for upkeep of the bathing beaches were set at the same figure as last year, $1000.

Last year's figures included $420 for a new bathing house at the Lake street beach, and this year a new roof will be required for the Inverlea dressing tent.

The total estimates for parks purposes this year is $3500. Last year the estimates called for $2050, and $4700 was spent.

Besides the regular upkeep charges this year's estimates include $150 for repairs to the Brown Memorial fountain in Central Park; $500 for Riverside Park development; $500 as the beginning of park memorials to the late Charlotte Nicholls; $300 for pruning trees, and $100 for planting trees.

On motion of Ald. Stocker and Mayor Turner, the draft estimate of $3500 was adopted.

Mayor Turner and Alderman Morrison proposed that the Utilities Commission be asked to submit a scheme of lighting for Central park.

RESENTS CHANGE IN M.O.H. SYSTEM

Medical Officer of Health Says People Taxed to Death.

The following letter to the Mail and Empire speaks for itself:

To the Editor of The Mail and Empire:

Sir,—I notice in The Mail and Empire of February 11th, some remarks in the Peterborough correspondence on the proposed appointment of county medical officers of health. I take exception to the statement that the M.O.H. have not the necessary training. That is a deliberate slur, as many health officers have been years in office and have more experience in the work than county or even district medical officers can ever have, seeing we have been training and educating the people in sanitary work and health matters for years. I am doubtful if even the office of district health officer is essential. As any assistance or advice is usually obtained from headquarters, the Provincial Board.

No doubt the office of county M. O. H. would be a very acceptable appointment for returned men or political friends. The expense I could show you would be infinitely greater than the present system. The County Council and municipalities have too much difficulty now in raising money. As the people are unmercifully ground down with taxation direct and indirect, many are leaving the country, others are leaving their farms, owing to the unwarrantable burdens imposed. There has been too much chaos and experimentation already and the people are not in the temper to stand much more humbug.

Yours, etc.,
ANGUS NICHOL, M.D., M.O.H.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH H. TAYLOR.

(Contributed.)

On Monday morning, February 11, 1924, there passed away a highly respected resident of Peterborough in the person of Mr. Joseph H. Taylor of 580 Bolivar street, in his 79th year.

The late Mr. Taylor was born in the township of Otonabee near Keene, where he spent 67 years, afterwards retiring to the city.

He leaves besides his sorrowing wife seven children—Mrs. W. Cleghorn of Otonabee, Mrs. G. H. Hunter of Brooklin, Mrs. (Dr.) A. E. Bes, of Cheng-tu, W. China; Mrs. D. R. Harrison of Vermilion, Alta.; Mrs. H. T. Powell of Caron, Sask.; Mr. E. K. Taylor of this city and Dr. C. J. Taylor of Toronto. Also one sister, Mrs. John Rae, city.

The late Mr. Taylor was a humble, devout Christian, and no man had a kindlier spirit and was more appreciated in a home of sickness and sorrow than he. He had a great capacity for making friends and many will feel greatly poorer because he has been called home.

All his life he always took an active part in church work and was untiring in his efforts to lead others to Christ. The spirit of faith and prayer prevaded his whole life, and his passing was so calm and peaceful it leaves no room for regret, calling rather for praise and gratitude to the God who led him all the way.

He has left behind him a most worthy family and a noble memory. Such lives are surely deserving of our honor and regard.

DUBLIN STILL SHOWS SIGNS OF FIGHTING.

DUBLIN, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—Dublin's main thoroughfare O'Connell Street, presents a remarkable apeparance. Half of the street was destroyed in the rising of Easter Week, 1916. The old houses then burned have been replaced by handsome modern buildings, the sole monument of the destruction being the general post office, a beautiful structure which now stands as an empty shell.

In the fighting of July last year, after the fall of the Four Courts, the whole on the upper portion of the stree on one side was left in ruins, and it still loks like the pictures of Ypres. The buildings gutted by the fires were taken down, but the sites have not yet been clared. With a view to relieving unemployment a movement has been set on foot to clear the sites, after which the whole problem of reconstruction will be discussed with the government which is finding the money to make good the damage. None of the big claims for damage has yet been completely adjusted, and it is not expected that rebuilding can take place before next summer.

The government does not intend at present to rebuild the general post office. The postal and telegraph work to-day is still carried on throughout the city in inadequate sub-offices, and the chief telegraph office is far away from the centre of business life.

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES

Banished By Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

It is not always good policy to buy a lot to build a house on, years before the building is started.

Vacant property on which a house is intended to be built later may or may not be a good investment. Before making such a purchase the following points should be given careful thought:

1. Vacant property will cost money in taxes.

2. Interest must be paid on deferred payments if the property was not a cash purchase.

3. Costly assessments may be levied. These may enhance the value of your property, but prove difficult to meet at the time due.

4. The neighborhood may change so that the land becomes less desirable.

A purchase can be made later with the assurance that neighborhood, price and conditions are just right for the kind of house which is to be built at that time.

WARSAW NEWS

WARSAW, Feb. 15.—A number of young people, including the teachers, went to Lakefield to the hockey match this evening.

Those who have wood to sell are drawing it to town.

James Robinson is still busy at the ice harvest.

Mrs. Charlotte Cooper and children are with Mrs. Cooper's mother.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid social, which was to be held last Tuesday evening, is postponed until Feb. 20th, because of bad roads.

The Methodist W.M.S. was held in the church Thursday afternoon. The women brought their extra $1.00 and told how they came by it. One woman got hers by "hard manual labor." Another postponed getting something she needed. Mrs. James Greystock will take charge of the Mission Band until May. Since Mrs. Wasson left there has been no leader for the Band.

The recent days of sunshine have been very welcome. The ground is so well covered with snow that fall grains and meadows ought to be good.

Sunday was the union service in the Methodist church. Again there was a storm and the attendance was small; two cutters and one sleigh brought all who came from outside the village.

Rev. Atkinson assisted at the service and Rev. F. G. Weir preached on "Love the Greatest Thing."

On her three examinations so far, Miss Helen Bowen has received 95%, 95% and 98%.

FRANCE MAY SHOE HER CLERKS.

PARIS, Feb. 16.— (Associated Press).—In the midst of measures providing for drastic economies and increased taxation, the French Chamber of Deputies will consider a bill sponsored by the leader of the Radical party and reading as follows: "The Chamber invites the government to restore in the 1924 budget the indemnity to the ushers, office boys and clerks in governmental stores and ministries, permitting them to buy their working shoes at the expense of the state."

GREEN FOR SPRING

ENGLAND URGED TO COLLECT

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Association of British Chambers of Commerce has sent letters to the premier, foreign secretary and chancellor of the exchequer calling attention to the amount of the debts due from France, Italy and other countries.

The association asks the government to approach France and Italy with a view of obtaining a payment on account, pending a settlement of the debts on a fair basis.

ST. VITUS' DANCE

Shows Through a Twitching of the Muscles of Face and Limbs.

Chorea, or as it is more generally known, St. Vitus dance, is a trouble that usually attacks young children though older people may be afflicted with it. Its most common symptoms are a twitching of the muscles of the face and limbs. As the disease progresses the twitching takes the form of spasms in which the jerking motion may be confined to the head, or all the limbs may be affected. Frequently the patient is unable to hold anything in the hands or walk steadily. In severe cases speech is often affected. The disease is due to debility of the nerves and relief come through an enriched blood supply, which feeds and strengthens the nerves. Dr. Williams Pink Pills have been most successful in reaching this trouble through their specific action on the blood, which it enriches and purifies. The following instance will show that Dr. Williams Pink Pills can do in this trouble. Mrs. S. E. Makins, Parry Harbor, Ont., says:—"As a young girl I was badly stricken with St. Vitus dance. My parents tried several medicines but without avail. I was steadily growing worse and could hardly walk without falling. I had to quit school and had no control of my nerves or actions. Finally a neighbor advised the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and the use of these for a couple of months restored me, and I have had no attack of the trouble since. I have, however, taken the pills at different times since, when I felt out of sorts, and find them all you claim for them if given a fair trial."

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Broke Jewelry Window, Stole Diamond Rings.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press). — An unknown man broke the window of a Portage Avenue jewelry store Thursday night and escaped with nine diamond rings valued at $1,000. About the same time similar means were used to secure the contents of a Main Street jewelry window, but the booty was only a one eight-dollar ring. No arrests have been made.

LATE.

Up north in Canada, where a lot of our weather is manufactured, the Indians last spring noticed that nature was three weeks behind the job. They say that the same tendency is continuing all through this summer. For instance, the mosquito season lasted three weeks longer than usual.

So, as the Indians predicted, fall and winter were three weeks late in arriving, on the North American continent. Something unquestionably has gone wrong with the world's weather this year, and a lot of freakish weather can be expected before nature restores the balance. For one thing, a hot summer usually is followed by a cold winter.

"BEGGARS' SYNDICATE" LIVING IN LUXURY ON PROFITS OF $400 A DAY IN NEW YORK

Organized Group of Seven Panhandlers Maintains Fashionable Apartment, Radio, Private Telephones and Expensive Furniture — Various Schemes of Fakers Revealed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. — "The Cripples' Syndicate" probably is the best-organized group of panhandlers work in the big town. It is a gang of seven men and two women—three of the men legless, one armless, one one-armed and two one-legged; and as for the women, each is one-legged. They employ a lawyer by the year, and pool in the expense of maintaining a luxurious apartment in 106th street, equipped with a private telephone, an expensive radio set, Turkish rugs, piano and comfortable furniture.

The women take turns as housekeeper. One is about forty and exceedingly good-looking. The other is younger and harder featured. The cleanup is between $300 and $400 per day when the seven men and one of the women are out collecting—"impostoring" as mendicants where the crowds are the thickest along Fifth avenue.

The next important group of panhandlers is "The Colored Brothers and Sisters"—five Negro women and eleven Negro men—who share the upkeep of an entire house on 135th street, in the Harlem "Black City." They beg for a church and orphan asylum that do not exist. The women dress like white "Sisters of Charity."

Then there are the individualists among the professional beggars—panhandlers who apparently work alone, but who manifestly know each other, for the same lawyers bob up in court when they are arrested and arraigned for "disorderly conduct," the law name for the crime of begging.

While the "Fake Blinds" live in different parts of the city, they pay a uniform wage for "leaders" and "pushers," which is $3 a day without bed or board.

A "leader" is just what the name implies: usually a thin-faced, watery-eyed woman, posing as "wife" or "daughter." A dog or a child was formerly used as a "leader," but due to the activities of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Gerry Society, they are now seldom engaged.

For the "fake blind" who issue forth in wheel-chairs, "pushers" are hired from park bench or lodging house ne'er-do-wells.

One "fake blind" who until recently worked Broadway from Thirty-fourth street to Forty-second was so opulent his real wife motored him to his stamping ground each morning, came after him for lunch, brought him back for the matinee crowds and then took him away again when the night rush was over. This precious pair not only owned the car but a flathouse uptown, where they lived in fancy style.

With his glasses removed, hair brushed and in a good suit he looked like a prosperous merchant.

Lieutenant William C. Whitley, born in Vermont, whose married sister is a neighbor of the Coolidge family at Plymouth, is the head of the Mendicancy Squad of the New York Police force. He was appointed a patrolman twenty-eight years ago by the late Theodore Roosevelt, and he declared today that citizens should thank Commissioner Enright for the amazing uncoverings of method and wealth among professional panhandlers working the sidewalks of New York.

The instances cited were supplied from the notebooks of Plain-Clothesmen Ryan, Haven, Gilroy and Green, four of his most trusted and reliable subordinates.

Last year 1163 panhandlers were arrested by the police Mendicancy Squad, of which only one escaped conviction. In 1922 the arrests were 617, of which seventeen were discharged. The home environments of prisoners are now carefully checked by the policemen, and this following-up has disclosed the astonishing pooling of interests by the panhandlers.

As the prisoners always gave new names when arraigned before the different magistrates, it was hard to identify them as old offenders. Now they are finger-printed and their true identities established.

Not long ago a legless man was arrested for begging at Twenty-ninth street and Sixth avenue. He came from Oklahoma, and in Twenty-fourth street was parked a huge automobile in which he slept. He owned the car, which was fitted out with a bed, cooking utensils, food supplies and thermos bottles for hot coffee and cold water. He also owned a $20,000 ranch in the Southwest and a patent device by which a legless man could operate the various foot levers.

Two legless panhandlers of note are "Black Stewart" and "White Stewart." The former takes his artificial legs off and checks them in the restaurant where he breakfasts and takes them out when he returns for dinner. He admitted that he averaged from $20 to $25 a day. "White Stewart" boasted that he thought it a poor day when he took in less than $50. He is a member of the "Cripples' Syndicate."

"The Blind Banjo Player," a lone worker, was seen on Broadway the other night wearing a fur coat that he had paid $600 for. He has been panhandling for twenty years and owns real estate in the Bronx.

There is a professional fit-thrower who, with an emaciated woman, works the crowds in front of theatres. She is his wife. They have a nice flat in Forty-seventh street. Their coin comes from sympathy aroused by the passage of printed cards asking aid, saying that he was an epileptic and she consumptive. He makes the froth around his mouth with powdered soap.

At Fourteenth and Lexington avenue, at opposite corners, on a recent night were discovered a man and women both begging. He had admitted that in the seventeen years he had been in America he had never saved $4225 and their child was boarding free in an orphan asylum.

A young man was taken from Thirty-fourth street and Sixth avenue for posing as blind. He confessed that it had taken him years to train his eyes so as to roll back the pupils, showing only the whites. Another beggar without arms, taken from the same corner, for an hour's work admitted that he had collected $37.40 in half dollars, quarters, nickels and dimes.

In four hours a one-legged man lying on the sidewalk in Fifth avenue near Thirty-seventh street garnered $210. This was during the Christmas holidays. The west side of Fifth avenue south of the Public Library to the Waldorf is "Gold Mine" country, according to the professional panhandlers.

This year Fifth avenue has had a lot of men and women with coin boxes that possess false bottoms. Ever so often the panhandlers go up a side street and empty them, enter some store and transform the change into bills.

Hard-luck stories, adroitly told by able-bodied men, some claiming to be war veterans, are invariably discounted when investigated, but the mis-shapen usually stick to the "pencils-and-hat" game.

A trained nurse found begging at 104th street and Broadway proved to be a morphine addict, and a well-dressed young man begging in Fifth avenue looked up in police records was a cocaine fiend—only one of the hundreds of "snowbirds" at large in the great city.

It is hard to be hard, but the histories of the great majority asking the charitable contributions of others do seemingly justify investigation always before promiscuous almsgiving.

ARE PREPARING FOR SECOND VISIT HERE.

Those who attend the Victoria Glee Club Concert in George Street Methodist Church, Monday night, February 18, at 8 p.m., will unquestionably spend a happy evening with altogether delightful musical talent. For, in their annual tour this year of a number of Ontario's principal centres this aggregation of the better class of entertainers have won unstinted commendation as acceptably versatile, and for presenting numbers everyone of which is a success. Their programme is both gay and grave, and makes their audience think and laugh. Besides the club's regular work, there are special features including the Victoria Ladies' Octette, Victoria College Male Quartette and Mr. L. Hussey, a clever monologist.

The former visit of the Club to this community has left behind it many pleasant memories both for the members of the organization who were so hospitably entertained in the homes and for those who were able to hear the boys sing and better still to get acquainted with them in a personal way. Extensive plans are underway to make this return visit one to be long remembered.

This coming event is under the auspices of the Boethian Club and Mrs. Coon's Bible Class.

SHREDDED COCOANUT.

Shredded cocoanut that seems to be too dry for ordinary baking purposes may be freshened by soaking it in milkk for an hour or so and then drained in a strainer until the moisture has evaporated.

BERLIN BEGGARS FEAST AT NIGHT.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—Hearing that the beggars of Berlin were feasting every night, in their haunts on white bread, sliced ham, roast beef, chickens, and other delicacies, the police investigated. This provender, it was learned, was secured by peddlers begging from door to door in the day time, and selling their loot at night.

The police tried to put a stop to the practice, but could not. The beggars went into court with an attorney and proved that no law had been violated.

SOMEWHERE IN FLORIDA.

To be somewhere in Florida, where the sun is always shining, where the golden oranges hang in clusters on the trees, the palms stir gently to the warm breezes and "where the sweet magnolia blooms," is the thought in the minds of hundreds of Canadians every winter.

When Canadians at home are skating and skiing, those in the south will be surf-bathing, sunbathing on the warm sands, deep-sea fishing, golfing, etc.

When making arrangements for the trip south consult any agent of the Canadian National Railways for particulars of service. Winter tourist fares are now in effect, valid to return up to June 15th, and good for stop-over at all important points.

Canadian Stock Exchange —And Mines— | New York Stock Exchange —and Curb Prices—

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, February 16 (United Press). — Overnight business news was decided constructive, particularly the announcement from Youngstown that Republic Steel had withdrawn from the market as a seller of semi-finished steel for the remainder of the year owing to its having sold up to the limit of its output. Operations of all steel mills are gradually increasing with the United States Steel close to its last year's peak.

Partly on this report from Youngstown and partly on the constructive news contained in Bradstreet's reports of earnings for the current quarter, the market opened stronger to-day. Yesterday's activities in the zinc and copper markets, which showed expanding sales in spite of the turn down in Wall Street, was regarded at the opening of the market to-day as giving sufficient evidence that the present bear activities are being engineered by one small group working against the upward tendency of a business structure.

Professional traders had expected further recessions on the first sales of the day. Instead of this the leading industrials, such as Steel American Can., and Studebaker showed surprising strength at the opening, and regain fractionally some of the ground lost yesterday.

Santa's Nearest Neighbors Dream of Becoming a Great World Port

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Point Barrow, Alaska, has its harbors open to shipping only a few weeks each year—

But it may become a world port of great importance in the race of nations for a new continent and new trade routes over the north pole.

It is doubtful if the navy's dirigible "Shenandoah" clears from Point Barrow on its polar flight this summer. But the Navy Planning Board, headed by Rear Admiral Moffett, urges construction of a permanent mooring and supply station at Barrow for use in subsequent aerial trips.

Difficulties in shipping supplies and erecting mooring masts may cause the "Shenandoah" to fly from Nome toward the pole, rather than from Point Barrow. But if the Planning Board has its way, materials for the permanent equipment may be shipped in August, and the work completed in time for use next summer.

Point Barrow, 1117 miles from the north pole, is America's northernmost community. It is at the edge of an unexplored arctic area a million square miles in extent.

The few white persons there—mainly school teachers, traders and missionaries—will mail orders in November, 1924, for the supplies they will use during the winter and spring of 1925-26. The veteran coast guard cutter Bear pays a brief visit as soon as ice permits in August, bringing in the supplies ordered last fall, and possibly a teacher. If the water remains unfrozen a few weeks some tiny whalers and fur traders' schooners may visit—a big occasion up there.

But if the government continues its explorations for undiscovered lands in the polar basin—lands of great strategic value to over-the-pole airplanes from Europe to Asia—Point Barrow will give American air expeditions a tremendous advantage. With this point as a refueling base, prolonged cruises will be an easy matter.

Geographic conditions around Point Barrow are ideal for such a base—but the entire population, 90 per cent Eskimos, would have to be trained to moor the big dirigibles or Uncle Sam would be compelled to maintain the world's farthest north naval base.

TO LAKEFIELD BY RIVER ROAD

Not Drifted and Is In Good Condition — Ice Harvesters Are Stocking Up — Motor Sleighs Drive to Peterboro.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16. — The river road is the popular highway between Lakefield and Peterboro at present as it is not drifted and is in good condition. The north and south roads through Smith are practically blocked so that traffic is rather hampered.

Cutting Ice.

Ice harvest is on and the supply is abundant, and of first class quality. Every day one sees sleighloads of ice being taken to the various ice houses.

High School Graduate.

The ordination of Rev. Father Cyril Carroll is of interest to many of his Lakefield friends and ex-school fellows. Father Carroll was a pupil of the Lakefield High School for several years, and made many friends. Says Soldiers Will Not Be Used To Fight "Bosses Battles."

LONDON, Feb. 16. — (United Press). — Jack Jones, Labor M.P., predicts that the Labor Government will not take the offensive against the striking dock workers.

"If the dockers strike, the Government will not be against the workers," Jones declared at a Labor meeting Friday.

"Police won't be used to protect the blacklegs," he added.

"Soldiers won't be used to fight the bosses' battles."

It is pointed out, however, that Jones is not a member of the MacDonald Government.

STELLARTON MINERS REFUSE THE TERMS

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., February 16 (Canadian Press). — Stellarton miners last night refused to accept the terms arranged between the men and the British Empire Steel Company at Montreal, and will not return to work.

They will apply locally for assistance.

Shortly after their decision at a mass meeting, they cabled Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain for help, and also sent a cable to the secretary of the British Miners' Federation outlining their case, and asking for assistance

SCHOOL GIRLS READY TO DRESS ALL ALIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(Associated Press).—Heartaches among students at the South Philadelphia High School for Girls because of the vagaries of Dame Fashion has been banished by the adoption by school authorities of a uniform dress for students. Although wearing of the dress is voluntary, a large group girls has already ordered the garb, and the sentiment that the uniform is a manifestation of school spirit is reported spreading among the rest of the student body.

The uniform is the outgrowth of a self-government plan. An open forum on "School Spirit and School Problems" recently led to discussion of dress, in which parents of the girls participated. The uniform was favored by all present.

The costume comprises a dark blue jumper with the school monogram embroidered in gray silk, white tailored waist, sport shoes and stockings. The cost is said to be

GRAIN MOVEMENT LIGHTER.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—A marked decreases in the all-rail movement of grain for the month of January is shown in the Lake Shippers' Clearance Association, returns issued today. Only 571,245 bushels of wheat were shipped as compared with 5,192,322 bushels in January 1923. The receipts at the elevators at Lake head for the month were 12,662,309 bushels.

She Found Them a Marvellous Remedy

What Mrs. Morneau Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec woman suffered from a complication of kidney troubles and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

Ste. Perpetue, P.Q., Feb. 15.—(Special).—The value of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a house hold remedy is shown by the following statement of Mrs. E. Morneau, a well-known resident here.

"I have suffered for several months from rheumatism, backache, pains in the head and cramps." Mrs. Morneau says, 'I took eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they have greatly benefitted me. I recommend them to all those who suffer from kidney complaints, for I have found them marvellous. You can tell others who suffer from bad kidneys that they are very good."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have become a family remedy all over the world, because people have tried them and found them good. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They help backache, rheumatism, lumbago diabetes, heart disease and urinary troubles.

ENTERTAINED CHOIR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

St. John's choir was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Medd at their home on Wednesday to "high tea" at seven o'clock, followed by progressive euchre. The small tea tables were very artistically decorated in the Valentine scheme of red and white, with small red candles burning. The competition was so keen in cards that the winners were very hard to be decided on. The ladies' tie, Mrs. Eldred, Miss Flowers, Miss Edgar and Mrs. Howden, had to be played off, Miss Edgar capturing first prize and Miss Flowers the consolation. A play-off between Rev. Maurice Kingsford, Mr. Mann and Mr. Morphet, gave Mr. Morphet the gentleman's first prize, the consolation being awarded Mr. Harry Flowers. The prizes were presented by Mrs. Medd. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess by Rev. Mr. Kingsford and seconded by Mr. Morphet. The evening broke up about eleven-thirty.

SWISS DEMANDED THE REFERENDUM

Eight Hour Day May Be Repealed on Sunday by Popular Vote.

GENEVA, Feb. 16. — (United Press).—The fight by Swiss workmen to retain intact the eight-hour day will culminate Sunday in a referendum for the purpose of repealing the existing Federal law.

The measure, while accepting the principle of the eight-hour day, gave the Federal Council the right, in the event of an economic crisis, to substitute the ten-hour day. It also vested in that body the right to increase the working hours in various industries when economic conditions demanded.

Although only 20,000 signatures are necessary in a demand for a referendum, over 300,000 signed the petition in the present case.

DEATH TOLL IN FIRE IS PLACED AT ELEVEN

MONTHELIER, Vt., Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The death-toll of a fire which destroyed the Lawrence building and threatened the business section of the city yesterday was placed at eleven last night, but only two bodies have been recovered. The property loss is placed at three hundred thousand dollars.

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which we have during February and March is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them in the house. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep its stomach and bowels working regularly. This will not fail to break up colds and keep the health of the baby in good condition till the brighter days come along. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Explosion of Gasoline Starts Winnipeg Fire.

WINNIPEG, February 16 (Canadian Press). — Fire which followed the explosion of a can of gasoline in hat-cleaning establishment swept through three small stores on Portage Avenue here yesterday afternoon, causing injury to one man and a property loss estimated at $35,000. Arthur Davis, proprietor of the hat store, received painful burns when he attempted to carry the blazing can from his store

PARIS BIRTH RATE FALLING.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—(United Press). —The year 1923 registered another decline in the birth rate in Paris, as compared to that of 1911, despite all the propaganda aimed to bring the birth rate back to pre-war normality. Last year the number of children born was 46,733, as against 48,962 in 1911. The deaths in Paris in 1923 numbered 40,315.

PEMBROKE GIRLS 0; OTTAWA 7

PEMBROKE, Feb. 16—(Canadian Press))—One of the season's most exciting hockey events was played in the Arena here last night, when Pembroke Arena girls played Ottawa Alerts, the Champion Girl hockeyists of Canada. That the score against the local girls was no worse defeat than 7 to 0 was due to their brilliant team work.

The NEW ESSEX A SIX

Built by Hudson Under Hudson Patents

The smoothness and long life for which Hudson is famous is now shared by Essex. It is an important advantage to bear in mind.

So also is the fact that the Essex "Six" possesses other notable Hudson qualities. It has the same type clutch, the same axles, the same provisions for long life and easy care of all working parts. Essex reliability is retained. Essex economy of fuel, oil and tires is greatly enhanced.

We ask this test—take a ride. You will enjoy it—that's certain. See how handling is simplified. Starts at the touch of your toe. Steers easily as a bicycle. And how easy gears shift. Easy to park too. Its low center of gravity makes safe and comfortable driving on all roads at all speeds.

Simple to keep in first class condition. Requires little attention. Lubrication for the most part is done with an oil can.

You, too, will say: "the New Essex provides ideal transportation."

TO RELIEVE PAIN AND BACKACHE

Women May Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I had heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that when I realized I needed to take something to relieve my pains and backache, and to help build me up I began to take that. I had been sick off and on for years and barely weighed a hundred pounds, but now I have had such good results that I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to every one."—Mrs. J. J. BIEBER, 3939 18th Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Finds a True Friend

"Every woman who values her health should be proud to have a true friend like the Vegetable Compound," says Mrs. W. E. Shaw, 3227 Walnut Street, Chicago, Illinois. "I had female weakness so badly that I could not stand on my feet. Half of my time was spent in bed and I had pains in my back which were unbearable. I tried everything I could think of to help myself, and when a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began taking it at once. I recommend it without hesitation."

WHAT IS A BOY?

"He is a person who is going to carry on what you have started.

"He is to sit right where you are sitting and attend to those things you think are so important when you are gone.

"You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends upon him.

"Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them.

"He is going to sit at your desk in parliament and occupy your place on the Supreme Bench.

"He will assume control of your cities, states, and nation.

"He is going to move in and take over your prisons, churches, schools, universities, and corporations.

"All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him.

"Your reputation and your future are in his hands.

"All your work is for him, and the fate of the nation and of humanity is in his hands.

"So it might be as well to pay him some attention."—Reading Bulletin.

You Cannot Hide Your Fat

Overfatness is the one misfortune you cannot hide from yourself or from those around you. If too thin, your dressmaker or tailor can supply the deficiencies, but the overfat carry a burden they can not conceal. There is one sure way to reduce your weight surely and quickly. The harmless Marmola Prescription, which changes the fatty tissues and fat-producing foods to solid flesh and energy, helps the general health and digestion, permits you to eat substantial food, and leaves the skin clear and smooth. This famous prescription is now condensed into tablet form. Each tablet contains an exact dose of the same harmless ingredients that made the original prescription capable of reducing the overfat body steadily and easily without the slightest ill effects. Take but one tablet after each meal and at bedtime until the normal weight is reached and the bodily health completely restored. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription tablets or send one dollar to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., the price the world over, and you will receive enough to start you well on the road to slimness and happiness.

DREAM CHILDREN

(By Edgar Daniel Kramer)

They come to me at dusktime,
This little lass and lad;
They creep into my hungry arms
And softly whisper, "Dad,
We grow so tired of waiting
Through the long and lonesome day
For the time when you are coming
To join us in our play."

Oh, then we sail together
In an old, old wooden shoe
Down through a misty river
To a shining sea of dew;
And all the stars are singing,
As we slowly swing along,
An echo to the gladness
In our laughing hearts of song.
We cast our nets of silver—
O, the magic mystery
For the moonbeams and the sunbeams
Are the fishes in the sea;
And we draw our nets in rapture,
Till the stars are dropping low
And there comes a wind that whispers,
"You must go! Now you must go!"

Then we loose our sails in silence,
And we glide back through the gleam
To the Port of Vain Desires
In the Land of Hopeless Dream.
And the eyes of me are weeping
For the joys that can not be—
For a lass and lad of laughter
Who can never come to me.

"BLACK OXEN"

by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Watch for the screen version produced by Frank Lloyd with Corinne Griffith as Countess Zattiany.

(Copyright, 1923, by Gertrude Atherton.)

LIX. (Continued)

She was wearing a black dress with a long jade necklace and a large black hat, and, as he ran down the steps, he had time further to observe that she was even whiter than usual and had dark rings under her eyes.

"It is too beautiful a morning to remain indoors," she said, as she gave him her hand and he took the seat beside her. "We will drive in the park and then up the river for a bit."

She was completely at her ease, and she was the Madame Zattiany of the night he had met her. But she did not elaborate the role, and asked him how he had left his friends at the camp and if he had enjoyed his fishing trip.

"Enough of this," he interrupted, when he had mastered his excitement at being close to her once more. After all, he had expected something of the sort. She was just the woman to fall back on her infernal technique. "I know that you went down to Huntersville to meet Hohenhauer, and that the result of that interview was an abrupt flight from me—possibly from him. I want the truth."

Her face had flushed, but as the color ebbed she looked almost waxen. "I relied on Din——"

"Well, I guessed it and he admitted the fact. And if he hadn't I'd have come after you, anyhow. Your note was enough to tell any man something was wrong. I shall not be put off and I will have an answer to my questions. Do you love me no longer?"

"Oh, yes," she said softly. "I love you." But when he tried to take her hand she drew it away.

"Do you still intend to marry me?"

"Won't you give me a few days more to think it over?"

"No, I will not. And—do you need them? Haven't you already made up your mind?"

"What is the solution, Lee?"

She sighed and looked out of the window. They were driving up Fifth avenue and the bright street was full of color and life. The buses and motors were filled with women on their way to the shops, whose gay windows were the most enticing in the world. New York, in this, her River of Delight, looked as if she had not a care in the world.

Madame Zattiany did not speak again until they were in the park.

"I have promised to marry you, remember; and I do not lightly go back on my word. . . . But . . . I had intended to ask if you would be willing to let me go alone to Vienna for six months—and then join me——"

"After I had lost you completely! I shall marry you here, today, or not at all. I love you but I'll not let you play with me. I'll go to Austria with you, and you may do as you choose when you get there. You'll belong to me and I'll make the best of it."

"If I married you now it would not be worth my while to return to Austria. . . . You see, I'd be an American. I'd no longer be Grafin Zattiany. . . . I could accomplish nothing. . . . It is the strangest thing in the world, but I never had thought of changing my name——"

"Until Hohenhauer reminded you, I suppose. Well, I could have told you that myself. I had counted on it, if you want to know the truth."

"Ah! Then you counted on that to—to——"

"To have you altogether. Yes." And then he added hastily: "But up there—you must believe this—I never gave it a thought—after—after you promised to marry me at once."

He doubted if she had listened to this protest that there had been an hour when in the complete baring of his soul he had been above plotting and subterfuge. She was still looking out of the window. He saw her long upward curving nostril grow rigid.

But she said quietly: "And what do you think you would have done with me, Lee, after we were on the plane of common mortals once more? Transports do not last forever, you know, and we are not heedless young things with no thought of the future. You have acknowledged there is no place for me here, and there would be no place for me in Europe if I married you. Do you wonder that I came away to think, after Prince Hohenhauer—who, remember, knows me far better than you do—pointed out the inexorable truth? What would you do with me, Lee?"

He stared out of the window in his turn—at the tender green of the park. He could hear the birds singing. Spring! The chill of winter was in the car, and it emanated from the woman beside him.

"I don't know," he said miserably. "I only know that I love you and would take any chances."

"But, you see, although it is my misfortune to love you, I recognize that there is a long generation between us. I thought I had spanned it, but—do you realize that we have literally nothing to give each other but love? That we are as unlike as——"

"Oh, yes, I realized all that the night you left. But I don't care. Cannot you trust me?"

"There is that long generation, Lee. And it is I who have lived it, not you. Lived it and outlived the woman who began it. The gods in a sportive mood made us for each other—and then sent me into the world too soon. . . . I must go on. It is not in me to go back nor to remain becalmed. Hohenhauer told me many cruel truths. Those women at my dinner might have enlightened me if I had not deliberately bandaged the eyes of my mind. I chose to forget them at once. But Hohenhauer——" She shuddered. "Well, although I was infuriated with him at the time—what he said was true. Every word. I must go forward. I cannot—cannot go back."

"He appealed to your ambition, your love of power, I suppose——"

"He showed me to myself for exactly what I am," she said emphatically. "No appeal would have made the slightest impression on me if I had really and finally returned to my Mary Ogdenhood up there in the woods of my real youth. My God! What incredible folly! What powers of self-delusion! But we both have that memory. Let us be grateful. I at least shall hold it apart from all memories as long as I live."

"Are you going to marry that man?"

"That is so purely incidental that it is not worth talking about. I came away to think out my own problem. I love you and I believe that I shall always love you—but I don't see any way out. I have killed once and for all that fatal talent for self-delusion that I had thought was dead—well, as dead as my love for Moritz Hohenhauer; and nothing could be more dead than that. My brain feels like a crystal house illuminated by searchlights, strong enough to penetrate every corner but not strong enough to blind. I could never, if I would, deceive myself again, nor make another mistake, so far as human prescence will serve me."

He looked at her hands. Her gloves were black swede and they made those hands look smaller, but he had an idea that if he lifted one it would fall of its own weight.

He made no comment and she said in a moment: "Perhaps you may have an inspiration. If there is any solution for us, believe me when I say that it would make me as happy as it could make you."

But her hands did not relax.

THE LAST VOYAGE

Some morning I shall rise from sleep,
When all the house is still and dark,
I shall steal down and find my ship
By the dim quayside and embark.

Nor fear the seas nor any wind,
I have known Fear, but now no more,
The wind shall bear me safe and kind,
Long-hoped for and long-waited for.

To no strange country shall I come
But to my own delightful land,
With Love to bid me welcome home
And Love to lead me by the hand.

Love, you and I shall cling together,
And look long in each other's eyes,
There shall be rose and violet weather
Under the trees of Paradise
We shall not hear the ticking clock,
Nor the swift rustle of Time's wings,
Nor dread the sharp dividing stroke
Being come now to immortal things.

You of that country shall be fain,
Being now no new inhabitant,
Its beauties to point out, explain,
And all its dear delights to vaunt.

They will not end in a thousand years,
Love, we shall be so long together,
Withouten any sword to fear,
Glad in the rose and violet weather.

With all those wonders to admire,
And the heart's hunger satisfied,
Given at long last the heart's desire
We shall forget we ever died.

Oh, in some morning dateless yet
I shall steal out in the sweet dark
And find my ship with sails all set
By the dim quayside and embark.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

YOUR HEALTH

DR. CLIFFORD ROBINSON

Since Charles Wagner wrote his little book on "The Simple Life," many interpretations, good, bad and humorous, have been made in regard to its teachings.

Long before his day, men were living the simple life but there was very little said or written concerning it.

Living the so-called simple life is a wonderful thing for health and longevity. It pays good health dividends.

The first thing to start one on the road to the simple life is a thorough health examination to ascertain your actual physical standing. Beware of that little ailment which causes a twitch or twinge in your back or at your "heart strings." Nature is giving you a warning signal. If you don't give it any attention the dam drains on your vitality and bodily resistance will gradually become worse. Too much eating at irregular periods, neglecting bad teeth, harboring diseased tonsils or burning the candle at both ends, are bad practices against the simple-life program.

Theodore Roosevelt was a busy man, more so than the majority of people, but he always found time in his busy life for some relaxation and helpful exercise every day. Minor defects in your eyesight, hearing, lungs, heart or the digestive system may be detected and brought out by exercise.

The simple life calls for a decrease in your meat allowance after 40. Befor that age a cut down in meat is all the better for your muscles and digestion. A right proportion of the bulky green vegetables is of great assistance in keeping the joints from stiffening, helping to cut down your waistline and keeping the weight where it belongs. Sleep your full allotted time of eight hours.

Work as hard as you desire and get fatigued in the natural course of doing so, but don't eat when you are tired. Rest a while and then eat a moderate portion slowly.

INDIGESTION, GAS, UPSET STOMACH

Instantly—"Pape's Diapepsin" Corrects Stomach so Meals Digest.

The moment you eat a tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" your indigestion is gone. No more distress from a sour, acid, upset stomach. No flatulence, heartburn, palpitation, or misery-making gases. Correct your digestion for a few cents. Each package guaranteed by druggist to overcome stomach trouble.

1924

Let me be a little kinder, let me be a little blinder to the faults of those about me; let me praise a little more; let me be, when I am weary, just a little bit more cheery; let me serve a little better those that I am striving for. Let me be a little braver when temptation bids me waver; let me strive a little harder to be all that I should be; let me be a little meeker with the brother that is weaker; let me think more of my neighbor and a little less of me.

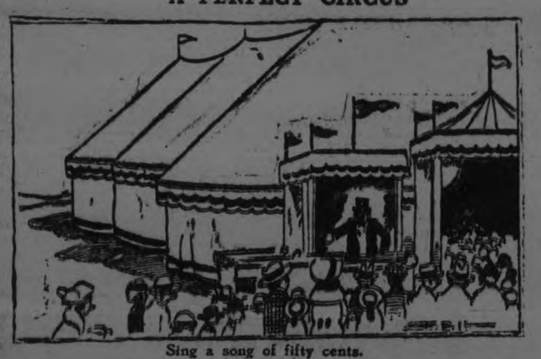
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Earton

A PERFECT CIRCUS



Sing a song of fifty cents.

"Why, I'm so surprised to see everybody here today!" declared the Riddle Lady, looking around at all the Riddle Land people and Mother Goose people—also Nancy and Nick, the Twins.

But she was only joking, and everybody knew it, for the day before she had offered some boneset-tea mixed with sulphur and molasses for a prize, and not a soul would have it.

So, my dears, if anybody goes to give you any sulphur and molasses this spring, or anything dreadful like that, just because it is spring, look hard at the bottle it is in. I don't know what became of it, but it might be the very same one!

But there! I do talk more and say less, don't I? I forgot all about the riddle. Here it is:

"Sing a song of fifty cents,
A pocketful of dimes,
I went to a big show,
Greatest of all times.
When the tents were opened,
We went crowding in;
It's fun to see the animals
Before the acts begin.

"Popcorn and peanuts,
And tubs of lemonade,
And wagons all painted,
(The ones in the parade)!
Balloon men and ticket men,
What a lovely din!
I'm sure it is the grandest place
That I have ever been!

"Lions, and tigers,
And camels lying down—
The giraffe with the long neck
Who sees all over town!
And elephants, and leopards
With spots upon their skin,
And kangaroos and crocodiles
With such a silly grin!

"The hippo, and rhino
With horns upon his nose,
The brown bear, the black bear
With patent leather toes,
The zebra, the mountain goat
With whiskers on his chin,
The antelope, and porcupine
With quills sticking in.

"And then there are the jugglers
That juggle with their toes,
And even one that balances
A flag-pole on his nose!
And riders, and acrobats,
And seals that make a din,
And clowns all turning somersaults,
That make your head spin!

"And there are four-horse chariots,
And Romans that race,
And elephants that do a dance,
And march all 'round the place;
And last of all the side shows,
Fat folks and thin;
Now can you tell this woundrous place
Where I have been?"

"A circus!" shouted everybody.
"Good!" laughed the Riddle Lady.
"And here are tickets for everybody."

THE LESSON OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST ADVERTISER

The world's largest advertiser is unquestionably Lord Leverhulme. Indeed he is a double-first in that Lever Brothers, Ltd., spend more money in advertising goods of their manufacture in over 40 different countries than does any other firm in the world, and in that the 200 other companies of which the veteran British business man is chairman are included many which rank as the largest advertisiers of their particular commodity.

In the export field Lever Brothers have never experienced a failure; they have, it is true, been brought face to face with many unexpected problems but in every case they have overcome the difficulties. When the tariff imposed on their goods made it impractical to import to any particular market Levers built a factory. But other firms, British, American, German, have done this and yet failed. From a study of Lever Brothers methods in several countries I do not hesitate to say that the basic secret of Lord Leverhulme's success is to be found in the fact that he has always entered a new market with a perfectly open mind. He was there to sell his goods but he always prepared to sell them in the size, shape, and above all in the manner in which the people of that market were accustomed to buy, no matter how these factors differed for those of other markets.

THIS CURIOUS THING

Advertising is a curious thing. It has had to be taken on faith for the most part. You can't usually measure its effects. Men who advertise and find their business prospering keep on advertising. Men whose business has been slow sometimes try advertising and find their business suddenly growing. Then they keep on advertising.

That's the reason you can't measure its results. If men started advertising and stopped, and started and stopped often enough, you might be able to measure the results in their business. Of course, to do that would almost invariably ruin the effectiveness of the advertising. As it is, advertising has to be adopted on principle and stuck to because of one's confidence in its soundness and its general results.

The tremendous growth of advertising in spite of the fact that you couldn't separate its effects from the effects of all the other forces that make for good business, is perhaps a greater tribute to its power than it would be if exact measurement were possible.

Men are not ordinarily willing to place such great faith and pay such huge sums of money for an agency whose effect they cannot isolate and measure. When they do, it means that its power is so tremendous that it doesn't need to be measured to be believed in.

THE GREAT MAN

I like the man who faces what he must
With heart triumphant and a step of cheer;
Who fights the daily battle without fear,
Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust
That God is God, that somehow, true and just.
His plans work out for mortals; not a tear
Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
Falls from his grasp; better with love, a crust
Than living in dishonor; envies not
Nor loses faith in man, but does his best.
Nor even murmurs at his humbler lot;
But with a smile and words of hope, gives zest
To every toiler; he alone is great
Who by a life heroic conquers fate.
—Sarah Knowles Bolton.

Prohibition wouldn't amount to much in Scotland, anyway. The bagpipe is too exquisitely adapted to the business of bootlegging.

DELEGATES PLACED A WREATH ON THE TOMB

ROME, Feb. 16.—(United Press).—Delegates from seventeen countries attending the conference on naval disarmament here, placed wreaths to-day on the tomb of Italys unknown soldier.

Admiral Deriben, a spokesman for the delegates paid tribute to Italian heroism.

Admiral Galleani responded on behalf of Signor Thaon Di Revel, Italian minister of marine.

BEDSIDE CONFERENCE ON ITALIAN PROBLEM

BELGRADE, Feb. 16.— (British United Press). — Foreign Minister Ninintch to-day invited General Brodero and Charge Daffaires Summonte of Italy to his bedside and assured them that postponement of the debate in Parliament on the Italo-Slav accords will not have any influence on their untilmate ratification.

VATICAN DISCOUNTED REPORT OF MARRIAGE

ROME, Feb. 16.—(United Press)—Reports that the Princess Mafalda second daughter of the King and Queen will be married to Prince Nicholas of Roumania were discounted in Vatican circles in statements to the United Press to-day. It was pointed that the marriage would entail abjuration of the Princess right to succession to the throne, which has never been won by a member of the House of Savoy and only once by a Catholic Princess.

THE FRENCH FRANCS TAKES A NEW SLUMP

PARIS, Feb. 16.—(United Press). France took a new slump shortly after the opening of the exchange market here to-day reaching 22.70 to the dollar—almost as low as the previous record.

The slump was considered especially alarming in view of the drastic programme of the Government to bolster up exchange.

WIFE USED A GUN IN SELF DEFENCE

HULL, Feb. 16. — (Canadian Press).—That his wife, Mrs. Malvina Robillard, was driven to fire a fatal shot through the door of her home on Saturday night last, which resulted in the death of Albert Turcotte, farmer, for whose murder she now awaits trial here, in defence of her honor, was the statement made last night by Jean Robillard. Turcotte, he said, had been in the habit of visiting his home when his wife was alone, despite several warnings.

HAVELOCK WINS TRENT VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeated Tweed 4-3 Last Night After Being Down Three Goals in the First Period — Have Clean Sheet So Far This Season

BRENNAN STARRED.

TWEED, Feb. 16. — Havelock won the championship of the Trent Valley Hockey League here last night by defeating Tweed by the score of 4-3. The C.P.R. team finished the season without a loss, and Tweed's only setbacks were in both games with the champions. They were lucky to win last night for Tweed carried the battle to them all the way and had a decided advantage during the first two periods, and still looked good in the last act, which went to Havelock when Doug. Brennan scored the deciding goal two minutes before full time.

It was a heart-breaking game to lose, for Tweed's opening attacks inspired a feeling of confidence that persisted almost to the end. But Havelock had the punch and they deserve every compliment for their stubborn defensive and the staying power than gave them victory.

Brown put Tweed ahead seven minutes after Armstrong of Toronto, faced the puck and Houston tallied two more before the bell rang. In the second Doug. Brennan put Havelock in the scoring column and Pollock followed with another. Tweed seemed to have the edge of play, but their attack was broken up, and in the third Brennan tied the score and finally went through for the last goal with only two minutes remaining.

Havelock brought two coaches of supporters and celebrated uproariously after the game. The ice was good, a big crowd from the district edged the street, and Armstrong gave general satisfaction as referee. The teams were:

Tweed—Goal, Wagar; defence, B. Cummings and Brown; centre, Houston; right wing, A. Geraldi; left wing, D. Cummings. Subs, Minorgan and M. Geraldi.

Havelock—Goal, Hooper; defence, Brennan and Quinn; centre, Pollock; right wing, R. Wright; left wing, Don Wright. Subs, Armstrong and Burgess.

Baseball Players In Motor Accident

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 15.—Tony Boeckel ,third baseman for the Braves, is in a hospital in a critical condition as the result of an automobile accident near here to-day. He is suffering from a fractured pelvis and a puncture of the bladder. If he recovers, it is feared the accident will seriously affect his baseball career.

Bob Albright, Los Angeles theatrical man, who was driving the car, in which Boeckel and Bob Meusel of the New York Yankees were passengers, suffered severe cuts. Meusel was not injured seriously.

SOCCER'S GROWTH

The United States will try to land the amateur soccer championship of the world. A selected team, representing this country, will be sent to the Olympic games at Paris.

A national amateur competition is in progress at the present time to assist the Olympic committee of the United States Foot Ball Association in selecting a national eleven.

Back in 1915 the United States sent a team overseas. This team played the national team of Norway to a 1-1 tie and defeated Sweden by the score of 3 to 2. The tour was managed by T. W. Cahill, at present mainly responsible for the success of soccer in this country.

About 10,000 persons are now actively interested in soccer in Michigan. The number has steadily increased each year.

There is a Detroit and a District League in the State, and the two Flint clubs hold first and second places in the district circuit. When these teams play in Flint there are rarely less than 4,000 people in attendance.

The Great War Veterans team holds a commanding lead in the Detroit Amateur League. The winners of this race will be awarded The Detroit News Cup.

Soccer has been gaining steadily in popular favor in Detroit. Soccer players are splendid sportsmen and the typical soccer enthusiast shares the high standard of sportsmanship.

A game like soccer is bound to make headway because it makes friends and converts.

Few Sundays this winter have found the weather as inclement as it was last Sunday. It took courage to play in weather like that and still more courage to watch play. The Michigan final of the national competition was played at Packard Park and more than 2,000 persons watched the exciting competition.

The Detroit Celtics now play the Chicago Bricklayers in the western semi-final of the national competition and if the Detroit team wins it will meet the Vesper Buicks at St. Louis in the western final.

In this country soccer has not quite reached the ranks of major sports but the time is not far off when this will happen. In Germany, France, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Belgium and Denmark the game is played as a major sport and it has been the leading sport of Great Britain for a long number of years. Over there it is not known as soccer but as Association Foot-Ball. The name soccer is preferred in this country where the European name would conflict too much with Intercollegiate Foot Ball.

When France and Germany met in an international soccer match recently the event was given world-wide publicity. The meeting of these two countries on the soccer field was the first evidence of the resumption of friendly relations Soccer seems able to do more for two of the world's leading natins than all the diplomats combined.

Soccer is a fascinating game. A team consists of eleven players, a goalkeeper, two fullbacks, three half-backs and five forwards.

The only player allowed to handle the ball is the goal-keeper. He can do so only in a restricted area known as the penalty area, extending 18 yards from each goal.

The other players have to place the ball between the posts, either by kicking it or by butting it with their heads.

In Great Britain, where soccer has its strongest hold, the average attendance at games is 30,000. The professional players are paid $35 a week. They also receive the proceeds of a benefit game after serving a certain time with their clubs. This generally nets them about $2,500. An international player receives $45 for every international game he participates in.

Association foot ball players in Great Britain are sold just as base ball players are in this country. The largest price that has been paid for an association players is $25,000 and of this amount the player received a portion.

Soccer players last longer than our ball players. R. Crompton, of the Blackburn Rover, England, played in 17 international games covering a period of 12 years.

During the war English professionals coached teams representing fighting units of various countries and since the signing of the Versailles Treaty, the game has progressed rapidly in many lands.

Germany and Austria played a match at Vienna in 1922 and 70,000 peopled attended. Germany won, 2 to 0. This game attracted the largest crowd that ever witnessed a soccer match on the continent. It may be mentioned in passing that no base ball game ever played in this county has attracted 70,000 spectators.

England has more than doubled the continental attendance record. The English Cup final, at Wembley Stadium, London, last year, drew 170,586. That is the largest crowd that ever attended a sporting event in the history of the world.

Soccer must be a fascinating game to attract that many people.—Detroit News.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

Last night at Solomon's Alleys in the Mercantile League the Westclox took two out of three from the Bell Telephone. Some nice scores were turned in by both teams. Yelland was high man for the evening with 630, while DeGraw was next with 592. Elliott was high for the losers with 553 and Lush was next with 546. DeGraw had the high single of 241.

Following are the scores:

WILL LIKELY PROTEST

It is rumored that the Bell Telephone team will protest their games last evening with the Western Clock. They will enter their protest on the grounds that the Western Clock were not justified in using seven men as they did. If the protest is entered the Bell Telephone will be fully justified in entering it.

At a meeting in which every team in the Mercantile League was present, it was agreed that a team starting the game with five men must keep those five men on for the three games. Every team, including the Western Clock, agreed to this rule and it was officially adopted and entered in a constitution of the league.

CITY TEN PIN LEAGUE

Last night in the City Ten Pin League the Quakers took two out of three from the Lawn Bowlers. Some nice scores were rolled by both teams.

Jack Johnson's Wife Charges Infidelity.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — John Arthur (Jack) Johnson, former heavyweight boxing champion, was sued in the Supreme Court to-day by his white wife, Lucille Frances Johnson, for a divorce on the ground of infidelity. The action, undefended, was speedily tried before Justice Wasservogel, who reserved decision.

U.S. SKI CHAMPION.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Feb. 15.—Larse Haugen, of the Sioux Valley Ski Club, Canton, S.D., won the national senior ski championship here to-day. Norman Berger, of the Montreal Ski Club, was second, and Alf. Bakken, of the Norge Ski Club, of Chicago, was third.

ALL BROTHERS

The Five McGlinchey Boys of California Form Crack Team.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 16. — The McGlinchey boys are the whole thing when this team plays basketball. They are all McGlincheys, Bill, 19, forward; Joe, 21, centre; Jim, 22, forwards; Francis, 16, guard, and Jack, 21, guard. In addition to these five brothers, there is a rooting section of Pa, Ma, an elder brother and three sisters.

They've cleaned up everything around the home town, Livermore, Calif., and covered some outlying territory, without a defeat this season. Included in their victories is one over the Oregon Aggies, 34-19, and they have hopes of meeting and conquering the University of California.

As they'v played together ever since they were old enough to toddle, their team work can't be beat. Three of these boys, Joe, Jim and Jack, played on a team which reached the semi-finals in the national tournament two years ago.

UNHERALDED SKATER STARRED AT SARANAC

Francis Allen of Chicago Surprised Speed Kings By Brilliant Performance in Three-Quarter Mile Race, Beating Pack Over the Line.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Feb. 15.—The victory of Francis Allen, Chicago, unknown and unheralded skater, in the three-quarter mile race was the brilliant feature today of the National Amateur Speed Skating Championship events on Pontiac Rink. Allen, who never has skated here before, and who was not even considered as being among those who held a chance of winning, skated a brainy, careful race, holding himself with the leaders, but well back, until the final lap was reached. Then he displayed verything a champion skater should have—speed, stamina and judgment—finishing just in the lead of the pack of four which swept almost as one over the finish line.

Eddie Murphy, also of Chicago, was second, and the judges, after a conference, awarded third place to Roy McWhirter, making it an all-Chicago victory. The time was 2.07, considerably slower than the record.

Charles Gorman, St. John, N.B., put his specialty—sprinting—to good use in the half-mile event, winning hands down after the referee had warned the skaters at the end of the second lap that the race would re-skated if they did not show some speed.

Gorman took the advice to heart and opened up a gap which never was closed. McWhirter finished a poor second, and Richard Donovan, Saranac Lake, came in third. The time was 1.37 slow for the course.

Weather conditions were ideal today. The mercury hung a few points above zero, and there was no wind and the ice was in perfect condition. A large crowd witnessed the events.

Members of the American Olympic team again made a dismal showing, displaying none of their customary form, lacking speed and indicating in every way that they have not yet recovered from their sea voyage abroad.

THE LAKEFIELD HOCKEY LEAGUE

Warsaw Won Close Game From Grove Last Night Before Large Crowd.

Last night, in the Lakefield District Hockey League, the fast-working Warsaw aggregation won from the Grove by the close score of 2 goals to 1. The game was fast throughout, with the Grove boys showing all kinds of combination, while the Warsaw boys were inclined to rough it a little. The Warsaw team having played together many years, were very good, but their rushes were mostly the one-man style.

In the first period Rainnie scored Lakefield's only goal, while the Warsaw boys drew five penalties to the Grove's one.

In the second period Warsaw evened up the score when R. Darling scored a neat goal. Bell, R. Darling and James drew penalties.

Payne scored the winning goal for Warsaw in the last period, which was fast and furious.

The teams lined up as follows:

Grove—Goal, Griffiths; defence, Maffie and Christman; centre, Rainnie; r. wing, James; l. wing, Fawcett; subs., Barnard and Little.

Warsaw—Goal, Wasson; defence, H. Darling and Morgan; centre, R. Darling; r. wing, Bell; l. wing, J. H. Darling; subs., Bowen and Payne.

Referee—Reg. Murduff.

VERDICT FOR JACKSON DISALLOWED BY JUDGE

Jury Awarded Decision to 'Shoeless Joe" On All Ten Points in Baseball Suit — Judge Censured Jury For Accepting Perjured Testimony.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb 16—Joe Jackson, one-time outfielder for the Chicago Club of the American League, won his suit for salary and bonus against the club, on every point of the ten questions submitted in a special verdict here yesterday, only to have the court set aside the verdict and dismiss the case.

The action of Judge J. J. Gregory in setting aside the verdict was based on the fact that he believed the jury had not given the case the proper attention in view of all the conflicting statements made by witnesses.

The court severely scored the jury for failure to take into consideration what he said was perjured testimony.

Jackson brought suit last year for $18,200 salary he would have earned under the White Sox contract signed in February, 1920, had the club not exercised an option to dispense with his services under a ten-day release clause in the contract; and for $1,500 bonus claimed to have been promised but not paid for work done for the club in the 1917 world's series. These two clauses of action brought his total claim to $19,700.

Among other things Jackson alleged was that the ten day clause appeared in his contract without his knowledge or consent and that club officials in obtaining his signature took advantage of his inability to read or write. He also claimed his copy of the contract was not immediately delivered to him but was sent to him later.

The Chicago Club of the American League denied the principal allegations touching the point of money claimed due. It based its defense on the grounds of justification of releasing the player under the ten-day clause when club officers became convinced that Jackson was implicated in the alleged "throwing" of the world's series of 1919.

LADIES PLAY HOCKEY.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—Toronto University co-eds proved that men students were not the only ones that could win hockey championships when they triumphed over Queen's University ladies at the Arena yesterday afternoon in an Intercollegiate argument by the score of 4 to 1. Like in the men's game, team play was the deciding factor, Varsity girls playing a nice passing game. Queens were lost when within shooting distance, and Miss M. Sullivan in the Toronto twine had little to do. Miss D. McIlroy in Queen's goal had a busy afternoon ,and stopped many difficult shots.

(THE SYNOPSIS.

Mr. Griffith suggests that this not be made public prior to the showing. This is a mystery picture and telling the story in advance will spoil the mystery effect.

A man of wealth, past his youth, Rockmaine by name, has an obsession to win Agnes Harrington, a young girl. She feels only repugnance for him, but to save her mother from impending disgrace at the hands of Rockmaine, consents to marry him.

Young John Fairfax, also wealthy of splendid family and a fine young chap in every way, returns home from England. He meets the girl, and it is mutual love at first sight. Fairfax does not know she is being sacrificed on the twin altars of Greed and Passion.

He opens the Fairfax country house and gives a party to which Agnes Harrington, her mother, and their crowd are invited.

In his absence the Fairfax home has been made the headquarters of a band of bootleggers. Johnson the chief of the band, in attempting to escape with the immense spoils, amounting to about half a million dollars, is pursued by revenue officers, and shot and killed in the Fairfax house shortly before the party guests arrive.

Suspicion is cast on young Fairfax and his troubles multiply rapidly. Here there comes into the picture Romeo Washington, a comical negro, whose fears when he learns of the murder, form real comedy.

Mysterious figures begin to appear. Eventually Agnes Harrington, Fairfax and Romeo and the maid, his sweetheart, are all locked in the house while the detectives seek the slayer. Stark disaster stalks all about them. One of the mystery figures is a burly negro whose actions further complicate the mystery. Again things begin to happen with startling suddenness. At the height of a terrific storm the search for the slayer comes to a climax, and suspect and pursuers all dash out into the torrential storm.

Then young Fairfax—But the rest must be seen.

GRAND Opera House | 4 Days, Com. Feb. 18th D. W. GRIFFITHS

ONE EXCITING NIGHT

TRANS-CANADA THEATRES LIMITED

Special Score with the Grand's Eight Piece Orchestra. Popular Prices.

To Peterboro Theatre Goers

The Trans-Canada Theatres Limited have completed arrangements with the United Arists Corporation for the presentation at the Grand Opera House of all their pictures for the first runs in Peterboro.

As an indication of what might be expected from such an arrangement, "One Exciting Night," will be shown here February 18-19-20-21. This is one of the most absorbing pictures ever produced by Griffith and is heralded as one of the best releases of the season. A special music score and an eight piece orchestra will supplement this picture also a high-class two reel comedy.

This new policy on the part of the Trans-Canada Theatres Limited will give the people of Peterboro the finest first run pictures and road shows available. The pictures will be used to fill in the gaps between the road shows. Other offerings of a high-class nature will be announced from time to time. Picture offerings of this magnitude have never been shown continuously in Peterboro before. You will come expecting something extra good and you will not go away disappointed.

THE OPENING PICTURE.

With this announcement comes the statement that "One Exciting Night," a United Artists Corporation release, differs in almost every respect from former Griffith productions. It does not present any enormous spectacle; has no tremendous mob scenes, but Mr. Griffith has departed from the heavy and spectacular to tell a modern and strictly up-to-date mystery story.

The mystery picture is new to the screen, and critics point out, naturally follows the increasing popularity in the last two or three years of the mystery stage play.

The action in "One Exciting Night" moves swift and straight, for in this picture Mr. Griffith has endeavoured to follow the old Greek unity with the events and action all taking place within twelve hours, as nearly as possible in the exact time it ordinarily would take for these events to happen.

The storm scene is the greatest thing of its kind ever put on the screen. Eleven weeks were occupied in making it and as many as 500 men were used at one time in constructing the mechanical properties. Stout old trees crash to the ground, young saplings are bent almost in two, houses are torn apart and borne up in the high wind, while over all play weird flashes of lightning.

"We ask your welcome for our new offering—a little romance, and a just a little mystery, with, we hope, just a few thrills; and we trust you who have suffered in the throes of love will smile a little with the romantic Romeo. We hope you will find entertainment in "One Exciting Night," and we shall feel amply rewarded if it makes you forget your own little troubles during the performance."

Carol Dempster has the leading feminine role and the entire cast is made of players of wide reputation and known ability.

COMING THURSDAY: Claire Windsor and Norman Kerry in "THE ACQUITTAL"

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"THE UNWANTED CHILD"

An interesting little play effectively acted by a capable company is "The Unwanted Child" which was seen at matinee and evening performances at the Grand yesterday and is the attraction again this afternoon and to-night. A large matinee audience of women enjoyed the production yesterday.

Miss Florence Edna May the author has given some new twists to a stage theme that has formed basis for many of the most popular plays of the last decade, the Cinderella theme it might be termed as it deals with the story of the poor little uneducated girl who marries "above her" and gradually develops until in the last act she is the acme of refinement and culture. This idea was successfully used in "Peg O' My Heart," "Daddy Long Legs" "The Brat" and half a dozen other plays and the author of "The Unwanted Child" has employed it most skilfully in the production visiting Peterboro just now. The story of the little farm girl who marries a rich city man and finds her own mother who had abandoned her years before a rival for her husband's love—the relationship of the two women being unknown to each other or to anybody else until the last act—is full of interest. There is a strong love interest and a rich vein of comedy that is cleverly developed.

The company is uniformly good. Frances Hall is admirable in the title role and Rupert as Billie plays the husband in a convincing manner. Peter Lang, gives an effective portrayal of the part of Farmer Pitson and Arthur Kohl makes the role of the young Farmer Dave a most amusing picture. Ada Dalton is the aristocratic mother to the life and Dorothy Pembroke is excellent as the woman who abandoned her daughter. Mary Johns as Dorothy adds strength to the cast.

The production is adequately staged and all in all is a most entertaining presentation.

"SO THIS IS LONDON."

In the course of each theatrical season there are perhaps a half dozen attractions that stand out in relief from the others possessing merit that places them above the average run of visiting companies. "So This Is London" can easily lay claim to being one of the favored few. This cleverly contrived comedy, which has contributed so materially to the gaiety and good feeling of Great Britain and America has been eagerly awaited by playgoers who appreciate the worthwhile offerings of the theatre. It will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday, and is certain to prove one of the season's artistic treats and a genuine success that has not been equalled in recent years. It is a play that can truthfully be classified "the outstanding comedy success of the season." It rounded out a full year at the Hudson Theatre, New York, where more than a half million people laughed at its delightful satire.

It bears the Cohan stamp of merry touches and humor that is always bright and never bitter. The company that will be seen here is a specially organized city cast and the production artistically beautiful.

EUGENE O'BRIEN AGAIN WITH NORMA TALMADGE

Eugene O'Brien's lucky number is three!

On the ninth numerical three of his life, when in the natural order of things his friends would have been lighting twenty-seven birthday candles at his table in the Lambs Club, he started for California to again begin work before the camera with Norma Talmadge after a professional separation of three years.

In those earlier days of Norma's stellar triumphs, Eugene O'Brien shared honors with her, the pair being co-starred for three years. Fans are overjoyed at the prospect of seeing the famous pair in teamwork once more.

The picture which brings them together is "The Voice From the Minaret," the essence of drama handled with the magnificent skill that marks the oustanding novels of Robert Hichens, its theme the struggle for spiritual ascendancy over fleshpots that are Egypt's.

The role of Andrew Fabian is a tremendous one, for which his histrionic ability well fits him. Moreover, claims Eugene O'Brien "nothing can stop an actor from doing superlative work when he is working opposite Miss Talmadge, since she is an incentive to the finest acting of which he is capable.

If his luck of three holds good, both Eugene and the fans hope they will play together at least another three yars. Anyway, she is the only actress he will play opposite on the screen.

"The Voice From the Minaret" a First National picture, is at the Capitol Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

MYSTERY PLAY COMING SOON TO THE CAPITOL

Sitting through a tense mystery(in which one pits one's wits against the characters of the play is the strange pastime theatregoers will behold when "The Acquittal," new Universal mystery picture comes to the Capitol theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

It's a play of suspicion, directed by Clarence L. Brown. The audience suspects every character in the play in turn as evidence points one way then another, enmeshing men and women in its circumstantial toils until the dramatic climax of the remarkable play. They don't know if the leading man is the hero or the villain, until the climax. They don't know if the sinister butler in the mystery household is a saint or a sinner, until the final scene.

They wonder, and suspect, and suspect some more, without avail.

"The Acquittal" is to the screen what "The Bat" was to the stage, and Rita Weiman's stage play is literally put under a microscope in the astounding offering.

The huge court room, in which several hundred people appear, is one of the oustanding features—with witness after witness taking the stand, the testimony being pictured in action as the story is told to the jury. Clarence L. Brown, the director, handled the problem of putting a spoken play into pantomine with remarkable skill.

Brown, in order to properly direct, the legal deportment of the actors playing court attaches, attorneys, jurymen and witnesses, obtained the services of Charles Furthmann, former deputy district attorney of Chicago, who sat with his as technical adviser through the scenes. To inform himself, Brown read up on every point of law involved in the story of the trial, and on completion found that he had covered a very extensive course in criminal law to get at the information he desired.

The cast is headed by Norman Kerry and Claire Windsor, and includes such players as Henry Mestayer, Barbara Bedford, Richard Travers, Dot Farley, Charles Wellesley, Hayden Stevenson, Ben Deely, Frederick Vroom and others of equal note.

AT THE ROYAL

"THE STEEL TRAIL."

Since the advent of the locomotive into everyday affairs, the story of pioneerings and the opening up of new lands has been definitely linked with the building of railroads. Whether it has been the thin steel trail which pushes its way across a desert or the groping rail ends working their way into the jungle or the sinuous tracks clinging to mountain sides and vaulting chasms, the story of railroad pioneering has equalled any other chronicle of human adventure, in adventure and thrills.

The Universal Pictures Corporation has made a picture based upon just such adventures. It is a continued feature in fifteen chapters and has as its star William Duncan, one of the most popular men on the screen. His chief supporting player is Edith Johnson, best known as the "Eastman Kodak Girl," whose pictures were formerly used by the Eastman company in its advertising.

The new railroad drama is called "The Steel Trail," and is filled with romance and adventure.

The cast also includes Ralph McCullough, Harry Carter, Harry Woods, John Cossar, Frank Whitson, Mabel Randall and Cathleen Calhoun. Duncan himself directed the picture, from a story written by Paul M. Bryan and George Plympton.

Duncan long has wanted to make a chaptered picture of railroad construction adventures. At one time in his career he held an important position with a simlar construction project, and knows the thrill of it.

"The Steel Trail" has been obtained for the Royal Theatre. The first chapter will be shown there on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" BOOKED FOR ROYAL.

One of the vaudeville acts booked for the Royal for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is Joe Carroll, "the man of the hour." Carroll has just completed a tour of the Pantage circuit and it is the Royal patrons' first opportunity to hear a real clever monologist. Foxworth and Francis have a comedy, singing and dancing novelty "A Wee Bit of Dixie. Both acts come highly recommended.

ROYAL BOOKS NEW FILM | BY RAWLINSON.

There's a type of friendship that is reflected in the radiating glare of the dollar sign.

Such was the type of friendship bestowed upon Jimmy Dorgan, son of John Dorgan, multi-millionaire, railroad president. Dorgan, Sr., had amassed a fortune, and Jimmy dedicated the early years of his life trying to spend it. With the help of the social leeches who clung to him he did awfully well at his self-appointed task.

He did so well with his check book against his father's bank account that he lost all other interest in life. His life became a series of parties, with Jimmy always in the role of the host. His father's advice regarding the character of his associates was ignored and thus he gained his father's displeasure.

When he learned that his inheritance amounted to only a half million dollars when he anticipated several milions, Jimmy was so used to spending that he galloped through the fortune like a colt through a small corral. When his money was gone his friends deserted him.

"Fools and Riches," the Universal photoplay, which comes to the Royal Theatre Monday, offers an ideal play ground for the romantic screen hero, Herbert Rawlinson, who iss tarred.

AT THE REGENT

FAMOUS STORY SCREENED. "The Nth Commandment" By Fannie Hurst is Picturized.

One of Fannie Hurst's noted stories, "The Nth Commandment," said to be similar in appeal and dramatic strength to the same author's "Humoresque," has been screened by the Cosmopolitan Corporation for Paramount, and it will be the feature attraction at the Regent Theatre next Monday.

The story deals with a department store girl who marries a fellow clerk who later develops tubercular trouble. Told that her husband will die unless he goes to the country for a long stay, the unhappy wife, all but penniless, resorts to desperate methods to obtain the money required. This development is the expansion of the theme of the picture—that there are other than the Ten Commandments which men and women must not violate.

The leading roles are portrayed by Colleen More, James Morrison and Eddie Phillips. The picture was directed by Frank Borzage and adapted by Frances Marion, both of whom collaborated in the making of 'Humoresque.' The picture is thrilling and intensely appealing.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(Special.)—A. J. Small's sisters give details of a will drawn in 1917, themselves the main beneficiaries and Mrs. Small excluded.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. W. J. Green, 375 Brock street, was hostess at a charming afternoon tea on Tuesday of this week. The occasion was a surprise celebration in honor of Mr. W. J. Green, to commemorate the twenty-fourth anniversary of his term as Tax Collector and his birthday, and over thirty of the young ladies of the staffs of the Utilities Commission, the Bank of Montreal, the City Hall and former associates of the city offices, were guests. Mr. Green, humorously attired as Mrs. Doolittle, received with Mrs. Green. The tea table was effectively decorated with Valentine fancies and a birthday cake displaying twenty-four candles. Mrs. F. L. Roy was in charge of the tea room. Mrs. A. Clysdale poured tea, assisted by Miss Mae McKim and Miss Kathleen Gilroy. A Dutch concert, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" concluded the pleasant occasion, with a vote of thanks to the hostess. Many gifts were received by Mr. Green, who was presented with a bouquet of roses by the ladies of the Bank of Montreal staff and with an umbrella by the members present from the Utilities Commission and City Hall staffs.

An afternoon tea, under the auspices of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association, was held in the school on Wednesday afternoon, with a good attendance. Decorations were carried out in the pretty Valentine fashion, and a good musical programme was given, in charge of Miss G. Hunter. Guests were received by the President of the association, Mrs. J. S. Peters. Mrs. George Robertson acted as convenor of arrangements. The musical programme consisted of vocal numbers by Miss Eleanor Brown and Miss Ellen Eagleson, a violin selection by George Gatfield, dances by Kathleen Cooney and several clever whistling numbers by Miss Mignonne Mayneord.

Dr. J. J. Craig has returned from Toronto, where he has been attending the post graduate clinic at the Dental College.

A New England dinner and entertainment, attended by over 250 people, was held in the Reid Street Hall last evening, under the auspices of Trinity Church Ladies' Aid Society. The guests sat down to a real old-fashioned dinner of pork and beans, salads, brown bread, pumpkin pie and coffee, with the six long tables decorated in pretty style in soft pastel shades of different hues. An address by G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., giving some arguments for and against Church Union, an address by Mrs. Howard Fallis, and a short talk by the chairman, Rev. A. J. Langford, were given. Mrs. C. L. Hyde, of Belleville, gave a reading, and Mesdames E. Kitney and H. Doig rendered a vocal duett, followed by community singing. A guessing contest, arranged by Mrs. H. Fallis, opened the programme. The guests were received by the president of the society, Mrs. J. A. Wolstenholm. General convenors of arrangements were Mrs. Ira Moore and Mrs. Waterworth, the decorations committee was composed of Mesdames M. Lyle, H. Huffman, H. S. Huffman and W. H. Lytle, and the programme committee included Mrs. H. Fallis, Mrs. Geo. H. King and Mrs. T. Cruikshank. Members of the society assisted in making the affair successful.

Mrs. Harry Biles (formerly Mrs. Bertha Munro spent a few days in the city this week, returning to Windsor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Tyrer, Canadian Bank of Commerce Apartments, entertained for their daughter, Dorothy, last evening. About 40 young people were preesnt. The rooms were artistically decorated for the occasion in Valentine fashion.

The Caledonian Club were hosts at a Valentine tea given for children of members and friends of the society in Victoria Hall yesterday evening. About sixty children had a very enjoyable sit-down tea, served by the ladies' committee, with Mrs. Peter McArthur as convenor. The decorations were in bright Valentine hearts and cut-outs. The children enjoyed some jolly games after a bountiful tea, the gathering dispersing about seven o'clock. A programme given by the children included piano numbers by Isabel Reid, Jack Wyllie, and Billy Petrie, violin solos by Robert Wyllie, recitations by Margaret Dunlop, Master A. Anderson, Margaret Wyllie, and Isabel Duffy, a song by Marion Ralston, and dances by the little Misses Dunlop and Cohen. Mr. A. Jackson acted as chairman for the occasion. Several of the adult members of the society obliged with vocal solos, among them Messrs. Gilmour, Lowe, A. Millen, and Stroyan Leith, with accompaniments by W. Grieve.

A Valentine social was held last evening in the Kindergarten Room of the school by the King Edward Home and School Association. The room was brightly decorated with red hearts and cupids in the season's fashion. An enjoyable programme, in charge of Miss Violet Buckham, was given, Mr. R. J. Bolton acting as chairman. In the course of a of a short address, Mr. Bolton remarked on the good work done by the association, and their prompt response to any appeal in a good cause. Pianoforte selections were given by Mary Wood and Master Rayburn Cook, a vocal number by Miss Florence Saunders, readings by Jean Hamilton and Ashton Fife, and an exhibition of club-swinging by Nellie Payne. Applause greeted every number. Refreshments were served by the Social Committee, composed of Mrs. Frank White, convenor, assisted by Mesdames McLeod, Price, Andrews, Finnie, and Misses Lancaster and Adams. The president, Mrs. J. J. Pollock, announced a cup and saucer shower to be held at her home on friday of next week.

Mrs. Rev. C. W. Follett of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. G. C. Carruthers, Brock Apartments.

Mrs. Harry Williams of Essex, Ontario, formerly Mrs. Harry Kirk, of Peterboro, leaves to-day for California, to visit friends.

Miss Meta Meredith, B.A., is spending the week-end in Toronto.

IN MEMORIAM.
LOGAN—In loving memory of Annie Logan, who died February 16, 1923.
I watched her breathing through the night,
Her breathing soft and low,
As in her breast the wave of life
Kept ebbing to and fro.

And when the morn came dim and sad,
And chill with early showers,
Her quiet eyelids close—she had
Another morn than ours.

What would I give to clasp your hand,
Your cheery face to see,
To hear your voice; to see your smile,
That meant so much to me.

You did not fail to do your best;
You heart was true and tender,
You did your work hard for those you left,
That's something to remember.
—Sadly missed by family.

MEETING AGAIN TO ELECT COMMITTEES

Meeting of the Peterborough Fair Directors Last Evening.

A meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Fair Board was held last evening in the Board Room at the Chamber of Commerce, President R. Denne presiding.

The meeting busied itself principally with naming committees who will be regularly elected at the next meeting, when they will appoint various chairmen.

The different committees are also taking care of various sections of the prize-list, each to report on any revisions at the next meeting, to be held in three weeks' time.

Messrs. R. Denne, W. S. Merrell, and W. F. Turner were appointed a committee to go to Belleville and arrange with the various district fair boards with regard to attractions, horse racing, etc.

It was decided to hold a field competition in oats and potatoes.

It was also decided to have a number of family tickets put up for sale.

A good deal of discussion was raised by a proposal to have a dog show at the annual exhibition. It was decided to hold such a show if the necessary funds can be raised.

A vote of thanks to Thos. Brown was passed, for his services as superintendent last year.

Curling News

Last night's games at the Curling Rink were mostly one-sided affairs, with both high and low scores made.

The high score of the night was 19, made by J. N. Bacon, while W. D. Campbell's quartette was second with the score of 14.

There were five games played, one more than on Thursday night, but there were six games scheduled to be played.

If the curlers do not hurry up and get their schedule games over, they will be playing the finals on 12th of July.

BOWMANVILLE HERE MONDAY

Fast Junior Game Billed For Brock Street Rink

Instead of having to face Oshawa with a three goal deficit the Peterboro Juniors go into action on Monday night at Brock Street Rink against Bowmanville with a clear sheet. The disqualification of Oshawa gives Bowmanville the group title and Monday night's game is therefore the first game in the second round series, the return to be played in Bowmanville on Wednesday night.

The Young Petes should have the backing of a big crowd when they go into the fight Monday night. They have been playing good hockey and deserve the fans' support.

The game should be a corcker. Although Bowmanville were finally nosed out by Oshawa there was little to choose between the two teams and on therecord of the Lake shore team the Petes will have their hands full. However the Lebarr-Jackson crew are improving every night out and they hope to set up a lead Monday that will carry them into the next round.

Referee J. Cummings of Toronto will handle the bell and the scores of the Markham-Peterboro intermediate game will be announced.

The Petes journeyto Markham on Monday and the return game will be staged at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday. It should be a round full of action as Markham have been playing great hockey all season winning a strong group and then putting North Toronto into the discard.

GUELPH WON SECOND ROUND 12 TO 4
GUELPH, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The Intermediates qualified for the O.H.A. third round last night, when they defeated Seaforth in easy fashion by a score of 7 to 2, making it 12 to 4 on round.

The locals played one of their best games of the season and were never in difficulties. The feature of the game was great work of "old man" Craven, Guelph left Winger, who scored six of the seven goals secured by his team and was the best player on the ice.

TORONTO VARSITY 2; MONTREAL 1
MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—University of Toronto Seniors beat University of Montreal team in an intercollegiate union game here last night by 2 to1.

University of Toronto had by far the better of the play but were weak in their shooting while at other times magnificient saves by LaJeunesse, in the Montreal net robbed the visitors of almost certain counters.

It was a raggedly played game but the closeness of the score maintained interest to the last.

MILTON WON ROUND 6 TO 5
TORONTO, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Despite a sensational rally by Osgood Hall intermediates in the group playoff final at the Arena last night, the Milton team struck hard in the dying moments of an exciting struggle and won by 5 to 4. It was the most thrilling exhibition of intermediate hockey seen here in many years and on the play the visitors earned the verdict. They made the mistake of spending too much time in the penalty box but even when thus handicapped, they had an even share of the play. The score on rouid was 6 to 5, the teams had a tie at Milton 1 to 1.

POINT ANNE 3 BELLEVILLE 2
NAPANEE, Feb 16.—(Canadian Press).—Point Anne, in a very closely contested game at Point Anne last night won from Belleville by a score of 3 to 2. The game was an exceptionally close one, no penalties being given.

Basketball

The final game of the Girls' Basketball League was played on Friday night amidst intense excitement. The Y.W.C.A. defeated the De Laval 63-19. The former players surpassed themselves in their splendid combination. Brilliant work was displayed by the forwards. De Laval put up a particularly game fight, the forwards scoring in spite of the strenuous checking of their opponents.

The following were the line-ups:

De Laval—Forwards, G. Kirn and B. Sloan; centres, E. Forster and B. Meredith; defence, T. Meredith and F. Giroux.

Y.W.C.A.—Forwards, G. Gimblett and P. Young; centres, M. Sisson and E. Outram; defence, C. Crookshank and V. Graham.

Referees—Miss McIntosh and Mr. McLeish.

After the game refreshments were served to the executive, players and friends. Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., presented the Gordon trophy to the Y.W.C.A. team, congratulating them on their victory. Dr. Phyllis Young, the captain, graciously accepted the cup on behalf of the team, and as secretary of the League, thanked all the referees for their interest and assistance in making the games a success. Mr. Gordon then called on the captain of the De Laval, Miss Gertrude Kirn, and presented the Harvey trophy, which goes to the team winning second place. At the conclusion of the evening three cheers were given to the Westclox, "the gamest sports in the League," who never defaulted a game.

QUEENS 2; McGILL 1
KINGSTON, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press). —In a poorly played game of hockey with neither team showing calibre, Queens defeated McGill by to 1 last night. The teams played more like Juniors and neither scored in the first two periods. The first period saw hardly a shot at either goaler.

In the second period the teams bored in more and both worked hard but Reid and Quinn were not beaten Third period was fast and furious and about as exciting as one could want.

SOUTH AFRICAN INDIANS ROUSED BY CLASS BILL

Provides For Certain Areas Whose Residents Are Prohibited From Acquiring Unmovable Property or Leases of Property.

STIGMA ON INDIANS.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, February 18 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's). — When receiving a deputation of natives of India, now residents in Cape, Natal, and Transvaal provinces, in connection with the Class Areas Bill, Patrick Duncan, Minister of the Interior in the Union Government, complained that though he had furnished representatives of the Indians with a copy of the Bill before publication to enable them to make representations on the subject, no notice had been taken to the Bill.

Instead, meetings were held throughout the country, and people were whipped up into a state of frenzy. The people were told that they would be ruined body and soul and their livelihood taken away, that there should be passive resistance and the like.

Hon. Mr. Duncan asked the deputation what it mattered what he said about the Bill when they had told their people they must resist it with their last drop of blood. He had desired the fullest consultation with the Indian people, but now the thing was impossible. However, he had undertaken to see them, and therefore he would give every consideration to the points put before him.

Owing to urgent Parliamentary business, Mr. Duncan broke off the interview, which will be resumed to-day.

The Indians submitted a statement of their case, urging among other things that the Bill cast a stigma upon Indians; that it was no remedy for unfair competition in trade and industries as between European and Indian, and that it would cause considerable irritation on both sides and would prove detrimental to the interests both of Europeans and Indians in the country which would ultimately gain nothing by it.

The Class Areas Act provides for the setting aside of areas to be selected and supplied by local urban authorities for residential or trading purposes or both for a particular class of persons. Persons residing in such areas are prohibited under the Act from acquiring unmovable property or leases of property. There are also restrictions on trading licenses, but the Governor-General is given power to make certain modifications in this clause.

The Bill also contains safeguards in connection with existing rights as to trading licenses.

PRESIDENT OF CHARITIES.

LONDON, Ont., February 18 (Canadian Press). — George H. Reid was re-elected president of the United Welfare Association at the annual meeting held on Saturday afternoon.

Philip Pocock and Col. W. M. Gartshore were elected vice-presidents, and John H. Moore, treasurer.

The association conducts an annual drive for funds for the city charities. It was decided that this year's campaign should start on 7th April.

MANIAC'S CRIME BLIGHTED HOME

Mrs. George Kay, a Helpless Invalid, With One Eye Gone — Husband's Slayer in Asylum.

KINCARDINE, Ont., February 18. — Gravely wounded thirteen months ago by crazed "Scobie" Dan McDonald, who shot and killed her nusband, Mrs. George Kay lies today a helpless invalid with no hope of recovery.

Partially paralysed, and with one eye destroyed by the mad action of McDonald, who is now confined in an asylum, her savings exhausted by medical treatment, the only ray of sunshine in her darkened life is her little daughter Mildred.

When the terrible affair occurred she and her husband were getting along well for a young couple. They had a nice, comfortable home and garden. They had a fine pen of chickens. Thrifty, honest folks is what they were, and the kind that a community cannot afford to lose. The wife was a clever girl, before her marriage having taught school. She had tastes artistic, and was a fine painter.

To-day she lies helpless, or rises with the assistance of her mother, and sits helpless. That splendid brain, with all its artistic creativeness is numbed by paralysis. She cannot think consecutively. It is pitiful for friends to sit and watch her in this terrible condition. Yet she at times throws off the pall that seems to hang over her, and her face will lighten with a smile. Brief as it is, one feels that some sunshiny past reminiscence has worked its way through her brain.

Mildred is a bright, lovable child, and the mother seems to struggle to maintain her slender hold on life for the sake of her little girl.

Mrs. Kay's parents, who are caring for their stricken daughter, are splendid citizens. The father is a labourer, honest and ambitious, who gave his two daughters and one son splendid educations.

SAYS PRESENT FORCE NEEDED POLICE CITY

Mayor Turner Has Investigated Thoroughly Without Seeing Possibility of Decreasing -- Mayor Wins Point in O.T.A. Prosecutions.

"That this Board report to the City Council that 14 constables and other officers in addition to the chief constable and the police matron are absolutely required," was a resolution passed unanimously at a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners on Saturday evening. It was proposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley and seconded by Mayor J. J. Turner. Judge E. C. S. Huycke presided.

"The public believes the police expenses can be reduced," Mayor Turner said. "Other cities have fewer and it is believed their police protection is sufficient. I have, however, gone over a map of the city with Chief Newhall, and it is difficult for me to see how any reduction can be made in the force without destroying its efficiency. Whether we maintain its efficiency is a different question. I have examined conditions very thoroughly and find it impossible to see how the city could get along with less."

His Honor Judge Huycke, remarking that Brantford with a little higher population has a budget of nearly $40,000 for police expenses, said he was satisfied that any person with a sense of responsibility will come to the same conclusion as Mayor Turner.

Another resolution fathered by the Mayor, and seconded by Magistrate Langley, authorized the chief constable to employ the city solicitor in Ontario Temperance Act prosecutions when he needs counsel, as requested by the city council, the city council to assume the liability, if any, for compensation.

His Honor Judge Huycke disapproved of the proposal, in the interests of uniformity. The city may save $5 in an O.T.A. case and yet not be economizing, he said, if it loses fines.

Tag Day Coming.

Adjutant A. J. Smith applied for permission to hold a tag day on May 23 on behalf of the Salvation Army self-denial fund. On motion of Mayor Turner and Magistrate Langley it was granted.

Chief Newhall, discussing the good work of the police matron, Mrs. Smith, said 848 cases had been dealt with outside police court and a great many of them had gone through her hands. The $400 allowed last year for her expenses did not cover them, and Mrs. Smith had paid money out of her own pocket in connection with police work. She is not granted any salary, this being prohibited under Salvation Army regulations.

His Honor Judge Huycke remarked that Mrs. Smith had done excellent work in settling many cases outside police court. "I think we should see to it that she does not lose through her duties."

In a discussion of the estimates for 1924, Judge Huycke said if the city wants to keep its reputation for decency it must look to the provision of new police quarters, since citizens are objecting to the present station, declaring it a disgrace to the city. A pension fund was also mentioned by His Honor, although he said he would not press it this year. Mayor Turner said this might come up in the general business business of the city council, since the firemen had mentioned it some time ago.

A "big six" Studebaker was proposed for the police department, at a cost of $2,835, allowing $735 on the old car, it having been said this is the best car for the purpose. His Worship Mayor Turner suggested that others should have an opportunity of tendering.

YOUNG DIAMOND BROTHER'S DUPE

Convicted With Brother of Murdering Two New York Bank Messengers In Payroll Robbery.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Joseph Diamond joined his brother Morris as a condemned man awaiting sentence to the electric chair on Saturday. A jury found him guilty of murder after 34 minutes' deliberation in connection with the robbery of two bank messengers who were shot and killed last November. The trial lasted three days.

When the verdict was pronounced the youth stiffened in his chair. A tremor, visible across the room, shook his body. Then he leaned back in the chair, smiled grimly and maintained the pose until called to the bar.

He answered the clerk's questions in a low monotone, until near the end of his pedigree the question came:

". . . and your mother?"

The prisoner gulped. Tears came. He gulped again. He closed his eyes, shook his head determinedly, and mumbled.

"Living," was the clerk's entry.

Diamond was escorted to jail under heavy guard after the court had decided not to set the date for sentence until later.

Through all the interrogations the defendant remained cool and collected.

Nearly Hysterical

Once he lost his composure and for a minute it appeared he would become hysterical. This was when Assistant District Attorney Gallagher confronted him with three alleged confessions which, the State says, he made in the office of District Attorney Dodd.

The witness denied vehemently that the statements had been read to him before he was "forced" to sign them. Gallagher kept pounding at him. Then Diamond, with out any warning, leaned forward and shrieked:

"I didn't know what I was signing I didn't know what I was saying. here were detectives all about me. They kept telling me that if I said this and that I would help my brother, that I would get out of it myself."

Seeing the witness was in danger of a breakdown, Gallagher changed his line of questioning.

Alibi Offered

Under the guidance of his counsel, Diamond presented his alibi.

Without atempting to spare his brother, Morris, found guilty on the same charge last week and now awaiting the death sentence, Joseph tried to show his entire connection with the case was that of a dupe of his brother.

He said the first he knew of the slaying of the bank messengers was when he received a telephone call on the afternoon of the killing to come to his brother's aparment on West Twenty-seventh street. There he saw a table covered with money. When he asked his brother where it came from, he swore, Morris answered:

GALWAY MURDER TRIAL FEATURES ASSIZE DOCKET

John Schell Is Accused of Shooting George Washington MacNeal On Or About October 28 Last in Hunting Shack — Accused Denied Charge.

SUGGESTED CRAMPS.

John Schell will appear before a Grand Jury at the Spring Assizes, which open tomorrow under Mr. Justice Mowat, charged with the wilful murder of George Washington MacNeal in a lonely shack in Galway Township on or about October 28 last. He was committed for trial on November 2.

Evidence produced at the inquest when an open verdict was presented, and at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, indicated that MacNeal was shot in the abdomen in such a way that the doctors who performed the post mortem examination, Dr. T. W. H. Young, Dr. C. H. Amys and Dr. Phyllis V. Young, did not believe the wound self-inflicted. C. G. Frost of the firm of Knight, Frost & Frost of Lindsay, who represented the accused, demonstrated to the court that it would be possible for a person to shoot himself in this way, but Dr. Young did not think MacNeal shot himself.

Other witnesses at the preliminary hearing were Provincial Constable Hayston Storey, who investigated the case with Provincial Constable R. F. Davis; Roy and Lyal MacNeal, sons of the victim.

On the Saturday before the tragedy, the evidence showed, George MacNeal went to the hunting shack with John Schell, the accused, George Schell, his son, and Roy MacNeal to look over the ground preparatory to the hunting season which was drawing near. John Schell persuaded George MacNeal to stay overnight at the shack, where Roy MacNeal was to meet him on Sunday to take him home. His father urged him to be at Nogies' Creek at 4 o'clock on Sunday evening, his last words to his son being "Roy, don't disappoint me." The tryst was not kept.

On Sunday afternoon George Schell and Roy MacNeal found no one at the meeting place and went to the camp, expecting to meet George MacNeal on his way out. Roy MacNeal tells the story in this way: "When we reached the camp we found the door locked and no one was in sight. We yelled and whistled, thinking someone might be in the bush, but got no answer. We looked through the window of the shack but it was so small that the inside was not lighted up and we could not see anything.

"I said to George, 'If you are hungry we can easily take a staple out of the door and get something to eat in the shanty.' He said he did not feel hungry, so we did not go in. We walked to Schell's place, which was the nearest, and Mrs. Harry Hopkins met us at the door and told us father was dead in the camp. George Schell and I went up to John Schell, who was in bed, and he told me my father took cramps last night and died this morning."

Story of the Tragedy.

John Schell told the story of the tragedy to Lyal MacNeal as follows: "At nine o'clock on Saturday night he (George MacNeal) took cramps and yelled, and put his arms across his stomach. Of course, I tried to pacify him, and after a while he fell asleep, and I went to my bunk. Next morning I lit the fire and had the teakettle boiling. I went over to his bunk and he let an awful yell and pulled his legs up. I shook him and said, 'George! George! Do you want some tea?' He didn't answer, and I looked at him and took him for dead."

While confined in Bobcaygeon jail the accused made another statement before three witnesses, repeating the same story but adding that he was perfectly sober and had never fired a shot out of the rifle all the time he was in the shack. MacNeal was never out of his sight or hearing, and when Schell examined him he saw no blood.

This statement was entered at the preliminary trial under protest from the counsel for the accused.

John Schell, the accused, is a short, agreeable looking man of whom the neighbours spoke well. He and the dead man were good friends, it appeared, and neither was known to be of a fighting or quarrelsome disposition. George Schell, his son, guided the police officers who went to the shack to investigate.

Vessel Wrecked On Harbor Jetty; Personnel Saved

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Passengers and crew of the McCormick Line steamer Columbia, believed to number about sixty, were in peril Sunday afternoon in Coo's Bay, Oregon, where the vessel struck the jetty shortly before noon.

An S.O.S. from the ship was picked up by the Radio Corporation of America here. Later messages said that a Coast Guard cutter had gone to the rescue.

The Columbia was enroute from San Francisco to Portland and it was announced at the office of the McCormick Steamship Company here that thirty passengers were aboard. The crew numbered 30 or 35.

Wireless messages said the Coast Guard Cutter had advised the Columbia to "stick to your ship and we will put out our boats and get you."

The Columbia reported she probably would be a total loss.

She was putting in for a scheduled stop at Marshfield, Oregon, on Coo's Bay, when she struck the jetty.

COMMISSION ADVISES EIGHT HOUR DAY PLAN AT SYDNEY FURNACES

Abolition of Seven-Day Week and Recognition of the Fact That Men Have a Sentimental Side and Are Not Merely Unsentient Machines--Commission Approves Calling Out of Militia During the Strike.

SAVED PROPERTY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18. — Some fundamental changes in the working conditions of the steel workers employed by the British Empire Steel Corporation are recommended in the report of the Royal Commission appointed to investigate industrial unrest in Cape Breton.

The commission was composed of Dr. J. W. Robertson, chairman; Fred Bancroft, Toronto; J. J. Johnston, Charlottetown. In respect to relations between employers and employed, the commission finds that the company (the British Empire Steel Corporation) has not paid enough attention in the past to the essential differences beween building and machinery equipment in materials and human equipment in men as factors in production, and in the efficient carrying on of the operations. "There is no sentiment in machinery," says the report, "which affects its smooth or rough running, but there is a great deal of it in men."

Recommends 8-Hour Day.

The commission takes the view that the hours worked by steel workers have been excessively long in some departments of the plant under the two-shift system of operation, and recommends in the interests of employers and employed "early and earnest consideration" be given to—

(1) Elimination of the 24 hour change over period, and the abolition of the seven day week.

(2) Adoption of the three-shift plan (eight hours per shift) in the departments and continuous processes, and a maximum of ten hour day for other workmen.

In the opinion of the commissioners the change would be advantageous to the company and beneficial to the men, and should be adopted.

Use of Surplus Earnings.

The commissioners hold that the iron and steel industry at Sydney can be carried on successfully and amicably in such a way as to meet the reasonable desires and requirements of the workmen and the company and the public. Since the steel industry is one which has been characterized by intermittent periods of prosperity and depression, the commissioners recommend that:

(1) In the interests alike of the shareholders and the employees, the company should discuss with representatives of employees the question of drawing to some extent upon the surplus accumulated during fat years to tide the workmen as well as the

Carried By Skis In Front of Train

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Norman B. Stark, 40, business man of this city, was struck and instantly killed here Sunday afternoon by a Canadian National Railway train as he was walking along the tracks on skis. Mr. Clark heard the train approaching and stepped off the tracks onto the side of a steep embankment, down which his skis slipped, carrying him beneath the wheels of the train. Another train accident was reported when Amedee Belanger, a butcher of Magog, who had fallen asleep on the tracks, had his left foot severed by a passing train. He dragged himself to a nearby farmhouse and was rushed to a hospital. He is expected to recover.

BANDITS EMPTY BAKESHOP SAFE

Two Men Held Up Night Baker in London, Blew Door Off the Safe and Made Quick Getaway.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Two professional safe-crackers forced an entry into the Neal Baking Company's plant, Carleton avenue, at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, held up and bound William Taylor, the night baker at the point of revolvers, blew open the safe with dynamite and escaped with $1,211.49, all the money the safe contained. Detectives were on the job fifteen minutes later, but could find no trace other than a closed car was seen speeding south on William street a minute or two after the explosion occurred. The police are convinced that the robbers were professionals.

Taylor was the only employee in the plant at the time and he knew nothing of the robbers until he was confronted by them and ordered to throw up his hands. One bandit stood guard over him while the other blew open the safe.

The pair are described by Taylor as being about 25 and 40 years old respectively.

WORK RESUMING IN NOVA SCOTIA MINES BUT ONE

Drastic Action Will Be Taken By International Union Representatives If the Stellarton Miners Do Not Return to Work.

IDLE A MONTH.

SYDNEY, N.S., February 18 (Canadian Press). — The coal mines of the British Empire Steel Corporation in Nova Scotia, except those in Stellarton, affecting about 1,500 men, which have been idle since 15th anuary, as a result of the wage controversy, resumed operations this morning.

Phalen Local, Cape Breton, the largest in the district, and perhaps the most unruly, met on Sunday afternoon and decided to follow the instructions issued by the provisional officers and the international representatives, and return to the mines.

Every local in Nova Scotia which was affected in connection with the wage dispute has voted to go back to work with the exception of Stellarton, which is staging an outlaw strike for the 1921 rates.

President Barrett was asked last evening what action the organisation would take in dealing with the situation at the Stellarton collieries, but he declined to make any statement for the moment, but he intimated that unless the miners there decided to obey the orders of the provisional officers and international representatives, the organisation would take some drastic action.

With the mines once more in operation, conditions at the Sydney plant will be improved and the various mills will be operating within the next few days.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the holding of a referendum vote on the new wage agreement, and President Barrett stated he could not name any date yet.

WHIPPING OF BOWEN BEING INVESTIGATED

TORONTO, Ont, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—As result of Crown Attorney Armours investigations into the circumstances surounding the whipping of Private Bowen at the Stanley Barracks Riding School, a week ago the criminal charges are to be laid against several men, it is understood.

So far Mr. Armour has not made his report to Attorney General Nickle, but it is stated in reliable sources, however, that the instruction to prosecute in civil court is coming forward to-day.

SOUTH MONAGHAN FARMERS GATHER

Special Song Composed For Ex-Premier Drury.

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 18.—On Thursday evening last the Cavan and South Monaghan U.F.O. club held an oyster supper and entertainment, and invited all the farmers who ship their live stock through the Co-operative Co. and their wives were also invited to enjoy the evening's entertainment.

The supper was held in the Presbyterian Sunday School hall, Centreville, while the entertainment was enjoyed afterwards in the U.F.O. hall just a short distance down the street.

About two hundred people sat down to an excellent supper, while the ladies looked after the tables, and the men poured the tea.

The oysters were provided by one of the shippers, Mr. Richard Moncrief, of Fraserville, who was the first to mention having a supper of this kind.

Mr. E. E. Anderson, president of the club occupied the chair, and after a brief address, Mr. Gallagher then sang a solo and encore; reading by Mrs. Fairburn; solo and encore by Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. McKee, manager of U.F.O. shipping company of Toronto, was present and gave a stirring address along the lines of hog grading, the advantages to the farmer of shipping their live stock through the Co-operative Company, as well as the condition the cattle should be in before being shipped to the open market and of the breed of stock that find the best market when sent to Toronto.

He also told of the increasing volume of business that had been transacted by the Co-operative Shipping Company of Toronto, since 1919.

At the conclusion of the programme Mr. Gallagher again rendered another solo that he had composed himself, "Drury is Back Again," which was much enjoyed, and after a hearty applause he rendered an encore, and the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

After the programme the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, D. Stewart, violinist, providing the music for the occasion.

MAIL DELAYED BY THE DOCK STRIKE.

Labor Cabinet Met to Discuss Tie-Up of Shipping--London Is Only Port Not Affected.

LONDON, Feb. 18. — (British United Press)—The Labor Cabinet met this afternoon to discuss the Nation wide dock strike of 110,000 workers, which has tied up shipping and paralyzed transportation at every port in the United Kingdom with the exception of London.

It was understood that the cabinet undoubtedly would approve immediate intervention by Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

A despatch from Plymouth says: Five thousand bags of American mail were held up to-day because of the National Dockworkers strike.

Two thousand bags were landed from liners which arrived from the United States over the week end but the striking dockworkers refused to move the mail.

Morgan Gives Library In Memory of Father.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—J. P. Morgan on Saturday announced that as a memorial to his father the late J. Pierpont Morgan, he had turned over his valuable library, its contents and the ground upon which it stands to a Board of Trustees who will maintain it in perpetuity for the use of scholars from all over the world. With it he gave an endowment of $1,500,000 for its maintenance. The library contains priceless books and manuscripts collected by the elder Mr. Morgan, which were added to by the present head of the family. It is valued at about eight and a half million dollars.

SEVENTY TAKE IN CHOIR GATHERING

Choir of St. John's Church, Cavan, Had Pleasant Evening.

CAVAN, Feb. 18.—On Thursday evening last the choir of St. John's church, Ida, held a very pleasant social evening at the home of Mr. W. H. Lough.

There were about seventy present. Progressive crokinole was played. There were sixteen tables.

Mrs. Tippett won the ladies' prize, which was a picture. Eugene Touchbourn and Alfred Hillier were tied for the gentleman's prize. They played off and Mr. Touchbourn won the prize, which was a box of notepaper'

A nice supper was then served and community singing enjoyed. Miss McNeil presided at the piano.

A hearty vote of thanks moved by Chas. Thacker and seconded by L. McNeil, was tendered the Misses and Mr. Lough for the use of their house and the hospitality enjoyed. The gathering was brought to a close by the singing of "Jolly Good Fellows," and the National Anthem.

The object of this social was to buy a light for the choir.

BOY'S BAD COLD TURNED TO BRONCHITIS

The frequency with which bronchitis develops into pneumonia is appreciated by very few mothers. The danger of pneumonia is, probably, well understood too, but how many mothers take into consideration that a neglected attack of bronchitis frequently leads to this dangerous disease.

We would advise all mothers to give their children Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup the first moment they show any symptoms of a cold or cough as by doing this they save them from an attack of bronchitis or pneumonia.

Mrs. Lawrence Quick, Sandwich, Ont., writes:—"My little boy, six years old, had a bad cold which turned to bronchitis. I tried every thing I thought would be best for it but did not see him getting any better. I was told to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after giving him two bottles he got wonderful relief. I cannot praise it enough.'

Labor Partisans Deny the Term "Socialist."

LONDON, Feb. 18. — As already intimated the government's whip says the proper term for the party is Labor, not Socialist.

Irresponsible bands of Labor party men are making a feature of the name in the Burnley by-election, and are disturbing meetings whenever the Conservative candidate use the term Socialist, in describing Arthur Henderson, the Labor candidate.

H. R. J. Camps, the Conservative candidate has given great offence by using the term "mongrel" in stigmatising what he calls Henderson's policy of Liberalism and Socialism combined.

Asquith's Daughter Paisley Candidate

LONDON, Feb. 18. — (Canadian Press).—The belief is widespread in West Scotland that Mr. Asquith will not again be a candidate in Paisley. It is reported that Lady Bonham-Carter, his daughter, will succeed him in that constituency as the Liberal candidate.

The Labor forces have changed their nominee for the division, the latest candidate being H. Guthrie, a well-known schoolmaster in the district. He will run as joint Labor and co-operative candidate.

TO PURGE ORLAND OF ASSOCIATIONS.

Lot on Which Hovel Stood Has Been Disposed Of.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

ORLAND, February 18.—Another step was taken on Saturday in the purging of this community of the last remnants of the gang who for several years past have been a standing scandal to law-abiding citizens. The lot on which stood the hovel owned by Mike Ash just outside of the village, the shack which was the headquarters of the objectionable characters, was sold on Saturday to Bert Town, who owns the adjoining farm. The shack and the barn belonging to it was burned down last week after the last of the inmates had been taken to the jail at Cobourg by Provincial Officer Cousans. A horse in the latter building was saved by the neighbours.

Ash and the O'Brien woman, who has a husband living at Oshawa, are now awaiting trial in Cobourg on a charge of bigam. The former must also answer to a charge of stealing chickens from a farm near here.

George Gifford, a nephew of Ash, is serving a month in jail for stealing chickens.

The inquest into the death of the infant which was born in the Ash shack, the mother being the 17-year-old daughter of the O'Brien woman, will be held by Coroner Dure in Brighton on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The only link remaining to connect Ash and his associates with this village is the house in which he resided during the life of his first wife, who owned the property. He deserted it after her death under the belief that it was haunted by the late proprietor, and ever since the place has been without a tenant.

TRAIN PASSES OVER A TORONTO BRAKEMAN

BRAMPTON, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press.) — George Henderson, aged 35, Toronto, a brakeman on the C. P. R. "moonlight" freight train running between Toronto and Orangeville, was instantly killed at Brampton early yesterday morning, when he fell beneath the train and the whole series of cars passed over him. No one saw the accident, but it is supposed that the young man lost his footing on one of the frost-covered cars and fell beneath the wheels.

Henderson's parents live in Arthur, Ont., in which town he was born.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMANN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

You should give it a fair trial now.

EDWIN B. DENBY RESIGNS POST

Talked It Over With the President Over the Telephone.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. — Edwin B. Denby has resigned as Secretary of the Navy, and his resignation has been accepted.

After repeatedly declaring he never would quit the cabinet under the fire of those who have criticized his part in the oil leasing programme, the secretary notified President Coolidge this morning that he was ready to step out.

His decision followed a telephone conversation between the president and Mr. Denby in which all of the latest aspects of the situation were talked over in the light of the information passed on to the president by Republicans leaders in the Senate.

Recently a number of the secretary's friends also have been consulted by Mr. Coolidge and they are understood to have advised the president that they fully understood the embarrassment that might result in retaining Mr. Denby in the cabinet while the oil annulment suits are in progress.

Not only is Secretary Denby party to the oil leases, having affixed his signature along with that of Albert R. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, but he repeatedly has defended his part in the proceedings.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Several Real Estate Transactions in Town—Events Tonight.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18.—T. L. Diamond reports the following real estate transactions, all of which were conducted through his agency:

Archie Hatfield of town, has sold his farm near Belleville to George Sykes. Mr. Hatfield has sold his residence on Grand Road to John L. Hay, who will take possession on March 15th and has purschased the business on Bridge street, known as the Meiklejohn garage.

John L. Hay purchased the farm of Alex. Donald on Concession 6, Seymour, Mr. Donald taking the residence of Mr. May on Sebastopol street in part payment. Mr. Hay has since disposed of his farm to Fred Bennett, who lives on the place adjoining.

Wellington Green has purchased the new bungalow built recently by John Towns on Holly street.

Miss Cassie Shannon, milliner on Bridge street, has purchased the millinery stock of Miss Jane Nancarrow, who is retiring from business.

"Pigs is Pigs."

George Herriott, a farmer near Godolphin, owns a pure bred Yorkshire sow that recently gave birth to 2 pigs, all living. Mr. Herriott claims that this is the record both for Canada and the United States, and his only regret is that this luck did not come his way when wartime prices for pork prevailed.

In Campbelford To-night.

R. S. Weaver of Stirling, was in town Saturday on business.

The Arlie Marks Company completed a successful three days engagement in the Regent Theatre on Saturday night. The comedian of the company this season is W. L. Phillips who for over two years was manager of the Grand Opera House in Peterborough.

TORONTO MAN MEETS HIS DEATH ON SKIS

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Norman B. Stark, aged 41, of Toronto, was killed yesterday while ski-ing at Sherbrooke, Que. His mother received word of his death last evening.

He was prominent in the financial world, beginning his career with Toronto houses 20 years ago. His firm was Norman B. Stark & Co.

MRS. MINERVA BENEDICT,

Who resides near Bradley's Corners, is 100 years old to-day. There will be no celebration of the event owing to the condition of Mrs.. Benedict's health, but a few relatives and friends will call to offer congratulations.

CHIVALRY IS NOW WANTED BY WOMEN.

Mothers and Teachers Are Behind the Move For More Respect From Youths.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Add chivalry to your list of possible comebacks.

Mothers, daughters and teachers are banding for a nationwide campaign to restore mid-Victorian courtesies. A, the head is Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, district president of the Congress of Mothers. She declares the usual manifestations of gallantry are practically forgotten by the youth of today, and is asking the National Congress of Mothers, parent-teacher organizations and high school girls' societies to lead boys back to politeness.

Mrs. Rafter charges:

Boys do not observe the old courtesies when with girls.

They fail to remove their hats when greeting women.

They resort to familiarities forbidden a decade ago.

They "paw over" their girl acquaintances, grab their arms at first meeting, slap their backs and are otherwise boisterous.

They lack respect for elders.

Courtesy Rules.

And the girls of Washington, under the leadership of Louise Braswell, Central High School senior, are getting in line to combat this result of the "new freedom." Their platform contains the following rules of decorum for sheik callers:

"Always remove the hat when greeting a girl and bow while so doing.

"Stand at attention while talking with girls and their elders.

"Wait until recognized before speaking.

"Engage in no familiarities uninvited.

"Stop smoking in the presence of girls, until permitted.

"Answer questions politely and respectfully."

Not Boys' Fault.

"I don 'think it's the boys' fault," says Louise. "It's probably the outcome of the war when men saluted. Now the boys just touch the front of their hats, often grudgingly, instead of giving the graceful bow their fathers were taught to give.

"Respect for girls is often measured by the attitude of the boy.

"The successful man is he who observes the courtesies which women have a right to expect. The discourteous is always shunned.

"Boys should remember this and train themselves accordingly."

SPANISH DANCER BEAUTY TEACHER.

Put Her Comb in Your Hair and Lace Mantilla Over Your Shoulder Advises Actress.

By MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Study the American girl for smartness, and the French girl for originality. But when it comes to real, intrinsic beauty, go to the Spanish senorita and copy her ways, advises Virginia Brown Faire, movie actress.

Miss Faire has done so to the point of imitating her Spanish model in costuming, as well as mannerisms, with the result that she has achieved an originality of beauty on the screen.

"The secret of costuming is to achieve the picturesque and lovely," she says, "and this the Spanish woman has done.

"Take, for instance, the high Spanish comb and the lace mantilla—is there a facial defect that cannot be remedied by their use?

"Place the comb high and you have lengthened the broad face, wear it low and you have added a becoming width to the face that is thin. And any angle in between has its own particular grace."

With the mantilla you can do even more, Miss Faire believes. No only can you apparently change the architecture of your body and appear with quite a different shoulder construction than you honestly have, but you can express every mood with it.

"It's the coquet's stock in trade," she maintains. "By rearranging its subtle folds you can be as many different women in one evening as your imagination can paint, and that is the secret of charm—to be able to express infinite variety."

She does not wonder that the Spanish shawl has been adopted by women all over the world.

"The most marvelous invention of any age," she calls it. "As for color, the selection is endless. It drapes into any shape and the long fringe is pure fascination.

"The Spanish woman's costuume, with its tight basque and full skirts is a real inspiration. By it she can conceal a few extra pounds and hence have a few more calories per day than the woman who must get into one of these straight sausage models we are all wearing now."

LIGHT SHOES FOR MEN COMING TO THE FRONT

By "THE STROLLER."

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(United Press).—Taking a look into the show windows of men's boot shops along Fifth Avenue, one is confronted with the fact that black is a color that is not favored as much as it used to be. And the same is true of the reddish-brown which was so popular not so long ago.

Light colored shoes are the ones which you find men wearing a lot nowadays. Some are even what used to be called "loud," especially those oxfords made of coarse grained leather, with heavy soles. But the browns and yellows have the call. The pointed shoe is a dream of the past. Most of the shoes today are square or round toed or with but an imperceptible shaping around the toes. The old comfort again.

But the man whose feet are a little larger than one would expect, or who feels embarrassmen, because of the prominence of his pedal extremeties, there is always the good, old relisble black to fall back on, despite what his fellow men are wearing. If he wears a gaudy, yellow shoe, his feet will appear twice the size. With a black or dark brown shoe, the difficulty almost entirely disappears, because the dark shoe tends to make the foot appear smaller.

So, while the lighter shoes are popular, the self-conscious man need have no fear that black will disappear. He can secure the same style of shoe in black that he can in lighter shades, as a general rule.

The epidemic of brogueing (that business of stippling or punching the cap of the shoe with intricate and fanciful designs) has passed and in its place we have the natural reaction of great plainness. Lots of shoes displayed in the shop windows in New York leave the fore part deserted of any adornment whatsoever, the shoe being perfectly plain from tip to the beginning of the shoe lace.

But this has its disadvantages, too. The part of the shoe which comes across the toes crumples up considerably and the shoe fails to keep its shape for any extended period.

Saying which, naturally leads to the suggestion that the best way to preserve the shape of a shoe for as long as possible is to "tree" all the shoes in your closet. A little spare change spent on a few pairs of shoe trees is an investment well worth making. As soon as the shoe is taken off at night, the shoe tree should be inserted. This prevents the sole from "curling up," a condition which you may have noticed when you looked at that pair of leather soled canvas shoes which you had tucked away last fall.

SAILED FOR EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press). — Prince Erik of Denmark and his Canadian bride, formerly Miss Lois Frances Booth, sailed for Europe Saturday on the Berengaria. A group of relatives and friends saw them off.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN TAYLOR.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 18. — Mrs. John Taylor, of Lakefield, who would have celebrated her 100th birthady anniversary on July 4 this year, died suddenly yesterday.

She had been sitting up in a chair half an hour before her death, and retained all her faculties wonderfully well. A slight cold hastened her death.

Mrs. Taylor, nee Isabel Robinson, was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, on July 4, 1824. She was married to John Taylor and came to Canada in her early twenties, residing for many years in Camden east. For a few years she lived in the United States, moving back to Dummer township and for the last 20 years making her home in Lakefield with her son Peter. Her husband died about 28 years ago.

Of nine children, four survive, Peter at Lakefield, Mrs. Fraser of Fall River, Mass., Mrs. McQuaig and Mrs. Chamberlain, Norwood.

The deceased lady was bright and interesting, and was always glad to receive visitors. She was a general favourite in the village, and a movement was quietly under way to hold a celebration in July in honour of the village's oldest resident.

The funeral service will be at 12.30 to-morrow at the home of Mr. Peter Taylor, Concession Street, the cortege leaving at 1 o'clock for Cottesloe Cemetery. Rev. P. L. Jull will officiate.

FIVE ARMED BANDITS ROBBED TWO STORES

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 18.—Canadian Press.)—Five armed auto bandits entered two grocery stores on Saturday night and at the point of a revolver obtained $200 in cash in one store and 75 cents, together with an account book from a store in Todmorden. The five hold-up men did not have it all their own way in the Todmorden store. To get a small amount of money they had to tear part of the storekeeper's clothing from his body.

The first store they entered was Wheatleys on St. James avenue, where they took the two hundred dollars from the till. From W. Dymond, in Todmorden they took 75 cents.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

THE ARMOUR HILL PROJECT.

The request of the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham for a remission of taxes on the Armour's Hill park property should receive sympathetic attention from the City Council.

In purchasing this property and in converting it into what will ultimately be one of the city's most prized beauty spots, the members of the league are performing a community service that should have been undertaken by the city itself, and would have been—if the majority of the ratepayers possessed the vision and foresight that distinguish the officers of this organization.

A progressive programme has been adopted by the league, and this year some 5,000 trees will be planted on Armour's Hill.

Each year will see more development, according to the plans adopted, and it is safe to say that ten to fifteen years from now the citizens of the greater Peterborough we all hope will be in existence then will marvel that the purchase of this site should have been rejected by the city as a whole, and that only the civic pride and imagination of a handful of women saved for Peterborough a park property of unique beauty and most striking location.

The enterprise is in no sense of the word a commercial one; its object is community service and that alone, and it is not unreasonable that the league should ask that having undertaken something that will benefit the whole city, their pluck should be recognized by the representatives of the people for whose benefit they are planning.

RECOGNITION LONG OVERDUE.

The Parks Committee of the City Council has decided to recommend to the City Council that a start be made during the present year to erect memorials in the city parks to the memory of the late Charlotte Nicholls, to whose benefactions Peterborough owes a great deal more than most citizens seem to realize.

Five hundred dollars is recommended as this year's propriation toward the work.

Mrs Nicholls' generosity to her home city is represented in the splendid Nicholls Oval, in Inverlea Park and in the natural beauty of Jackson Park, all three of which were given to the citizens of Peterborough by her.

It is further demonstrated in the splendid hospital which bears her name and in the Y.M.C.A., and other institutions which were most generously remembered by Mrs. Nicholls in her bequests.

That many years have gone by without any official attempt to show the community's appreciation of these most important gifts is not a matter upon which the people of Peterborough can pride themselves.

It is fitting that the memory of this noble woman should be kept green in the city for which she did so much, and the Parks Committee in deciding that a start should be made has taken a step that should be commended by every citizen with a spark of gratitude in his or her make-up.

The matter has been much too long delayed.

THE BUDGET COMING.

It is gratifying news that the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne is to be wound up in the Ontario Legislature today, and that the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. W. H. Price, is to present his Budget tomorrow.

This is the earliest introduction of the Budget on record, and the speedy termination of the debate on the address is a most welcome sign of an inclination on the part of the Government to get down to work.

Usually many days are wasted in this profitless debate, with speech after speech on generalities covering every topic under the sun and getting nowhere in particular.

The time thrown away upon this carnival of talking can only be made up in one way, and that is by rushing essential business through in the final stages of the session without a chance for proper consideration.

That is what has happened in session after session, and the present departure from the old custom is a matter upon which the Government is to be congratulated.

As for the Budget itself it is said that no new taxation will be proposed.

That is satisfactory so far as it goes, but there would be even more joy if it were found possible to eliminate some of the present methods of raising revenue.

The burden of municipal, Provincial and Federal taxation is being severely felt by every citizen.

The Calgary Herald estimates that a resident of that city whose earnings are $2,000 a year has to work three weeks and two days of the year to pay his municipal, Provincial and Federal taxes, and while the conditions may not be quite as bad as that in Ontario cities, they are serious enough to justify a hope that a reduction may be possible.

THE UTILITIES' REPORTS.

The financial statements of the Water and Electric Departments of the Utilities Commission for the year ending December 31st, 1923, are considered as very satisfactory, the waterworks branch showing a total profit for the year of $8,544.62, of which $3,976.36 represents net profit from the water consumers, while the Electric Department's report, indicating an increased demand for commercial, domestic and street lighting and for power, reveals a net surplus of $13,541.20 after a depreciation charge of two per cent. has been met.

Extensions to the water service, consisting of the laying of new mains, hydrants, new services and meters, were made during the year at a cost of $25,462.28.

The Water Department, in addition to the actual profits from the water consumers, who paid $115,960.75 last year, has several other sources of revenue, including $2,000 from the rent of the waterworks dam for power purposes, and $664 for the rent of the houses at the filtration plant.

The electric branch's report shows a considerable increase in the revenue from consumers, a gain in all departments and a total increase of $17,938.08. The total revenue paid by consumers was $204,122.94, of which the largest single item was $75,853.54, contributed by users of domestic light. The domestic light revenue, it is of interest to note, increased $7,671.54 during the year.

The operating expenses, including depreciation on equipment, etc., interest and sinking fund and workmen's compensation, amounted to $183,240.25, giving a gross surplus on the year of $20,882.49.

The average monthly horse power demand of the power users of the city during the year, it will be noted, was 4,248 h. p., which is an increase of 278 h. p. over the monthly average in 1922

The growth in the consumption of electric energy in Peterborough is worthy of study.

In 1915 the maximum demand was 29,736 h. p.—last year it was almost double, with a total of 57,684.9, while in the same period the amount paid by the local commission for its power supply jumped from $43,860.64 to $108,159.18.

BRITISH LABOR WALKS SOFTLY AND WARILY.

The British Empire has seen and heard in the House of Commons its first Socialist Prime Minister, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Officially, Great Britain is now a Socialist Power. For the first time in Anglo-Saxon history, tens of millions of English-speaking men and women are ruled by the disciples of dead and gone Karl Marx, whose statue stands in Moscow's great square and who is the patron saint of all good Soviets.

In that first labored, almost halting and even a little fearful address Ramsay MacDonald was hardly the Figure of Fear many Britishers expected. The Thames did not run backward from the sea nor the earth open. The Wild Men of MacDonald even were a little awed as they stood for the first time on the High Mountain and from its peak surveyed the kingdoms, powers and principalities of earth. It was natural that they be a little sobered.

Responsibility works in that way. It is an old story, this sobering effect of power on the radical and the would-be makers of a New Earth to match a New Heaven. Responsibility has cramped the style and weighted the hands of MacDonald. No longer will it do for him and his responsible colleagues to shake the pillars of the temple, for he and his are now the custodians of the temple. It is an ancient and familiar spectacle, this sobering shock of responsibility upon the crusader and reformer who has come to power.

CRIMINAL WASTE OF MONEY.

Those who are of the opinion that the exposures of the desperate condition of this country under its mountainous burden of debts, deficits and waste which have appeared in this paper have been unduly pessimistic should keep their ears to the ground and note what purely businesslike officials in different parts of the Dominion are saying. For instance, Finance Commissioner Ross of Toronto has just told his City Council that "it is not an extravagant statement to say that a sort of financial madness is over the whole land. As private individuals we are living beyond our means. As citizens we have spent without thought and mortgaged our city so heavily that we and our children will groan under the burden."

The Calgary Herald is running a series of articles on "Canada's Burden of Taxes." In its first blast, it says:

"Canada is being swept from coast to coast by demands for curtailment of public expenditure. This demand is being expressed in rural municipalities, in cities, in relation to Provincial outlays and to Federal spending. Where expensive public services are proposed, ratepayers are scrutinizing them with critical attention. Large money bylaws are being turned down by city electors. The Reeves of many Ontario townships have lately been handed resolutions passed by members of the U. F. O. and other ratepayers which declare that in view of the hardship caused by overtaxation, the chief cause of which has been a high rate of expenditure, they place themselves on record as opposed to heavy taxation and expenditure at this time when rigid economy should be practiced.

Debts of Canadian municipalities have climbed steadily higher year after year since the war. Every Province has added to its debt and has piled on new taxation. The public debt of the Dominion has increased since the Armistice by more than $35,000,000. It has increased since the King Government came into power by more than $100,000,000. During last September alone the increase in the net debt amounted to $896,676. While this has been going on in Canada the British Government has cut its expenditure in half, from £1,665,000,000 in 1919, to £812,000,000 in 1923.

There is nothing new in these appalling statements for Star readers; but there do seem to be quite a number of Government pensioners, "pap-feeders" and perquisite-hunters generally who need to have the facts drilled into them again and again. They are all for cheerful optimism—no matter how imminent and menacing the danger—because cheerful optimism encourages public funds to flow, and the larger the flow the greater the chance that they will divert a proportion to their own yawning pockets.

In nine out of ten under present conditions, the optimist is an optimist-in-prospect. That is, he expects to make money by it. A frank acceptance of the startling truth would tighten the strings of the national purse and limit the expenditure of public money. This would cause its distribtion to be much more carefully watched. And the last thing in the world that the typical "pap-feeder" wants is to have the diversion of public funds into his pocket by his generous friends at court too carefully scrutinized either by Parliament or the people.

But the men who have to raise the money which public bodies spend—who must devise and levy taxation—are fully aware of the difficulty and realize in how dangerous a position this Dominion and every part of it stands. They know that it is criminal to waste with the sheriff's officer at the door. They know that it is doubly criminal to permit "graft" and patronage to eat into our already perilously slender resources.

Those who decry the truth because it is unpalatable and chirp out a cheap optimism to lull the people and especially the venal politicians into a sense of false security, should consult the impartial and sternly practical public officials who have to raise the revenues which our public bodies spend.—Montreal Star.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

MOVIES WIN.

Put it all over the Politicians.

The Teapot Dome has developed into quite a nice little scandal which promises to have a long run. Of course, if they really can't find any more scandals in Washington we will have to keep worrying about Teapoty Dome. But with so many good scandals there it seems foolish to spend the entire winter worrying about only one of them.

They do things much better in the movies and theatrical world. When a movie or theatrical scandal begins to pall they always have another one waiting for us.

MAY OFFER FORTUNE FOR A SONG.

A wild New York rumour says a rich woman wants to buy a young girl's vocal cords so she can sing in grand opera. The vocal cords would be transplanted, just like a gland operation.

While there are many singers whose voices need amputating, we don't think these voices should be grafted on someone else.

If this woman wants to learn grand opera, or, as it might be called, gland opera, why doesn't she buy a ranch and call the cows every night? That's the way a Texas girl learned.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17. — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here on Saturday:

Sterling demand, 4.4213.

Sterling cables, 4.4250.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17. — The trade in cash grain on the local market Saturday was low. The condition of the flour market was unchanged. A steady feeling prevails in millfeed and the tone of the rolled oats market was firm. An easy feeling prevailed all week in the egg market. Total receipts from May 1st to date were 535,450 cases against 514,978 cases for the same period last year.

There was no business in the potato market. Trade in butter has been inactive all of last week. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 136,284 boxes in excess of the same period of the previous year.

The cheese market has been dull in the extreme. The total receipts from May 1 to date have been 136,284 boxes in excess of the same period of the previous year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. — Sharp advances to-day virtually restored the wheat market to the price level existing before yesterday's break began. Rallies in Wall street quotations served as the chief motive for a rush to buy wheat. The close was strong, 1¼ to 1 7-8c net higher; May $1.10 3-4 to $1.10 7-8, and July $1.10 1-2 to $1.10 5-8. Corn scored ¼c to 3-8c and ½c gain; corn finished unchanged to 3-8c up, and provisions varying from 2c decline to 2c advance.

YOUNG DIAMOND

"Oh, it's terible, terrible! They had to kill them. Georgie De Saro and Johnny Farina gave me this money to keep my mouth shut If anyone asks you about Johnny or Georgie, or asks you to identify a picture of them, tell them nothing. They'll kill us sure if we snitch on them."

The witness said that next day they consulted with Jonah Goldstein, an attorney, who advised them "to get out of town."

The brothers went to Philadelphia, and while there telephoned to Willie Frear, an employe of the Diamond Basswood Company, to come to them.

Joseph admitted that he had obtained the license plates found on the abandoned murder car.

When Morris suggested that they go to Cleveland, Joseph demurred, he testified, but when Morris threatened him he agreed. He admitted seeing his brother change several thousand dollars in small bills into larger ones in a Cleveland bank, but denied taking any part in this transaction. He slipped away from his brother that night and returned to New York he said.

The witness admitted he was with his brother, Farina and De Saro a few hours before the Brooklyn crime. He swore he did not accompany the trio and then presented a story of his movements for the rest of the day, to prove an alibi.

IN QUEBEC

WHEN the Bank of Montreal opened its first office in Quebec 106 years ago, travel between Montreal and Quebec was mainly by stage coach, occupying three days in the journey. The difficulties and exigencies attending travel were such that funds were only conveyed between the two cities "at the first safe opportunity."

With the opening of this Quebec office, the Bank of Montreal introduced into Canada branch banking, one of the elements that has contributed to the remarkable elasticity of the Canadian banking system, winning for Dominion finance an enviable reputation in all parts of the world.

Of the Bank's 567 Branches, 83 are situated in the Province of Quebec.

M'GARRY URGES REFERENDUM ON TEMPERANCE ACT

Helped Draft Ontario's Dry Law As War Measure, Says Former Provincial Treasurer — Believes People Should Have Chance to Register Opinion.

Vancouver's Control.

TO ST. THOMAS, Feb. 17.— Hon. W. McGarry, as one of those o framed the Ontario Temperance t, believes a referendum should be Lo ken on the measure now.

Addressing West Elgin Conservatives at their annual meeting here Saturday afternoon, th former Provincial Treasurer said that if a member of the government he would be one of those to introduce legislation to take another vote. "I am hopeful," said he, "that before the session is over th people will be given the opportunity of voting on the Ontario Temperance Act, and that they will go to the polls and register their opinions.

"I was a member of the government that introduced this prohibitory measure, it was introduced as a war measure, and I think the intention of every man in the House, and Mr. MacDiarmid and I were members of the government, was that after the war was over and things settled down it would be given a fair chance, and that then the people would have opportunity to vote upon it. If I were there, I would be one of those who would introduce legislation for a vote.

Vancouver's Experience

I have been living for most of three years in British Columbia and have seen the legislation there work out, and I know that on the streets of Vancouver ther, is less drunkenness than in Toronto. Vancouver is a city to which many sailors come every day, and yet I have never seen a man the worse for liquor on the streets of Vancouver those three years, although we have government control and you can buy whatever liquor you want, but they have a provision there that a man seen intoxicated on the public streets has no option of a fine but must go to jail for six months. I mention that for this reason, that we must have from time to time opportunity of registering the opinion of the people upon this great question, and I am sure before the end of this session, we will find th government has provided an opportunity.

Guthrie's Criticism.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., criticised the Federal Government for its tariff policy in failing to do anything to protect Canadian farmers and fruit and vegetable growers. He said that while high tariffs have barred Canadian agricultural products from the United tSates markets, Canadian schedules are so low that 97,000,000 worth of agricultural products, chiefly foodstuffs, came across the line in nine months last year. Enjoying the additional advantage of climatic conditions which permit them to flood the Canadian market before the home products are ready, United States shippers are enabled to use the Dominion as a convenient dumping ground.

MEMORABLE GAME IS ASSURED FANS

The Younger Petes Who Have Showed Up So Good This Season Deserve the Support of the Public Tonight.

TO-NIGHT at Brock street rink the Petes will be seen in action against the fast Bowmanville aggregation The latter were put out of the running by Oshawa, who won from them by one goal on the round after three close battles. The Petes put up a hard battle against Oshawa last Thursday night but they came home with the short end of a 6 to 3 score. After the brisk workout they had on Saturday they are now in the pink of condition and ready to go, To-nght they will be out there to score all the goals the can and to try and prevent the Bowmanville youngsters from scoring. If these boys are as good as they are chalked up to be they will make the Petes step the whole sixty minutes. The fans are assured of a good game and with Lou Lebarr playing a game in goal like he did during the first two periods in Oshawa the Juniors can defeat any team.

THE ICE HARVESTERS WERE EXTINGUISHED

Millbrook's Chief Industry Held Up By Deluge Agents

MILLBROOK, Feb. 18.—The men cutting ice on the pond were obliged to stop work and take their horses out of the danger zone when the use of chemical fire extinguishers were being demonstrated on the east side of the Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon. COMMISSION ADVISES shareholders over lean years when changes in rates of wages are in contemplation, and when the prospect of regular employment is not good.

(2) As an alternative, some competent authority should in the public interest be directed to investigate and report upon the use which is made of such surplus funds of the company.

Militia Necessary.

Discussing the calling out of the militia in the strike of last summer, the commissioners hold that the local police force was inadequate to deal with the situation which had occurred, that a riotous condition of mob rule prevailed for some days and nights, and that the presence of the militia was necessary and beneficial.

It appeared from the evidence, says the report, that the militia rendered effective aid to the civil power in the protection of life, liberty, order and property under the law. The militia and provincial police were not at any time or in any sense used as strike breakers. They took no part and took no side in the industrial dispute.

If the true facts of the situation at Sydney had been disclosed at the time when the troops were called out there, the report continues, it would have been manifest that their presence was necessary, and that but for their presence and the presence of the provincial police, there would likely have been loss of life, much more injury to persons than occurred and such damage to the plant that employment could not have been provided there for the normal number of employees for a long time afterwards.

Change Militia Act.

The commissioners, however, suggest a change in the militia act.

They take the view that the militia act should be amended in such a manner as to provide that a requisition requiring the active militia to be called out for active service in aid of the civil power may be made only by a judge and the attorney-general of a province acting jointly in making the same and that the requisition should contain a statement by the attorney-general of the province to the effect that he shall as soon as possible, and not later than one week thereafter, cause an inquiry to be made into the circumstances which ocasioned the calling out of the active militia, and send a report to the minister of national defence.

Agitators Active.

It was found that the prominent and prevailing cause of industrial unrest was the desire and repeated demands on the part of the workmen to obtain higher wages and to have shorter hours of labor. Associated with that during recent years was the determination of a number of the workmen to obtain recognition of the union in order to secure collective bargaining regarding wages, hours of labor and other conditions. From 1922 onward into that situation at Sydney, with its disputed questions of wages, hours and non-recognition of the union, there came a campaign of agitation by speakers and publications urging the workmen to obtain quickly and in large measure what they wanted by threats of strikes and by actual strikes. There was agitation stirring up hostile class feeling by speakers and writers who denounced those in positions of authority, including the judiciary; called capitalists and employers by such names as "slave driver," "labor exploiters," "common enemy," etc., and urged the workmen to seek redress for their grievances by hostile and violent action.

Workmen in the steel plant are chiefly Canadian born, state the commissioners, most of them from Nova Scotia; a small percentage from New foundland; about ten per cent of them were non-English speaking races, and about eight per cent. of them were colored men from Barbadoes.

Relations between the workmen and the superintendents of departments and foremen, were found to be generally satisfactory and considerate on both sides. They were much disturbed in the period between the February and June strikes by the continuous talk of an impending strike to force the company to do what the union wanted.

Promote Understanding.

The commissioners are of the opinion that the employees' representative plan with a general works council and committees, which is now effective in the plant, is a means whereby the management and the employees can get together to confer upon questions of mutual interest and obligation and seek their settlement by full, frank discussion.

Such contacts and conferences are not intended to impose settlements, but to promote agreements and to provide regular and recognized opportunities in which mutual understanding can be promoted, confidence developed and co-operating good will brought into play in the relations between the company and the workmen.

Testimony was received by the commission from 147 witnesses. Several steel plants were visited, the commissioners recording their appreciation of the courtesies extended and the opportunities afforded to obtain information.

VETERAN.

Tom Riley, veteran conductor on the Rock Island lines, finishes 57 years of continuous service and retires. He stuck to the same "boss" since 1866. Enviable record in the matter of public service.

Men like Tom Riley, patiently handling the routine of life, do not get into the news often, but they are the foundations of civilization. It's a pleasure to wish Tom Riley good luck in his years of much-earned rest—many of which, we hope, are ahead of him.

Unfortunately, it takes a lot of constructors like Tom Riley to counteract the work of the destroyers.

It works out the same way in the long run. If the nations won't reduce their armies for themselves, they will do it for one another.—Bethlehem (Pa.) Globe.

Aunt Martha's

HOUSEWIVES' COLUMN

It is interesting to a good housekeeper to look around one of the Dominion Stores. She might be a little jealous, though, to see a mere man like the manager so amazingly expert in keeping things shiningly clean.

The 300 Dominion managers are proud of their red front stores. They are trained in the best methods of keeping them bright and spotless—from the plate glass windows in front to the floors, counters, shelves and groceries within. Just take a look around next time you go into a Dominion Store. Look in the corners—anywhere. You will like the good "housekeeping" you see there.

The best thing about it is that you are sure of getting clean, fresh food in such a store. Whether you want your old familiar favorite brands, or the high quality, low price, special Dominion brands, you know you are getting brand new stock that has been properly cared for in its short journey from the maker to you—the user.

At surprisingly low prices, too. For the Dominion buying experts buy for the biggest retail grocery organization in Canada. Food makers are glad to sell at record-breaking low prices when they can sell in such great quantities. So we buy for less and pass these steady savings right along to you.

Over a million customers a week buy at the hundreds of Dominion Stores. More and more housewives discover that the sure way to feed their families for less is to buy regularly where every price is a bargain price.

INJURED SENATOR LITTLE IMPROVED

Dry Agent's Shooting of Senator Greene May Bring Enforcement Muddle Before Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Slight improvement was shown Sunday in the condition of Senator Greene, of Vermont, who has been near death's door as the result of a bullet wound received last Friday night during a pistol fight between prohibition officers and bootleggers on Pennsylvania avenue.

The senator was walking with his wife when the shooting occurred, less than three blocks from the Capitol building. He was hit just over the left eye by a bullet fired from one of the speeding automobiles— apparently by a prohibition agent, who was using his revolver freely in an effort to compel the pursued machine to come to a halt. A prohibition agent is under arrest, but no formal charges have been placed against him.

The whole question has been complicated by a three-cornered row joined in by agents of the prohibition unit, officers of the intelligence division of the treasury department and the city police.

As a result of the whole muddle of conflicting opinions, charges, explanations, denials and counter charges that have characterized efforts to enforce the prohibition laws here seems likely to have a thorough airing in Congress.

CAN DEPUTY REEVE BE SCHOOL TRUSTEE ALSO?

John Allen of Percy Township Enters Action to Unseat Deputy-Reeve Nelson of Percy Township, Who Was Elected By Acclamation — Recent Toronto Decision Quoted.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18.—D. J. Lynch has been retained by John A Allan of Percy township, who has instituted proceedings to unseat Deputy Reeve W. H. Nelson, of Percy, who was elected by acclamation last January. The case is based on the fact that the deputy reeve is a member of the school board in the section near Dartford where he resides and it is claimed that for this reason he cannot hold the position of councillor in the township.

Ambrose Atkinson, an ex-reeve and at present a member of the Percy Council, was in Campbellford Saturday—his first visit to this town in three years— for the purpose of making an affidavit that at the last annual school meeting in his section, in which Deputy Reeve Nelson also resides, the latter was elected a trustee, which position he still holds.

John Allan, the relator in this case, was nominated for the deputy-reeveship to oppose Mr. Nelson, who held that position last year. Mr. Allan had been a member of the Council some years ago but since that time the regulation with regard to qualifying have been changed and he neglected to make the required declaration until it was too late. Mr. Nelson was accordingly declared elected by acclamation, the only member of last year's council to survive.

Mr. Allan before the election sought to disqualify Mr. Nelson, but the lawyer in Campbellford whom he consulted, told him that the statute provided that only members of school boards in cities, towns and villages were prevented from holding office as councillors, no mention being made in the Act of trustees in rural sections.

Case in Toronto

The attempt to unseat Deputy-Reeve Nelson has been revived by the recent decision of a High Court Judge in Toronto, who unseated a Councillor in East York in a case which the relator in the proceedings against Mr. Nelson claims was exactly parallel. W. J. Baker, a resident of Warkworth, at the February meeting of the Percy Council, called the attention of the members to this decision and asked that some action be taken to ascertain whether Mr. Nelson was legally elected.

Mr. Nelson, who secured legal advice before taking his seat, announces that he will fight the case, and he has retained G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., of Peterborough.

Girls Entertain Mothers

The Canadian Girls in Training of the Baptist church entertained their mothers at a Valentine party held in the Sunday School room at 8 o'clock on Friday evening. The president, Miss Ida Adams, expressed in a few well chosen words the pleasure the members felt in having their mothers with them.

Each mother was given a handsome souvenir programme prepared by the committee appointed for that purpose, also a basket containing candy and nuts. The baskets had been made by the girls.

The room was prettily fixed up for the occasion, each lamp being decorated with hearts and the tables with streamers of pink ribbons and hearts.

At the close of the programme each mother was presented with a carnation and where there were two girls in a family a friend had been invited so that each girl had at least a temporary mother for the evening. The programme was as follows:

Reading—Marguerite Reid.
Solo—Violet Mason.
Story—Myrtle Hall.
Piano Solo—Grace Willoughby.
Reading—Ova Glenn.
Solo—Mary Shore.
Scene in a Flower Shop—Myrtle Hall and Ida Adams.
Piano Solo—Dulcie Carter.
Contest—Eunice Richardson.
Reading—Marion Cairns.
Solo—Jessie Carter.
Story—Lily Waston.
Contest—Winnie Glenn.
Reading—Ida Adams.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the programme.

The Campbellford Trophy

The competition to decide which of the Campbellford rinks will hold the trophy that was won by seven picked rinks from the local club playing against that many outsiders at the recent bonspiel has not yet been finished. From rinks have to settle it among themselves, the skips being P. J. Kelly, Matt. Mulhearn, R. H. Cole and F. J. Smith. In the preliminaries Skip Kelly had revenge when he defeated Skip W. J. Meiklejohn who beat the former in the competition for the Victoria Cup at the bonspiel. Play for the Campbellford trophy will be resumed Monday.

OMEMEE SCHOOL HELD A SOCIAL

Young People's Guild Presented a Good Program—Personals.

OMEMEE, Feb. 18.—The Sunday School room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was all aglow on Thursday evening when the Young People's Guild presented a varied programme, followed by a social hour.

The decorations were many and quite elaborate. Scores of hearts of various sizes were artistically strung around the room, and together with streamers of red and white crepe paper and the softly-shaded lights seemed to put a feeling of warmth in the atmosphere.

The attendance, while no doubt was somewhat diminished by the hockey match in Lindsay, was by no means small, and those privileged to attend were loud in their praises for their evening's entertainment.

The following short programme was given, followed by two contests, the winners of each receiving a large box of home-made candy. With Mr. Black as captain, the younger boys and girls also played two games, each receiving a prize box:

Opening—Community singing.
Chairman's remarks — Mr. H. Lamb.
Address on St. Valentine—Rev. J. Black.
Instrumental—Bernice Matthews.
Solo—Mrs. Hume, "If Winter Comes." Encore
Piano duet—Misses Eva Race and Jessie Lamb.
Boys' drill and chorus—"The Wooden Soldiers."
Wand drill—Five girls.
Charades—Several girls, the words acted being "Cantankerous" and "Chesterfield."
Contests.

Refreshments were served at the close.

AGNOSTIC

Old Bob Ingersoll was an agnostic—believing it impossible for the human brain to ever know the truth about the nature of God and the ultimate future of the universe.

He begin his revolt against the Christian religion when he was eight years old, an extremely young age for this kind of defiance. The first eight years of childhood shape our whole lives at least 50 per cent. It's queer that it never occurs to so-called radicals to direct their propaganda at children, the coming generation, whose minds are flexible. Instead, the radicals waste their time on grown-ups whose ideas and brain processes have become set like cement.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and

"What is the solution, Lee?"

He had buried his face in his hands. "There is none, I suppose. Unless you have the courage to drive down to the City Hall wnd marry me . . . and"—he lifted his head with faint gleam of hope—"remember that you are young again. That you have many years to live. You are a woman. Can you go through life without love?"

"Far better than with it. Love is a very old story to me," she said deliberately. "It could never be so to me again and the significant thing it is even to the woman of middle age, much less to the young. And now—with a world falling to ruins—in the most critical period of its history—to imagine that love has any but a passing significance——— Oh, no, my friend. Oh, no! Let those women who have it in their power to repeople the earth which has lost so many millions of its sons cherish that delusion of the supreme importance of love; but not I! I have had my dream, but it is over. If we had met in Vienna it would never have claimed me at all. In New York one may be serious in the romantic manner when one is temporarily free from care, but seriousness is of another and a portentous quality over there."

"Why did you ask me to wait six months and then join you in Vienna?"

She turned her eyes on him with what he had once called her look of ancient wisdom. There was not an expiring flicker of youth in them, nor in the faint smile on her lips. He had thrown himself back in his corner and folded his arms; he had no desire to attract the attention of the passers-by. But his face was as white as a dark man's can be and his eyes were both stricken and bitter.

"To give you time to get over it," she said. "To write another play. To settle down into your old life—and look back upon this episode as upon a dream, a wonderful dream, but difficult to recall as anything more substantial."

"So I inferred. And you have not the courage to marry me—here—today?"

"No, that is the one thing for which I have no courage whatever. In three months I should hate you and myself. I should not have even one memory in my life that I had no wish to banish—the sustaining memory of love undestroyed I may take back with me now. Courage! I could contemplate going back to certain death at the hands of an assassin, or in another revolution; to stand the edge of the abyss, the last human being alive in Europe, and look down upon her expiring throes before I went over the brink myself. But I have not the courage to marry you."

Clavering picked up the tube and told the driver to stop.

He closed the door and lifted his hat.

"Good-bye, Madame Zattiany," he said. And as the driver was listening, he added: "A pleasant journey."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Earton

THIS RIDDLE IS A FLIGHTY ONE

The queerest bird, you've ever heard.

"This is such a windy day," said the Riddle Lady, "that I thought we would better have a windy riddle. That is, a riddle that can't go without wind and lots of it."

"Is it snow?" asked Tommy Tittlemouse, who lived in the little house. "It says, 'Blow wind, blow, and we shall have snow and what will the robin do then, poor thing?' "

"That's true," said the Riddle Lady. "But although this riddle is a sort of bird, it has nothing to do with either snow or robins.

"But perhaps if you hear the riddle, Tommy, you may guess it after all, and get the prize."

"I hope so," sighed Tommy. "I haven't had a prize yet. And the Twins have had about a dozen."

"We'll keep still," offered Nick generously. "And I'm sure you can guess it."

So the Riddle Lady began:

"The queerest bird,
You've ever heard!
Hasn't got a feather,
Yet he flies
Up in the skies
In gusty, windy weather.

"He's very light
For such a flight,
O'er chimney tops and spires,
But near the ground,
He can't get 'round,
Gets caught on trees and wires.

"He'll never learn,
The way to turn,
Flies just straight ahead,
When off he goes,
Behind his nose,
Comes back tail first instead.

"In windy weather,
We play together,
My paper bird and I,
I hold the string,
And watch him spring
Straight up to the sky.

"Doesn't need
A grain of seed,
Never eats a thing;
Never winks,
Never drinks,
Never flaps a wing!

"His tail is long,
And firm and strong,
Flutters far behind him,
I'm glad it's there,
For I know where
To look when I would find him.

"He'd go and go,
When breezes blow,
And ride off on a cloud,
But for the string,
Tied neath his wing,
To roam he's not allowed."

"I've guessed it. It's a kite!" cried Tommy.

"That's right!" the Riddle Lady told him. "And that's the prize—a nice, new, red, bird kite. You've fished so long that this will be a nice change."

Everybody rejoiced at Tommy's good luck.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

AN OPEN LETTER TO DR. CHOWN

To Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., LL.D., General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada:

Sir:—In your latest on "Church Union" you honour me with "special mention." Before correcting your words about myself, may I note some features of your letter.

1. Its tone of mingled anxiety and displeasure proclaims a losing cause. Its closing S.O.S., "Awake and Work" shows how far from true the familiar cry, "It is all settled."

2. Its pictures of Methodist and Presbyterian are a study in "Black and White." Its Methodists are "deeply devoted to their Church"—but "love the Kingdom of God more"—act "in good faith"—"prepared to yield"—and "sacrifice"—and, for the "sacrifice"—"find solace in more acceptable and efficient service."

Its Presbyteriand with their "Old Shibboleths"—"Hold on to the past." —"Looking exclusively upon their own things, never a glance do they take towards the things of others," —"Have no regard whatever for sacred pledges"—"are simply in rebellion" —"Indulging in the fantastic tricks of an uninformed or prejudiced imagination"—"not a stray idea ever wanders within the horizon of their thought that Methodists and Congregationalists have any rights—or that they are worthy of a particle of courtesy or respect," etc., etc.

I do not question your pictures. I rejoice in the attainments of the Methodists, and I know that Presbyterians still need the Publican's prayer. But if we are so black, why mix? And if mixed, how could you keep white?

3. You censure Presbyterians for doing God's will as they see it. A Doctrine of our Presbyterian Creed is that "Jesus Christ is alone Lord of the Conscience." This is one of our "Old Shibboleths." We believe that unity of spirit in Him and not outward uniformity under one human head is our Saviour's Will and Prayer. We believe that these three Churches, working in unity and cooperation, will do more for the Kingdom of God. In continuing our own church we are doing His Will as He gives us to see that Will. And though it be another "Old Shibboleth" that we "should obey God rather than men."

4. You state that we "do not recognize the newness of the world in which we live." Oh yes! We recognize with joy that it is a world of freedom, that the time is past for driving people out of one Church into another by civil law. It is you, sir, who "do not seem to recognize the newness of the world in which we live," when you attempt to banish freedom and to bring in coercion again.

5. You brand us as wholly selfish, —"looking exclusively upon their own things, never a glance do they take towards the things of others." True, we do not dictate to other Churches. We co-operate with them in all good work. And we show our "respect" and "courtesy" by not intruding into their family affairs. But in our effort to kill this "iniquitous" Church Union Bill, we are doing our utmost to save other Churches as well as our own. We would be glad of their help, but with or without that help, Canada must have religious liverty for all.

6. You further say thay "have no regard whatever for the sacred pledges made by the responsible Courts of their Church." On the contrary, we have fullest regard for all the pledges these Courts have a right to make. But these Courts have no more right to blot out our Church or pledge it to others, than has Parliament to pledge Canada to the U. S. A. You know those "pledges" were protested, year by year, as ultra vires and illegal, and if you chose to slight the protests the fault is not ours.

But what of your own "sacred pledge"? You were a member of the "Joint Committee" of which the following Official Report was given to our Assembly in 1905—"It was universally recognized in the Joint Committee—that a Union of the Churches to be real and lasting, must carry the consent of the entire membership." And now, though thirty thousand Methodists and seventy-three thousand Presbyterians voted for it, you attempt to force it by Civil Law. What of your own "sacred pledge"?

7. You say, "Let no one suppose that Methodists are not deeply devoted to their Church and will sadly mourn its translation." Why then make them mourn? We seek to prevent it, and to "give them the oil of joy for mourning." If Methodists should ever mourn the loss of their Church, the blame will be yours, not ours.

8. You say—"There is nothing to do but to see this thing through"—which means your threat to blot out the Presbyterian Church and drive its members into a new one, where they can quietly submit, or "get out," churchless and homeless, onto the street. So!

9. And now I come to your "special mention" of myself. You quote me as, fourteen years ago, approving the Statement of Doctrine," and you say, "Now he condemns the whole thing by saying that it is an open door for every error—His statements reveal a striking contrast—Is such pleading an effort to be all things to all men?"

I have simply to say that your words of me are not true, and I challenge you or any other man to show any word of mine, through all the years, inconsistent with that quotation of fourteen years ago.

What I have often said, and here repeat, is that the proposed new Church would be "a Creedless Church, an open door for every error," not because of the Statement of the Doctrine, but because no one is pledged to accept that Statement. If even the Confession of Faith were there, or any other historic Christian Creed, without pledge of acceptance, the New Church would be a Creedless Church.

In the first draft of questions for ministers at ordination, laid before our Assembly in 1906, there was such a pledge. See Assembly Minutes, page 338. But it was later quietly dropped, and in the ordination vows of ministers in the Basis of Union there is no mention of the "Statement of Doctrine." It is not honest to put that Statement in the Basis and to pretend that it is the Creed of the Church when no one is pledged to it. The proposed Church does not stand for it, nor for any definite Christian Truth.

But we are constantly told that ministers at ordination must "satisfy somebody who may happen to be examining them as to their "substantial agreement" with that Statement of Doctrine? What does that amount to? The examiner himself might be far from accepting it, and all too easily "satisfied." Ministers would either accept that Statement of Doctrine or they would not. If the former, they should say so. If the latter, the people do not want them in the ministry, no matter whom they may "satisfy."

BOB.

This year is the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll. The older generation will recall him with interest, but to the rising generation his name means nothing except a vague notion that maybe he invented the Ingersoll watch, which he didn't.

Old Bob's attacks on Biblical religion worried the devout churchgoers of his day, and with good reason. He shook Blind Faith to its foundations in many quarters. Now he is nearly forgotten, but he ushered in a spirit of challenging doubt that still is epidemic.

MARMORA YOUTH HELD CARNIVAL

Attendance Reduced By Several Postponements—Many Skaters in Costume—List of Prize-Winners.

MARMORA, Feb. 18.—Marmora skating rink assumed a very gay aspect Friday evening when the much-postponed carnival at last took place. The crowd was smaller than on the occasion of previous carnivals but those in costume gliding over the brightly-lighted ice were all interesting, some for the mere fact of being ridiculous while others showed a great amount of originality and artistic taste.

The judging was ably done by Mrs. Ray Wescott, Mr. James Morrin and Mr. Dan Shannon.

An amusing part of the night's entertainment was a hockey match or rather a game of "shinny" between the "fat" men and "lean" men of Marmora and surrounding territory. The fat men proved themselves superior as the score 3—1 would indicate.

The prize winners were as follows:

Boy's race—1, Clarence Campion; 2, William Shannon.

Men's race—1, Charles Brady; 2, Kenneth Simmons.

Girl's race—1, Mabel Inkster; 2, Florence Clare.

Fancy dress—Girls under 10 years—1, Dorothy McMann, Pierette; 2, Margaret Flynn, Indian Girl.

Girl's Fancy dress—1, Constance Simmons, Clown; 2, Dorothy Merrit, Pied Piper.

Ladies' Fancy dress—1, Margaret Clare, Gypsy; 2, Florence Clare, Queen of Hearts.

Gentlemen's Fancy—1, Kenneth Simmons, Chinaman; 2, Paul Clement, Mexican.

Gent's Comic—1, Frank Lynch, Clown; 2, Leo Forestell, Tramp.

Ladies' Comic—1, Miss O'Neill, Sunbonnet Sue; 2, Jenny Smith, Jackie Coogan.

Boy's Comic—1, Wesley Clare; 2, Roy Smith, Bride and Groom.

On Thursday the boys and girls of the public school celebrated St. Valentine's Day by a little party at the school. A post-office distributed Valentines and candy and cake were served to the pupils and their younger brothers and sisters.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Several Social Events in the District Last Week.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 18.—The "Sunshine Mission Band" of the Methodist church held a successful Valentine social on Wednesday evening, the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker, occupying the chair. The Sunday School auditorium was appropriately decorated with red hearts, Cupids, etc. for the occasion, the shaded lights giving a pleasing effect. A good-sized audience had gathered by 8 p.m. when the following programme was rendered, every number being heartily encored:

Opening Hymn; Invocation; Recitation, "Under the Car," by Leon Raper; Sketch of the Life of St. Valentine, by Wilma Fallis; Chorus, "Smile," by the C.G.I.T. group; Recitation, "A Queer Valentine," by Elsie Spence; Musical Dialogue, "Come Play With Me," by Jean Stinson, Annie McMahon, Hazel Morton, Evelyn Todd and Aileen Blue; Encore, "Bring Back my Kitty to Me."; Reading, "St. Valentine's Practical Joke," by Marjorie Sayles; Solo, "I Hear you Calling Me," by Miss M. Allen, Peterboro; Recitation, "Generosity," by Jean Stinson; Solo, "Ah Me," by Mrs. P. Stinson; Piano Solo, by Gladys Turner; Solo, "Little Damosel," by Miss Allen; Encore, "Dreaming of You."

Mrs. B. R. Raper, superintendent of the Mission Band, is deserving of much credit for the success of the entertainment. The proceeds, which were quite satisfactory, go toward the support of the "Millbrook Sunshine Cot," in the Women's Hospital, Chentu, West China.

Valentine Social

An appreciative audience gathered in the Sunday School Hall of St. Thomas church on Thursday evening for the Masquerade and Valentine social under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A.

Hearts of various shapes and colors, Cupids large and small, decorated the walls and platform, while heart-shaped and heart-decorated white aprons were worn by those assisting with the refreshments. Quite a number had come masked and in costume and considerable entertainment was provided for the onlookers in guessing the identity of those so disguised. Prizes were given for the best costume, the judges being Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mrs. C. McNeil and Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald. All competing for the prize were asked to take seats on the platform while the judges did their work, the following responding, the majority wearing hearts of red or silver upon dark or or light dresses, though some represented a fefinite character: Elizabeth Russell, K. Fowler, Jean Gervan, Frances Turner (old-fashioned lady), M. McCorry (tramp), Theo. McBride ('Indian maid), Gladys Tucker (Lady Gainsborough), Marjorie Sayles (night), E. Doxsee (Valentine), Gertie Gray (old-fashioned lady), S. McCorry, L. Shaw, Pearl Lamb, Elsie Weeks, Hazel Armstrong, Phyllis Brown, Ruth Thorndyke, Geraldine Morton (old-fashioned and not noted for her beauty.

Prize winners were: 1, E. Doxsee; 2, Geraldine Morton; 3, Francis Turner; 4, Theo. McBride; 5, Marjorie Sayles.

In the absence of the rector, Rev. Canon Allen, the curate, Rev. M. G. B. Williams, occupied the chair most capably, the following programme being rendered:

Piano Duet, by Missess M. Collins and Francis Turner; Vocal Duet, "Two Little Girls in Blue," by Eloise Lamb and Kate Donnelly; Solo, "Indian Love Song," by Miss T. McBride; Reading, "Caleb's Courtship," by Pearl Lamb; Chorus, "Sweet Marie," by Hazel Armstrong, Gertrude Gray, Frances Turner, Luella Shaw, T. McBride and P. Lamb; Song, "Everybody Loves a Lassie," by Eloise Lamb; "Conundrum Tea," assistants Miss M. B. Turner, Miss E. Grandy, Miss M. Todd, Mrs. (Rev.) Williams.

Menu, on heart-shaped cards, ordering to be done by number: For old maids and bachelors; What you get for good walking; New England Specialty; Child's Favorite; Earth-Apple Salad; Survivor of the Flood Staff of Life; Home of the Skipper; Women of Grit; Mixed up Type; An Old Walk; Cane Fruit; Chinese Delight; Impertinence; Fragrant Beans from Japan; Spring's Offering; What I do to be Heard.

Much merriment resulted from the "eats" brought in response to the mystic names for the food ordered. Some chanced to have their appetites well satisfied while in other cases a second order was necessary before the plate contained what the recipient wanted.

Partners were found for the daintily-decorated supper tables by having the men seated behind a large white curtain and the ladies pose in front of same, the men bidding on the shadow cast, the identity having to be guessed more or less correctly as the case might be. Mr. R. Stone made an efficient auctioneer, securing good prices for his "wares." Only those in costume were asked to add to the fun of the evening by allowing themselves to be auctioned off in this manner.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the concluding numbers on the programme, with the exception of a solo, "When You and I were Young, Maggie," by Mr. R. Stone, were omitted, and the gathering dismissed with the National Anthem. The A.Y.P.A. members are to be congratulated on providing a unique and most enjoyable evening's entertainment. Their next meeting on Thursday, February 21st, will be a "Shakespearean Evening."

Two Cars Wrecked But Occupants Uninjured.

WINDSOR, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Several persons, among them women and children, narrowly escaped death when the slippery pavement sent two automobiles into a ditch near Tecumseh, eight miles east of Windsor yesterday afternoon. John Pollock and David Schwartz, with their families, both of Maidstone, were in the autos, both of which were wrecked. Beyond a severe shaking up none was seriously hurt.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

The allotment for investment should equal, or nearly equal, the amount of money used annually for advancement plus luxury.

How should financial progress be measured?

It is readily accepted that the man who allows himself the most meager sort of living and saves all the rest of his income for investment does not live a rounded life. A certain amount of money must be used for cultural advancement and for "fun" if one is to have a normal and wholesome life.

But the man who spends his whole income, saving nothing, is as lopsided in his development as is the man who saves too much. Both extremes are unwise.

The ideal division of income is to allow about the same amount of money for investment annually as you spend for cultural purposes and luxuries combined. Cultural spending includes books, education, educational clubs, travel and charity; luxuries include social pleasure, jewelry, smoking, candy, gifts, amusements, automobile and other such expenses.

THE REASON FOR ALUMINUM

Because tea deteriorates very rapidly if exposed to the air, many tests and experiments have been made to find an efficient means of packing it so as to preserve the flavor. The "Salada" Tea Company first used lead packages but some years ago adopted aluminum foil, aluminum being more durable and lighter than lead, besides, of course, being absolutely sanitary and air-tight. This method of packing is admitted to be the most effective known to preserve the flavour of tea. All "Salada" is sold in air-tight aluminum packages.

Bavaria Disavows Palatinate Control.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Acting on Premier MacDonald's instructions, Robert Clive, the British Consul at Mayence, has urged the Bavarian Premier, Dr. Von Knilling, to use his Government's influence with the Nationalist organizations in the Palatinate, to prevent acts of violence calculated to delay the restoration of German administration there.

JACK SHIFTS CAR TO PARKING SPOT.

No Longer Toiling Back and Forth to Get in Small Place.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 16.—Soon we shall observe large automobiles sliding easily and quickly into parking spaces only as long as the cars themselves, if the invention of Victor P. Williams of this city is adopted generally.

No more toiling back and forth to get into a space slightly longer than the car, if Williams' appliance is attached.

It consists of a four-wheel hydraulic jacking device, which lifts the car from the street three inches in a few seconds. The whole affair is attached permanently to the chassis and geared up with the transmission, so that the engine itself lets down the jack, lifts the car and then moves it sideways into the opening.

By its use, Williams says, space is saved, and considerable wear and tear on the tires eliminated.

The framework of the hydraulic jack weighs less than 100 pounds and its installation, if done on a quantity basis, would be no more than $100 per car, claims the inventor.

A lever, similar to the speed control, operates the brake. Both levers have to be in neutral before one can be operated. Thus any liability of accident, or clashing of both controls, is avoided.

Williams, a graduate mechanical engineer from a French school, has worked on this device for the last eight years and triumphed only last November, when he got his patent for this country.

The new jack is being demonstrated here on a Moon chassis, while automotive engineers connected with other large manufacturing firms are considering its adoption as a permanent feature on their product.

BE YOUR OWN EXECUTOR

Has it ever occurred to you that soon after your death your estate, however large, may dwindle away owing to the inexperience of your heirs in business matters?

You need have no apprehension that your dependents will thus come to want if you make adequate provision for them by means of an Imperial Life policy.

Because every such policy contains a provision under which you may specify that the proceeds shall be paid in monthly, quarter-yearly, half-yearly or yearly instalments for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 or 30 years, instead of in one sum.

While in the calculation of the instalments a definite rate of interest is guaranteed, such payments in the case of participating policies will be increased by sharing in the interest which the Company earns in excess of this guaranteed rate.

Ask for our booklet "Safeguard Your Legacy," which explains this attractive feature of Imperial Life policies. You'll find it interesting.

THE MAVERICK KID

BY RAY NAFZIGER

AFTER that pap-eatin' jackass of a infant brother Stevie of mine corraled a counterfitter and a thousand buck reward accidental, his head swells out like a bloated cow's belly. He figgers he's a natural-born bloodhound, and he studies books asidyous on clues and fingerprints and safe bustin' and the perfesh of detectin' in general.

Then he sets back and complains peevish about the scarcity of mystreys and crimes in Quiveras County compared to the slaughterin' by axes and hammers and chisels and shotguns and poisons goin' on in more civilized parts. Quiveras County ain't had no crime for years; three shootin' duels ended fatal to both parties all three times, and no mysterey there except why somebody didn't kill the hoodlums off before they done it theirselves. They ain't been no cow stealin' because why steal cows when you can go to K. C. and sell yourself a packer and steal 'em legal?

My li'l' brother Stevie gets so desperate for lack of something to detect that he all but goes around collectin' nose prints of cows, but finally he gets his wish. We gets a mystrey laid right at our door one mornin'.

I'm up first as usual to start the day, clumpin' to the door, when I hears what sounds like a pup whinin' outside. I opens the door and right at my feet is a li'l' basket all deckerated with pink ribbons and in it, all bundled up in pink blankets and pink hood, is a infant.

"I knowed that last batch of moonshine we got was poison!" I bellers. "My eyesight is ruint!"

My li'l' brother Stevie and our hands, One-Ton Benson and old George and Pablo, stop cussin' their boots and peeks over my shoulder. They looks shocked, so I sees I libeled good likker.

"The question is," I says to 'em severe, "which one one of you four is the cause of this incriminatin' package bein' left here."

"Why us?" asks One-Ton. "Why not you, Johnny?"

"Yes, why not you?" repeats my li'l' brother Stevie. "My studies in criminalology," he goes on brisk, "show's they's a cause for everything. The person what left that baby undoubtedly knew Johnny's always the first to turn out every mornin'. I deduce that kid is meant for Johnny and nobody else."

"That's logic for you," says old George admirin'. "Nobody can dispute that baby was left here for Johnny and nobody else."

"Stevie sure is one bueno detective," says Pablo.

"HE IS LIKE HELL!" I bellers.

"If he's a detective, I'm second cousin to a orphan ginney pig."

We all leans down and examines the kid closer. It pleases him to have so many strangers interested in him and he stops bawlin' and sizes us up careful. He's a blame likely lookin' youngster.

Stevie he sees a piece of paper stickin' out of the covers. It's a li'l' piece o' tablet paper and on it is printed in pencil:

"YOU TAKE KEER THIS BABY. YOU KNOW WHY."

"A clue!" exclaims Stevie, inspectin the paper close. "To a trained criminal-ologist printin' proves either that whoever left him was afraid his handwritin' would betray him, or it proves he was so illiterate he only knows how to print."

"Hist!" says One-Ton. "Hist to the great criminal-ologist."

"Go ahead with your witty cracks!" snorts Stevie. "Just watch me solve this mystrey, that's all."

The kid, after studyin' all of us awhile, actually busts into a smile. Any kid that can smile at a bunch of half-dressed, uncivilized roughnecks like us is the real goods.

Old George wiggles a dirty finger at him and sings a li'l' song.

"Coochy, coochy; coochy, coochy; Daddy'll get you a li'l' bottle o' hoochy."

he promises the kid real paternal.

The baby waves a flipper at this. "Pa-pa-pa-papapra!" he says.

Me and Stevie and One-Ton and Pablo heaves a sigh of relief.

"That settles it," I says. "He identified old George."

George looks shocked and stares at the baby unbelievin'. "Bah!" he says. "That don't mean nothin'. See!" he remarks, as the kid waves at Pablo and goes "Ma-ma-ma-mamama!" "He'd yell papa and mama at anybody that played with him."

"This is a serious matter," I orates. "We can't afford to let anybody know that that baby was left here with kind o' note. It's too good a thing for the punchers around here to ever fergit. They'd be joshin' us about it for twenty years."

"Our reppitations 'd be squashed flatter 'n a pancake," agrees One-Ton. "Slick ears," he murmurs, stoopin' to study the kid. "Mebbe," he goes on hopeful, "bein' they ain't no brand, they's a association to turn unbranded babies into like they is calves."

"If we turn him over to that dang Sheriff Andy Causey and Judge 'Billygoat' Thompson," says Stevie, "them old codgers will make a big joke out of it and prove that this baby belonged to all of us. They'd have a trial lastin' for a weeek with people comin' in one hundred miles to hear them old devils hooraw us about this kid. No, they's only one thing to do. That's to keep him here quiet under cover until I solve the mystery," says Stevie.

"How you goin' to keep him quiet?" inquires old George. "Kids ain't no grafferphones to be shut off with a switch."

"Another clue!" exclaims Stevie who's down on his all fours like a bloodhound examinin' the ground. "Here's how he was brought. See those big tire tracks. Me and Johnny will foller 'em in the flivver. You guys take care of the kid and whatever happens, don't let anybody find out he's here. If you do, we're ruint."

Me and Stevie flivvers up the trail of them auto tracks and follers 'em ten miles, but when we come to the main road near Sunset, some other cars been along, and even a great detective like Stevie can't trail 'em no more. We goes back home.

"A criminal-ologist ain't discouraged none by such li'l' setbacks," says Stevie. "The mystery grows merely more difficult and complex. I can solve it with any one of a dozen other methods."

It's a good thing we gets home when we does. Early as it is, a coupla riders is approachin' over the hill. They ain't none other than those old neighborhood gossips, Bill Benz and Sheriff Any Causey.

"You guys stay in the house and keep those snoopy-nosed hens in pants from hearin' that kid if he starts to bawl," Stevie tells One-Ton and Pablo and old George. "Me and Johnny 'll get rid of 'em."

Me and Stevie saddles a coupla nags and pretends we're just ridin' out as Bill and Andy rides up.

"How's tricks?" asks Bill Benz.

"So-so," I answers. "We was just perambulatin' down the trail same direction you're goin'. Come on along."

"We ain't in no hurry," says Sheriff Andy Causey. "You boys go on ahead. Guess me and Bill will light and visit with George."

"We hire old George to work—not to swap stories!" says Stevie.

"Seems they're a sort o' strange atmosphere o' hospitality about this ranch this mornin', ain't there, Andy?" says Bill.

"Does look like these boys want to get rid of us," agrees Andy. "Mebbe we ought to sort o' smell around."

Just then old George in the cabin erups forth into song.

"Glor-ree-us! Glor-ree-us! One keg o' beer for the four of us—" The maverick kid must 'a' started to bawl and old George is drownin' him out.

"I always knew old George was musical, but danged if I ever heard him sing before," observes Andy. "He beats Carouser."

"Boola-Boo-LUH! Boola-Boo-LUH!" busts out One-Ton and Pablo sudden, joinin' the chorus. Those three sure fills the canyon with a noble noise, but anyone knows when babies gets tuned up proper, they can soar a mile above a brass band.

"Well, le's be movin'," I suggests impatient.

"No, we couldn't think of it," says Andy. "Ssh! We're enjoyin', this melodic outburst too much!" And he and Bill leans forward, drinkin' deep with their ears. So while Andy ain't lookin', I kicks his pony behind the ribs near the Bar V brand, while Stevie does ditto to Bill's. Their nags hop down the trail unexpected to 'em, and me and Stevie follers deliverin' a judicious kick occasional. Bill and Andy got no good excuse for goin' back, so they continues along with us. We conducts 'em off five miles, and then we pretend we want to look for some cattle.

"Now that we got rid of them," says Stevie when we're alone, "just watch me settle this mystrey scientific. Take a murder; they just keep e-liminatin' all suspected persons until they get down to one guy that can't be e-liminated. They's only a certain number of babies in Quiversa County. All I got to do is find out where a baby's missin' and there's where our baby come from."

"Clear as a 'dobe wall," I remarks sarcastic. "Supposin' he didn't come from round here? But I'll go along. I want to ask these women what kind o' ration a baby should feed off of. Old George 'll probably kill him with ham and biscuit."

We go to Sam Byron's place first, Stevie sayin' the Byrons got such a slew of kids they could have one kidnapped and never find it out until the tax assessor checked up on 'em.

"You pore boys," Mis' Byron greets us hearty. "I bet you batches ain't had nothin' good to eat for weeks. Set right down, and interduce half a apple pie into your emayshiated systems."

"How's the children?" asks Stevie, balancin' his pie on his thumb and two fingers dainty.

"Children! Why, they're all right," says Mis' Byron surprised.

"Sure you ain't lost one?" inquires Stevie persistent. "Mebbe you ain't counted 'em lately."

Mis' Byron looks at Stevie kinda indignant. "I ain't got so many children that one could get lost and me not notice it."

"H'm," says Stevie disappointed. "Lemme see—that's Timothy, ain't it?" he says, indicatin' a kid in a cradle.

"No, she ain't Timothy," says Mis' Byron, glarin' at Stevie. "My oldest is named Amantha Ann, and the next one is Bernice Beatrice, and the next is Clorinda Cloris, and the next is Doris Dulcea, and the next is Emmaline Esther, and that one in the cradle is Frances Florida. Six girls and nary one named Timothy. What's the matter with Stevie to-day anyhow?" she asks me.

"Hist! Stevie's practisin' detectin'," I tells her. "I wanted to ask you something myself. Now, what do you believe in feedin' a young baby?"

"I don't know if you're both drunk or what, but I believe in feedin' 'em nature's food," she says dignified.

A sort o' silence falls, so I gets up and Stevie he gets up and Mis Byron don't ask us what's our hurry. She only eyes us dang severe, as me and the great detective rides off.

"Anyway, we've e-liminated the Byron's," says Stevie, as we jogs on to the next big family. "We'll cover the country south this afternoon in the flivver. We can check up on every family in the county by night. After that it'll be simple."

"Sure, it'll be simple," I agrees. "All we go to do then is to begin e-liminatin' families outside of Quiveras County, includin' China. 'Hist' is the word!"

We comes home after e-liminatin' some more fam'lies, and finds old George and One-Ton standin' guard in front of the house. Pablo is ridin' herd on the maverick in a shed a few hundred yards back in the woods, they tells us.

"We had to cache him out there," says One-Ton in a whisper, "account havin' so dang many visitors here all mornin'. We sang so much we all got hoarse."

"Bill Benz and Andy Causey come through here again sniffin' around, too," says old George. "People was out here even from Sunset askin' how's tricks. People don't drive two hours just to ask how's tricks. Somebody suspects something."

"It was my opinion from the first that they was something suspicious about this business," observed One-Ton.

"Don't worry, leave it to me," Stevie assures us. "Besides my process of elimination, I got a lot o' clues to work on."

"Up-to-date detectives don't use clues nowadays," I objects. "The way a scientific detective 'd do this would be to analyze the baby, and then put him in a machine and turn a crank and a ghost appears, and the guilty persons turns a handspring and yells, 'I done it'!"

I accompanies the great detective in the flivver that afternoon while he goes around, third degreein' families about lost children. After finishin' the ranchers, he examines the bean homesteaders on the forest mesa. Finally we only got one family left—the Johnsons.

"They got so many they'd be anxious to get rid of a kid," says the great detective. "I'm goin' to cross-examine Mis' Johnson severe. Ten to one some o' these women sawed off this baby on us and won't admit it."

Kids is crawlin' all around the kitchen chasin' cats, and kicken up enough hailelooyah to raise Christopher Columbus. Mis' Johnson, who don't savvy English much, greets us from a wash tub.

"How's the family?" Stevie asks her genial.

Mis' Johnson she only grius broad.

"Are you sure they're all right?" asks Stevie, droppin' his voice mysterious. "All right, eh? All here?" he questions, wavin' his arms at the children on the floor.

"Sure—they here all right," says Mis Johnson lookin' kinda startled.

"But are you sure?" asks Stevie gettin' real stern, and wavin' his arms threatenin'. "Have you counted 'em recent?" he questions harsh. "Mebbe you been kind o' anxious to get rid o' one, eh?"

Mis' Johnson quits washin' and kinda moves back, starin' wild at Stevie. It's plain Stevie's scarin' her. I tries to reassure her by pointin' at Stevie and tappin' my head.

"Das Kints!" yells Stevie, in what he thinks is Swedish. He waves his arms dramatic at the kids again. "I say, mebbe you bane anxious to get rid o' some, eh?" he bawls in a voice that can be heard a mile or two.

Mis' Johnson she backs toward the wall, with her eyes gettin' wider and wider. All 'a' sudden she turns to the wall and grabs for the rifle what's hangin' there.

"Hellup!" she screeches. "Hellup! Hellup!"

Mebbe she needs help, but when she takes a-holt of that Winchester and when I think that her husband is the kind of a shiftless guy that would leave a shell in the barrel, I figger we're the ones that need help.

Bang! A bullet spats into the door before I open it, but once outdoors, I passes that same bullet like it was hawgtied. Stevie is close by me swallerin' distance industrious. We simply dives into the flivver and dashes down the road.

"E-limination!" I says, sarcastic. "You sure said it. Lissen tto me, his! I got enough detectin' for one day. Me for home! I don't care to be e-liminated at my tender age."

"Bah!" says Stevie. "You make me sick—gettin' discouraged at a li'l' shootin'. Well, we're all checked up. We know that babe didn't come from Quiveras County."

When the great detective and me gets home, old George and Pablo and One-Ton is laughin' theirselves to death over the cute way the maverick is bangin' my gold watch against the stove.

"Somethin sure is suspicious about this business," says One-Ton. "We had visitors all afternoon. All they do is stop and ask how's tricks. Bill Benz and that Andy Causey was snoopin' around here again, too."

"It's time to slip the nosebag on the colt," says old George. "I'll give him oatmeal for supper."

"Oatmeal!" I says scornful. "He ain't no mule. I bought some Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food for him."

"Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food! He ain't no chicken!" snorts Pablo.

"Show some sense," says One-Ton. "I ain't goin' to have this kid malnutritioned. We'll get up a cow and see that they's fresh milk on tap here at the bar any time he wants to put his foot on the rail. That's what I was raised on and look at me now!"

"We don't want him to be no elephant like you!" I says. "Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food!"

"And give him pieorrhea or the heaves or something," says old George. "You bachelor baby raisers give me a pain. I say oatmeal with mebbe a li'l' milk!"

"I say Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food!" I insists.

"Aw, shut up!" roars Stevie. "While I'm thinkin my head off to find the parents, you quarrel over what chow to feed the baby. A lotta help a criminal-ologist gets around this place! Now keep still while I look for clues again."

So we "hists" while Stevie examines the blankets and basket and finally the paper that come with the kid. Then he busts the atmosphere like a fire whistle.

"Ha!" he yells, wavin' the note. "The mystrey is as good as solved. A criminal always leaves something to trace him by."

We looks over the paper that's got the "YOU TAKE KEER THIS BABY. YOU KNOW WHY" message, but don't see nothin' special.

"Hist!" I says. "What clue?"

"Andy Causey's brand is Bar Y," says Stevie solemn.

"What if it is, hist?" I says. "And I come by the brand honest. He had it thirty years."

"I knew you guys wouldn't see it," says Stevie. "For my trained brain the case is solved. We got to go to Sunset."

"Not me, hist," I says. "Here's where I get in some sleep. A detective has to sleep like anyone else, hist. I come close enough for one day to bein' e-liminated. I turns in my badge for the night, hist!"

"Go on, snooze, you lizard," says Stevie real peevish. "You ain't no use anyway with that unscientific bean of yours."

So he removes hisself in the flivver while me and One-Ton and old George and Pablo teach the kid how to play poker after a supper consistin' of a pla oatmeal and milk, One-Ton and old George overrulin' me and Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food.

"In this world of crooked card sharps, a kid can't be started in too early," says old George. He starts singin' to the kid:

"Fully beats flushy,
Flushy beats straighty,
Daddy'll learn the baby,
To slip hisself a li'l' acey."

In a coupla hours that kid is got a stack of chips higher than hisself. That maverick holds the luckiest hands of any hombre that ever come to the ranch. The kid gets so tickled that he swings his arms and knocks all his chips to the floor.

"A hell of a raisin'!" I bellers. "It's time for him to go to bed. That dang oatmeal and milk keeps him awake."

"He's got to have a bath first," says old George. "No gent ever retires without a bath."

So old George and Pablo and One-Ton gives him a bath and keeps him up another hour, and then they puts him in his basket and hangs it up off the floor like it's a flower pot so no rats 'll get at him, and he says "goo-goo" and commences poundin' his ear prompt like a reg'lar puncher what knows sleep's scarce.

That kid he don't peep once durin' the night. Stevie crawls in at some time and pretty soon it's time to roll out. We all chase out to see the kid first thing.

Doggoned if the kid and basket ain't plumb gone! We scouts around the place andh unts high and low for the li'l' feller, but nothin' doin'. It's plain somebody's stole him. Everybody's dang indignant. And we don't give a dang if we do lose our reppitations—we'd like to have that kid around permanent.

"As soon's I git one mystrey solved, another pops up outa the brush," says Stevie. "But I know who brung him here, but it ain't the same party who took him away."

"Hist, don't talk to us no more about solutions, hist," I says mad. "We got to find this kid."

"Y' listen to me. We're goin' to have visiters askin' about this kid," says Stevie. "Now, mum's the word. We'll simply pretend we never heard of him. Play innercent."

Stevie guesses right about visiters. Sheriff Andy Causey and Bill Benz busts up to the house in Andy's car.

"I've come for that baby," says Andy real mad.

"What baby?" Stevie inquires surprised

"The baby what was left here yesterday mornin'," says Andy. "Don't try to steer me off. Fork over that baby."

Stevie looks questionin' at us. "How about it?" he asks. "Did any of you boys see a stray baby around here yesterday?"

Everybody shakes their head.

"I didn't think there could be a stray kid around," Stevie remarks satisfied, "and me not know it."

"Cut out this monkeyshine business!" yells Andy real peevish. "I know that kid was left here and he's here now and I want him. This is a court order and I don't want no foolin'."

"A joke is a joke," says Stevie, "but this is carryin' it too far. A baby left on our porch is a hell of a joke."

"It ain't no joke, dammit!" bawls Andy mad. Andy seems to be stirred up. Him and Bill searches the house and sheds and keep on yellin' to us to produce the kid. Finally they quits satisfied he ain't around.

"You dang hoodlums can't put nothin' over on me!" Andy bellers. "You insignificant, loco-brained feeblewits, you think you'll get me in a lot o' trouble, don't you? This is serious. I got a court order to perduce that baby to-day and I'll get hell for not doin' it. 'Billygoat' Thompson wants that baby to-day, and you'll all go in and explain to him what you done with that kid."

We goes with Andy to where Judge "Billygoat" Thompson holds court in Sunset. Billygoat's got a awful temper some time. To-day he sure is hardboiled.

"Well?" he growls at Andy. "Where's that baby?"

"Judge," says Andy, "these boys had that baby on their Canyon Lobo ranch. Now they claim they ain't got it. Ask them where it is."

"I will," says Billygoat. "Stevie Hooker, tell us what you know about this yere case."

Stevie he steps up important.

"Right after the baby was left at our door," he says, "I set about findin' where he come from scientific. I done it. I found a clue, which showed at once who left that baby there."

"What clue?" demands Andy.

"It was in the paper that was left," says Stevie. "Plain as day."

"How?" demands Andy.

"Look at this," says Stevie exhibitin' the note which came with the baby. "See anything peculiar? Of course nobody else would, but I did. See the four y's all got a li'l' dash before 'em at the top. I saw that and then I thought of Andy's brand bein' a bar anda 'Y.' That made me think—a guy who had that brand thirty years is likely to make this y's with a bar in front like his brand sorta unconscious. That's how I reasoned it out, and after a li'l' investigatin' here in Sunset I found out this baby was a court baby, and Andy and Bill left him in front of our door as a joke. So last night I saw Judge Thompson here and had him to call in that baby as a sort o' way o' turnin' the tables on Andy and Bill for tryin' to put something over on a natural-born detective like me."

"Yes, natural-born detective," snorts Andy. "If I ever have a murder case, I'll sure call you in to solve the mystrey. Wonderful deducin', that 'Bar Y' stuff!" says Andy sarcastic, "except for the fact that Bill Benz printed that note."

"This ain't no argument between Sherlock Holmeses," says Billygoat. "I want to know where that baby is now."

"I don't know," says Stevie. "He was stole last night sometime."

"How come you left that baby at Canyon Lobo?" inquired Billygoat of Andy severe. "That baby was a orphan under the jurisdiction of this court. I directed you to hunt a home for him; I didn't authorize you to use him as no May basket. Is this the way you treat a charge of this yere court?" Billygoat asks of Andy and Bill, his whiskers quiverin' indignant. "When it gets out you lost this baby just for the sake of playin' a joke, I'd hate to be in your shoes. Wait till your wives and the other women in this county hear of this cruelty to a pore li'l' baby."

Andy Causey and Bill Benz they both sort o' shrivel up. Every woman in the county would pull their hair for such a trick.

"Judge," says Andy. "I'm dang sorry. I'd rather have anything happen than any harm come to that kid. If he was stole last night, me and Bill here'd turn this county upside down huntin' for him. I'll offer a reward of five hundred bucks."

"And I'll put another five hundred on top of it," says Bill.

Andy, Bill, Stevie, old George, Pablo, and One-Ton and a lot o' people scatter for cars and horses and they rides out o' town to comb the county, huntin' for the missin' kid.

As for me, Johnny Hooker, I buys me a ten-pound package of Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food at a store and I rides out to Mis' Byron's.

"How's the youngster?" I inquires.

"Just fine," she says. "About a dozen people been past here huntin' for him, but when he crawls around the floor here among the girls, nobody guessed who he was."

"They've offered a thousand buck reward," I says. "We'll keep him here secret until they double it. Then we'll put that money in a bank until he gets big enough to buy a string o' cows. If I hadn't brung him over here last night that old George and One-Ton'd killed him with their oatmeal horse food. Babies," I orates firm, "needs above all things, bone food. I don't want that kid to have no weak bones when he gets growed up."

"Yes, Johnny, you're right," says Mis' Byron. "I never fed none of my girls on that Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food, but it takes a bachelor like you to know what to feed a baby."

So I says "s'long" to the maverick, and as I goes out the door, I see Mis' Byron throw my box o' Bunkem Bonebuildin' Baby Food into the fire.

Protection as an Investment

In 1903, when Hugh Clifton took out a North American Life Endowment Policy for $10,000 he did so with the clear-sighted knowledge that here was the ideal way to save money and provide for an independent old age for his wife and himself.

In September, 1923, this policy matured.

Reviewing the entire transaction, Hugh Clifton finds:

(1) That the cheque which he received from us at the maturity of his Endowment Policy was for $3,250 more than he had deposited during the twenty years.

(2) That not only did the $10,000 protection which he provided for his wife during those years cost him nothing, but that he actually made money while providing it.

Could any contract have been more liberal and satisfying than this?

You should acquaint yourself with the many unique advantages of insuring under the North American Life Endowment Plan. The attached coupon will bring full information.

Why People Smile

They have found the way to whiter teeth

You see more open smiles now, because people have prettier teeth. This test shows how they get them—by combating film.

Learn what this method means to you and yours. Make this delightful test.

That cloud is film

That cloud on your teeth comes from film—from that viscous film you feel. Under old ways of teeth cleaning, much of it clings and stays.

Soon it becomes discolored, forming dingy coats. The teeth lose their beauty.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Modern science has found ways to fight film—two effective ways.

One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

These methods have been proved by many careful tests. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful homes all the world over have adopted this method, largely by dental advice. Wherever you go now you see the results.

Ten days will tell

The results of Pepsodent are quickly seen and felt. For instance, Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These combined effects bring a new conception of clean teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

The results will bring a revelation which you never will forget. Cut out coupon now.

Protect the Enamel
Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

MUST BEGIN AT HOME TO BRING PEACE TO WORLD

Correct Difference in Our Midst Before We Can Hope to Heal World's Sores Says Speaker.

THE ROTARY MEETING

An international flavor was imparted to the local celebration of the launching of Rotary, by the presence at the weekly luncheon of the Peterboro Club at the Empress today of Rotarian Rev. Albert E. Legg of the Rotary Club, of Fulton, N.Y., who delivered an earnest address upon the subject of international relationships, and the mission of Rotary in promoting good will throughout the world. At the meeting of the Fulton club on Thursday a representative of the Peterboro club will be the speaker.

It was announced at to-day's meeting that the nomination of officers will take place at next Monday's meeting with the election to be held on March 17th.

Tuesday, March 4th, will be Ladies night, and the arrangements are in charge of Rotarian Fred Hungerford, who is planning for a unique and attractive programme.

On Wednsday, the Bowmanville Club will receive its charter, and a delegation of Peterboro Rotarians will be present. The trip is in charge of Rotarian R. H. Turner.

In an inspiring address, Rotarian Legg first dealt with the activities of his club, which was about the same size as that of Peterboro. They were especially interested in crippled children's work, and in efforts on behalf of the underprivileged boys, and the speaker briefly described what had been accomplished.

He then passed on to deal with the need of a development of a spirit of good will and mutual understanding throughout the world, a work in which Rotary with its 2600 clubs in 26 different nations, could play a great part. He emphasized the necessity of beginning at home. It was idle to talk of bringing peace to the whole world if at home peace could not be established between capital and labor, or if the religious differences that divided people could not be overcome. "A speaker has said," declared Rotarian Legg, "that the millenium will be here when the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of Columbus play a baseball game with a negro as umpire, in aid of the Jews employed by Henry Ford."

That statement, although amusing, was nevertheless representative of the conditions that must be overcome before the desired results could be hoped for.

The speaker discussed United States participation in world affairs in a frank and most interesting manner, particularly as regards the part played by the late ex-President Wilson. He quoted from a speech by George Washington, a speech not often quoted by American speakers, in which the necessity of carrying out engagements was emphasized, and Rotarian Legg declared that in his opinion the United States had been committed to certain engagements in the restoration of peace conditions, and that these obligations should be observed.

As to President Wilson, the speaker, although he honoured him for his sincerity of motive, regretted that he had not the gift of working in harness with other men, and it was this failure that was partially responsible for the failure of the United States to do its part in the League of Nations.

President V. J. McElderry voiced the appreciation of the local Rotarians of Rotarian Legg's splendid address, and a hearty vote of thanks was heartily passed.

ASSIZES HERE TUESDAY NEXT

Four Civil Actions to Be Heard by Mr. Justice Mowat.

Six civil cases were set down for hearing at the spring assizes which open on Tuesday before Mr. Justice Mowat, but two of these have been settled. Three of the cases, one of which has been settled, are claims for alimony.

In the case of the De Laval vs. D. N. McRae, in which the De Laval Company claims $2,114.39 and costs, McRae, who was appointed sales agent for the company in Alexandria and district, declares the bulk of the claims is offset by commissions and discounts owing him and by returnable goods in his possession. The De Laval Company denies the commissions are due, and declares the goods are not returnable.

In Pallister versus Pallister, in which Jessie Pallister, of Millbrook, claims alimony from her husband, Harry Pallister, the defence was struck out. The statement of claim alleges the contestants were married on June 11, 1919, and went to live in Woodbridge, where her husband showed bad temper and disposition towards her, and wrought himself into spells of rage until he appeared insane, and Mrs. Pallister was obliged to leave him. The defendant denies the allegations of rage, but admits on one occasion tearing the plaintiff's coat when his anger was induced by the wilfully irritating manner and words of the plaintiff.

Another alimony case is that of Adey Rose and Donald Rose, of Peterboro, who were married on September 29, 1920, and lived together until September 13, 1922. The plaintiff accuses the defendant of using abusive language towards her and attempting to strangle her, and applies for alimony and interim alimony. The defendant denies the charges.

In the case of John Condon and Michael Leahy of Douro, the plaintiff claims $2,750 with interest at 7 per cent. per annum, being the balance due on the purchase of lands and premises in Douro. The defendant declares he has paid all due amounts.

The settled actions were James Falls versus the Sawyer-Massey Co., Ltd., and Luelle Patterson and Cecil G. Patterson, of Dummer.

The legal representatives of the litigants are: For De Laval Co., Peck, Kerr and McElderry; for D. N. McRae, MacCracken, Henderson, Herridge and Fleming; for Jessie Pallister, Gordon and O'Brien; for Harry Pallister, Lucas and Evans, of Toronto; for Adey Rose, Gordon and O'Brien; for Donald Rose, A. E. Dixon; for John Condon, Johnston, Grant, Dods and Grant, of Toronto; and for Donald Rose, Peck, Kerr and McElderry.

MORE LOGICAL TO KEEP OWN PEOPLE THAN IMMIGRANTS

Declared Tom Moore President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

MONTREAL, February 18 (Canadian Press)—Speaking on "National Problems" at the People's Forum here last night, Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, declared that it was "more logical, just and proper to keep our own people in Canada than to secure immigrants from Europe."

He thought that millions spent in advertising and propaganda for immigration could have been better used at home for the need of the people in difficult circumstances and with a view to holding them here instead of trekking to the United States.

Mr. Moore pleaded for a "back to the land" colonisation scheme undertaken among the dwellers in Canadian cities.

He considered that Canada was suffering from lack of co-ordination. Individual laws of each Province, he thought ,more and more estrange them from one another, thus forming nine separate countries, so to speak, within one.

DOCKERS' STRIKE SERIOUS PROBLEM

The Country is Now Threateded With a Serious Blockade.

LONDON, February 18 (Canadian Press). — According to the union officials the strike of 120,000 dock workers will reach its full effectiveness to-day, and thus the country is threatened with a blockade from within, as complete as that which the German U-boats vainly tried to achieve during the war.

Up to noon there was nothing to confirm the reports that Premier MacDonald or the Council of the Trades Union Congress is likely to intervene, but the public is turning to them and hoping that some means of settlement will be suggested at to-day's meeting of the Cabinet Council.

The morning newspapers assure ther readers that the Government, foreseeing the present outcome of the quarrel between the dockers and the employers made careful plans to ensure the supply of foodstuffs, and say everything is in readiness to put the plans into execution.

The immediate effect of the strike, so far as London is concerned, is the lack of mails from Canada and the United States.

The mails are likely to be tied up at the docks for the duration of the strike.

SOME BELIEVE ANOTHER YEAR SUITABLE TIME

Referendum is Bothering the Wets on Both Sides of the Ontario House.

MANY SUGGESTIONS

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—"It has not even been considered," said Premier Ferguson this morning when asked concerning a rumor that there would be a referendum on the liquor question next June. Question stands where it did in debate on address. Premier at that time stated that Government would take responsibility for deciding when there was sufficient demand for vote. Large following of Government members agree with Premier that machinery for taking vote should be made and date left with Government as he suggested in his speech on reply.

Most outspoken, however, for an early referendum are also followers of Government. Suggestion that vote come at municipal election time also comes from Government supporters.

From Liberal and Farmer groups there has been few if any opinions expressed as to time for vote. There is probably not a member in House who is opposed to another vote but there is wide difference of opinion as to proper time. Among the three parties there are those who believe that O.T.A. should be allowed to be law for another year or more before the people condemn or indorse it by another vote.

GOVERNMENT MAY WIND UP DEBATE

A Night Session Will Likely Be Held to Finish It Up Thoroughly.

TORONTO, February 18 (Canadian Press). — Although the Government would like to wind up the debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne and its two amendments this afternoon, it is doubtful if it will succeed.

A night session may be held to finish it.

If the Budget is brought down tomorrow, the Liberals will ask that the debate on it be adjourned for a couple of days so that their financial critics may have time to give some study to the proposals and financial review.

Usually the Budget is brought down on Thursdays, and the debate on it is adjourned until Monday, giving the mothers a week in which to study it.

If an agreement for an adjournment of the Budget is reached by the Liberals with the Government, they would probably endeavour to help the Government have a debate on the reply wind up to-night. The Farmers must be reckoned with after that.

JUNIOR VALENTINE PARTY AT Y.W.C.A.

On Saturday morning, a junior Valentine party was held at the Y.W.C.A. for the Juniors, the Intermediates, the Junior Boys and the Babies' Classes, attended by nearly 200 of the small members, in costume. The Grand March commenced a very jolly occasion, when games and contests, including the matching of Valentine hearts, were the order of the day. Judges for the costumes were Mrs. T. Cruikshank, Mrs. H. Beal, Mrs. J. Mackintosh, and Mrs. D. Drummond. Prizes were awarded to Phyllis Cruthers, as Little Boy Blue; Jim Wood, as an Irish Gentleman; Moira Coutts, as a Human Spinning Top, and Margaret Borbridge, as a Valentine Girl.

A feature of the morning's programme was the presentation of prizes won in connection with the recent gymnasium campaign for new members. Pretty little Y.W.C.A. pins were the awards, to Margaret Rogers, of the Intermediate Class, who brought in five new members, and Muriel Preston, of the Junior Class, who brought in three. Mary Dunlop and Dorothy Fine, of the Intermediate Class, received honorable mention and a small prize, in recognition of their good work in bringing in four members each.

A flashlight picture of the pretty group was taken during the morning. Refreshments of cocoa, sandwiches, cake and candy were served to the classes in the club-rooms of the Association.

On Friday evening the Senior School Girls and the C. O. S. Club had a special Valentine supper party.

POLICEMEN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Seven City Policemen Under Arrest in Clean-up.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., February 18 (Canadian Press) — Seven city police constables are under arrest and held in cells at the Police Station, and two others are under suspension, all implicated by confessions made by four of them, of dozens of thefts from numerous Moose Jaw stores, extending over a period of about a year.

Truck loads of loot have been recovered from the homes of the men.

The robberies have been conducted systematically since early in April, 1923.

The clean-up came about as a result of the investigations made by the Chief of Police.

Those arrested are:

A. E. Knight, O. Walters, J. W. Reynolds, D. Logan, W. D. Gronloff, S. Wilson, and J. H. Fleenor.

The series of robberies was conducted by a well-organised system.

Members of the force concerned used skeleton keys to effect an entrance to the business establishments where they looted at will.

Signals with flash lamps were used by the officers in the downtown sections to give warning of the approach of the patrolling sergeants.

ROTHERMORE AFTER MORE PAPER SUPPLY

LONDON, Feb. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Lord Rothermere, a prominent English newspaper proprietor, brother of the late Lord Northcliffe, will, during his proposed visit to Canada and the United States, make investigation into the pulp and paper industries with a view to assuring further supplies for his British interests, whose consumption of newsprint is enormous.

Rothermere expects to sail about the end of February. He will spend some time in New York and will probably go from this city to Montreal. It is possible that his Canadian trip will be extended to Toronto and Winnipeg.

It is announced that Lord Rothermere's plans at present do not include a visit to the big Northcliffe pulp and paper plant at Grand Falls, Newfoundland.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES.

One of the big events of the week at the Y. W. C. A. is the annual sleigh drive which will be held on Friday evening. This drive is for all senior members of the Association and all girls of the city who would like to join in the evening's fun. Everyone wishing to go is asked to leave their name at the Y.W.C.A. by Thursday, otherwise accommodation cannot be promised. Refreshments will be served at the Association after the drive.

Another big event is scheduled for Thursday evening, when the ladies' gymnasium class are having a masquerade party and each inviting a guest. This promises to be a real jolly affair, and just as much enjoyed as the kiddies' parties always are.

A third home nursing class is being organized at the Y.W.C.A. The first meeting will be on Tuesday night, Feb. 26. These classes are proving very beneficial, and both the other classes were quickly filled up. The names of those who wish to register should be handed in this week.

Monday—4.15, Intermediate gymnasium class. 6.30, De Laval basketball. 8, Beginners' gymnasium class.

Tuesday—10, Ladies' special gymnasium class. 4, Elocution class. 5.30, Collegiate basketball. 7, Singing Club. 7.30, Bible study class. 7.30, Quaker basketball. 8, Senior gymnasium.

The total of the tentative estimates drawn on Saturday is $31,948, but the final amounts have not yet been decided on, His Honor Judge Huycke suggesting that the members of the commission consider the requirements and draft the final figures on Saturday next. He expressed his appreciation of the spirit shown by Mayor Turner in going into the business of the police department so thoroughly.

Estimates

The estimates submitted by Chief Newhall for the consideration of the Police Commission show a decrease in nearly every item. Salaries, telephone, and telegraph, up-keep of police quarters, and convention expenses are all reduced, while clothing and equipment, printing and stationery, postage, incidentals, insurance and upkeep of motor car remain stationary. In considering the chief's recommendations on Saturday the Commission increased the sum, but will reconsider the items at its next meeting.

Further reports from the chief covering 1923 show that there were 283 cases disposed of in police court, the largest number being cases of breach of the Ontario Temperance Act, 85; theft 26; vagrancy 22; breach of the Motor Vehicles Act 17 and of traffic bylaws 16; and cycling on sidewalks 14.

Of the offenders 237 were Canadian, 18 English; 4 Greeks; 7 Irish; 5 Russian; 3 Scottish; and 9 were citizens of United States.

Most Offenders Presbyterians

According to religious affiliations Presbyterians were the greatest offenders having, 71, with Roman Catholics, a close second with 69. There were 66 Methodists, 44 Anglicans, 13 Baptists, 9 Hebrews, 4 Orthodox and 7 owning allegiance to the Salvation Army.

The greatest number of the offenders were between 21 and 30 years of age, with 73 there were 63 between 31 and 40; 46 between 41 and 50 years and the same number between 16 and 20 years. Two offenders were over 70 and 32 were under 16. The last named were heard in juvenile court on ten varieties of charges.

More Single Than Married

Classified as married and single, there were 117 married men and 12 married women charged while 146 single men and 8 single women were offenders. The majority of the offenders were residents of the city, the proportion being 231 to 52. All could read and write.

During the year the property reported lost totalled $3866.58, of which $3536.58 was recevered, leaving $330. worth still missing.

Stolen property totalled $7242.98, and $5225.11 was recovered by the police, leaving $2017.87 unrecovered.

During the year there were 340 doors and windows found open and made secure, 513 dog licenses were issued, compared with 448 in the previous year and the money collected in this way showed an increase of $612.

The police department, Chief Newhall's report indicates, answered 7939 telephone calls, investigated 114 accidents, attended 32 fires, visited regularly 49 unoccupied houses, gave shelter to 19 persons at the police station, made several arrests for outside places and collected $5301.65 in fines, this being $846.92 less than the previous year.

BAVARIAN HEAD RETURNS POWER.

Dictator Von Kahr Resigned With General Lossow — Dissolution Favored.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—(British United Press.)—Dictator Von Kahr and General Lossow, heads of the Bavarian Government, resigned to-day.

The dictatorship powers held by the former were returned to the Bavarian State Cabinet.

Von Kahr and General Lossow were known as "Putschists." They had become extremely unpopular because of a story that the former broke his word of honor in connection with the recently frustrated "beer cellar putsch," a thing unbearable from an officer of the government.

Munich messages report that a plebiscite regarding dissolution of the Landtag or Bavarian Parliament has shown a majority in favor of dissolution.

Contrary to expectations, Colonel Seisser, head of the state police in Bavaria, who was supposed to be in the conspiracy with Von Kahr and General Von Lossow, did not resign.

BUILDING FOUND 6,000 YEARS OLD.

Expedition Near Ur of Chaldees Excavates a Temple Built 3,000 Years Before Tutankhamen Reigned.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 18. —(Canadian Press.) — The oldest building in the world still standing above ground has been found by a joint expedition of the British Museum, London and the University Museum, Philadelphia, at Tel El Obeid, four miles from Ur of Chaldes, of Biblical fame.

This was announced last night by Dr. George B. Gordon, director of the University Museum, in making public a report from Dr. C. Leonard Woolley, head of the joint expedition on the banks of the Euphrates.

The excavation of this building, a temple, has brought to light marvellous carving of animals and men and moved the ancient history of Babylonian back another 1,000 years. The building is more than 6,000 years old and its history is placed at a period as far removed from King Tutankhamen in the past as the present generation is removed from him in known history.

FRENCH FRANC AT A NEW LOW.

Collapse This Morning Brings It to 23.07 to the Dollar.

LONDON, Feb. 18. — (British United Press).—The French franc fell to more than one hundred to the pound Sterling this afternoon. Shortly before one p.m. the quotation on the London Exchange was 100.25.

From Paris a despatch says:—The French franc collapsed to a record low to-day of 23.30 to the dollar before noon.

When the Bours opened, amid scenes of tremendous excitement and activity in foreign exchanges and securities, the franc was within ten centimes of its previous low mark of 23.50.

Within a few minutes a further decline was in evidence and at 11.30 while traders struggled frantically in the corridors and on the steps of the Bourse the franc passed its record low and went to 23.07. The pound was at 93.50.

WILL CHALLENGE FOUR MINISTERS

Opposition Expected to Press For Opinion of Parliament.

TORONTO, Feb. 18. — In a special despatch from Ottawa, the Mail and Empire to-day says:

"Every day appears to make the Governments' position more untenable, and adds to the prospects of a general election this year, and even this spring.

"Conditions have reached such a pass in the Cabinet that many believe the government will not survive the session, and that dissolution may come as early as May.

"It is understod the opposition will challenge the propriety of four ministers retaining their cabinet positions and will press their challenges to the extent of taking the opinion of parliament. One of these ministers is Hon. John Sinclair, Minister without Portfolio, who represents Queen's, P.E.I.

"The second Minister, whose retirement will be demanded, is Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor General, a member of two firms which are large debtors to the defunct Home Bank."

The Mail and Empire does not give the names of the other two.

W. G. WALLICK SHOOTS JUDGE, THEN HIMSELF

LINCOLN, Neb., February 18 (Canadian Press). — District Judge William Morning was shot and killed in his Courtroom this morning by Wallace G Wallick, who afterwards turned the gun on himself, and died almost immediately.

Wallick shot the Judge through the heart.

The motive for the crime is unknown.

Drury and Ex-Ministers Have "Broadened Out" Farming No Longer Chief Interest of Cabinet

Manning Doherty and Peter Smith Have Both Left the Farm — Drury Now Interested in Real Estate and Biggs in Overalls — Rollo Has Become an Adolescent Act Inspector—Changes in Occupations of the Late Ontario Cabinet.

By GIL O'MOURNE

R. H. Grant W. E. Raney E. C. Drury Manning Doherty F. C. Biggs

UP in the new Ontario legislature, opened just a week or so ago, sit on the right of the speaker a row of new ministers. And on the other side, inconspicuously, sit all that are left of those who formerly held these seats of the government, the survivors of the late Drury cabinet, the interesting Farmer-Labor cabinet, who during their four years of office attracted so much attention and aroused so much controversy.

Hon. E. C. Drury, the Farmer premier, not only lost power but failed to gain a seat. Missing also are the faces of his former ministers, Mills, Grant, Rollo, Smith and Carmichael, all of them defeated last June in the upheaval which swept the United Farmers of Ontario from political power and brought the Conservatives in on the crest of the wave.

Of the Drury government, these ministers survived and may be seen on a little group on the left of the speaker: Manning Doherty, W. E. Raney, H. C. Nixon, F. C. Biggs and Beniah Bowman.

So that except for the fact that the above five still hold seats in the legislature under the leadership of Manning Doherty, they may be said to have retired from public life. Certainly they have retired from power. What effect had their four years of office on their lives and on their private careers? Did they resume the latter where they left off when they were so dramatically called unexpectedly to office in 1919, or have they changed their course?

The answer to the latter question is: They have and they haven't. Some of them are as they were. Others are following new paths.

When the Drury cabinet was formed in 1919 eight of the members, including the premier, were bona fide farmers. Of the other three, one, Raney, who became attorney-general, was a lawyer; and the other two were labor men—Rollo a broom maker by trade, and Mills an engine driver on the C.P.R. Their occupations have entirely changed. In some they have not changed at all. In others, the ex-ministers, while retaining their former interests, have "broadened out" and acquired others.

The former premier comes in the last class. He has "broadened out" a little. When the news of his defeat came to him last June he said: "I am going back to private life." And he kept his word. He has lived on his fine 200-acre farm at Crown Hill, near Barrie, ever since, except for trips to Toronto subsequent to defeat and casual trips since.

But while Mr. Drury seems to have taken up his farming exactly where he left off, at the same time his energies have found a wider field. For one thing he is now a member of the Toronto board of trade, anomalous as this may seem for a Barrie farmer who has no Toronto residence. And then about two weeks ago the formation was announced of a new company to handle mortgage and real estate investment business, of which Mr. Drury is president and Manning Doherty one of the directors.

No Longer a Farmer Only

MR. DOHERTY is one of the former farmers who has indeed ceased to be one. When he was made minister of agriculture in the Drury government, he came indeed "straight from the farm," from his fine farm near Malton where his forebears had lived for four generations. Not that he was a "hayseed" in any sense of the word—it is a well-known fact that Mr. Doherty, both in the last and the present legislatures, can hold his own against all comers, be they Liberal or Conservative, as the smartest-looking and best dressed man in the House. He was also credited with being extremely well-to-do.

He still keeps his farm, but he has ceased to be a farmer, and has become a city man with an office downtown, away up in a high building, that is worthy of a bank president or the head of a railroad. One of those stately, subdued, mahogany furnished offices, where the visitor takes his hat off as if he were in church, and speaks in whispers for fear of disturbing the god of high finance.

Mr. Doherty is partner in a firm of investment bankers which was formed a few months after the defeat of the late government. He is also president of an insurance company. He is a director of the new mortgage and real estate firm of which Mr. Drury is president. He has other business interests as well. In addition he is a director of the United Farmers Co-operative Company and leader in the legislature of the survivors of the late government.

So that in effect he has ceased to be a farmer, or, rather, he is now in the class of one of those city men like R. J. Fleming or Sir Henry Pellatt, who runs a farm as a sideline or hobby. As a matter of fact, Mr. Doherty, who is now the owner of a home in Toronto, was thinking chiefly of his two boys when he decided to settle down there. The elder is attending the University of Toronto and the other is at school.

Peter Smith, who was provincial treasurer in the Drury government, is another farmer who has become a city man. Formerly he was proprietor of the splendid Clovernar stock farm near Stratford. Now he has sold his farm, become a member and secretary-treasurer of a firm manufacturing glass and mirrors which has factories in Stratford, Toronto and Montreal. He has settled down in Brantford.

His transition from farming to manufacturing has been made gradually. When he first came to Toronto to help govern the province of Ontario he leased his farm. Shortly afterwards he sold his fine herd of Holsteins. He took a house in Stratford and moved his family there. Then some little time ago he sold his farm itself. So that now Peter Smith is one of the business magnates of the city into which he used personally to drive in with his milk and cream as a farmer magnate who was not above doing the farm routine.

Mr. Smith has not only ceased to be a farmer but a legislator. For at the last election South Perth did not re-elect him.

F. C. Biggs, who was minister of public works and highways, is back in the House as a private member. He has not ceased to be a farmer. His estate of 400 acres up at Christie's Corners, near Dundas, is still his prime interest. Its management is a big task even for the man who showed himself capable of handling the roadbuilding of the roads of the province, but Mr. Biggs has enough energy left over to "broaden out" also, like his leader, Mr. Drury, by acquiring business interests as well.

Shortly after the defeat of the government in June last Mr. Biggs bought a substantial holding in a firm manufacturing overalls and shirts. He became a director in the company, which has a factory in Brantford and another in Waterloo, and employs over 200 hands.

W. E. Raney is one of the former Drury ministers who has taken up his career exactly where he left off. After four turbulent years as attorney-general in which he was the storm centre of the government and the driving power behind the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, he has gone back to the comparative quietude of his law practice. Mr. Raney was offered but refused the leadership of his party in the legislature. However, he is still a member sitting in opposition to the Conservative party, and no doubt his surplus energies will find an outlet in many a tilt with the foes of his four years of power before the session grows much older, especially, as seems likely, if there is any attempt to bring about a referendum on the O.T.A.

Four Simon Pure Farmers

OTHER former ministers who have gone back to their pre-political interests, to all intents and purposes as they left them in 1919, are Messrs. Nixon, Grant, Bowman and Carmichael. Two of them, H. C. Nixon and Beniah Bowman, the former provincial secretary and minister of lands, forests and mines, respectively, came straight from their farms, on which they have spent the winter, at the beginning of this session to take the seats which they retained at the last election. Mr. Nixon, who was the youngest member of the Drury cabinet, and now at the age of 33 finds himself an ex-minister, lives on the farm near the village of St. George, some twelve miles from Brantford, which became the homestead of his family at the end of the eighteenth century. Mr. Bowman has a 100-acre farm at Long bay on Manitoulin island.

R. H. Grant, who was minister of education under Premier Drury, and Col. Dougall Carmichael, who was a minister without portfolio and member of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, are back on their farms untrameled even by the possession of a seat in the legislature, for both suffered defeat in the last election. Probably Mr. Grant is not ill pleased at being back in seclusion after his political adventure. His service as a minister was largely a matter of duty with him. He did not seek office and was probably glad when he had no longer to carry its burdens. Once, shortly after coming to Toronto, he told an interviewer: "They must take me as I am, and, if they do not like me, I can go back to the plow." On another occasion he said: "I was born a farmer, am a farmer and am nothing else. My farm has been my principal attraction and comfort, despite the other activities of my life." So Mr. Grant is back at Hazeldean in Carleton county. Those who learned to like the quiet, dignified, sincere man while he was in the Ontario legislature will be sorry to hear that his health since his retirement has been not of the best.

Beniah Bowman Harry Mills Walter Rollo

Dougall Carmichael Peter Smith H. C. Nixon

Col. Carmichael, like his colleague Grant, is probably not sorry to be back home. Just as he left his farm to go overseas and win without fuss a D.S.O. and an M.C., and then return quietly to his farm, so equally without fuss did he undergo his four years as a minister and equally quietly did he return at the end to his farm in Collingwood township, Grey county. Col. Carmichael had the temperament which takes life as it comes, and he has the farming instincts of his Hebridean forebears. If fate ordains that he shall spend the rest of his career with his cows and his crops, he will probably be satisfied. At least he will have the knowledge that he had two glorious "hours" of crowded life. The war and the farmers' government gave him two amazing interludes.

There remain only the two Labor mombers of the late government, Walter Rollo, who was minister of labor, and Harry Mills, who was minister of mines. Both were indeed working men who rose to power, in degree just as remarkable a rise as that of any of the real laboring members of the Ramsay MacDonald government in Great Britain. Mr. Rollo worked at broom making for twenty years, a trade which brought lower wages than some, until the gleam which he followed led him to government. He was defeated at the last election. He has not gone back to his old trade. Instead he was recently appointed by the city council of Hamilton to be an inspector in that city under the Adolescent School Act, a fitting job for a man who gave much of his life and energies to the cause of securing better education for children, and who was one of the prime movers in the giving of technical education to Hamilton.

Mr. Mills has not yet gone back to the work which he left to become an Ontario cabinet minister though he may some of these days, for the leave of absence which the C. P. R. gave him more than four years ago still stands and his old job is still open for him. He entered the service of the C. P. R. more than twenty years ago in the humble capacity of wiper and steadily gained promotion until he became a locomotive engineer, being the chief of division 343, running from Fort William west, when he was elected in 1919. Mr. Mills stepped straight from the cab of his engine into his berth as minister of mines for Ontario. Some of these days he may go back again and find that his hand on the throttle has not lost its cunning or become soft in four years of holding a pen in the ministry of mines.

A fellow engineer of Mr. Mills who had more luck than he at the last election and retained his seat, Peter Heenan, Labor M. P. P. for Kenora, drove his engine during the legislative recess and only stepped down from the cab in time to come to Toronto ten days or so ago for the opening of the legislature. His run, by the way, adjoins that on which Mr. Mills operated. So that there will be a precedent for Mr. Mills if he decides to get back into overalls and drive the big mogul engine of a crack transcontinental train.

REPAIRS THE NEED NOT MORE DAMAGES

When the Runaway Parson Upset the Parishioner

THE Rev. W. L. Cullen, late chaplain of St. John's Cemetery, Norway, Toronto, while serving as locum tenens at St. Matthias' Church, Coldwater, had a thrilling experience, which he relates. Two mission stations were served from Coldwater, Matchedash and Waubaushene, necessitating a twenty-eight-mile drive every Sunday. For transportation facilities he had to depend upon the village liveries for any old conveyance they chose to furnish. Returning one Sunday evening shortly after Christmas from Waubaushene, when half-way home the old horse began plunging, shook the harness off and bolted. Only by holding on to the reins with a death-like grip was he able to reach the village safely. Here he collided with a cutter, throwing the occupant and cutting the back of his head.

On Monday morning Bill Gibson came into the Denison house, where Mr. Cullen resided, with his head all bandaged. The genial proprietor asked who struck him. Oh, some drunken fool knocked him out of his cutter while on his way to the village. "There's your man!" pointing to Mr. Cullen. And apologies availed not. He came in for damages, and damages he was going to get even if he had to jail the preacher. Mr. Cullen told him he had damages sufficient already; what he mostly needed now was repairs. Fortunately, he was able to persuade the aggrieved man to this effect.

A PRINCE OF ENGINEERS

IN England, Canada, and in the United States, as well as elsewhere, no engineer whose genius has been directed towards the perfecting of the modern motor car is more highly respected than Mr. F. H. Royce, whose name, coupled with that of the late Hon. C. S. Rolls, is a hall-mark of excellence in the motoring world.

Starting work at an early age near Peterborough, the famous engineer was for a time faced with poverty, or something akin to it, owing to the untimely death of his father. When he was ten he was selling newspapers in the streets, while at thirteen he was a telegraph messenger.

Two Remarkable Blind People Fifty Per Cent. Cured

ON the right is Miss Helen Keller, with her fingers touching the lips of Miss Willetta Huggins, of Janesville, Wisconsin, who after years of total blindness and deafness has developed powers of "seeing" and "hearing" by smell and touch, almost unbelievable. Careful examination of the girl, who astounded the world by her demonstrations when she was totally blind and deaf, has shown the cure to be real. One of the physicians to make the examination was Dr. T. J. Williams, of Chicago. Miss Keller although not totally cured is said to be at least fifty per cent. cured. When afflicted she "heard" by means of her finger-tips on the speaker's lips and could determine colors and denominations of money by smelling. These faculties, according to a report, are not in the least diminishing while the cure is being affected.

ARTHUR MEIGHAN ORATED TO MILK CAN AUDIENCE

The Future Prime Minister Started In Early to Develop His Forensic Eloquence

ONE of the pioneer women in the home town of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party, and a very old friend of his whole family, was telling, not long since, some of the incidents of "Arthur's" boyhood days, when, as a student home on vacation, he employed his spare time in delivering milk to his father's customers in St. Mary's, Ont.

Arthur Meighen

On a particular summer morning, this lady, seeing the approach of the familiar milk cart, hurried for a receptacle in which to secure her supply of milk, but on reaching the door the sound of talking made her retreat, lest she interrupt a conversation. After waiting what she considered a reasonable length of time, and the talking still continuing, the impatient housewife ventured forth, this time determined to interrupt the conversation and get her milk.

So, on reaching the cart and viewing its lone occupant, she exclaimed: "Why, Arthur, I thought I heard you talking to someone!" To which the youth, with his grave smile, and without a trace of embarrassment, replied: "No, no, Mrs. ——. I was just practising for the debate."

TIMID LITTLE FIGURE IS MARGARET BONDFIELD

Welsh Novelist Recalls Time He Sold Women's Stockings and She Fancy Yarns in the Same Store

"MARGARET BONDFIELD, M.P., and I worked together in a West End store," writes a Welsh novelist, who gives an appealing picture of the first woman ever to become a member of a British cabinet. "I can see her now as she was then: a round little face, narrow bright eyes that closed up tightly in laughter, thin lips set in a smile, thick hair drawn neatly over the forehead; a slight figure clothed in a black frock that cleared the ground, a figure that never dawdled.

She sold fancy yarns; I sold women's stockings. Zealous a trade unionist as she was, she never 'spoke politics' during the hours of business; and it was said of her that she not only could serve a customer, but could send the customer away happy.

"I fancy that she was among the first members of the Shop Assistants' Union, and she preached her gospel with the same vigor and sincerity to a couple of business girls in her lodgings as to an audience in a public hall. I have known her to walk five miles through the slush of a November day to address a gathering of fourteen shop assistants in a room in Harrow road, and I have heard her speaking to a crowd of two thousand people.

"Her manner was always the same; the timid little figure with the slight Somerset accent, commanding men and women to seek a fairer life. She never pleads nor cajoles; she commands. She left the store to take up a position in her union. The salary was two pounds a week, or less, and it was quite likely that the union would not survive six months."

IN LAUDER'S WAKE

BENNO MOISEIWITSCH, the famous pianist, has no tremors regarding himself now, but once he was exceedingly nervous. He confesses that his most trying experience occurred before he was due to appear at a concert at Devonshire Park, Eastbourne, some years ago. Harry Lauder was the turn before him, and, prior to the concert, the anxious pianist was impressed by the size of Lauder's name on the posters—so much bigger than his own.

"I wanted to see this man who was so big and so popular," says Moiseiwitsch. "I was afraid for my playing. I almost wished I was not playing at all.

"My friend and I stood in the wings to watch Harry Lauder's performance. I thought he was wonderful, but all the time I was afraid that, when he had finished, the people would go, and that they would take no notice of my playing at all.

"And suddenly, flourishing his big stick, Harry Lauder turned to us and shouted:

"'Get away, you boys! Do you hear?'

"It was only part of his stage business," concludes the pianist, "but I thought he meant us, and I was so frightened that I turned and ran out as fast as I could!"

Trying to Bite Lawyer The Butcher is Bitten

Nichol Jeffrey, K.C., of Guelph Had Last Laugh

MR. NICHOL JEFFREY, who is well-known as a king's counsel in the city of Guelph, is an ardent admirer of dogs, and he will have nothing around his home but pure breds. He took particular pride in one of his canines, but the animal was a great lover of fresh meat, and as a result of this fondness got his owner into trouble.

The story goes that one day the dog wandered into a local butcher store and carried off a good-sized piece of meat. The loss was soon discovered and the butcher learned from a customer who was in the store at the time that it was Mr. Jeffrey's dog that carried it out. A few days afterward Mr. Jeffrey was in the store making a purchase and the proprietor thought it a good opportunity to have the matter cleared up. He therefore inquired of the lawyer whether he could legally collect from the owner of a dog which stole a piece of meat from his store.

"You are entitled to recover the value of the meat from the owner of the dog if you can prove the theft," was the answer given by Mr. Jeffrey.

"I have ample proof that it was your dog that stole a piece of meat from my store valued at $3 a day or two ago," said the butcher, "and I suppose you will have no objection to paying the account?"

For a few moments Mr. Jeffrey considered the matter very seriously, and then reluctantly paid for the stolen meat. The matter did not end there, however, for on the following day, still smarting over the trick which had been played on him, ordered that a bill be forwarded to the butcher for $10 for legal advice. The latter at once realized that he had been beaten at his own game, and the result was that Mr. Jeffrey was $7 ahead on the deal.

Prince's Dollar Clasped In Hand When He Dies

Sequel to Incident of Prince's Canadian Tour

WHILE the Prince of Wales was addressing a number of returned soldiers from the rear platform of his train at Windsor, Ont., during his first visit to Canada in 1919, a soldier by the name of O'Leary climbed up on the platform and asked him: "Are you democratic?"

Prince of Wales

The Prince smiled and said: "Yes, I think so."

"Then," said O'Leary, "lend me a quarter."

Without expressing any surprise the Prince put his hand in his pocket. "A quarter, I believe, is twenty-five cents, isn't it?" he asked.

"Yes, you're right, Prince."

"Well, the British don't give any quarter, so here is a dollar."

This action was profoundly cheered by all and it might be added that this same O'Leary died a few months later with the Prince's dollar in his hand, his last words being: "God bless my mother and the Prince of Wales."

ST. PETER'S WIN GROUP ON SCORE IN LINDSAY TIED HERE SATURDAY

Will Meet Uxbridge or Markham in Next Round of the Interscholastic League — Each Team Scored Once in the First Period, Then Battled to the End Without a Decision on the Game.

Win Round By 4 to 2.

St. Peter's High School won the right to represent the Central Ontario group, consisting of P.C.I., Lindsay C.I., and S.P.S., in the Interscholastic Hockey League's semi-finals when they played a tie game with Lindsay Collegiate at the Brock Street Rink on Saturday afternoon.

St. Peter's beat Lindsay 3 to 1 in Lindsay a week ago in a thriller and were successful in holding the Scugog boys to a 1 to 1 score here, thus winning the round by 4 goals to 2.

The locals will likely stack up against Markham or Uxbridge on the next rung of the climb to the top of the Interscholastic ladder.

The Lindsay team felt that they had been outlucked and not outplayed at home, and they skated out, confident and determined to overcome that 2-goal lead. But the most the Lindsay lads could do was to break even in the count, and they were fortunate to get off with the score equal.

The game was not as fast as the two in which P.C.I. and S.P.S. clashed, but nevertheless there was some clever hockey in evidence at times. Each player watched his man and both teams back-checked furiously, which did much to help the play in centre ice and slow up things considerably.

The teams played good combination, and sometimes the players' very unselshness robbed them of chances to break away.

The single game registered by each team was the result of clever combination, and one-man efforts were certainly not the order of the day.

Pete Milloy was fed most of the S.P.S. shots, while Weatherup did nearly all the gunning for Lindsay.

Goal Tender's Session.

Neither goalie had much to do till the last period, when things brisked up and both guardians were tested frequently. Tripp in the Lindsay nets handled himself nicely and stopped coolly the many hot shots pelted at him from left boards by Milloy's stick, while LeBarr in the home nets was in usual form. He was always called upon to clear quickly, for the Lindsay forwards swarmed in upon him like hornets after every shot.

Charlie Piercy, the Lindsay captain and hard working left wing, was the best for the visitors. Piercy is persistent checker, and worked his head off. This is the same boy who starred for Lindsay in their gridiron encounters with P.C.I. last fall.

The other two forwards teamed up nicely with Piercy, and made a hard fighting line that was always full of go. The defence did not show much offensively till the last period when they began to make sallies down the boards.

Collins Closely Watched.

Pete Milloy was always in the limelight for S.P.S. because of his shooting. V. Rishea at centre broke nicely and started the combination attacks.

The Lindsay forwards watched Collins closely, and every time he grabbed the puck they had three men upon him. Nevertheless, he often eluded them and was always dangerous.

The Scoring.

The first period opened slow, with play haunting centre ice. L. Rishea was benched for boarding Wileman. V. Rishea broke for a full rink rush, but Tripp saved nicely. The Lindsay forwards carried the attack on combination play. Collins took the puck from his own corner, and circled through the Lindsay forwards but the defence forced him into the corner, and his shot went wide of the nets. Collins came right back with another rush and passed to L. Rishea in front of the nets, who hoisted one into the corner of the nets for the first counter. Milloy went off for tripping Anderson.

Eddie Foley was refereeing like a professional, and was calling everything that even had the tinge of rough stuff.

Lindsay pressed up the ice, and the play for the next few minutes was around the S.P.S. nets. Weatherup rang one into the corner of the hemp behind LeBarr on a play in which the whole Lindsay line combined.

Collins and L. Rishea combined for a nice rush which went fruitless.

L.C.I. 1, S.P.S. 1.

Second Period.

The second period opened up smartly. Both teams were relying on combination, and used it always. Collins slipped up the right boards and lifted a fast shot which Tripp stopped. S.P.S. had most of the play at this stage, and the S.P.S. forwards were checking Lindsay to a standstill.

Cook rushed and shot above the nets and was robbed on the rebound. Piercy got a penalty for tripping Milloy when he was nearly through. LeBarr was called upon to stop some fast shots and clear fast as the Lindsay forwards burst in for the rebound.

Lindsay had the best of the play for the last few minutes of the period.

Third Period.

Things must have happened during the rest, for the third period opened at a smart pace with S.P.S. forcing the play. Milloy was fed the puck, and he pelted Tripp with wicked shots. Lindsay would now and then gather up the puck for a charge down the ice, but the number of their attacks were getting fewer.

Milloy fed some more shots at Tripp. The Lindsay forwards steamed up again, and for the remainder of the game play sizzled back and forth, but neither team got within striking distance.

The Line-ups.

Charles Gorman, of St. John, N. B., Is the New American National Amateur Speed Champion—Broke a World's Record.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The American National Amateur Speed Skating Championship passed into Canadian hands yesterday. Charles Gorman, of St. John, N.B., captured the title, and in so doing scaled hitherto unreached heights in speed skating annals when he flashed to victory in the world's record time of 36 3-5 seconds in the 400-yard dash. The Canadian flyer scored 90 points. Harry Kasky, of Chicago, the defending champion, was fourth in the final point score, with forty.

Paul Foreman of New York, and Francis Allen of Chicago, finished in a tie for second honors with sixty points each. The victory of Allen in the gruelling 3-mile test, coupled with his equally unexpected victory Friday in the three quarter mile event, marked the unheralded Chicagoan as one of the best distance skaters in the country. Foreman made a gallant effort to retain his lead established Friday, but the best he could do to-day was to finish third in the 440-yard ovent.

The St. John star, a veteran who represented Canada in the Olympics this year, and was a point scorer, was at the top of his form to-day. The veteran speedster equalled the world's amateur record in the semi-final heat. Then the committee in charge of the races offered a special prize if the world's record should be broken, and Gorman, keyed up to his highest pitch, got away from the tape at the starting gun at a terrific clip, which he sustained marvellously to the finish line. He won easily. His time was two-fifths of a second lower than the world's professional record at that distance established on the same rink last year by Arthur Staff of Chicago.

CRICKET REVIVAL PLANNED BY CLUBS

Association Formed With Four Prospective Clubs and Possibly Five — Looking Ahead to the Summer.

A very successful meeting was held on Friday evening, February 15, and a Cricket League was formed under the name of the Peterboro Cricket Association. The following officers were appointed.

President, F. M. de la Fosse, subject to his approval and acceptance; vice-president, R. M. Stuart and secretary, A. Nicholls, Jr.

Among those present were a few members of the former Peterboro Cricket Club which broke up when the war came. Mr. J. H. Burnham sent a letter to say the association had his hearty support; also Mr. Walter Stocker sent his verbal support.

Up to the present there are four prospective clubs: the G.W.V.A., Canadian Woollens, C.G.E. and the De Laval, and probably a reorganized odds and ends club. Watch for the next meeting and be on hand. Give the old game a boost.

WON SKI JUMPS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—Ivan Nelsen, of the Quebec Ski Club, took double honors at the Province of Quebec ski championships held here Saturday, when he was awarded first place for style and also won the distance jump with a leap of 128 feet, gaining 18.53 points. Rolf Monsen, representing the Brattleboro, Vermont, Club, took second place with 124 feet, and 18.20 points, and Norman Berger, local champion, was third with 126 feet and 18.14 points. I. Anderson, Brattleboro, was fourth, with 120 feet, and 17.89 point.

WON WORLD TITLE AT SIXTEEN.

Hoppe is a real champion. He looks the part and in action proves it. For years he has met all comers, and with the exception of a short time in 1921, when Jake Schaefer wrested from him the championship honors, he has reigned supreme.

Hoppe is 36 years old. At 16, known then as the "boy wonder," he journeyed to France and won the world's championship from Maurice Vignaux. Since that time he has been the outstanding figure in the billiard world.

Never in the history of his career has Hoppe been put to sterner opposition than at present. For three years, with one exception, he has repulsed the efforts of the three crack European champions, Horemans of Belgium, Conti of France and Hagenlacher of Germany, to win his title. In addition, he has outdistanced his two greatest American competitors, Jake Schaefer and Welker Cochran.

RIVALS PROVE EASY PICKING.

By BILLY EVANS.

If a golf champion repeats, much ado is made of the performance. Seldom do golf stars hold a national championship more than one year.

When Johnny Kilbane held the featherweight title for 10 years it was regarded as an epochal event in pugilistic circles. While Kilbane met most of the contenders for his title, his long regime was made possible by picking the soft spots. A goodly part of the time the title was away in camphor balls.

In striking contrast to the reign of Kilbane was that of his successor, Eugene Criqui, who won from Kilbane by a knockout. Holder of the championship only a few months, he lost it the very first time out to Johnny Dundee.

In baseball if a major league club for three years proves its superiority by winning the pennant in its own league and then taking the world series honors, it is regarded as a super-team.

It strikes me, however, that the most unusual champion in all sport is Willie Hoppe, billiard king.

SHOWS BEST IN THE PINCH.

During the past four months, Hoppe's ability has been put to the acid test. In the international tourney he finished in a tie with Welker Cochran. In that event Cochran surprised the billiard world by defeating both Hoppe and Schaefer, the two favorites. Had it not been for an unexpected defeat by Hagenlacher of Germany he would have had a clean slate to the world title.

In the playoff, Hoppe retained his championship by beating Cochran, 1500 to 1161. This match was played at Chicago. In a challenge round, the rules entitling Cochran to a return match, the two met at Boston, and once again Cochran was decisively defeated.

Schaefer, exercising his right to another meeting, challenged Hoppe and was overwhelmed, 1500 to 1196.

In his last three championship matches, with his two leading contenders, Schaefer and Cochran, Hoppe has beaten them practically 3 to 2.

It takes a real champion to turn a trick like that.

Meet Willie Hoppe.

LONDON SOCCER CLUBS WEAK IN FIRST DIVISION

Arsenal and Chelsea In Danger of Reduction to Second Division—Odds Are Against Chelsea — Review of Saturday's Games.

Leaders Tie Tottenham.

LONDON, February 17. Canadian Press Cable. — One of the features of the present association football league season is the poorness of the London Professional football as a whole in regard to first league clubs, especially Arsenal and Chelsea. Both are in danger zones of relegation to the second division with the odds against Chelsea remaining in the first league.

The aggregate attendance at football matches in England and Wales Saturday was 520,000, frost causing the abandonment of some of the minor matches. Some of Cardiff City's players took part in the Wales versus Scotland international match. The performance of the First League leaders was therefore good in drawing at one goal each with Tottenham.

Andy Wilson turned out for Chelsea but was off form owing to an attack of influenza. One of Everton's two goals against the London's nothing was scored from a penalty, and the Lancashire team had a well deserved victory on the run of play.

West Ham did well to hold Huddersfield to a one all tie. There were thrilling incidents in the first half of this game, and the Londoners put up a great exhibition of defensive play.

Arsenal's Defeats.

Aston Villa were easily superior to the Arsenal when they beat them one to nothing.

Aston Villa was easily superior to the Arsenal when they beat them one to nothing.

The Birmingham team appeared to be only travelling at half speed, but won worthily after a dull game. Arsenal's last success in the First League was won after December 29.

Manchester United gave a poor display against Derby, who beat them three to nothing in a rough game. Whitehouse scored Derby's first point from a penalty. Derby are a good team this season. Both Thomson and Barson were carried off in the first half and Barson was later removed to the hospital suffering from a torn ligament.

Play deteriorated towards the close of the Southampton-Port Vale game which ended in a one all draw. All of the Southampton players received minor injuries and Rawlings was forced to leave the field.

The penalty by means of which Wynne equalized at a one all draw for Stoke against Oldham, was hot hotly contested by a section of the crowd.

Preston was far superior to West Bromwich in the early stages of the game, and it was this that earned for the former their two to one victory.

Platts scored Notts County goal that was the deciding one and won the match against Newcastle United.

First Win on the Road.

Exeter City won its first away game of the season when Flynn scored the only goal against Swindon. Flynn who was brought from back to centre forward position was responsible for Swindon's first defeat in 12 weeks.

Watford's 4 to 1 victory against South End was notable for the fact that Pagnam, the former centre forward of Arsenal, scored his first goal of the season after 16 games. In the first half both teams failed to convert penaltics, and then scored within a minute of each other.

Reading's fine shooting surprised Queen's Park Rangers and accounted for the former's six to one victory.

Crystal Palace were off the target and their bad shooting gave Stockport a one all draw. The Londoners appeared to be suffering from their constant Cup tie replayed games. The Palace meet Notts county for the fourth time in a replayed cup tie game to-morrow.

Millwall were two goals down at half time, three tallies having been scored in the first nine minutes. They made a brilliant recovery however and ended up on the long end of a four to three victory against Northampton. The game was brimful of excitement and Lockett put through for Northampton just as the whistle went, but the goal was disallowed.

Third Baseman of Boston Club Dead

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 17.—Norman D. Boeckel, star third baseman of the Boston National League Baseball Club, died yesterday afternoon from injuries which he received in an automobile accident here Friday.

The accident occurred near the top of the Torrey Pines grade when three automobiles collided. Bob Albright, Los Angeles theatrical man, who was driving the car, and Bob Meusel, of the New York Yankees, a passenger, escaped with slight injuries.

Boeckel was removed to a hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a fractured pelvis and a puncture of the bladder.

Grove School and Rink Rats Win in Lakefield.

SENATORS LOSES TO ST. PATRICK'

Ottawa Had Large Share of Play But Couldn't Score More Than One On Roach — Dye Got Toronto's Two.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Toronto St. Patrick's stayed in the fight for National Hockey League honors by reason of their two-to-one victory over Ottawa here last night. Coming as a distinct surprise, the victory of the Irish was nevertheless well-earned and the two shots that "Babe" Dye counted with would have eluded any goaler in the business.

The teams were battling along with one goal each and only forty-five seconds remained of the last period. The crowd had settled down for an overtime game, when Adams returned the puck from Clancy's rush. He was driven into the corner by Hitchman, but whipped the puck out to the right wing, where Dye tore in to secure it. It was a race between the Irish sharpshooter and Darragh, and the former won. Not having time to handle manded the attacks, but yet failed to score. Once Roach took a shot and rebound from Broadbent and a second rebound from Denneny, when they were within fifteen feet of the cage. The crowd roundly applauded his sterling work on numerous occasions. Defensively St. Pat's were away off color, and Roach kept them in the fight. Corbeau and Stuart both tried hard but got nowhere. It was on the line that the balance hung. Noble was slow to start and for almost the entire first period showed little, but as the game went on he improved and gradually swung in with Adams and Dye to make ever St. Pat attack a dangerous one. The latter two played great hockey throughout. Dye turned in his best game of the year on Ottawa ice, and his two goals were beauties, the winning tally being a smart piece of headwork, as a second's delay would have prevented a score.

the disc, Dye snapped it at the cage. Benedict went down to block it, but it hopped into the net and the red light flickered a win for the visitors.

This was Dyes' second goal, he having previously beaten the Ottawa net guardian with a blazing drive from the red line, just after the second period opened. Cy Denneny secured the only local tally when he banged Hitchman's rebound over Roach's prostrate form, one minute and forty-five seconds after Dye had given St. Pat's the lead. Play was fast throughout, but there was little to enthuse over, except the sensational speed of Frank Clancy and the steady, unbeatable goaltending of Roach. Clancy tore loose especially in the first two periods with several exhibitions of blinding speed, and had really tough luck in not registering on at least two occasions. Roach again pulled St. Pat's through. While he was blocking fifty-four drives at the Toronto cage, Benedict in the Ottawa net only turned aside twenty-four. This is a good idea of how Ottawa com-

OVERTIME WIN FOR CANADIENS

Odie Cleghorn Big Factor In Defeat of Tigers By 2 to 1—Utility Man Starred in Extra Period.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Odie Cleghorn, veteran professional hockey player who has been filling a utility role with the Canadiens for the greater part of the present season, was the main factor in his club's two to one victory over Hamilton Tigers in the extra-period tussle staged by the two teams at The Mount Royal Arena Saturday night. This tricky player paved the way for the winning goal which came thirteen minutes after the overtime session started, and gave Canadien's the victory and left them still tied for second place with St. Patrick's who scored over Ottawa at the Capital.

Sent into the play in the latter stages of the game when the Tiger forward line was beginning to establish a superiorty over the tiring local front rank, Odie turned the tide in favor of Canadien's. Tigers in the first extra ten minutes were giving Vezina a busy session and then suddenly the veteran centre of the local team broke up a rush near Canadiens' blue line. He carried the puck down the ice and by sheer weight and good judgment banged through the Tiger defence. He could not complete the effort, but he had drawn the Tiger guards, leaving the puck loose in the goal mouth. From this position Billy Boucher swooped down on the disc and batted it into the net, ending a hard fought gruelling game, and incidentally forcing Hamilton further away as possible contenders for play-off honors.

That the defeat of Hamilton was a proposition to test the Canadiens was apparent as soon as the game started. The light, but speedy and tricky front rank of Burch and the Green brothers soon made it evident that goals were the objective and the three, helped at intervals by the defence men and substitutes, maintained their purpose to the very last. They adopted a short, quick combination style that was effective as well as thrilling, and it was only the studied defensive play of Sprague Cleghorn and Billy Coutu that held them in check. They were forced to do most of their shooting from well out.

Australia May Invite Canadian Hockey Team.

VANCOUVER, B.C. Feb. 15.—Australia desires to see a Canadian ice hockey team in action. A letter just received here from the New South Wales Ice Hockey Association asks if a Canadian team can visit the Antipodes in 1925 or 1926, and officials of the British Columbia Hockey Association are considering the matter. According to the Australian officials ice hockey has made great strides in their country, and the decision to approach Canada to arange games was made at meeting of New South Wales and Victoria bodies.

There are two rinks, one at Sydney and the other at Melbourne. The winter season expires from the last week in May to the first week in September.

As far as the expenses are concerned, the Australian associations are willing to pay the whole or part subject to arrangements. A strictly amateur squad is required.

About 4,000,000 tons of herrings caught in Japanese waters annualiy about four fifth are used for fertilizer.

BRICKS.

A brick weighs quite a bit and should be manufactured as near as possible to the place where it is used in building. So something is radically wrong with our "system" when three million bricks a month are imported into New York City from foreign countries. That's what has been happening this year.

"Shortage of bricks" is a poor excuse. If we can't even make our own bricks, the outlook for American industry is rather sad when it comes to commodities requiring intricate manufacturing skill.

THEATRES

RAWLINSON BACK AT ROYAL IN "FOOLS AND RICHES."

Royal patrons will remember with pleasure a comedy drama that played in that popular playhouse a few weeks ago, starring Herbert Rawlinson, entitled "The Victor." Those same patrons should be pleased to know that Rawlinson is back in his latest starring vehicle. In this production he has the part of Jimmy Dorgan, a rollicking youth, and it was his heritage to travel gaily down the trail strewn with dollars. On the spendthrift trail he was the leader of his crowd and he set a fast pace.

"Fools and Riches," the Universal attraction which comes to the Royal Theatre to-day, was especially written for Herbert Rawlinson, the debonair Universal star, and that popular romantic hero of the screen is said never to have had a better vehicle for his versatile ability.

As Jimmy Dorgan, the son of John Dorgan, railroad president, Rawlinson has the role of a wastrel who spends money with absolute abandon and gives parties that establish precedents for gaiety. The role is well suited to the personality of the gifted Universal star. He portrays the role of the spendthrift youth with a jaunty grace that is as refreshing as a spring breeze, and simply radiates "a grand party."

It is the type of story that carries an appeal of particular interest to all motion picture fans who like their entertainment flavored with realism. "Fools and Riches" is like a chapter of life, and a happy chapter, at that.

NEW VAUDEVILLE AT THE ROYAL TO-NIGHT.

In keeping with their policy of adding high-class vaudeville to their picture programme, the Royal has secured two more refined novelties for their programme the first half of this week, commencing to-day. Joe Carroll, the Man of the Hour, offers an up-to-the-minute monologue and new song hits, and Foxworth and Frances some fast stepping and southern songs in a novelty entitled "A Wee Bit of Dixie."

SOME CLASS TO THIS CAST.

Bebe Daniels, Ernest Torrence, Noah Beery and Lloyd Hughes are featured in the principal roles of the Zane Grey, Paramount production of "The Heritage of the Desert," which opens on Thursday at the Royal Theatre. The novel was adapted to the screen by Albert Shelby Le Vino, Irvin Willat directing. It is a tale of the days directly following "the winning of the west." It is a story of ranch life, love and lawlessness. James Mason, Richard R. Neill and Leonard Clapham are among the more prominent supporting players.

DUNCAN, ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR SCREEN PLAYERS.

Stars may come and go, but William Duncan remains the favorite of them all. He is always excellent in his portrayals. In "The Steel Trail," his latest thriller, coming to the Royal Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, he has one of the best vehicles of his career. It tells of the laying of the first tracks in the West.

FOOLED MARY PICKFORD

How Player in "The Nth Command ment" Got Engagement.

Eddie Phillips, who with James Morrison and Colleen Moore appears in "The Nth Commandment," a Cosmopolitan picturization for Paramount of Fannie Hurst's story made under the direction of Frank Borzage, which will be shown at the Regent Theatre next Monday had an interesting experience when he was playing with Mary Pickford. Miss Pickford was looking for Italian types for a picture in which Phillips was determined to get a part. He made up as an Italian, carried an Ital in newspaper in his pocket, adopted an Italian accent and applied for a job. The director was deceived, and Phillips was taken to the Coast. When he got there he revealed the fact that he was an American, born and bred in Philadelphia.

Phillips had considerable stage experience before he entered the field of the silent drama. He appeared in "Seven Days Leave," "The Hole in the Wall," and other stage successes. He is interested most in magic next to motion pictures and also appeared in vaudevill, as a magician.

AT THE GRAND

MYSTERY MAKES A NEW GRIFFITH FILM

"One Exciting Night" Contains about all Ingredients, plus a Storm Scene.

For his latest motion picture sensation, "One Exciting Night," which has been announced as the feature attraction for four days at the Grand Theatre, D. W. Griffith, master-maker of photoplays, has taken for his cue the increasing popularity of the last two or three years of the stage melodrama, and has produced a mystery picture par excellence.

In this newest of Griffith films, a United Artists Corporation release, the great director gives five of the six elements that go to make up effective mystery—secreted treasure, personal disappearance, puzzling homicide, hidden identity, and the return of the avenging spirit. And with it all he gives the spectator an altogether marvellous assortment in the way of actual entertainment.

There is as sweet and dainty a love story as ever was filmed; there is mystery galore—mystery till the audience sits breathless—and then comes relief from the suspense in the form of the most delightful and laughter-provoking comedy from Romeo Washington, a wonderful black face character who finds himself torn between love of a dusky maid and fear of the peering eyes and stealthy figures that creep in and out, are seen everywhere.

Of course no Griffith picture would be truly Griffithesque without its climax scene. And "One Exciting Night" has it. This time it is a storm, that type of mid-summer thunderstorm with which everybody everywhere is familiar—a torrential down pour of rain, coupled with hurricane winds, low sweeping clouds split assunder every second by bolts of tree shredding lightning. Trees are uprooted and flung about like matches before an airplane propeller, houses are unroofed, demolished and crumble beneath the tempest. And in the midst of it the Boy and Girl find their love story come true; the villain is captured; the mystery of the half million dollars cleared.

Carol Dempster has the feminine role and seldom does a theatre goer see a sweeter or daintier characterization than she gives. Other players in the cast are all of widely known popularity and ability.

"SO THIS IS LONDON."

George M. Cohan never misses an opportunity in his latest stage offerings to give his audiences a laugh at the expense of his native state, Rhode Island.

In "So This Is London," the internationally famous comedy, which comes to the Grand, Sir Percy Beaucamp refers to a contingent of visitors from that state to London in a satirically humorous way which always causes a laugh when he says "a crowd of gum-chewing individuals who were pleased to call themselves the Chamber of Commerce from the state of Rhode Island visited us last summer and shouting through their noses, 'So This Is London,' then proceeded to laugh boisterously." Probably no other comedy of a decade has been received with the genuine approval of theatre patrons as has "So This Is London." While this delightful comedy was from the pen of Arthur Goodrich, the clever repartee and unexpected situations bear the earmark of that master hand and wizard of stage humor, George M. Cohan. It is a clean, wholesome play of a thousand laughs. An unusual cast of Cohan comedians will present it here, among whom are Allen H. Moore, Ralph Locke, William Dean, Reginald Carrington, Donald Hall, Eugene Shapespere, William Hasson, Blossom O'Bryan, Marjorie Dalton, Eugenie DuBois, Barbara Allen and others.

AT THE CAPITOL

NORMA TALMADGE IN "THE VOICE FROM MINARET"

With Eugene O'Brien Supporting.

Norma Talmadge, the most popular of the women stars on the screen to-day, will be seen at the Capitol Theatre in her latest offering, "The Voice From the Minaret," declared to be a story of unusual dramatic power. Frank Lloyd directed this First National picture, which was adapted by Frances Marion from Robert Hichens' famous novel.

The action of the tale is laid in London, Bombay, Damascus and the desert, and the production has a pictorial background of striking splendor. The story is a colorfully romantic one, swiftly moving, and nothing has been left undone to make this Norma Talmadge's greatest picture.

The star is cast as Lady Ardienne, the wife of the Governor of Bombay, Sir Leslie Carlyle. Cruel by nature, Lord Leslie takes keen delight in torturing his wife in every conceivable manner, insulting and disgracing her in public at every opportunity.

Lady Adrienne bears up patiently under his abuse, but the time came when she found she could stand no more and she determined to leave her husband. So she started on her long journey back to England. En route she became acquainted with a son of Britain who was on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. He induced her to change her plans and to accompany him.

They found love in the desert of the East — but not the peace they craved, for the voice of the muezzins, calling the faithful to prayer from the minarets, constantly reminded them of their duty to others. Regretfully, they turned back, to face a series of highly dramatic adventures that nearly brought an end to their lives.

HAMILTON 5, ST. MARY'S 2.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—As expected, Hamilton defeated St. Mary's at the Arena on Saturday night, but only in the first period did the Senior O.H.A. Group No. 1 leaders have things their own way in the second and third periods, the Saints had just as much of the play, and in fact more, as they outscored the visitors 2 to 1, and only Hamilton's four goal margin of the opening frame gave them the verdict by the score of 5 to 2.

Thomas Flynn Was 92 But Attended Office.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Thomas Flynn carrying on large grain business under the name of L. HAD OPEN SESSIONS OF ST. JAMES CHURCH

At St. James' Methodist Church yesterday, an open session of the Sunday School, celebrating Quarterly Missionary Sunday, was held. The chief feature was a missionary impersonation, "The Woman Who Never Knew," the following taking part: Miss Jean Hamilton, Miss Vera Fell, Miss Mary Wood, Miss Hazel Plunkett, Miss Mary Clarry, Nina Andrews, May Ritchie, Rita Head and Hazel Gross. The music of the session was of a missionary character, led by the Sunday School orchestra, with Mr. Rusaw in charge. There were present 365 children, the collection amounting to $26.74. In the primary department, with Miss Mary Collins as superintendent, the regular session of graded lessons were held, with an attendance of 40 girls and 48 boys, 11 teachers, and a collection of $4.35. The cradle roll class, with Miss Sergeant in charge, has an average attendance of from 6 to 16, all under four years of age.

G. N. GORDON SPEAKS TO Y.M.C.A. SENIOR CLASS

G N Gordon, K.C., M.P., was the speaker at the Friday evening supper of the senior members of the Y.M.C.A. who meet each Friday for luncheon.

Mr Gordon's little talk was both interesting and instructive. He showed how in the main our Canadian laws have been adopted from the old Anglo-Saxon laws of England, and declared how much we owe our old knightly ancestors, who held out for their rights against any tyranny. He told the young men that it was this responsibility to use their franchise and to use it wisely, not letting the masses move their opinions but standing out for what they, after careful consideration, knew to be the best for the country.

If every voter did this, Canada would have right laws, right Government, and go ahead with leaps and bounds.

MOOSE JAW POLICE HAD VARIED TASTE

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Principal sufferer from depredation was Robinson Macbean, Limited, large departmental store.

For three months the firm has noticed a gradual depletion of articles in stock, and despite the fact that the city police were informed of the affair, no clue to the perpetrators of the thefts was for a long time forthcoming.

Goods recovered from the residence of some of the constables under arrest and particularly the house of Constable Reynolds, were of very varied nature, including in addition to large quantities of men's clothing, many articles of women's wearing apparel.

YOUNGER DENIES HE MADE CLAIM ESTATE

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Lord Younger, head of the Conservative party organization, has denied that his party has made any claim on the estate of Lord Farquhar, treasurer of the party fund, who left large sums of money to King George, Queen Mary, and Princess Arthur of Connaught.

A sensation was created heer when the Sunday Express published story that Maxwell Hicks and Company, auditors for the Conservative party, had intervened in the distribution of the estate. In denying that his party brought the action, Lord Younger said that he did no. know who was responsible for thec laim.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. J. D. Richardson is giving a series of Sunday morning sermons on the Fundamentals of the Christian Faith, basing his subject on The Apostles' Creed. A feature of the Sunday morning services at St. James' church is the junior congregation. Between fifty and sixty children from five to twelve years of age attend these servites. Mrs. J. D. Richardson is in charge of the juniors.

The pastor conducts a Teacher Training class on Monday evenings, commencing at 6.45, with an enrollment of 15 members. The subject is "The Teacher."

NEWS FROM CAVAN

Women's Institute

The regular meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute for February is postponed from February the 21st until February the 28th. It will be held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Staples.

Mr. W. M. Cody held a sale of wood lots on the Kelly property on Thursday afternoon. J. Wilson, of Port Hope, was the auctioneer. There were twenty-five lots offered for sale. Eight were sold. The remainder will be again offered for sale in the fall.

The trees suitable for lumber are cut down on these lots, the butts of the logs used for lumber and the tops of the trees and limbs left lying. On each lot quite an amount of good wood can be obtained.

Mrs. Harry Tinney and daughter, Mary, returned on Wednesday after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Blackstock.

Mr. Trew occupies the farm vacated by Mr. T. Harkness, having purchased it some time ago and Mr. Harkness and family have moved to Millbrook.

The marriage took place in January, in Windsor, of Mrs. Bertha Munroe and Mr. Harry Byles, broker, of Windsor. Mrs. Munroe is a sister of Mrs. Stephen Fisher, Peterboro, and Mr. T. A., Miss Alathea Kelly and Mrs. Milligan, of Cavan.

Mrs. Reynolds, nurse, is nursing Mrs. Albert Tinney.

A committee has been appointed to look around and see what kind of lighting system will be the best to instal in Cavan Methodist church. The committee is composed of Jas. Douglas Sandfield Staples, William Tinney and Archie Kennedy. This committee will report to the congregation.

CHAS. ERLE WARREN.

(Contributed).

There died at Lakeview Place, Blairton, Ont., Chas. Erle Warren, beloved and only son of Wm. R. and Annie Warren, on Wednesday, February 13.

His illness resulted from an overdose of chlorine gas and arsenic, developed in August, when he was forced to quit his position at Delora Mines. All that loving hands and medical aid could do was of no avail.

He leaves to mourn his loss his heart-broken father and mother, an only sister, Rose, Mrs. R. S. Anderson, of Timmins, Ont., who hastened to his bedside to do her utmost, also another loving friend, who stood by and did all she could.

The services were held at the home by the Rev. Mr. Herrington, of Cordova Mines, who visited Charlie frequently, after which the I.O.O.F. took charge of the services at the house and grave. Selected soloists rendered "What a Friend we have in Jesus," "Asleep in Jesus" and "Nearer my God to Thee," by the I.O.O.F. He was laid to rest at Maple Grove Cemetery at Havelock.

Floral contributions were a wreath from father and mother, spray from sister, Rose, spray from his fiancee, Miss Hazel McGee, wreath from the I.O.O.F., and a spray from Mrs. McInroy and family, the home where Charlie boarded at Marmora.

Will Not Stand in Way

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—"I will not for one moment stand in way of fullest justice being done to those who have suffered as a result of the collapse of the Home Bank," declared Hon. Edward J. McMurray, solicitor-general, yesterday afternoon when questioned further about his relations with that institution in Winnipeg.

"If Federal Government of which I am a member, feel that my present position in regard to the Home Bank is an embarrasment to them in considering what action they should take as a result of representations made to them by the depositors committee, I will resign my place in this government without a moment's hesitation," Mr. McMurray further declared in an emphatic tone.

OFF TO ENGLAND.

TORONTO, February 18 (Special to The Examiner).—D. L. McCarthy, K.C., is on his way to England to appeal to the Privy Council for the trial of the Home Bank directors before a jury.

Canadian Stock Exchange And Mines — New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(British United Press.)—The new week in the stock market opened with moderate activity, and prices were firmer. A large number of early transactions consisted of oil shares which displayed a good tone with most prices showing fractional gains over the closing levels last Saturday.

The Motors, too, showed early activity and generally were at better levels than prevailed at the previous close.

The Steels and Coppers were unchanged to fractionally righer.

The general tone of the market reflected that more san attitude was being adopted toward the oil lease investigation which for the time being at least lost not a little of its influence when extravagant rumors on the subject were administered a severe reverse by the testimony last week.

Investors now can give more attention to the facts in general industry, which continue uncommonly good.

The first hour's activity was largely a trading affair with the general list fluctuating as much as a point from the opening levels. By 11 a.m. most stocks were lower than at the opening with trading on a fairly active scale, although not anything like the volume of activity on Friday and Saturday last.

Streets sentiment was mixed, the general opinion looking for a trading market for the present with some selling reported by traders who had bought during the weak market list Friday.

The coppers showed a disposition to advance and made some improvement over Saturday's close. However, these fractional gains disappeared when the rest of the list turned reactionary. The Copper trade has finally become bullish on the outlook this attitude being based on a number of fundamental conditions.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Feb. 18.—By the sanction of Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, and through the cooperation of Provincial Officer Cousens, an inquest is to be opened here to inquire into the circumstances of the death of the late Roderick Mackenzie, some day this week.

Baltimore Man Arrested

George Stevenson, who resides near Baltimore, was placed under arrest by Provincial Officer Cousens, charged with having liquor in his possession for sale. He came up before Police Magistrate Floyd and was remanded. It is stated that a sample of the liquor was sent to Toronto for analysis.

Two Months for Theft of Ring

Fred Edwards who was arrested at Belleville on a charge of stealing a diamond ring from Mrs. Fred Sculthorpe, Port Hope, was sentenced in Police Court there to two months in the Counties jail. He came before Police Magistrate Campbell.

Clifford Alyea Recovering

Clifford Alyea, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alyea, Colborne, was removed to his home in Colborne a few days ago. He was with a chum, Melbourne Hodges, who was killed when the C.N.R. "Capitol City" crashed into the truck in which they were riding and Hodges was instantly killed. Alyea has since been in the hospital here.

Spring Assises March 4

The spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario will open here on Tuesday, March 4, before Hon. Mr. Justice Logie.

A Big Duck Farm

Mr. Geo. Armour is getting ready for the spring season at his duck farm near Grafton. He has started his first series of incubators to work. Mr. Armour intends to raise about 6,000 ducks the coming season, it is stated.

Largely Attended Funeral

Friends from Buffalo, Toronto, Trenton, Sidney, Colborne, Brighton, Hilton, Oak Heights, Shiloh and other places were at Dundonald on Wednesday attending the funeral of Mrs. Kenneth Mutton, before her marriage Miss Hazel Shortt. Rev. H. W. Foley conducted the services which were appropriate and impressive. Mr. James Shortt, of Flint, Mich., has been spending several days with relatives there.

Beware of the Bogus Check Man

Oshawa reports that bogus check artists are hovering in that district after having, it is stated, operated in Peterborough and before that in Guelph, Galt and Brantford. They work after banking hours usually. There are four of them and they are stated to favor operating in pairs, usually taking a room at a hotel during their visit to the town which they select.

Reached Their Objective

The Port Hope Daughters of the Empire set themselves the objective at the beginning of the year of raising $3,000 and at the annual meeting held last Friday night, it was shown this had been over-reached. The memorial fund canvass has reached $2,137.63, with $507.50 more promised.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT TO STAY ON THE JOB

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, announced after half an hours' conference with President Coolidge today, that he would not resign as a result of the retirement of Secretary Denby. "I have just been to see the President and I am not resigning," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Denby resigned on the ground that his usefulness as a Cabinet member had been impaired, but took the position that he was guiltless of any blame in connection with the leasing of the Teapot Dome and other oil naval reserves.

Denby's formal written resignation was placed in the Presidents' hands shortly before noon.

CABINET PREPARES TO MAINTAIN FOOD SUPPLY INVESTIGATING STRIKE

Authorizes Emergency Measures to Prevent Exploitation of Consumers—Every British Port Except London Idle — Cargoes of Foods Stalled and Passenger Vessels Unable to Dock.

Discharge By Tenders.

LONDON, February 19 (Canadian Press). — The dock strike became fully effective on Monday in practically all the ports except London, where a considerable number of dockers are still working.

The employers assert that 3,000 additional men have volunteered to go to work on the employers' terms offered on Sunday, on condition that they are provided with police protection.

Up to the present the chief inconvenience experienced by the general public arises from the dislocation of the mails, especially the American mails.

Speculators in food and other necessaries have also seized the opportunity to advance prices, although the strike cannot yet have really affected food supplies.

The Government has lost no time in taking action.

Premier MacDonald immediately upon his return from Chequers Court went into consultation with the Minister of Labour, Tom Shaw, and others, and as a consequence the Minister was able to announce in Parliament the appointment of a committee of three members to make a report on the cause and circumstances of the dispute.

Hear Dockers' Secretary.

It is not an arbitration court, and its decisions are not binding. It began sittings to-day, and Edwin Bevin, secretary of the Dock Workers' Union, has already consented to give testimony.

The employers also are expected to make statements before the committee, and all the aspects of the problem, including decasualisation, will be investigated, while the employers probably will be called upon to give figures of their profits in order to ascertain their capacity to pay increased wages.

Ensure Food Supply.

The Prime Minister presided at a Cabinet Council yesterday afternoon, which had Holman Gregory, chairman of this special committee, in consultation regarding the strike, and the Council decided on certain emergency measures for ensuring food supplies should the strike be prolonged.

After this conference the following official statement was issued from Downing Street:

"The Cabinet has information from various parts of the country that meat prices and other prices are being raised from 33 to 50 per cent. There is no reason for this increase except the power of the profiteer to extract from the public unjust profits. The Cabinet hopes that this notice will have the effect of stopping these increases, but in the meantime, it has asked the law officers to consider the powers of the Government in this matter, and to draft such emergency measures as may be necessary to prevent the exploitation of consumers owing to the present strike."

Welcomed by Public.

This prompt action by the Government to stop unjustifiable profiteering will be warmly welcomed by the public.

Still another step in the direction of finding a settlement has been taken by the Council of the Trades Union Congress, which meets to-day as an emergency committee, as it did in the recent railway strike, ready to mediate at any favourable opportunity.

Up to the present no disorders of any kind because of the strike are reported.

PASSENGERS LANDED FROM LINERS BY MEANS OF TENDERS.

LONDON, February 19 (Canadian Press). — Two passenger liners from New York, the Cunard steamer Tyrrhenia and the White Star steamer Doric, arrived in the Mersey yesterday, but were unable to draw alongside the landing stage on account of the strike of dockers.

The passengers and baggage had to be disembarked by means of the tenders.

In the case of the Tyrrhenia, the Cunard tender was without its re-

BURNLEY DRYS ARE INCENSED

Threaten to Put Third Candidate in By-Election In Which Arthur Henderson Seeks Seat.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The prohibitionists are threatening to bring out a third candidate in the Burnley by-election because the government failed to take under its official wing the Welsh local option bill which was debated in the house of commons last Friday.

As already intimated Arthur Henderson, the home secretary, who is being opposed in Burnley by H. E. J. Camps, conservative candidate, is under some anxiety concerning the club vote, which is considerable in the constituency.

Temperance reformers declare that the wives of the club members would vote soldily against the use of liquor in clubs. Burnley has 23,000 women voters.

Mr. Henderson, besides a staunch abstainer, is also a Methodist local preacher.

In previous elections in Burnley Sunday meetings have been held by both sides of politics but in the present fight both the labor party and the conservative party are refraining from holding meetings on Sunday.

OBREGON ACCLAIMED IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

President Drives Through Cheering Throngs, Attesting His Increased Prestige.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—President Obregon drove with the Sunday throng in the Bosque de Chapultepec Sunday morning, wearing civilian clothes for the first time in more than a month.

Wherever he went the people followed him, cheering heartily. The President was accompanied only by one of his friends, and there was no military escort.

When the revolution began, President Obregon threw off his morning coat and put on khaki. While the life of the republic was threatened, he was a field general rather than an executive.

In other times it was the rule for the President to stay in the national palace while his generals did the fighting. From this practice the saying arose the "revolution in Mexica always wins."

Before the President was up Sunday morning the "band waggon" began to overflow. An endless stream of wellwishers mounted to the Castle Chaputtepec to pay their respects, and the crowded reception rooms showed that the President's prestige has enormously increased by his victorious campaign.

FRENCH EVINCE CONFIDENCE IN DAVIES' FINDING

Work of Experts Still Veiled in Secrecy But French Indicate Belief Recommendations Will Not Be Unfavorable to Their Attitude.

SUMMARIZE RESULTS.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The two committees of experts yesterday began to sum up the results of their investigation in Germany of the reparations problem.

The Budget Committee exchanged views verbally, while the committee on the exodus of German capital discussed memorandums drawn up by the different members with a view to formulating its report. Thus, the two committees have entered upon the final phase of their task, although sub-committees are still going over the work of the expert accountants and hearing Dr. Schacht, president of the Berlin Reichsbank, as to the details of the organization of the proposed gold bank.

The members of the committees and persons generally connected with the investigation are confident their work may be finished entirely in early March. The greatest secrecy is still maintained as to what the experts individually have concluded from their inquiries. The only indication of the trend of their opinion is the optimism prevailing in French circles and reports that the British are disappointed. So far no tangible reasons for French optimism have been disclosed, but the confidence evidenced around French official headquarters is so strong as to suggest that there is some reason for their hope that the experts will succeed in making recommendations on which the Reparation Commission can act, and which will not be unfavorable to the French thesis.

Sydney Industries Returning to Normal.

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 18.— With all the coal mines on the south side of Sydney harbor operating to-day, the various departments at the Dominion Iron and Steel Company's plant are returning to normal conditions such as existed before the industrial tie-up on Jan. 15.

Practically all the departments at the steel plant will be going full blast before the end of this week, the preliminary arrangements for the the re-opening of the blast furnaces, open hearth wire and nail mills being started to-day.

Atholstan Offers Fund to Fight Tuberculosis.

QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 18.— Lord Atholstan, Montreal, will provide a sum of money up to five hundred thousand dollars to continue the fight against tuberculosis in Montreal, if the Quebec Government will "thoroughly clean up' 'the present tuberculosis situation.

He offers as an alternative to defray among the English-speaking population of Montreal the expense of such a campaign as he proposes for the Government, if the Government will undertake concurrently to deal similarly with the rest of the population.

Must Wife Support Her Mother-in-Law?

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Was a wife to support and provide for her mother-in-law, after the wife's husband dies?

This will be the interesting question which the courts will shortly be asked to decide, when the county court action brought by Mrs. M. C. Page, widow of the late Joseph Page of Casselman against her daughter-in-law, Mrs. O. Page, of the same place, is heard. The plaintiff seeks to recover $442 for board and lodging.

Allies Consent to French Rhine Book

PARIS, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The British and United States Governments, it was announced yesterday, have given their consent to the publication by the French Government of a Yellow Book, containing documents relating to the peace negotiations with reference to the occupation of the Rhine and the security of France. The book will probably be published in a few weeks.

It was the French Government's request of Great Britain for consent to publish these documents that stirred up the recent controversy over what ex-Premier Lloyd George said to an English interviewer regarding an alleged agreement between President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau at the Peace Conference on the question of the occupation of the Rhineland. The documents were submitted to Mr. Lloyd George by the British Government as a party in interest, and it was while they were in his possession, shortly after Mr. Wilson's death, that the incident occurred.

BRITAIN HELPS GERMAN ACCORD

Resignation of Bavarian Dictator Interpreted As Sign of Improved Relations Between Munich and Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—The resignations of Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian Military Dictator, and General von Lossow, commander of the Bavarian Reichswehr, which were presented to the Government Monday, are certain to improve the relations between Berlin and Munich. Various reasons are offered to account for the resignations. One report from Munich says that Von Kahr considered that the time was not ripe to relax dictatorial powers, and he was in disagreement with the Government decision to extend a large measure of freedom in the forthcoming elections.

British Influence.

According to another report the resignations were in part the outcome of the new British move, as evidenced by a conference Robert Clive, the British Consul at Munich, recently had with the Bavarian Premier, Dr. Von Knilling, when he informed the Premier that Great Britain was not in a position to intervene to restore Bavarian authority in the Palatinate unless guarantees were forthcoming that Bavaria would return to constitutional conditions. He requested Dr. Von Knilling to use the Government's influence with the Nationalist organizations in the Palatinate to prevent acts of violence calculated to delay the restoration of the German administration there.

Suggested Motives.

The motive for reconciliation with the Berlin Government is interpreted as affording Von Knilling greater support in the Diet against the Von Kahr regime.

The resignations are believed to have some connection with the pending trial of General Ludendorff and Adolph Hitler, involved in the nationalistic putsch in Bavaria last November. Von Kahr can now be regarded as a private citizen and will be able to give evidence at the trial in an effort to exculpate himself of the charges relating to this uprising.

British Bar Against Cattle Is Temporary.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press.)— Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, expressed the opinion this evening that the order debarring Canadian cattle from entry into Great Britain was of very temporary nature. It will probably be in effect but for a few days, he said. It is understood that the order applies to all cattle entering Great Britain and not merely to Canadian cattle. It is said that the reason for the order is an outbreak of disease among Irish store cattle.

COST OF EPIDEMIC.

LONDON, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — When moving a money resolution in the house of commons to-day in connection with expenditure on account of the foot and mouth disease, Noel Buxton, minister of agriculture and fisheries, said the outbreak had cost £3,250,000. There had been 2,600 outbreaks in eight months. The situation had rapidly improved since December 1 and the minister said he was encouraged to hope that restrictions over a wide area would soon be removed.

GRAPE LIQUOR WITHIN TEMPERANCE LAW BUT APPLE CIDER OFFENDS

James McCausland, South East Toronto, Avowed Opponent of the O.T.A., Ridicules Inconsistencies and Demand An Early Referendum — Raney Criticises the Attorney-General's Course in Charge Against the Breweries.

DEBATE CONCLUDED

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Before the debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne and the two amendments was moved, Hon. W. E. Raney drew attention of the Attorney-General yesterday to the report of a Police Court case in which two breweries were charged with a breach of the O. T. A. Two charges had been dropped against them after they pleaded guilty to one charge and the minimum fine imposed.

Hon. Mr. Nickle replying said the department felt it could not sustain the three charges, and asked Mr. Raney if he would have done differently. Mr. Raney said he would have, and that in his time there were instructions not to bargain with the defence.

J. W. Widdifield, U.F.O., North Ontario, continuing the debate said there were 46 farmers in this Legislature. He said the farmer group in the House was not self-conscious, but citizen-conscious. He declared that the Premier in not recognizing the U.F.O. as chief opposition had contravened a statute. The Premier challenged him to show where. Mr. Nickle added that he had never heard any one say that the U.F.O. group should not be recognized according to the Act in relation to the payment of salary to its leader. Mr. Widdifield said that the Liberal leader may not have asked for what he had, but at any rate he had something that did not belong to him, and Mr. Raney added "as far as the Premier can give it to him."

"One Dose Enough."

Jas. McCausland, Southeast Toronto, said the Liberals and U.F.O. would soon be one as the people realized that party government was the best after "one dose of another kind." He said there were signs that Ontario financial men and the banks were waking up to the development of natural resources. There had been a time when the banks wouldn't lend a nickle to Northern Ontario development.

Continuing, he said: "I am no friend of the O.T.A., and I have been put in the front as its opponent. If I really did say what I thought about it I would be called to order." He believed that the last vote on temperance had been a trick ballot, and even since it was taken there had been a tremendous change of opinion in Ontario. One could make any kind of drink out of grapes and still be within the law, but if one wanted to make drink out of apples then he was breaking the law. A man could get drunk and only be fined $10, but if he carried a bottle and took no drink he was fined $200.

Some of the present members of the Government when they sat in opposition had condemned the O. T. A., "but," he added, "the elevation to power has a chloroforming influence." The present Attorney-General was as anxious to carry out the Act as his predecessor, but he was using common sense. The announced Government legislation, he said, might mean much or nothing. It might mean a vote immediately or not until 1926. If there was not a vote soon he would fight for it in the House.

Unite Opposition.

E. Proulx, Liberal, Prescott, said the U.F.O. had better join the Liberals so there could be a strong opposition against a Government which had too much of a majority to be warranted by the popular majority it had in the election. All the wets

Vandals Profane Montreal Church

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Vandals broke into St. Catharines Church in the north end of the city over the week end and rifled poor boxes, broke sacred vessels and damaged vestments.

The sacred ornaments were taken from the locker in the vestries at various shrines and thrown and broken on the floors. The theft was discovered when the church was opened by the curate, Rev. J. A. Papineau, who informed the police.

Carter Ordered to Re-open Tomb

LONDON, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Cairo says the Egyptian Government has given Howard Carter 48 hours in which to resume work in the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen. In case he fails to do so, the despatch adds, his license will be annulled.

On the receipt of a message from Mr. Carter protesting against his exclusion and emphasizing that it was urgent he should be allowed to take precautions to safeguard the contents of the tomb, the Minister, Mohammed Zagloul, in a note, expresses extreme surprise that Mr. Carter failed to take such precautions before closing the tomb, and reminds him that the measures which he complains of are due to his own action in refusing to carry out the programme agreed upon with the Minister.

ROMANS FOREGO WASHING FACES

Broken Water Main Causes Bathless Days in Eternal City — Visitors Miss Morning Shower—Limousines Carry Water

ROME, Feb. 19.—The people of Rome for several days past have been suffering from bathless days, and no relief seems in sight for them until Wednesday, when a broken water main, which has caused all the trouble, is repaired.

Premier Mussolini is among those who has been compelled to go without his bath. Hundreds of North American and South American visitors have had to forego their showers, while it is estimated that four-fifths of the population of Rome have gone for the past few days without even washing their faces.

While the Premier and the American visitors are foregoing their baths, however, the Roman ladies insist on having theirs. Scores of limousines were to be seen yesterday waiting about the fountains while the chauffeurs sought their place in the lines of people to fill the kegs or barrels, to be taken to various parts of the city so that milady might perform her ablutions. The water shortage at the hotels has caused particular discomfort to the patrons.

Witnesses in Delorme Case Not All Summoned.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.— Crown witnesses in former trials of Rev. Adelard Delorme, who have not already been subpoenaed to appear as witnesses at the third trial to be held here Feb. 25, will probably not be summoned until after the trial commences, it was learned here to-day. So far only 21 witnesses have been called.

It was stated officially to-day that the crown would await the trial and see how long it takes to form a jury before further summons were issued to witnesses.

This action leaves many former Crown witnesses in doubt as to whether their presence will be required at the trial.

BUDGET TODAY REVEALS NEED REAL ECONOMY

Shows a Deficit of Fifteen Millions for Last Year of U. F. O. Government

TO AUDIT REVENUE

TORONTO, Feb. 19.— Hon. W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer, in making his budget speech this afternoon, claims a deficit of fifteen millions on the last year of the U. F.O. administration. In presenting what he calls "a clear balance sheet," he endeavored to show a total deficiency of over $24,000,000 for the last four years, or an average of $6,000,000 annually. The deficit to be shown for this year is the largest in the history of the province.

The budget speech for the present and future promises an audit of all revenues of the Crown, which is a new departure in public policy. There will be no new taxation introduced. Retirement of debt will receive careful attention. Strong policy of rigid economy is promised and co-operation of all is asked to that end. The government, states the treasurer, will exercise all its energies in seeing that expenditures are cut to the bone and only necessary expenditures maintained.

The treasurer claims that the recent audit of the amusement branches is justified by returns. Hereafter he announced the storage of government paper will be in the Parliament Building and not with the contractors. Assets of the province are to receive new treatment and Hydro interest adjusted to date.

The budget speech in its review of provincial finances is a strong attack on methods used and results obtained by the late administration. The treasurer states that in pre-election bills instituted by the late treasurer that the province failed to realize one quarter million dollars in exchange. He also declares that buying in by the late government of succession duty free issues of low rate interest bonds at high prices means a loss of millions to the province. He claims that the redemption of Ontario inscribed stock in England by the Drury government was an improvident and astounding deal.

The Treasurer will conclude his speech with an expression of hope for the future based on a policy of economy and tremendous wealth of the province, obth actual and potential. This wealth he estimates at ten billions of dollars and says that with such great possibilities there can be no room for pessimsm if economy be practised.

Weak, Nervous Men and Women Quickly Gain New Strength

They Renew Vitality and Nerve Force by a Home Treatment Costing Only Ten Cents a Day

The nerve power of our systems finds its life in our blood. Create more blood cells, make the blood richer and we rekindle the fire of bodily strength, for rich, red blood is the driving force of life.

If we are too easily exhausted, lack confidence and sustaining power are nervous, irritable, sleep fitfully and awake unrefreshed; if we are too thin, pale, anaemic looking, we should think first of our blood.

Build more red blood. Gain new strength. Nourish the body tissues. Rejuvenate ourselves. It is red blood that makes our bodies tingle with the pulsing of life.

Men and women who need a blood builder should go at once to their druggist's and obtain a generous size bottle of Wincarnis. Here is a home treatment that costs less than ten cents a day. Wincarnis gives your blood the vitalizing elements that it needs. In twelve days see the improvement that Wincarnis brings. You will worry no longer because of failing strength.

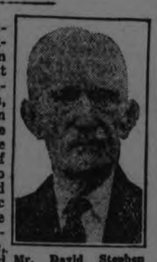
FOUGHT INDIANS OFF PACIFIC COAST

Retired Canadian Pacific Steamship Engineer had Adventurous Career in Coastal Service

Sailed on Maiden Voyage of old "Princess Louise"



Mr. David Stephen

BEFORE Vancouver existed and when Victoria was but a village of 1,000 residents, David Stephen with his face set towards the gold fields of the Cariboo country sailed up the Pacific Ocean from the Isthmus of Panama. Dundee, Scotland, had claimed him as her son and to Dundee he would return in a few years laden with the wealth of the North West.

That was in 1862. Today David Stephen still lives in British Columbia and Dundee is but a memory of his childhood and his youth.

Young David never saw the Cariboo. As far north as Lytton he journeyed with his two adventurous associates and two of them established themselves there while the other went into the Gold Country. Two years later the gold-digger came out "broke" and the three Scots returned to Victoria.

So David Stephen took to the sea and stayed with it until a few years ago when he became a pensioner of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In the capacity of engineer he served on many of the old-time side-wheel steamers which plied Pacific Coast waters from Alaska to San Francisco. In 1866 he was second engineer on the S.S. Labouchere, when she was wrecked off San Francisco. The year previous to this she had been granted a subsidy by the Crown Colony to carry mails at $1,500 a trip between Victoria and San Francisco and was one of the finest old steamers on the coast, being 202 feet long, with oscillating engines and a tonnage of 680 net.

After this David Stephen signed on one of the many trading ships running between Victoria and Alaska. The new berth held its dangers as many a steamer had set out from Victoria in those days on a trading mission never to return to its home harbor.

The Indians at this time were very hostile and resented the white man's invasion. On one trip north Mr. Stephen had what he terms "a racy experience" with Indians of the Sitka tribe. The affair took place at Hoonah after the Indians in all the glory of their war paint had swarmed round the ship in war canoes and jammed her side wheels with huge timbers. It took the twelve nine-pound guns which the ship carried to convince the Indians that the white men meant business but Captain Mouatt and his men avoided Hoonah for two full years. At the end of that time they ventured in again to be received with open arms by their former enemies and showered with valuable gifts including the pelts of martin, beaver and otter.

In 1901 the Canadian Pacific Railway took over the Canadian Navigation Company operating along the Pacific Coast, and out of the nucleus of a handful of side-wheelers has grown the fine fleet of twenty ships that ply the coastal waters today carrying the Canadian Pacific house flag from Skagway, Alaska, to Seattle, Wash. The employees of the old navigation company automatically became employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway and were credited with their record of service in the former company when they became eligible from a point of age for the pension system inaugurated by the latter. David Stephen was one of these.

The old Princess Louise, a fine side-wheeler in those days, was brought out from New York as the S.S. Olympia, and David Stephen was sent across to come with her on her maiden voyage to the B.C. coast sailing by way of the Straits of Magellan. Later he served on the S.S. Yosemite and the S.S. R. P. Rithet.

He now lives in Victoria and is one of the best known "old-timers" in British Columbia's Capital City.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF NORWOOD LIBRARY

Interesting Event in Norwood Last Evening--Address by Judge Huycke

NORWOOD, Feb. 19. (Special.) — At the official opening of the new Carnegie Library here last evening, Mr. P. M. Grover, president of the Library Board, ocupied the chair.

The programme was opened by the singing of O Canada, and Rule Britania by the Norwood Choral Society. This was followed by a few remarks on the cost of the Library, by the chairman. He stated that the total cost of the building was $5400, which was $400 more than the amount available. Over $200 of this has been collected by subscription and the deficit is now very small.

He also mentioned the many different books and fittings that have been presented to the Library. The late Dr. S. P. Ford donated an encyclopaedia set. Mr. John E. Roxburgh presented the Library with a beautiful dictionary.

Other donations were: Two pictures from the C.P.R.; a Clock from the Monday Club; a desk from the Women's Institute; a table and two hat trees from the Daughters of the Empire; a donation for the Ladies' Home Journal from Mrs. E. P. Cuffe; two chairs from Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Squire; two chairs from Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lawson; one chair from Mr. H. MacDonald.

Message from Premier.

The following telegram from the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson was read by John E. Roxburgh:

"I congratulate your board and the people of Norwood on the opening of your new Library building, which will serve as a centre of intellectual activity and useful information to the community. There is no greater agency for real education than a Public Library, and your community is certainly making a progressive movement which will be of great benefit.—G. Howard Ferguson."

In a short address Magistrate O. A. Langley, of Peterboro, said that he hoped Norwood would have the best of success with their Library, and that other towns would also follow along the same progressive line.

W. D. Carson, superintendent of Public Libraries, also spoke briefly. He said that there were 466 Public Libraries in Ontario, and that in the last ten years the attendance had increased from four million to nine million.

He spoke of books that the Department of Education would loan to the Norwood Library until they got a sufficient supply of their own. He also told incidents of different men who had made good through the reading of good books.

His Honour Judge Huycke emphasized the fact that it was better to spend money on schools and libraries than on jails and poor houss. He advised the citzens to make use of the public library but not to neglect having one of their own.

After the programme was over, which was held in the town hall, the citizens and speakers went to the Library and the key was turned by Mr. John E. Roxburgh. The first two to enter were Mr. P. M. Grover and Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh.

The musical part of the program included selections by the Male Quartette, consisting of G. Wright, J. A. Finlay, F. E. Finlay, and W. J. Stares, and solo numbers by Miss Finlay and Mr. F. G. Thompson.

FLYING SQUADRONS MAKE GOOD CLEAN-UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Goaded by the increasing number of holdups in the last three months, including more than a dozen in Brooklyn, in which "bobbed haired" girls were reported to be participants, flying squadrons of detectives in 24 hours, ending at noon yesterday, arrested 22 youths as suspects. Some, the police declared, had been identified in connection with the 150 holdups.

DEPORTING OF ALIEN UPHELD

Courts Have No Jurisdiction Over Home Secretary's Action In Ordering Deportation.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The courts have no jurisdiction to enquire into, much less to criticise, the grounds of the home secretary for ordering the deportation of any alien, so the King's Bench division of the court of judicature has just ruled, and acordingly the court upholds the action of a former home secretary in ordering the deportation of the wife of an alien. The woman's husband was deported because of a minor offence which he had committed. The wife was held guiltless, but she was ordered to be deported.

On behalf of the woman it was argued that the home secretary was stretching his powers more and more and it was necessary to check the tyrannical actions of executives.

The judgment of the King's Bench in the matter was given to-day and as stated it was to the effect that the home secretary's grounds for ordering the deportation of an alien was beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

JAPAN WILL MAKE ITS OWN INSULIN

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— Within the next few months a determined effort will be made by Japan to secure permission for the manufacture of insulin. At the present time, with diabetes ranking as practically the second most widespread disease in that country, and with the demand for the world-famous Canadian remedy steadily increasing, all insulin available in the flowery kingdom comes from mid-western United States.

Such is the message brought by Dr. Sagoro Ogawa, director of Kyoto Medical College, and one of the most famous physicians of Japan, who, with his colleague, Dr. S. Toda, professor in Oyama Medical University, arrived in Toronto last night. To-day they will call upon Professor J. J. R. MacLeod and lay before him the case for the manufacture of insulin in their native land.

MANTLE OF CHARITY COVERED HUGE LOSS

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., February 19—(Canadian Press). — Pit props and pulpwood, conducted by the Squires Government under the mantle of charity, cost the country $1,700,000 during 1921 and 1922, according to revelations made yesterday in a probe in public affairs that is being conducted before Royal Commissioner T. H. Walker, K.C.

The total returns made to the Government on these operations were less than half a million dollars, and the loss on the operations at least a million and a quarter.

Mr. Turner stated that much of the wood cut disappeared before the representatives of the Government or purchasing contractors could take charge of it.

He estimated such disappearances as totalling 30,000 cords or more.

Economy appeared to have had no place whatsover in the calculations or practices of those concerned in these operations.

The cost per cord of wood was close to 15.00 while the price realised on final sales was in no case half of that amount.

START INVESTIGATION USE POLICE FIREARMS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press.) — The condition of Senator Frank L. Greene, of Vermont, who was shot in a fight between revenue officers and bootleggers, is critical. President Coolidge yesterday ordered a sweeping investigation into the shooting. Acting on the President's orders, his secretary, C. Bascom Slemp, has demanded from the commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the prohibition commissioner, full information as to any rules and regulations in effect pertaining to "promiscuous use of firearms by dry agents and police."

CHANEY WON DECISION.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Andy Chaney, of Baltimore, won a decision over Freddy Jacks, of England, in a twelve-round bout here last night. Chaney weighed 136 pounds and Jacks 134.

HASTINGS ACTION IS DISMISSED BY JUDGE

No Order Made for Costs —Things Seem to Have Been Done Very Loosely Judge Huycke Finds.

The folowing judgment by Judge Huycke, dismisses the action involving Masterson vs. Hess and Chapman, of Hastings. Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendant. The judgment in full is as follows:

This is an action by the plaintiff against the defendants, Hess and Chapman, as makers of a cheque signed by Hess as president, and Chapman as secretary, of the Hastings Athletic Association.

The whole trouble arose out of some lacrosse matches in the summer of 1923. The St. Simons team of Toronto, played in Hastings, on August 23rd, and the return match was in Toronto on the following Monday, September 3rd, Labor Day. The cheque in question was given to the St. Simons Lacrosse Club and is endorsed in blank by certain officials of that club. The endorsement is in blank and not specifically made to Masterson, although Masterson has possession of and claims to be the holder in due course of the cheque in question.

The cheque was presented at the bank on the 6th of September, 1923, and protested for non-payment, there not being sufficient funds at that time to pay this cheque. The teller of the bank said there were sufficient funds when the cheque was given, but a note and another cheque coming in in the meantime reduced the balance to the credit of the Club.

Undoubtedly, as urged on behalf of the plaintiff, a cheque is to all intents and purposes a bill of exchange, and to a holder in due course his rights become absolute, or nearly so, but a holder in due course after all means nothing more than that it is held by the person to whom it is specifically endorsed, or transferred, or any other innocent holder for value. The plaintiff claims the cheque was given to the St. Simons Club as payment of their expenses, and that the St. Simons Club returned the cheque to him as payment of the expenses of the Hastings boys for the return match. Strictly speaking such payment of expenses of the Toronto trip could not be made to Masterson, but should be made to the Hastings Club, and that is probably what was meant by the blank endorsement. The cheque was doubtless intended to be transferred to the officers of the Hastings Club, and if this had been done regularly, then their rights and disputes with Masterson would have had to be fought out in another way.

I do not see that the giving of the cheque to Masterson, and his possession of it, under these circumstances, places him in much or any better position than if he had a claim against the club for adjudication. In any case, is he an innocent holder for value? There is no doubt he paid the expenses of the Hastings team to Toronto, which cost him in the neighbourhood of $100.00, and in the absence of any agreement to the contrary should certainly be reimbursed by somebody, but here the dispute comes in.

The defendants say that after the Hastings game it was decided not to have the return game in Toronto on account of the expenses; they further say that the plaintiff, Masterson, voluntarily offered to take the boys to Toronto and pay for the trip at his own expense, thus giving them this little outing, and that he received instructions, along with others, to procure the cheque and bring it back to the officers of the Hastings Club, and that the plaintiff tacitly assented to this.

It would appear to be shown, and conclusively, that the cheque was given by the Hastings Club to the Toronto Club as a kind of guarantee to them to bring the game on and advertise it, and that the Toronto people refused to arrange for the game unless some such guarantee was given them that the Hastings team would go, and that if the Hastings team did go then this cheque was to be at once returned without being used in any way or charged against the Hastings Club. The evidence as to this is very contradictory and unsatisfactory. It is true the old Latin maxim says, witnesses must be weighed and not counted, but they must also be counted as well as weighed. In this case the preponderance, and the strong preponderance, of evidence is in favor of the contention of the defendants, and I do not see any sufficient reasons why the testimony of the greater number should be rejected in favor of that of a minority. This question has given me room for a good deal of thought and anxiety, and I have not been free from doubt as to what I should do. The evidence shows that the plaintiff knew of this arrangement, and if so, he cannot be said to be an innocent holder for value.

I am not disposed to find that any of the witnesses are wilfully fabricating evidence. The witnesses on both sides are not in absolute harmony with those of their opponents, or indeed with each other. Things seem to have been done very loosely and not according to the best business methods but I attribute all this to the super-enthusiasm of the Hastings Sports and their pride in their local Lacrosse Team. Some of the witnesses, while doing their best to remember, I am satisfied did not recollect things just as they were.

The best conclusion I can arrive at is that the action should be dismissed, but considering the circumstances, the fact of the plaintiff's expenditure, their common aims and enthusiasm for the object of their Association, and with the hope that the parties may heal all their differences and in the future make united efforts to advance the interest of their team, I make no order as to costs.

Dated at Peterborough, this 18th day of February, 1924.

Edward Huycke
Judge.

RENEW WAGE SCALE FOR THREE YEARS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 19.—A renewal of the present bituminous miners' wage scale for a term of three years was approved unanimously by the sub-committee of miners and operators of the central competitive field here late Monday.

It is a compromise of the miners' demand for a four year contract and the operators 'offer of a renewal for the customary one year. To-day the report is being considered by the miners' policy committee and will be referred for approval to the entire joint confeernce of miners and operators.

Bank Messengers In Seattle Were Held Up.

Seattle, Wash, Feb. 18.—Between $12,000 and $15,000 in cash was stolen from two bank messengers of the Metropolitan National Bank of this city by armed bandits in front of the Federal Reserve Bank branch in the heart of the business section here to-day. The bandits escaped.

CHICKEN THIEVES USE SULPHUR IN BUSINESS

MILTON, Feb. 19.— (Canadian Press.)— Chicken thieves are still busy in this district. On Sunday night James Duncan and Thomas Allison of Trafalgar, lost 150 hens. Marks of a truck were seen outside of both places. These robberies may throw some light on many recent raids where fowl were taken without the people in nearby houses being aroused. All indications point to the use of sulphur fumes for making the chickens stupid. After a dose of the fumes had been administered the hens could easily be taken from their roosts without making an outcry.

A TOUGH CUSTOMER.

HAMILTON, February 19 (Canadian Press). — Scoring three goals in the last ten minutes of play, the Tigers overcame the University of Toronto schools' lead in the first of home and home games in the second round of the Junior O.H.A. at the Arena last night to win by a 5 to 4 score.

The score is hardly an indication of the play, for the locals had the edge throughout the game, but found Humphreys, the Toronto net tender, a tough customer to deal with.

FIRPO WANTS MONEY NOW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Louis Angel Firpo yesterday notified the syndicate which intends to promote the contest between the South American and Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, that unless a sum of fifty thousand dollars was placed to his credit in Buenos Aires before the end of this week, all negotiations for the bout would be cancelled.

MISS ELDA WEBBER WAS HONOURED BY ASSOCIATES

Presented with an Umbrella on eve of Departure for New Field of Activity.

On Saturday evening, the office staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, presented one of its members, Miss Elda Webber, who leavs to-morrow to take a course in the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital as a nurse in training, with a handsome black silk umbrella, and the following address:

Dear Miss Webber—

Hearing that you are severing your connection with us we beg to express to you how sorry we are to hear the news; also to let you know how we have appreciated your untiring efforts to make everything run smoothly, as far as lay in your power. Your unfailing good temper and cheery manner has always been a bright spot in the office.

But our loss is someone's gain and the profession you are entering will bring out those qualities we know you possess. To alleviate the sufferings of the human race is one of the highest ideals. But to look after the ailments of children is even higher, and in the place you are going you will have opportunities of doing a vast lot of good, which we know you are capable of. We do not require anything to remember you by but for fear you should forget us we beg you to accept this as a small remembrance of our esteem and respect.

Cities Want More Representation on Road Commission.

KINGSTON, February 19 (Special to The Examiner). — The following recommendation of the civic Finance Committee was adopted by the City Council last night:

"That, whereas the City of Peterborough is petitioning the Ontario Legislature to amend the Act so as to give cities more representation on the Suburban Road Commission, and asking for a deputation to wait on the Minister of Highways in regard to it and asking that other cities support them in this legislation, that the City of Kingston endorse their request."

TRENT RIVER, February 19. — There was a good attendance at the church on Sunday. Communion was served at the close.

Mrs. John Hutchinson has returned home, having spent the past two months with relatives.

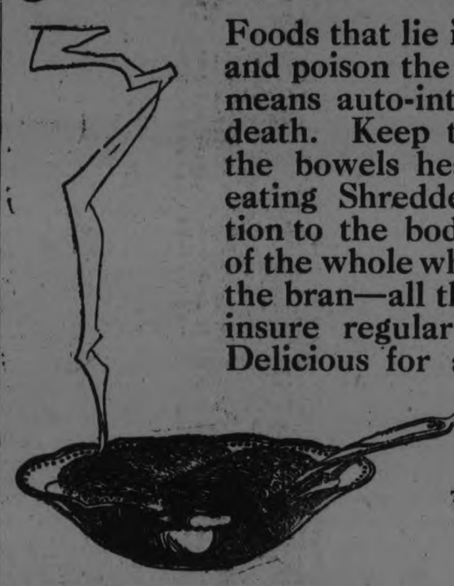
Miss Laura Wight carried off the honours at the Havelock carnival costume as a "Bride," and winner a pair of white wool gauntlet gloves.

Mr. Joe McNeely has had the honour for having the first fruit of the season, as he delivered last week what he calls fresh rhubarb, to two different parties, given as prizes for the best kept walks, free from snow, in front of their residences.

LOVE FOUND THE WAY IN RUNAWAY ROMANCE

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.— (Canadian Press.) — On December 2nd Miss Dorothy Boorman left her home here and was located last week in Boston. Her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Smith, went to reclaim her, but on the same train was the girl's lover, Stanley Mennick. The grandmother was determined to bring the girl home, but the lover was determined to make the girl his wife. Love won out, the pair were married and grandmother returned without seeing her granddaughter.

Don't poison yourself



Foods that lie in the colon putrefy and poison the blood stream—that means auto-intoxication and early death. Keep the colon clean and the bowels healthy and active by eating Shredded Wheat. In addition to the body-building elements of the whole wheat grain it contains the bran—all the bran you need to insure regular bowel movement. Delicious for any meal with hot milk or fruits of any kind.

IT DEPENDS ON THE PEOPLE.

The slogan, "Lower Taxation, Better Times," adopted by representatives of Boards of Trade in ten cities in the Prairie Provinces in connection with a Dominion-wide economy campaign is not true but timely.

It might have been widened a little to include the words, "Reduce Expenditures," for the whole thing hinges upon that phase of the situation.

After all, it is idle to blame Governments, whether Federal, Provincial or municipal, for the present condition of affairs.

Their methods may not have always been prudent or businesslike, it is true, but at the same time much of the expenditure that has been made has been due to the extravagant demands of the people themselves.

Governments as a rule do what the people they represent want them to do.

For years it has appeared that Canadians as a whole wanted their ruling bodies to keep on spending.

This city wants an Armouries, then a Customs House, then a Post Office.

One district wanted more wharves, another a deeper harbour, another railway accommodation

There has been a constant procession of deputations to Ottawa or to the Provincial capitals urging expenditure.

Now the reaction has set in, and in every section of Canada there are demands for economy and campaigns are springing up to urge reduced expenditures.

If the people everywhere are sincere in these demands—and they seem to be—they will show it by doing their part, in refraining from calling upon their Municipal Council or the Legislature or the Federal Government for financial assistance.

And then the desired reductons will begin to show once the spending bodies are convinced that the people are in earnest.

For, as it has already been said, Governments usually try to do what the majority of the people want them to do—or they don't last long.

THE COST OF GOVERMENT.

The fact that Canada is overburdened with legislative machinery seems to be impressing itself upon many newspapers and individuals these days.

From the West comes the suggestion that the three Prairie Provinces could save a lot of money and get as efficient government as under the present system if Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba were to be ruled by one Legislature for the three.

In the Ontario Legislature last week a speaker advocated the reduction of the Legislature to 60 or 65 members.

And so it goes on.

Now it is pointed out that our Federal system is top-heavy, and that the Canadian people pay five times per capita more for Cabinet services than do the residents of the United States.

The approximate figures are 17 cents per capita here, as against 3½ cents per capita across the border.

Canada, with a population under nine million people, has a Cabinet of sixteen Ministers with portfolios, while in the United States Cabinet nine Ministers with portfolios draw salaries.

The Canadian scale of salaries for fifteen Cabinet Ministers is $10,000, with a sessional indemnity in each case of $4,000, a total of $210,000, which with the Prime Minister's salary of $15,000 and $4,000 indemnity makes a grand total of $229,000.

Leaving the President out of the American list, as corresponding in rank with the Governor-General here, the total for Cabinet service is $108,000 a year, the nine Ministers each receiving a salary of $12,000, but without any sessional indemnities.

At half the cost the United States Ministers look after the affairs of twelve times as many people as the members of the Canadian Cabinet.

The figures indicate that a merging of some of the Federal departments would represent a substantial saving.

THE NEXT WAR.

Inventors continue busily in their laboratories making deadlier and deadlier war devices.

Many of the leading weapons of the World War already are as old-fashioned and obsolete as the blunderbuss, according to revelations at a military banquet in New York.

For instance, the United States Government has perfected a bomb weighing 4,000 pounds, to be carried by airplanes. This is 10 times as big as the largest bomb used in the World War. It contains a ton of high explosives and makes a crater in the ground 57 feet deep and 150 feet across.

Another American invention is an armored caterpillar tractor with a speed of 30 miles an hour. It goes up a 45-degree slope easily, and can travel through water up to the driver's chin.

The famous "French 75" gun is eclipsed by a new American gun of the same calibre, but twice the range or shooting distance.

Shoulder machine guns are taking the place of regular rifles. They fire bullets four times as heavy and send them three times as far as the Browning gun.

So goes the list of destroyers. Poison gases have been perfected since the Armistice, many times more deadly than the worst gases used during the World War.

* * * *

The people of the world should give serious thought to the fact that, while one faction of our leaders work to prevent another big war, another faction is toiling night-and-day to perfect more deadly devices of warfare.

The "next war"—if there is one—will be frightful beyond imagination, far worse than the World War. Every country goes ahead preparing, and its alibi is: "I have to, as long as the others do."

Co-operation to prevent a recurrence of slaughter must come in some form.

A couple of years ago Washington was the scene of a great disarmament conference.

It was agreed to scrap a number of warships.

But the average man, the Examiner imagines, will have difficulty in understanding what has been gained in dropping a few battleships and substituting bombs that can make a hole in the ground 150 feet across, or tanks that can travel 30 miles an hour.

HELP TO SAVE CANADA.

The enormous debt of our country, growing every hour of our lives, demands from old and young, rich and poor, patriotic resolve. A resolve to help to save our country, says the Montreal Star.

Notwithstanding the extravagance of our Governments and the deficits they have created—notwithstanding the impasse towards which we are driving—our country in all its grandeur remains to us, its resources developed and undeveloped are the heritage which we and succeeding generations must defend. It is a time for serious reflection and for determined action. It is our duty to help constituted authority to function for the good of the Commonwealth It is a duty borne home to us by our national plight to help all Governments by whatever name, Liberal, Conservative or Progressive as the case may be, to work together for the salvation of our Dominion. Honest criticism is essential and must continue to the end if we are to be rescued. Honest recognition, earnest help and sincere sympathy are due to every effort of any Governmental body in its every act for the public good. The appeal of the country to all Legislative bodies today is to rise to a sense of our danger. If the opening of Parliament is to see a great combined effort for the rescue of the Dominion we must encourage those who prove their sincerity whatevevr party name they bear. It is a time for co-operation, for encouragement to those who deserve it, and for crushing condemnation of those who shirk. In classic phrase:

"Our country yet remains."

SMEARING EACH OTHER WITH OIL.

Not for many years has the United States been so stirred as it is just now by the official revelations in connection with the leasing of American Navy oil reserves in California and Wyoming to Mr. Harry Sinclair and Mr. Edward Doheny. These rivals of the Standard Oil Company acquired the leaseholds of the property in question during the Harding administration from Mr. Albert B Fall, Secretary of the Interior in the late President's Cabinet. Evidence already taken before a Special Senate Committee of Investigation has established that Mr. Fall obtained loans and accepted gifts aggregating $200,000 from the Sinclairs and Doheny. Mr. Doheny told the Senate that he advanced Fall $100,000 in cash on the eve of the lease deal, but he declared that it was an act of long-standing personal friendship. Mr. Fall protests that what he did was honest, but illness has kept him from appearing before the Senate to tell his side of the story.

Two grave questions are involved: (1) whether it was detrimental to the national interest to lease to private operators oil reserves acquired by the United States Navy during President Roosevelt's administration; and (2) whether the transfer was made in virtue of a corrupt consideration.

As is usual in such cases, the smaller, but more piquant consideration, obscures the larger and more vital one. This is Presidential year, and so with political capital to be made, the parties are out to smear each other with oil, and the air is rent with cries of "graft" and with bitter personalities. For a time the Democrats scored heavily. Mr. Fall was President Harding's Secretary of State; the lease was made under a Republican Administration; and Mr. Denby and Mr. Daugherty, both in the Coolidge Cabinet, were at least indirectly implicated. Then things began to break for the Republicans. Doheny, it was discovered, was a sort of financial "angle" for the Democratic Party. Moreover, the Democratic Convention in San Francisco had nominated him as candidate for the Vice-Presidency; and it was shown that Mr. William G. McAdoo, at present a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, was in Doheny's pay, as also Mr. Gregory, a former member of the Wilson Administration. And so the scandal has progressed from charge to counter-charge and from personality to personality; until yesterday Mr. Frank Vanderlip (chiefly famous because the public associates him with Vanderbilt) made an innuendo against the late President Harding.

The chief actors in the scandal are all interesting. Fall was one of President Harding's closest friends. The late President, indeed, thought at one time of making him Secretary of State, regarding him as a great authority on constitutional law.

Doheny is an Irish-American who has had a romantic career. He started as a land surveyor and is now a multi-millionaire; and he admitted to the Senate that he would be "awfully unlucky" if he didn't make $100,000,000 out of the Wyoming oil lease. Doheny was one of De Valera's principal financial supporters in the United States, and for a while was President of the "American Association for the recognition of the Irish Republic."

President Coolidge, facing a Presidential contest, is frankly perturbed over the situation. He has declared, however, that he will "protect no man because he is a Republican, and prosecute no man because he is a Democrat;" and it is believed that he will shortly institute criminal proceedings.

Taken all in all, it is a sensational scandal—the greatest that has stirred the United States since one of Grant's ministers was impeached—and its outcome will be watched with keen interest far beyond the "land of the free."—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

"Yes, we have no recognition," seems to be the official song of the Progressive group.

The Gregory report will assume the proportions of a large sized library. Most people will take it as read.

A Hamilton foreigner who didn't like the motor car he bought shot the salesman. Commercial life is getting to be decidedly strenuous.

Labour Government or not, Britain does not seem able to get along without a strike occasionally.

At a recent annual meeting in Peterborough when officers were being elected, one man's name was mentioned for the presidency. "He's a busy man," one of the members said. "Just the kind we want." another replied. "A busy man is the one who will make time for business."

One trouble about recognizing the Labour group in the Legislature is that if a couple of members happen to be away there is no Labour group to be recognized.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—The export buyers wanted a good supply, but the offering was not heavy. For one choice load the best on the market $8 a cwt. was paid and assuming the freight made the price $8.20. For a load of light and good medium butchers the Canadian Packing Company paid $6 a cwt. Baby beeves not choice sold at 8 cents.

Several bunches of good butchers' cows went over the scales at $4.50 a cwt. and the common cows were generally about 3 cents a pound. About 300 steers were bought for export this morning at 7½ to 8 cents. A cable announcing the closing of all the British ports to store cattle was received this morning and this prevented any buying of these. Butchers' cows and cows were steady with last week and there was no betterment in the price of unfinished steers and heifers. One car of feeders about 800 lbs. each sold at $5 a cwt.

Calves were in good demand and up from half to a dollar a cwt. Tops made 12½ and 13 cents and the best mediums 11 cents. Coarse calves sold from 7 to 9 cents.

Strength was evident in lambs and as high as 16½ cents was asked for some light packages with 15½ bid. Decks of average good light lambs sold at 15 cents and heavier ewes and wethers at 14 and 14½ cents. Sheep of the useful kind were firm at 8 cents.

Hogs took a favorable turn this morning. Sellers said they could get $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b. without difficulty and were holding out for $7.50 with a good prospect of getting it. The run strengthened the hands of the shippers.

MOUNT PLEASANT FOLKS CELEBRATE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Handley Observe Their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. John F. Handley, of Mount Pleasant, on February 14, celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Handley were surrounded by relatives and friends and a very pleasant evening was spent by all.

A number from a distance were unable to attend, but sent congratulatory messages. Mrs. T. I. Lowes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Handley received the guests. They all assembled in rooms prettily decorated for the occasion with ferns, smilax, valentine hearts and tinsel. On tables and elsewhere were roses, narcissus, hyacinths and jonquils, which harmonized with the other decorations.

The first part of the evening was spent in congratulating the couple, after which the guests were invited to the dining room, where they all found their place at the table by the bright red place cards lettered in gold and did justice to all the good things provided by the hostess.

The latter part of the evening was spent in progressive euchre which everyone enjoyed to the uttermost until the wee small hours of the morning when the guests took their departure, expressing their gratitude for the pleasant evening enjoyed by all.

The bride of thirty years received many beautiful and costly presents including some sent from relatives unable to attend.

During the winter the Pacific Coast States and British Columbia offer a haven of refuge from our rigorous climate, particularly Sunny California.

California has become famous as a winter tourist region because of its excellent climatic condition, its varied and magnificent scenery, the possibilities it affords for all kinds of outdoor sports and recreations, its splendid motor roads, sea-bathing, etc.

The Canadian National Railways offer a wide choice of routes embracing rail and sea trips. Travel one way through Canadian Rockies via Jasper National Park and Mount Robson, the North Pcific Coast Route to Vancouver and Victoria, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Any agent of the Canadian Nation Railways will be pleased to furnish full information regarding these tours.

WEDS AT 88.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 19. — He is 88 and she is 67, but William Hayden and Mrs. Elizabeth Gloynes have just embarked upon a journey o'er marital seas.

The groom, a Crimean War veteran, who hobbles along with the aid of a stick, sat down while the ceremony was being performed.

"I'm not as young as I used to be," he apologized.

SMITH IS PRESENT.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Paging "Mr. Smith" is a tough job in England or Scotland. In the two countries there are just 518,000 Smiths, or one for every 70 persons.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

THERE is no reason why you should suffer from constipation. Headaches, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Many Diseases Start from Clogged Intestines

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

GRAPE LIQUOR

had voted for the Conservatives, and many Liberals had voted against their own party because they had flirted too much with the farmers in the last session. The Premier, he said, had played a double game on the O.T.A. in the election campaign, and he was not yet clear on his policy.

"His stand now looks as if he was inviting pressure," said Mr. Proulx. Education in Ontario, he said, was too much centralized in Toronto, and he advocated greater grants to outside universities and colleges. He thought grants to rural and separate schools should be based more on attendance and not so much on the qualifications of the teacher. If certain schools were given a grant they could afford to have qualified teachers. He suggested that for Northern Ontario the Premier find immigration from New England of those who had left Quebec to seek work there. He declared that the Government should assume one hundred per cent. cost of Provincial highways instead of making the counties pay twenty per cent.

U.F.O. Have Survived.

R. H. Kemp (U.F.O., Lincoln) said the election showed that the Farmer group had not been voted out of existence as he said the Conservatives tried to claim. If it had not been for the present faulty system of balloting there would have been more farmers in the House

He spoke in some detail of the problems of the fruit farmer By a splendid system of co-operative marketing United States growers were able to sell in Canada to the detriment of the home producer. He gave figures to show that Canada in the last two years had in some cases doubled their purchase of fruits from the United States which were grown in Canada. The solution was better distribution of the Ontario fruit, and this could be accomplished with Government assistance. He said that in submitting a referendum on the liquor question that the Government should ask for opinions on a new system so that it would not inflict on the people its own ideas.

J. A. Sangster (Liberal, Glengarry) said the U.F.O. Government had done little for agriculture. He also advised that the Province pay for provincial roads entirely, thereby leaving the counties to look after other roads.

Criticises Hydro.

E. R. Wigle Conservative, Centre Huron) said the U.F.O. had done its utmost to get rid of Premier Ferguson in politics. He wanted the establishment of an office in Detroit to convince Canadians going to the United States that Ontario held better chances for them. He complained of the differences in power rates in small towns to those in the cities.

"Hydro semes to work for the benefit of the large centres," he said.

Mr. Wigle said the farmer was no harder up than other businesses. He was not in favour of the Province paying 100 per cent. on provincial roads.

Debate Concluded.

On a straight party vote, the Government forces carried Premier Ferguson's amendment to the address, expressing confidence in the Ferguson administration. Hon. Manning Doherty's want of confidence amendment was lost on the same division. The debate last only eight working days, which is something of a record.

Determined to bring on the Budget at to-day's session, Premier Ferguson declined the request of Peter Heenan, Labor member for Kenora, for leave to adjourn the debate on the address, compelling a night sitting.

As a Northern Ontario man, Mr. Heenan assailed the Government for appointing, under the guise of an under secretary for the north country, what he interpreted to be a "Northern Ontario Conservative organizer." He declared that Port Arthur could no more afford to have its representative wandering off into other constituencies than the other constituencies would brook his interference. Outstanding in nearly a dozen speeches which marked the wind-up of the debate on the address was the contribution of E. Proulx, Liberal member for Prescott, who urged that the Government seriously take hold of some of the problems affecting agriculture and co-operate with the Federal authorities in assisting marketing and immigration effort.

A Large Deficit

Just how new government can have arrived at its supposed conclusions must remain a mystery until Provincial Treasurer Price delivers his budget speech in the legislature this afternoon but discussions among private Conservative members have it that Mr. Price will announce an astounding deficit in Provincial finances.

It is said that deficit is to exceed a dozen millions, indeed one unofficial authority has it that it is to be no less true than $15,000,000 which, if true, will perhaps constitute a record not only for Ontario but for every other Province. With the announcement is to come a denunciation of the financial methods of the Drury Government and the former Provincial Treasurer.

It is also said among Conservative that there will be no new taxation to be announced by provincial treasurer.

50 HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS RELIEVED OF RUM FLASKS.

PHILADELPHIA, February 19.—Police and Prohibition agents interrupted a High School fraternity dance at a prominent West Philadelphia hotel, relieved about 50 of the young men of pocket flasks alleged to contain whisky, and then ejected them from the hotel.

A total of 35 quarts of whisky was seized, the police said.

The raid was made on complaint of the hotel management. The raiders lined the male contingent along the wall and searched them, piling a varied assortment of pocket flasks on the floor.

No arrests were made.

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

DELHI, British India., Feb. 18.—The Legislative Assembly to-day adopted by a vote of 76 to 48, the resolution of the Swarajists or Home-Rulers, demanding a round-table conference to discuss the question of granting India a fuller measure of self-government.

PERCY TOWNSHIP WOMAN PASSES HER HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY MID FLOWERS

Mrs. Minerva Benedict Rounds Out Century of Years in Home of Her Daughter at Bradley's Corners — Bedridden With Paralysis But All Her Mental Faculties Are Clear.

UNEVENTFUL LIFE

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19. — Lying on her bed in a sunny room in the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. P. Spafford, near Bradley's Corners, in Percy Township, Mrs. Minerva Benedict spent the 100th anniversary of her birth on Monday. The room in which she has been confined to her bed for over two years was fitted with flowers sent in by relatives and friends. On account of the state of Mrs. Benedict's health no formal celebration was held, but many friends called during the day to offer their congratulations, while others at a distance sent in birthday cards and floral offerings. Mrs. Benedict had a few bright words of welcome for all her callers and readily recalled the names of some visitors whom she had not seen for months.

Among those who called at the Spafford home on Sunday were Mrs. David Sayles of Warkworth and her two daughters. Miss Ina Sayles and Mrs. H. White, the latter of Campbellford. Visitors on Monday included Rev. Wesley Elliott of Campbellford, William Jordan and wife of the same place, Mrs. Jordan being a niece of Mrs. Benedict; Mrs. Fred. Simmons of Colborne, daughter of Mrs. Spafford, and the former's daughter, Mrs. A. Weeks, great-granddaughter of Mrs. Benedict; and Abijah Sayles of Warkworth. Among those who sent flowers and other remembrances were Ben. Mills of Wilton, near Napanee, a nephew of the aged lady and brother of Mrs. Jordan of Campbellford; his son, Fremont Mills, and Mrs. Emma Lott, Toronto, a niece. Mrs. Cecil Gannon, Hamilton, sent congratulations and a box of candy. Among the most beautiful floral offerings were a bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Palliser of Campbellford, who knew Mrs. Benedict when she resided here, and a bunch of home-made roses and buds from Mrs. E. J. Weeks of Colborne, who sent all the way to Winnipeg for the flowers.

Her Case is Remarkable.

The case of Mrs. Benedict is regarded as remarkable by the members of the medical profession who have studied it. In spite of her great age her vitality is remarkable. All of her organs are normal, she eats and sleeps well and her sight and hearing are still good. Up to five years ago she was active and vigorous, but she suffered a stroke of paralysis that partially crippled her. Two years ago last October she had a second stroke, which deprived her of the use of her limbs, and she has been bedridden ever since. She is always glad to receive visitors and to hear the news of the neighborhood.

Born Near Napanee.

The family circle to which Mrs. Benedict belongs is growing smaller, as she has outlived all her four brothers and three sisters, every one of whom lived to an advanced age. Her father, Elias Mills, was over 90 at the time of his death. Mrs. Spafford is Mrs. Benedict's only child.

Mrs. Benedict was born near Napanee on February 18, 1824 and has lived to own allegiance to five British sovereigns. When she was young her family removed to Hastings County, near Belleville, where she afterwards met and married Elias Benedict. The young couple started life on a farm near Tweed, where they remained until Mr. Benedict was obliged to give up active work on account of old age. They bought 12 acres of land at Bradley's Corners, but sold this property and moved to Campbellford, where they resided on Grand road until the death of Mr. Benedict about 12 years later. Since the death of her husband Mrs. Benedict has made her home with her daughter.

While a resident of Campbellford Mrs Benedict was a devoted and consistent member of the Methodist Church, and her name is still on the roll. She appreciated the visit of Rev. Wesley Elliott, and while the latter prayed at her bedside the aged woman showed by her responses that she was following the petition closely and that she understood every reference to herself.

Her 100 years of life have been uneventful. Her story is that of a Christian woman who spent her days on a farm, and the great age which she has attained is the best evidence that she lived well, free from either worry or remorse.

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day; helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred. Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

Sails Without Cargo.

If the strike continues, neither the Tyrrhenia nor the Doric will be able to sail next Saturday.

The Metagama will put to sea on Friday without any cargo on board.

More than 30,000 dockers are idle here, in addition to 2,000 warehousemen. Hundreds of Mersey tugmen also have joined the strikers, so that work is at a complete standstill, except at the cattle wharf in Birkenhead, where cattle from Ireland can walk ashore from the transport vessels without the aid of the dockers.

During the week-end six cargo vessels arrived in the Mersey, and large quantities of fruit and other perishables on board will go to waste if the strike is prolonged.

FRANC SUFFERED FRESH COLLAPSE

Chamber of Deputies Held Stormy Session That Lasted All Night

PARIS, Feb. 19.—(British United Press, by Webb Miller, Staff Correspondent.) — The franc suffered a fresh collapse to-day, crashing from 23.80 to the dollar at the opening to 22.00 at 11.10 a.m.

The pound sterling was quoted at 101 francs, 80 centimes at the opening and 103.70 at 11.10 a.m.

Conditions in the money market were described as "panicky."

The Chamber of Deputies was in stormy session in a frantic discussion of the situation until 5.30 a.m. Just before the adjournment the tired legislators, worn from a night of hectic argument, at times featured by the wildest debate, adopted 25 articles of the government financial problem.

The discussion of 81 other articles will be continued on Wednesday. Further difficulties are feared regarding the proposed new prices on tobacco (a government monopoly) and the proposed monopoly on matches.

Ottawa Appeals Mrs. Hardy's Income Case.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—An appeal against the recent decision of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, which ruled that Mrs. Dorothy Fulford Hardy, of Elizabethtown, Ont., wife of Senator H. C. Hardy was not liable for income assessment on $100,000 was this morning taken by F. B. Proctor, the city solicitor. The appeal against the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board's decision will be heard in the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

VINDICTIVE IN PROSECUTION OF J.B. McLACHLAN

Labor Member of the Nova Scotia Legislature Charges the Attorney-General With Undue Animus — Referred to Congratulation From Steel Company President

Revoke Besco Charter.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 19.—Charging Attorney-General O'Hearn with "unusual vindictiveness" in prosecuting J. S. McLachlan, the Cape Breton labor leader, now serving a two-year sentence in Dorchester Penitentiary for seditious libel, Foreman Waye, Labor member for Cape Breton county in the Nova Scotia Legislature, attacked the government yesterday when the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was resumed.

The Attorney-General, said Mr. Waye, changed the original charge on which McLachlan was arrested last July, one of "spreading false tales" to that of seditious libel," in order to prevent McLachlan from proving his statement that the Provincial police had conducted themselves in an "outrageous manner" during the Sydney steel strike last year. Mr. Waye claimed that McLachlan could have done this had he been tried on the original charge. He further charged the Attorney-General with having "taken advantage of a technicality in law" to have McLachlan arrested in Cape Breton county and prosecuted in Halifax county.

Denied Statement.

Mr. Waye declared that the Attorney-General had been vindictive, in that he had stated that he was ready to "lock horns with McLachlan," Mr O'Hearn denied having made this statement and the denial lead to a lively interchange involving the Labor Member, the Attorney-General, the Premier (Hon. E. E. Armstrong) and eventually the Speaker, who ruled that Mr. Waye "must accept the denial of the Attorney General."

In the course of his address, Mr. Waye stated that Mr. O'Hearn had, at the conclusion of the McLachlan trial, received a congratulatory telegram from Roy Wolvin, president of the British Empire Steel Corporation in Montreal, and asked if it was "not peculiar that Mr. Wolvin, the head of a corporation that was squeezing the life blood out of the province, could be so interested in the prosecution of McLachlan, that he would have something in common with the Nova Scotian government, to the extent of sending a telegram of congratulation.

Didn't Answer Telegram.

To this Mr. O'Hearn replied that he had not sought, expected, anticipated or answered the telegram.

Following his address, Mr. Waye introduced an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, "that in the opinion of this House legislation should be brought down immediately to revoke the charter of the British Empire Steel Corporation, and to re-vest the assets in the constituent companies, and to deal with its securities on terms just and equitable to the holders thereof."

Certified Copies of Birth Certificates of the Widow Simpson and Her Young Husband, Giving Her Birth Date as Jan. 1, 1875, and His as Dec. 8, 1906.

WHEN Mrs. Susan O. Simpson wealthy widow, recently eloped with and married 17-year-old Burton S. Tucker, gossiping acquaintances of the bride lost no time telling the world at large that young Tucker had picked for a wife a woman almost three times as old as himself.

"Susie's not a day over thirty-five!" cried "Bud" Tucker indignantly.

True, the eloping widow didn't resemble a flapper. But her plump and vivacious face scarcely "registered" the almost-fifty charge which had been made.

No crow's-feet marred the corners of the eyes. From nose to mouth ran no heavy lines. The cheeks were fresh and firm. Only a somewhat pronounced double chin testified to her budding maturity.

A subsequent official investigation conducted in the courts of New Jersey and Massachusetts has proved Mrs. Tucker to be, not thirty-five, but forty-eight. How, then, inquired the gossips, had she "gotten away with it"? The answer, long concealed, is simple, and may prove surprising to her friends. The rich widow Simpson, before her romantic elopement with young Tucker, had been cunningly and painstakingly "made over." The facts of how she went about the process are presented here for the first time.

Mrs. Simpson, owner of a New York hotel and a distant relative of young Tucker, had made friends with him over ice-cream sodas in a West Gloucester, Mass., drugstore last Summer. One of her several homes is in that town. "Bud" lived with his parents at South Essex, Mass.

The next New England heard of them, the news of their marriage was telegraphed from Union Hill, N. J. They had motored there and been wedded—swiftly and informally. Almost immediately, "Bud's" father, Joseph Tucker, the postmaster of Salem, Mass., protested.

An investigation was begun. Irregularities in the marriage license were found. A clerk in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Union Hill, admitted changing the date on the document after he had discovered that the law required a lapse of seventy-two hours between an application and a wedding.

But there were other flaws in the Tuckers' course of swift love and hasty union. In applying for a license, the Widow Simpson had given her age as forty-six. Her boy-bridegroom had declared that he was twenty-one. But birth certificates seldom lie, and those of the Tuckers, requisitioned from New England, showed that she was 48, and he was only 17.

Following the ceremony, the pair sequestered themselves in New Jersey. But, disturbed by the country-wide publicity given them, they fled South on a deferred honeymoon trip. And when they were indicted in New Jersey on charges of falsifying their ages, they decided to remarry.

At the second ceremony, performed at Carthage, N. C., they gave their correct ages, but this fact only strengthened the perjury action against them, Assistant Prosecutor McMahon, of Hudson County, declared.

On their return North, Mrs. Tucker became ill. She sought rest and refuge with friends in South Ridgefield, N. J.

As Susan Simpson, mature and weary widow, she had looked every day of her forty-eight years, acquaintances said. As Mrs. "Bud" Tucker, she was a totally different person. Gone was the haggard aspect around the eyes. Gone were the wrinkles and crow's-feet. Gone, too, were the sagging cheeks. Only the fulness at her throat remained.

To attain juvenility, she had visited a well-known New York specialist. The treatments had been swift. Of the four, the "draw and lift" was the most drastic employed. This was accomplished by snipping out long arcs of skin on both sides of the face. The surgeon began near the lobe of the ear, the cut extending within a quarter of an inch of the eye and continuing, in an inward curve, across the temple.

The suture corrected three conditions: crow's-feet vanished from around the eyes; the lines from nose to mouth were removed, and the lower part of the cheeks was lifted into plump firmness.

The second operation was an elliptical cut above the temple artery, to raise the eyebrows. The incision was a comparatively small one, but the results proved effective. The patient's temple became smooth and creaseless, and the curve of the hair on the eyebrow was made beautiful in contour.

The third and fourth operations affected the face below and above the eyes. Small bow-shaped arcs of skin were cut away between the upper lids and the brow and between the lower lids and the cheeks. The effect was to give the widow Simpson's eyes a wide-open, alert appearance.

Dr. W. Augustus Pratt, the specialist who performed the operations, refused to comment officially on his treatments of the rejuvenated bride, but interesting details of the process were learned. The "draw and lift" takes but twenty minutes. No knife is used. Delicate scissors, resembling those ordinarily seen on a manicurist's table, have a wire point with which to lift the skin.

The haemastatis forceps, or scissors, are used for cutting the heavy flesh. For eye operations, a finer pair is used.

A tiny hypodermic needle administers the local anaesthetic before the operation. It is sunk into the flesh near the place where the incision is to be made. To sew up the wound, the expert utilizes a Japanese silk which leaves practically no marks. To sew under and over the eyes, a fine cataract needle is the medium.

The "eye threads" are taken out within forty-eight hours after the operation. Four or five days—no longer—are required for the cheek incisions to heal completely. An antiseptic spray is the final touch. It is administered around the incisions, even saturating the hair and making it germ-proof.

And, presto! the impatient patient—whether she be Mrs. Tucker or another—is ready for a glimpse of herself in the reassuring mirror, delighted to discover that she has lost ten years, at the cost of slight discomfort—plus a substantial fee.

"Close-Up" of the "Under-the-Eye" Operation. A Similar Operation Helped to Make the Widow Simpson Appear Ten Years Younger. The Surgeon, Dr. W. A. Pratt, Is Shown Completing the Incision.

P. C. I. STUNT

Thursday afternoon in the Assembly Hall of the P.C.I., the stunt of IIIA was staged, as their entertainment for the Literary Society and as their effort for the stunt competition banner.

These are all girls in IIIA and the girls revealed in fine style what they could do. The costumes were splendid, varying from the old maid attire of the mission band meeting, to the snappy dress of the flapper. Alida Stinson and Thelma Wiley, with hair greased and the little moustache, were the typical cake-eater. Vera Wagar as Mrs. Harper an old bonneted lady with spectacles and ear trumpet, was the best in the show and kept the audience in laughter at her high pitched singing. Anna Heidman was splendid as the masterly Mrs. Peck, and Ruth Abramson as Susan. The scenery was superior to any in the other stunts.

This play of IIIA will certainly rank high when the judges come to make their decision as to which form the stunt banner shall adorn next year.

Logging Camps Take Up Few Surplus Men.

A report from the Employment Bureau for the week shows that the employment situation in the city is about the same as last week. During the week there were 28 new applicants and 26 placements. The situation when compared with that of other cities in Canada is about the same, with the factories taking on very few men. The bureau has received quite a number of orders for farm help, but the farmers want to hire the men mostly for the season. There is also a considerable amount of wood cutting in the surrounding district and last week quite a number of men sent to Bethany and Indian River to small logging camps.

MANY KILLED IN BIG FIRE

When Five Storey Building Went Up in Smoke Thirteen Lost Their Lives.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. Canadian Press. — Thirteen lives were snuffed out in a few minutes in a fire believed to have been of incendiary origin which early to-day swept from the basement to the roof of a five story tenement in the heart of New York's lower east side Ghetto.

Seven of those who lost their lives were children.

A blaze fanned by a draught from the tenement's open front door, flared up the staircase, blocking the escape of eight families who ocupied the building.

Some of those in the upper stories awakened to find the flames at the bedside. They met death before they could even try to brave a dash through the roaring furnace with which they were confronted.

The families on the lower floors retreated in a panic to the windows from which they managed to reach safety. Several were badly burned, and many were injured in the fall.

Of the dead five were boys and two girls, four women and two men. The charred body of a baby was found at the breast of its dead mother.

The fire was discovered by a police man who saw Louis Choenfield, a newsvendor, rushing from the entrance with three men at his heels. He took all four to the police station.

Dr. Charles Rubenstein of Gouverneur Hospital, recognized Choenfield as the man he had treated several times for epileptic seizures, and who had come to him last night one hour before the fire was discovered.

A PETERBORO MAN IN POLICY CLAIM

Aftermath of the Home Bank Smash Reflected in Company's Action.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—An echo of the Home Bank smash came to light here yesterday.

It appears that an aged policyholder of a large assurance company who had held a policy for over fifty years lost heavily in the failure of the bank.

He appealed to the president of the assurance company for relief from further payments of premiums.

Mr. T. B. Macaulay brought the matter before the board of directors of The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, with the result that the management was authorized by a special allotment of surplus funds to convert life policies that had been in force fifty years, the holders of which were 80 years of age or over, into matured endowments.

Mr. Macaulay felt that these aged policyholders had contributed to the prosperity of the company and should, therefore, be given special consideration, particularly as the surplus funds have shown an exceptional increase. Policies held under similar conditions will, no doubt, be treated in the same manner every year.

In each case, of course, the policyholder's consent is required, but needless to say all who came under this fortunate ruling were more than willing to cease paying premiums and accept a cheque for a handsome sum in exchange. Many letters of appreciation have been received.

Dr. S. P. Robins, LL.D., the well-known educationist of this city, was among those to benefit, for he held an old policy with the Sun Life. He paid total premiums of $988, and the other day, on his 91st birthday, received a cheque for $1,139, although under the terms of the policy the money was not due until after death.

Among those to benefit are the following: Michael Gorman, 322 Maple Avenue, Fembroke, Ont.; Louis Alexander Seers, Chateauguay, Que.; Louis Bellerive, St. Barnabe, Que.; James Cradock Simpson, 120 St. James Street, Montreal; C. J. C. Wurtele, 82 King Street, Sorel; Charles E. Gagon, 222 Villeneuve Street, Montreal; E. G. Laverdure, Ottawa; Joshua Smithson, Peterboro, Ont.; George M. Loy, Valleyfield; David Bentley, 41 Bleury Street, Montreal; Dr. Duncan McEachran, Ormstown, P.Q.; Dr. S. P. Robins, LL.D., 94 St Matthew Street, Montreal; J. B. Avila Richard, Three Rivers; Archibald MacLean, Sarnia, Ont.; Archdeacon T. Appleby, Tacoma, Wash., U.S.A.; David Wylie, 1653 Waterloo Street, Los Angeles, California.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL VERY NON-COMMITTAL

Wants to Keep His Resignation a Secret Until All Newspapers Have Published It.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Whether or not Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor-General, has offered to resign from the Government because of business transactions between his legal firm and the Home Bank, is open to question When he emerged from the Privy Council chamber last evening at the close of the Cabinet meeting, Mr. McMurray was informed that certain newspapers had announced that he had offered to resign.

"Is it true?" he was asked.

"It's as true as most newspaper stories," Mr. McMurray replied.

"But have you offered to resign?"

"I've given my answer. That's all I have to say," said Mr. McMurray and disappeared down the corridor in the direction of his office.

CHECKS AND PLAIDS

W eare facing a season of checks and plaids, so far as topcoats and sport costume sare concerned. No stripe is too wide, no check too deep to find favour in fashion's eye. With such ornate fabrics all form of trimming is rendered unnecessary and the lines are as uncomplicated as possible.

A novel collar is introduced on the smart coat of grey and white striped wool and a narrow cape falls below the waistline in the back. The three-piece costume shows the popular sports dress of the day with an added attraction in the way of a fringed panel and a smart cape fastening snuggly about the throat.

Both these costumes are good for town as well as for country wear.

Cannot Speak Too Highly of Your Medicine

So Says Mr. and Mrs. T. Armstrong After Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sprucedale, Ont., Feb. 18.—(Special).—"I thought I would write and tell you how much your Dodd's Kidney Pills have helped both my husband and myself. We have used several boxes and they have helped us wonderfully. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine."

This testimonial comes from Mrs. T. Armstrong, of this place—well known and highly respected resident.

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest, is that so many of the ordinary everyday ills comes from sick kidneys. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Urinary troubles, Diabetes and Heart Disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys. Insist on having Dodd's the Kidney Pill your neighbours use.

Feb. 19, 1882—Dr. Egerton Ryerson, first Minister of Education for the province of Ontario, and known as the founder of Ontario's educational system died in Toronto on this date.

Dr. Ryerson was born near London, Ont., in March, 1803. He was a school teacher in his early manhood; was editor of the Methodist weekly, the Christian Guardian for some time; was the first President of Victoria College; was superintendent of Schools, and finally Minister of Education. He was appointed to the latter position shortly after Confederation.

Register All Letters If They Are Valuable.

The Post Office registration system is designed to afford maximum protection to valuable letters. Every possible measure is taken to ensure the absolute safety of registered mails and so successful has the Post Office been in perfecting the registration system that

Not One Registered Article In Forty Thousand Is Lost.

When you register a letter you are given a numbered receipt and the same number is stamped on the letter. From that time until the letter is finally delivered a complete record is kept of the handling. Every clerk who receives it has to sign for it, and he in turn gets a receipt before he passes it on.

Naturally this is an expensive procedure but it is done so that your registered mail may be given absolute security.

In the exceptional case when registered mail is actually lost the sender is protected to the extent of the value of the article up to $25.00.

FOR YOUR OWN PROTECTION THE POST OFFICE ASKS YOU TO REGISTER ALL LETTERS OF VALUE.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—According to the financial Post of recent date, taken from the Public Accounts, the revenue raised from war taxes alone for the year 1922, was $177,484,161 and the year 1923 was $181,634,875. The war tax for the year 1923 was made up as follows:

Banks	$ 1,244,437
Trust and Loan	312,391
Insurance	13,031,462
Income Tax	59,711,538
Sales Tax and Tax on cheques, etc.	106,482,718
Sundries	842,329

After taking from the net receipts the ordinary expenditures and advances made to such schemes as the Quebec Harbor, etc., the public debt of Canada has increased $31,641,067. Now, after raising $181,634,875 expressly to be applied on our war debt the debt of Canada has increased $31,641,067. When and how shall our debt be wiped out? To my mind there is only one way that is for each individual to assume their responsibility and elect into public office those who will not bleed the public treasury for their own personal advantage and those who they personally represent, but will try to save every possible farthing to the advantage of the country until the last cent of debt is overcome.

Personally I enjoy reading the opinions of others through the press. I think that it is the duty of every loyal citizen to make expression of opinion, but we find a lot of opinions expressed over signature of Fair-Play, Citizen, Elector or Subscriber, etc., which would be more properly signed Coward. Now, I think that the press would be doing the public good service if they would refuse to print anything that has not a bone-fide signature. Thanking you, I remain yours, etc.,

W. MERRILL.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Education not force will make this nation temperate. The reason it is difficult to enforce the Temperance Act is that it states what is false in setting forth that any liquor containing over two and one-half per cent alcohol is intoxicating.

"If prohibition is to be upheld by the Canadian people," then they may be justly considered by the rest of the world as a nation of extremists. However, as this law was never endorsed by popular vote, we should not really be considered extremists. The reason it is difficult to enforce the Prohibition Act is that it states what is false. The Canadian people love the truth—will not uphold a lie.

The Prohibition Act says anything over two and one-half per cent of alcohol is intoxicating. Such might be to insects, but not people. Such a statement is not a scientific fact and could not be endorsed by such men as Huxley, Tyndall, Darwin, Liebig or any other man learned in science and chemistry.

Many common articles of food as buttermilk, catsup, grape juice, etc., contain a half per cent or more of alcohol. Most medicines contain several per cent of alcohol.

Some glycero compounds of lime and soda and phosphites contain six or eight per cent of alcohol, while most extracts and tinctures contain ten, twenty or more per cent of alcohol. Like the above medicines, liquors have their medical values, especially spiritous liquors, while malt and vinous liquors are largely foods and partly medicinal. None of these liquors may be considered specifics for the cure of any particular disease, nor is iron or strychnine, but like them are given to aid in the recovery from disease and infirmity.

A glass of ale given occasionally has cured a sick stomach and caused a desire for food that has made many weak persons strong and well, and certain wines have settled a sick stomach when everything else has failed.

Good wine by analysis is very like good milk and often can be taken by a weak stomach when milk could not be digested or retained.

The Canadian people are not in favor of the Prohibition Act or the bar as it was usually conducted in this country. They are opposed to the Prohibition Act because it is breeding intemperance, crime and disease and may eventually revolution; because the people will not submit to that which is false, unjust, unscientific and burdens them with disease, crime and taxation, while unjustly depriving them of their liberty.

However, the framers and supporters of the Prohibition Act do not care if you or I should die if we disagree with them. They do not care how many die from the poisonous liquors their law has caused to flood the country.

They are as heartless, senseless and bigoted as the ancients who burned at the stake those who did not agree with them in religion. It is the duty of government to protect the health and life of the governed. Repealing the Prohibition Act and allowing reputable hotels and restaurants to furnish with shelter and food, malt and vinous liquors of a moderate percentage of alcohol, will be prolonging the health, life and comfort of the governed. The spiritous liquors could be sold under government regulations to persons of temperate habits and good moral character in limited amounts.

Alcoholic liquors like fire and water, powder and dynamite, are good or bad, according to the good or bad use of the same and their control.

Education, not force, will make people temperate. The Prohibition Act should be repealed if for no other reason than that it has enabled and encouraged many in and out of office to corruptly accumulate wealth by the improper sale of injurious liquors.

Our government was not established by cranks and fanatics and we should not be governed by them, especially the preacher who recently said that any one taking a glass of intoxicating liquor was a traitor, a Benedict Arnold, and should be imprisoned.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

THOS. H. AITKEN,
East City.

Will Take Off All Excess Fat

Do you know that there is a simple, harmless, effective remedy for overfatness that may be used safely and secretly by any man or woman who is losing the slimness of youth? There is; and it is none other than the tablet form of the now famous Marmola Prescription, known as the Marmola Prescription Tablets. You can well expect to reduce steadily and easily without going through long seiges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar a box or you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit Mich., on receipt of price.

ONTARIO'S ROADS WILL GO FORWARD

As Far as the New Government is Concerned Says S. L. Squires.

TORONTO, February 19. — Announcement that there would be no backward step in the highway construction of Ontario, so far as the new government was concerned, was made last night at the anual meeting of the Ontario Motor League by S. L. Squires, deputy minister of highways, who appeared in the absence of Hon. George S. Henry, and made pronouncement upon this important phase of public activity.

The policy of the new government broadly speaking would be that they would hold what they had, though Mr. Squires feared that owing to the financial situation of the province, it would be necessary to confine work during 1924 largely to maintenance.

"At the same time," Mr. Squires declared, "it will not be a case of walking backward."

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

For Tuesday—Run cut .....

Enough social contact to produce a growing acquaintance is an asset; more than that is a liability.

The best business ethics of today frown upon extravagant methods of obtaining business.

Not so long ago, it was quite good usage to entertain customers and prospects with a lavish hand. Now these same customers have learned that they are the ones who will ultimately pay (by increased prices), for such excessive hospitality. They may still accept invitations occasionally but they sidestep order-giving.

Many men feel they must carry membership in a large number of clubs "for business reasons." While this has value, it is wise to check up occasionally and make sure money spent in this way is well invested.

Although it always pays to be polite, a man is likely to lose business by being too much of a "good fellow."

NEWSPAPERS EXCEL

A Southern newspaper recently sent out a questionnaire to leading advertising men around the country, asking them to enumerate reasons why the newspapers should be used as a media for advertising.

Naturally, many reasons were given, but from the many responses the following six were chosen as the best. You may find some real food for thought among them.

Newspaper reading is a universal daily habit; newspaper advertising therefore reaches every day virtually all who buy.

Newspaper advertising is the life blood of local trade because it touches all consumer sources in every community. It gives the national advertiser the same opportunity for complete consumer appeal in any locality.

Newspaper advertising cuts selling costs because it entails no waste in locality of circulation. Manufactures using it cover markets where it is profitable to do business.

Newspaper advertising insures quick, thorough and economical dealer distribution and dealer good-will, because retailers are willing to sell products advertised direct to their own customers.

Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to tell where their products may be bought.

Newspaper advertising can be started and stopped over night, can be prepared between days to meet certain developments and to obtain immediate results.

CURTAIN MATERIAL.

Toile de Jouy, a fabric hitherto more popular for curtains and upholstery than for personal use, has suddenly become a favorite for frocks and even coats.

TO SET COLOR.

To se, the color in blue fabrics soak for several hours in water to which vinegar has been added in the proportion of one cup to each gallon of water.

FRESH ROSES.

Roses require very cold water to keep them fresh, hence they are best kept in a large vase as a small quantity of water gets warm much sooner than a large amount.

Ontario mothers Declare Vicks Wonderful for Cold Troubles

IN the columns adjoining are given the actual experiences of a number of Ontario families who have adopted the use of Vicks VapoRub since it was introduced here last winter.

Though new here, Vicks is old in the States, where over 17 million jars are used yearly—for croup, children's colds, babies' colds, adults' colds, catarrh, sore throat, bronchitis and all other such troubles down to incipient pneumonia.

A Vapor Lamp in Salve Form

Vicks is an ingenious combination in salve form, of the world's best remedies for congestion and inflammation. It contains Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Oil of Turpentine and other volatile oils, which are released as vapors when the salve is acted upon by the heat of the body. These vapors are taken with each breath, into the nose, throat and lungs, clearing the passages, loosening phelgm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time, the application acts like a liniment, poultice or plaster, drawing the blood away from the congested parts and relieving that soreness and tightness.

Double Direct Action Brings Quick Results

This treatment often gives amazingly quick results. Colds vanish overnight. Croup is relieved inside of 15 minutes. Or one application at bed-time may keep croup away altogether. For deep chest colds, bordering on bronchitis or pneumonia, it is unexcelled. Melted in a spoon and inhaled, Vicks clears the head instantly. Fine for nasal catarrh and mouth-breathing at night.

Vicks is especially favored in homes where there are young children. Its use does away with dosing for colds—saves their delicate stomachs. It is not necessary, as with vapor lamps, to close the windows at night.

Vicks is equally good for cuts, burns, sores, bruises, bites, stings and skin itchings. Thus it is useful every day in the home.

ASTHMA

Mr. William E. Payton of 320 King street, Peterborough Ont., writes: "I was very bad with asthmas one night. I was using a remedy, but it brought no relief. I thought of Vicks so I gave my chest a good rubbing and inserted a little in the nostrils. In less than fifteen minutes I was relieved and slept the whole night. I recommend Vicks to everyone suffering from asthma or a cold."

CATARRH

Mrs. S. M. Barnett of 28 Wellington street, Lindsay, Ont., says: "I cannot praise Vicks VapoRub too highly. It is a wonderful preventive for colds. A little applied to the nostrils each night before retiring kept me from having a cold all last winter. Vicks is also beneficial for catarrh and has greatly relieved me."

HEAD COLDS

Miss Noreen McPherson of 470 George street N., Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I tried Vicks VapoRub and find it very satisfactory indeed. I used it for cold in the head by melting some in a spoon and inhaling the vapors. I also used it for chest colds, and find it all that it is claimed to be."

COUGHS

Mrs. Henry Hearns of Castleton, Ont., says: "I had been bothered with my chest and a nasty cough for a long time. I rubbed my chest with Vicks and it did me a great deal of good. My son also used Vicks for cracked lips and it helped them very much."

BRONCHITIS

Mr. J. W. Milligan of Demorestville, Ont., writes: "My daughter came home from school with a sore throat and bronchitis. She applied Vicks on her chest and put a flannel over it. She was much better the next morning. The application was repeated for two more nights and she was entirely well and able to return to school. I will always have Vicks in the house."

CHEST COLDS

Mr. Richard Smith of 236 Celina street, Oshawa, Ont., writes: "I am pleased to say that Vicks VapoRub completely rid me of a cold which I had on my chest. I rubbed it on first, then put on a hot flannel, which I left on over night. I found it to be very good."

CHILDREN'S COLDS

Mrs. Rose Robertson of 83 Durham street W. Lindsay, Ont., says: "After trying different remedies for children's colds, I tried Vicks VapoRub and it proved very satisfactory. I can recommend it to all mothers as a dependable household remedy."

CROUP

Mrs. James Bathgate, Route No. 1, Lonsdale, Ont., writes: "I used Vicks VapoRub on my little girl who had croup at night. I rubbed her throat and chest twice and the croup was gone. Vicks is also very good for loosening a cold."

A SERMON IN MURRAY STREET

(By REV. C. W. ROSE, D.D.)

On Sunday morning last in Murray Street Baptist Church, Rev. Mr. Rose took as his texts John xvii., 21; Romans xii., 4. 5, and Romans xv., 5, 6. He said:

Lest there should be misunderstanding from the beginning, let me state that my object in bringing this subject before you is to create confidence in the union movement and an atmosphere favorable to its development. There is no desire on my part to present a basis of union so wide as to include all men regardless of their belief, character and purpose in life. But rather a basis for those who have become partakers of the Divine nature and who are now seeking to live in harmony with the spirit and purpose of Christ; not a great mechanical union void of the ideals and spirit of Christ, but a union of heart in the great work which Christ has given all to do, a union based on character, which is based on Christ's regenerating work in the new birth—a Christian union.

The Prominence of the Movement

This movement is probably the most prominent and pressing in the Christian world at this moment. It is here to stay until settled in harmony with God's will, Christ's prayer and the eternal welfare of countless numbers of souls. The Anglicans in what is known as the Lambeth Quadrilateral, held in the year 1888, first seriously considered the subject. At the present time in Canada the Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists are the recognized leaders. Every denomination through out the world is feeling the power of this movement and is seeking wisely to adjust itself to it. The place which it now has may be made clear by the following facts:

There is scarcely a convention of any denomination which has not during the last few years given it a place on the program. Religious and secular periodicals are giving it greater prominence every year. A body of literature is now coming into existence bearing on it. Increasing numbers of men with marked ability and deep spirituality in all our denominations are openly and wholeheartedly espousing it and believing that the salvation of the world in this, or any other generation for that matter, is contingent upon its consummation. The prominence of this movement is now so evident that men whose ears have not been to the ground or eyes toward the east are one with those who have been working and watching for it, in declaring that it is here. From all parts of the world come statements like these: "There is a wave of keen desire passing over the entire Christian world, Greek, Roman, Anglican and Protestant." "There is no note so strong in the ecclesiastical song as union." It is upon us and it is a prophecy surely of the day when His people shall be one in some real and satisfactory sense. The winter wheat may be frozen in the drill and frequently swept by the winter storms, but when the summer sun has done its work the roots will be found closely interlaced and the drills lost sight of in the broad fields of the ripened grain. So under the influence of the sun of righteousness we are to see a better day, a day of rapid growth and abundant fruitage.

Statements of Some Strong Men

In connection with the prominence of the movement let me mention the names and convictions of some men n regard to it.

Doctor Gandier says: "A united church would be richer and broader in its expression of truth, more completely the body of Christ and more effectively the body of the Spirit than any one of the uniting churches."

Bishop Anderson, of Chicago, has this to say on the subject: "The reunion of Christendom is no perilous pursuit. It would heal wounds, build up the body, and restore that unity which characterized the church when she first started out to win the world to Christ. A disunited, disjointed individualistic Christianity, where every church and where every man is an independent unit, can not stand up against the highly organized conditions of to-day. The reunion of Christendom is the future task of Christianity."

Right Rev. Charles D. Williams, D. D., Bishop of Michigan: "This land cannot be conquered for Christ or won to God by distracted sects and denominations, each pursuing its own independent policy and line of action regardless of all others, and often in open and jealous rivalry of all others—I confess I have little patience and less sympathy with these who proclaim and even boast of the benefits of the divided denominationalism, who claim that it is only in the rivalry and competition, and often the jealousy between denominations, that we can find the motive for zeal and secure the purity of our views desired. As I view the situation I must say frankly that these alleged advantages are infinitesimal and negligible when compared with the enormous economic waste of our divided energies and policies, the utter loss of dignity and discipline in the Christian Church, the diminution of power and efficiency, the divided front in the face of common and terrible moral and social evils, and above all the un-Christian bitterness, jealousy and strife that result inevitably from our lack of unity and even comity."

Doctor Alexander McLaren, of Manchester, adds: "I would venture to say that in the conditions of thought, and the tendencies of things in our land, it is more than ever needful that Christian people should close ranks and stand shoulder to shoulder. For men who believe in a supernatural revelation, in the Divine Christ, in an atoning sacrifice, in an indwelling spirit, are guilty of suicidal folly, if they let the comparative trivialities that part them separate God's army into isolated groups in the face of the ordered battalions that are assaulting these great truths. And for us, fidelity to our testimony and loyalty to our Master, to say nothing about common sense and the instinct of self preservation, command Christian people in this day to say more and to think more and to make more of the great verities which they all possess in common."

Rev. J. E. Roberts, successor to McLaren in Manchester, speaking before the Baptist Alliance of the World, June, 1911, said: "The evangelization of cities is impossible so long as different denominations hold aloof from one another and work on independent lines. We must close our ranks. Aloofness is played out. A church that would save its life must lose it. Absorption in the quest of denominational success quenches the passion for the Kingdom, but a church that is content to lose its own denominational life in the search for the shining city will discover its own fitness and will possess its own truth."

Some Causes

Here we may well ask: "What are the causes of this rising tide of interest in a united Christendom?" Some of these can be at once named. The first is a more thorough study of the Bible, which reveals many things overlooked by such good men as the Reformers. For example, they did not see missions in the Bible. This more careful and comprehensive study has brought to light texts which support by a natural and unforced interpretation, views which were held as being without the least scriptural warrant. Arminianism and Calvinism, Post-Millennialism and Pre-Millennialism are illustrations which make this clear and the need of patience and charity with those who differ from us. The second cause for the change of feeling toward others is the study of the history of their churches and association with them which reveals their belief in the scriptures and their love for them. The splendid fruits seen in changed lives and self-sacrificing efforts lead one to feel that we are already one people. Charles Lamb once said to a friend, "Don't introduce me to that man. I want to go on hating him and I can't if I know him." Our introduction to men of different denominations, through the great missionary movements of the time, through our works of temperance and moral reform, our Sunday School conventions and our Youny Men's Christian Associations have caused many to recognize others as brethren in the Lord. While we were kept apart it was easy to misjudge and to be lieve many unlovely things concerning others, but since we have come together in common effort we have discovered that we are already building on Christ the one foundation, that we are branches in the one vine, that we are members of the one Body of which Christ is the head. A third cause of the present union movement is the discovery that we have been more exacting than God Himself. Men whom we have considered not qualified to be members in our churches God has considered qualified for the most signal service as missionaries, ministers and educationalists. To them the Holy Spirit has been given and abundant tokens of Divine favor. What God has cleansed and signally honored we are led not to call common nor unclean nor to exclude from the scope of our desired fellowship. The fourth cause for union is the discovery of as great differences in belief and practice between the members of one denomination as between different denominations. That this is so, is evident. For example, the difference between a strong Pre. and Post - Millennialist is greater than the difference between a Baptist and a Methodist, Congregationalist or Presbyterian. Where the latter would disagree once the former would many times. Yet in many of our churches we find the first living and working together, supporting the same pastor and giving to the same denominational objects. The discovery that this can be done, is done, and will be done, leads many to believe in the desirability and workability of a larger union. A fifth cause is the discovery that many who differ from us are most Christlike in their manner of life and that when subjected to the test which Jesus gave, that is the obedience test, they stand out most conspicuously. "By their fruits ye shall know them," said Jesus and by their fruits we have discovered that those who bear different names and subscribe to different creeds are not thorns and thistles, but trees planted in the garden of the Lord by His own hand. A sixth cause which is having a mighty influence in this direction with thoughtful people is the belief that the Christian forces are not making the best use of the men, money or moments at their disposal. So strongly is this felt that men of means are turning their money more and more proportionately from denominational channels to endeavors of an interdenominational character. This, in turn, is forcing the union movement. There is no prospect of this lessening, but rather of being accelerated. Christian men in increasing numbers are becoming impatient with the delay in doing the work assigned God's people. One of them, who occupies a prominent place in the business life of Western Ontario, said: "There are many men who can look after little things. We want men who can see the big things and do big things, as well as the little." That is the felt need of the hour, the whole world for Christ. At present, because of our differences there is no social, educational or missionary campaign that is commensurate with the strength of Christendom when united. Hence the call for the whole Church to be led against the foes of mankind. We do not despise the day of small things except when little thoughts and deeds stand in the way of imperial thinking and doing in keeping with the example and commands of Jesus.

Some Big Barriers in The Way

If Christians are ever to see eye to eye, it cannot be with closed eyes. If they are ever to arrive at a working agreement it will not be by any one party outwitting another; not by cunning concealments; not by bold dashes, but by plain, open efforts, the truth toward which God's providences have now been pointing these many years will be reached. As some of these barriers are considered it will be wise for each to offer a silent prayer asking that prejudices be arrested and that the truth may be discovered which will lead the scattered members of Christ's true Church out of their House of Bondage and make of them a conquering, blessing people. Today many are bearing burdens which are hardly worth the bearing; many are exhausting themselves in competitive endeavor; many under extreme pressure are doing violence to their high sensibilities and daily enfeebling the Church of God, many are engaged in a losing battle. This sight of the Church is one which should bring blood-red rears to the eyes of redeemed men and women and which should lead them by every way possible to work together with the Great Head of the Church in uniting again His people.

Some of the subjects which need to be frankly considered are the following: The christening of children, the mode of baptism, the Lord's Supper, and the Historic Episcopate. If Christians, on these subjects, could agree the rest would be comparatively easy.

The Christening of Children

That it was customary in Christ's time to present infants to the Lord in a formal service in the place of worship is well supported and very generally believed and practised. Baptists who until quite recent years had very strong convictions against such a service, are now in some of their larger churches regularly presenting their children to the Lord and using a ritual specially prepared but which, apart from the use of water, differs very little from those in common use in other communions. Those, however, among Baptists who favor this, do not think that it has saving value, or that the child in infancy needs to be saved, since it is at that time embraced in the work of Christ and is perfectly safe until such time as it sins. Baptists do not, as is generally believed they do, think the children are lost. They, in common with some other bodies, hold that baptism is for believers only and so feel it a great mistake to combine baptism with the dedication of the child. If all denominations could conscientiously adopt the scriptural custom of presenting children to the Lord, and do it without the use of water and call the service "The Dedication of the Child," this would meet the natural instincts of the parent's heart and at the same time lead many who have not done it to observe a long-neglected scriptural custom and to recognize more fully than they have their obligation for the careful religious training of the child from its earliest years. When agreement is reached here a start will be made toward organic union which will be full of promise.

The Mode of Baptism

The mode of baptism is a subject more "delicate and explosive" than any other considered. The controversies here by all parties concerned often have been most unworthy and bitter. Not once, nor twice, but scores of times they have paralyzed evangelistic effort and choked the life of Christ in the soul of the young convert. It is, however, generally agreed that baptism in or with water, in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, is an ordinance instituted by Christ and that it precedes the privileges and responsibilities of church relationships. That the symbol is secondary to the thing symbolized will also be readily conceded. There is, however, no more general agreement in regard to the mode than years ago. If there is ever to be a union the mode of baptism, whether by immersion or sprinkling, apparently, must be left to the individual conscience. If this liberty in regard to the mode be allowed and baptism follow belief, instead of precede it, as in many cases now, long steps will be taken toward a united church.

The Lord's Supper

Next we come to the Lord's Supper. Alfred Plummer, in an article in H. B. D., says: "There are few things more tragic in the history of Christ's church than that its central act of worship has for centuries been and still continues to be a subject for the keenest controversy and that Christians have cruelly persecuted and even put to death other Christians for not holding doctrines respecting the Lord's Supper which cannot be proved and which possibly are not true. The sacrament of love and life has become an instrument of hate and destruction because men have insisted upon possessing knowledge which cannot be possessed and upon explaining what cannot be explained." I wish only to add this—The observance of the Lord's Supper being one of our most central and sacred acts of worship there can be, in my judgment, no complete fellowship or union so long as we are kept apart here by votes on church books or by unwritten denials of admittance to His table which are generally held as being binding upon conduct and conscience. The question of open or close communion with Baptists is fast becoming a thing of the past. In the Motherland today most of our churches are open. In the Maritime Provinces it is no longer discussed. Among the Baptists in the Northern States it is now a matter with which they will have nothing more to do in their representative assemblies. It is still in the hands of the individual church but they will probably not discuss it further. The statement in the basis of union submitted and largely accepted by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches of Canada is acceptable. It reads: "The Lord's Supper is the sacrament of communion with Christ and with His people in which bread and wine are given and received in thankful remembrance of Him and His sacrifice on the cross and they who in faith receive the same do, after a spiritual manner, partake of the body and the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ to their comfort, nourishment and growth in grace. All may be admitted who make a credible confession of their faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and of obedience to His law."

The Historic Episcopate

The Historic Episcopate as it is generally understood is also one of the big barriers to the speedy consummation of the union movement. By the Episcopate is meant a line of bishops going back to apostolic times, who by prayer and the imposition of hands were consecrated and sent forth with lawful authority to work and in turn to consecrate other bishops and to ordain priests and deacons. This belief, however, only becomes a barrier when it is interpreted as meaning that the ministers outside of such ordination, even though they have been most solemnly and decorously ordained by godly men are not qualified to preach in Anglican pulpits. The present movement throughout the country to open the pulpit is full of promise. To expect union without its success is most clearly to expect the impossible. To interpret Episcopacy as increasing numbers do in that church and other churches as a body of men, set apart by the Holy Spirit, and who as such are in the real apostolic succession is to prepare the way for union. That Anglicans with others may be able to so modify their views of the scriptures on these points as to make possible the coming together of the Church of God throughout the whole earth is our hope and prayer. For if the scriptures on the points which separate here, as in some other particulars, are so indefinite that men of the deepest and truest spirituality as well as of the soundest scholarship are unable to agree as to the exact meaning of words or phrases, then surely God will not be displeased if the favor of the uncertainty be given to that interpretation which would make possible the re-union of Christendom and the speedy evangelization of the world.

Conclusion

A glorious day that will be for the Church when unholy rivalry is dead; when every man's strength will be directed against the foes of mankind; when all the redeemed in each community and throughout the whole world plan for the spiritual and social redemption of all mankind; when Christ shall be lifted up so high that all can behold Him outlined against humanity's appalling needs; when the children of God recognize what has been a fact from the beginning, namely this, that they are already one people redeemed by the same blood, built on the same Rock, heirs of the same heritage and commissioned to the same world-wide task. Then heaven will pulsate with new joy and men will believe that God did send Christ into the world. Then also Christians can sing with some fitness to their song—

"Like a mighty army
Moves the Church of God,
Brothers we are treading
Where the saints have trod.
We are not divided,
All one body we,
One in hope and doctrine,
One in charity."

CONFERENCE ON DAIRY METHODS

Cow-Testing Demonstrations In Certain Areas of Each Province Recommended—Quebec Leads In Progress.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19. — There is much room for improvemnt in the standard of Canadian dairy cattle, and this will be assisted materially, through the deliberations of those in attendance at the Canadian dairy cattle conference which opened here on Monday.

While giving due credit to the dairy interests for what had been accomplished and the excellence of the dairy products in general, Hon. W. R. Motherwell stated that this country could with advantage follow the footsteps of Australia, New Zealand and Denmark in relation to production and distribution methods.

Demonstration Scheme.

An important step was taken by the conference in the adoption of a resolution fathered by F. M. Robinson of Quebec, whereby it was decided to evolve a scheme whereby cow-testing demonstrations may be carried on in certain areas in each province of the Dominion, by competent supervisors to be selected by a committee composed of two representatives from the Dominion Live-Stock Branch and two from each of the Provincial branches. In addition to the cow testing demonstrations, the supervisors, empowered to employ assistants where necessary, will be thoroughly equipped with the necessary knowledge as to the best feeding methods for cattle, and the elimination of unprofitable cattle from herds.

Mr. D'Arcy Scott believed that it would be more beneficial if some larger plan could be thought out whereby not only certain areas but the whole of the farming community throughout the Dominion might be led into the path of proper breeding, feeding and testing of cattle, with resultant higher and better production of dairy products.

Many Heads Tested.

Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, pointed out that considerable work had been done by the Dominion Dairy Branch while it had been in charge of the work, stating that during the past year 5128 herds of cattle had been tested, comprising 50,304 head of cattle. He gave credit to the province of Quebec as having accomplished more progress in cattle raising, breeding and dairy production than all the other provinces put together.

E. Putman thought that before Government assistance was given that some measures should be taken to secure the co-operation of the dairy interests. They had a right to shoulder their own responsibilities to realize that their future was at stake in the success or failure of dairy production.

Efficient Feeding.

Professor R. Barton said that the big problem confronting the advancement of the dairy industry was to instill into the farmers the necessity of making poor cows better by efficient feeding. He said that the dairy producers were far from satisfied with the returns that they obtained from the present system of marketing cattle, and that changes were necessary. He advocated all cow tests being made only where practicable, and in as simple a form as possible.

COMMON AILMENTS OF MIDDLE AGE

Are indicated in women by nervous conditions, irritability, melancholia, pains and aches in the back, dizzy spells, headaches and heat flashes. These trying conditions may be easily overcome and such symptoms controlled by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will interest women to know that in a recent canvass among over one hundred and twenty-one thousand women, ninety-eight out of every hundred reported benefit from its use.

AMBASSADOR TO ITALY.

ROME, February 19 (Canadian Press) — The Rome newspapers announce that M. Youreneff has been appointed Soviet Ambassador to Italy. M. Youreneff formerly was Minister of Public Works. Lately he has been Russian representative in Latvia.

KING'S HOUSEHOLD OFFICIALS NAMED

Chief Appointments Remain Preserves of Aristocracy—Are Non-Political—Incumbents Retained.

LONDON, Feb. 18.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Announcement was made to-night that J. C. Fenton had been appointed solicitor-general for Scotland. He is not a member of the house.

Some of the chief appointments to the King's household still remain close preserves for the aristocracy under the labor government as evidenced by a Downing street notice stating that His Majesty had approved of certain nominees for posts which became vacant when the conservative government fell. The notice announces however, that these appointments would be of a non-political character during the present administration. This is a new departure.

The Earl of Cromer retains the post as Lord Chamberlain and the Earl of Shaftsbury as Lord Steward. The Earlof Grenard is re-appointed to the post of Master of Horse which he occupied from 1907 to 1915. Viscount Hampden and Lord Colebrook are appointed Lords in Waiting, the Earl of Dunmore as Captain of the Honorable Corps of Gentlemen at Arms and Lord Loch as Captain of the King's bodyguard of Yeoman of the Guards.

STANDARD FISH NETS TO BE ADOPTED.

Conference Regarding the Size of the Mesh.

TORONTO, February 19 (Canadian Press). — At a conference at the Parliament Buildings yesterday between representatives of Ontario and the United States and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the old grievance at to the size of the mesh in fish nets was settled

The new standard adopted will not come into effect until the conclusion of the fishing season of 1924-1925, but in the meantime the Government will recognise a system of measuring which will put Canadian fishermen on an equal basis with the Maccabees Plan For Motor Caravan Trip.

H. Gilbert, local D.P.C., of Tent 69, Order of Maccabees of the World, has been notified of the organization of a national automobile caravan "seeing America" trip to Washington in which thousands of members will drive to that city from every section of the continent as the plan adopted by The Maccabees, well known fraternal benefit society, as its program for 1924. The cars will follow regular caravan routes, caravan day will be celebrated in each city as the local delegation joins the procession, and a caravan jubillee will be held in Washington in connection with the Order's regular quadrennial convention."

Washington was selected as the convention city and the caravan plan was adopted to make it possible for every member of The Maccabees to visit that city," states A. W. Frye, Supreme Commander, who originated the plan. "A visit to Washington is an inspiration and education to every member, and in the caravan campaign we are enabling our members to take this trip without cost and under the most favourable circumstances.

"We believe in travel as a means of education. Jumping from one far off city to another over night in a sleeping car does not provide this, but a motor trip such as this will give the westerner a chance to get acquainted with his brother in the east, show each man how the other fellow live, and make broader, better citizens of them both Fraternal soceities are shown many privileges in our laws and customs. The Maccabees helps to balance the account by making its members better citizens and better men."

The Maccabees willt take on this trip with all expenses paid every member who demonstrates himself "a 100% citizen and Maccabee" by winning 100 points in the caravan campaign which precedes the trip. The Maccabees is one of the oldest and largest fraternal benefit societies in the country, with 4,500 lodges in every state of the Union and province of Canada. A visit to The Maccabees International Home for old and indigent members of the Order at Chatham, Pennsylvania, will be included in the itinerary.

THE MINISTERS HELD A MEETING.

Correspondence Read Regarding Sunday Band Concerts.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19.—At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association held Monday afternoon, Rev. H. S. Bennett, the secretary, read the correspondence that had been carried on between the Association and the Northumberland Regimental Band with regard to the Sunday evening concerts that are being held by the Band this winter. At a former meeting of the clergymen it was decided to write the members of the band to hold a conference on this question.

The secretary of the band wrote, declining the request and stating that the matter was now regarded as closed by the members.

Rev F. F. McIntosh moved, and Rev. D. A. Thomson, of Hastings, seconded a motion that the letter from the band be filed and that the Association express regret that their request for a conference had been refused.

The paper of the day, on "Ritschlian Theology," was read by Rev. W. H. Towle, of Bonar Law and an interesting discussion followed, in which the lead was taken by Rev. J. J. Black the president. Mr. Towle for his able dissertation, was tendered a vote of thanks on motion of Rev. C. F. McIntosh and Rev. J. E. Glover.

At the March meeting Rev. Wesley Elliott will read a paper reviewing the theological book written by Dr. H. E. Fosdick, a prominent divine of New York, on "Christianity and Progress." The discussion will be led by Rev. G. C. Clark, rector of Christ church.

The ministers in attendance yesterday were: Revs. J. J. Black, president; H. S. Bennett, secretary, G. C. Clark, Wesley Elliott, J. E. Glover, C. F. McIntosh, D. A. Thompson and W. L. Hinton of Hastings; E. W. Caffley of Norham; George S. Hammond of Warkworth, and W. H. Towle of Bonar Law.

The Dispute in Percy.

Deputy Reeve W. H. Nelson of Percy township, aaginst whom proceedings have been started with a view to unseating him, were in town yesterday. The deputy-reeve showed The Examiner a written opinion which he had received from Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., of Peterborough. Mr. Gordon quotes the statute which provides that the member of a school board in a city, town or village cannot legally hold a seat in a municipal council. As no mention is made of a rural school board, Mr. Gordon is of the opinion that Deputy Reeve Nelson cannot be unseated.

At the Regent.

The picture "Rob Roy" will be shown at the Regent Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

There is a special treat in store for the patrons of the Regent the last three nights of this week when the bill will be the famous film drama, "Merry-Go-Round. This picture is conceded to be the most elaborate ever produced. It required two years to complete, and the cost of production was over two millions dollars, the largest amount ever expended on a single film. Mery Go Round attracts crowds wherever shown and is running in Toronto now, filling the house at $1.50 a seat. There will be no advance in the admission here, 25 cents for adults, and 15 cents for children, but the management may decide to reserve seats. For the rest of the season the leading pictures only will be shown at the Regent and there will be only two changes of programme each week instead of three as formerly.

Sleeplessness

Sleeplessness, like insanity, is greatly on the increase. Modern life, with its hurry and worry and noise, brings an enormous strain on the brain and nerves.

The temptation to depend on sleeping powders or tablets must be fought off if you would avoid catastrophe. Means of reconstructing the starved nerve cells must be sought. Since the digestive system fails to supply nourishment to the blood and nerves it is necessary to employ such treatment as DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD to instil new strength and energy into the tired nerves. This is Nature's way of affording lasting relief.

You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been increased to 60c. the box now contains 60 pills instead of 50 as formerly.

Likewise Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are 35c. a box of 35 pills, instead of 25c. for 25 pills.

VICTORIA COLLEGE GLEE CLUB

(By Jeannette).

Between four and five hundred people gathered at George Street Methodist Church last evening for the concert given by the Victoria College Glee Club of Toronto, under the auspices of the Boethian Club of the church and Mrs. E. W. Coon's Bible Class. The Glee Club was assisted by the Victoria College Male Quartette, the Ladies' Octette, Mr. Levi Hussey, monologist, and Mr. Fred Baine, violinist, in a variety of offerings that met with hearty response from a pleased audience.

The Glee Club, which visited Peterboro last season, is a group of some twenty-seven or eight good singers, whose numbers were given in a very creditable manner to themselves and their capable conductor, Mr. E. R. Bowles. They sing well and easily, with good attention to attack, release and phrasing, in a well-rounded programme rendered throughout without accompaniment, except for the negro spiritual number. Their opening selection was a Bach piece, "Grant us to do with Zeal," brief, full-voiced, reverent, followed by some excellent soft shading in Praetorius' "Lo, How a Rose." Other appearances included "A Winter Song," its crescendo passages taken with vim; a humorous selection, in swift tempo, "Katy Did," with its encore, the fantastic, well sung "Owl and the Pussy Cat," a deep-toned rendition of "Lass o' Mine," with a pretty arrangement which included against the rich background of male voices the clear, fine soprano of Miss Fergusson in solo work, and a vigorous negro spiritual, "Wait till Ah put on ma Crown."

One of the most pleasing adjuncts to the programme was the work of the violinist, Mr. Fred. Baine, who appeared twice, and was compelled to respond to encores each time. Mr. Baine has an expressive, soft, rich tone in his work, and an evident capability in his technical grasp of the difficulties of his instrument. The singing quality of his music was particularly noticeable in the lovely, familiar strains of the "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn," his opening number, rendered with effective charm, noticeable particularly in the dreamy movement for the G string. An encore was Elgar's "Salut d'Amour." On his second appearance, Mr. Baine played the Intermezzo from the Cavalleria Rusticana, and, as an encore, Mendelssohn's "Spring Song."

Another attractive interlude in the musical numbers was the work of Mr. L. Hussey, monologist. Given to music, his well-rendered efforts included "A Fireside Reverie," which drew an appreciative encore, in the cockney dialect story of "Shorty," the war-time pal who loved French phrases. In excellent style, and drawling enunciation, Mr. Hussey also gave some reminiscences of a forgetful old man, followed by the story of the college student and his visiting sister.

The Victoria College Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. Dougall, Watson, Patterson and Waugh, is a foursome of very pleasing tone. There were some splendid bits of solo work noticeable in the efforts of this quartette, which gave as an opening number, the "Close Harmony" number, and, as an encore, "Love's Old Sweet Song." A second appearance in "Where's Joe?" elicited another pretty encore.

The Ladies' Octette is composed of eight attractive singers: the Misses Tow, Fergusson, Hoidge, Mundy, Lewis, Balkwill, Smith, Smith. They sang in charming style a dainty opening number, "Who's that Tapping at the Gate?" and "The Breath of Spring," the latter with a soft humming refrain, and there was some good contralto work in the "Beautiful Ship From Toyland" and "An Indian Lullaby." Two descriptive selections, well sung, were a coon lullaby, "Rockin' in de Win'," and the staccato funniness of "The Mechanical Doll."

A mixed chorus, composed of the Ladies' Octette and eight male singers, gave as a closing number "The Goslings," followed by the merry Victoria College class song and a rousing class call.

After the concert, the visiting singers were entertained in the basement of the church, when light refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Gardner's and Mrs. E. W. Coon's classes.

CITY MILK SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT

Report to Board of Health Points Out Some Faulty Samples, but Dr. Young is Not Alarmed.

Following a discussion on the milk report for the month of February, Dr. Young told the city Board of Health to-day that the standard is being well maintained, and this report is better than the previous one.

The bacterial content, he said, is only an indication that other germs may be present in the milk.

No milk was reported dirty, he pointed out, an improvement over previous months.

Some of the milk showed under test a bacterial content of over 2,500,000 to the cubic centimeter.

Dr. A. Y. McNair, of the Provincial Laboratory, reported as follows on the thirty-three samples tested:

"There are several samples with a considerable amount of sediment in them, and as such shows carelessness in production. The majority of the samples are fairly clean, although there is a great deal of room for improvement in the large majority of the samples. There are several samples which are low in butter fat, considerably below what is considered to be good milk. The bacterial counts are on the whole in keeping with that of raw milk. Several samples show bacterial counts of 1,000,000 and over, and at this time of the year this condition should not prevail. There was no evidence of watering or the addition of preservatives in any of the samples examined. I would consider that there is considerable room for improvement in cleanliness and in a number of the samples, in the quality of the milk."

Sanitary Conveniences.

Following a discussion of the communication from the City Council Property Committee asking the Board of Health to ascertain the bona-fides of all applicants for sanitary conveniences.

Mayor Turner moved that when applications are made the owner or applicant must satisfy the city solicitor of his interest in the property.

To Abate a Nuisance.

Reeve Morley Smithson asked the Board of Health to take steps to avoid a nuisance to the citizens of Otonabee by dumping night soil farther back from the Keene Road.

Mayor Turner moved that the Board write Mr. O'Connell instructing him to plough in the night soil or trench it, and at present the road must be opened to deposit it farther from the road.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A BOW-WOW RIDDLE

And he stands up and begs.

Nancy and Nick were certainly having a fine time in Riddle Land. Not only did they like the Riddle Lady with her merry smile, and also the people from Humpty Dumpty to the Tattered Man, but they loved to guess the riddles!

They hoped the Fairy Queen would let them stay for a while—that is, as long as they were any riddles to guess.

They ran to meet the Riddle Lady next day when she came. "What is it about this time?" begged Nancy.

The Riddle Lady laughed. "It's about a queer creature," she said.

"The queerest creature you ever heard of. What is it?

"A leg on each one of his corners,
And whiskers each side of his nose,
And a nice little tail
That sticks up like a sail,
And follows wherever he goes.

"His nose is the funniest ever!
It's black and it's cold and it's wet.
If it's dry and it's hot,
Mother says like as not
It's a sign that his tummy's upset.

"He's fondest of bones and of candy,
But he dearly loves morsels of meat.
And he stands up and begs
On his funny hind legs
If he thinks you have anything sweet.

"Way out at the end of our garden
All covered with sticks and with stones,
Is a queer little mound
Where he's dug up the ground
And buried the most of his bones

"I'm ashamed of the way he treat, kitties,
And chases them 'round through the town.
If they climb up a tree
He just waits there to see
How long they will be coming down.

"He barks at the nursemaids and babies,
He barks at the fountains and trees,
He barks at the moon,
Like a big gold balloon—
S'pose he thinks, like the mousie, it's cheese.

"Now what is this queer little creature
Whose barks are much worse than his bites?
He likes every one,
But he must have his fun—
Why, he's only in fun when he fights."

"I guess I know the answer to that," said Old Mother Hubbard quickly. "And please don't interrupt me anybody. It is a dog. Who should know better than I. Come here, Prince, and speak for the lady."

"Bow, wow, wow," went Prince, to everybody's delight.

"You shall have the prize, doggie," declared the Riddle Lady. "Mister Butcher, please send two pounds of bones and two pounds of meat around to Mother Hubbard's house at once."

BUDGET TODAY

Mr. Price said that ordinary revenue this year was $34,000,000 and ordinary expenditure $49,000,000. He then proceeded to show that certain items placed last year in capital account were in this budget placed in ordinary account which accounts for considerable increase in deficit, as previously many of the items were not placed opposite to ordinary revenue and it was claimed by the last government were not paid out of it. Mr. Price defends this change of bookkeeping on the ground that while in opposition the Conservatives demanded it. He pointed out that the deficit this year was nearly as large as ordinary expenditure during the days of the Hearst government. The Treasurer also claims that the previous administration took in revenue after close of fiscal year's accounts until the following year. He declared that reckoning for such financing was contained in his budget. Revenue from lands and forests department showed a falling off but that of motor license branch increased by $818,000. There is also a large decrease in succession duty revenue, decline in coroporation tax is $964,000. Although there is a shortage in revenue below that of 1922 of $4,397,098, the Treasurer claims that only two departments showed reductions in their expenditure in 1923, Attorney General $9,711 and fish and game of $2,173. Interest on capital loans was $14,000,000, road maintenance $1,905,111, election costs $407,575.

COST OF MILLING.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — The total cost of milling and marketing hard spring wheat, as determined by the experts of the tariff commission, is $0.5868 per hundred pounds in the United States, and $0.4803 in Canada.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA CIRCLE CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Last evening in the W.O.W. Hall the 23rd anniversary of the Queen Alexandra Circle, No. 136, A.O.F., was celebrated by a banquet followed by a choice programe of instrumental and vocal numbers.

The chair was occupied by Past Chief Companion, Mrs. S. Adlum.

The Circle was also favored by a visit from High Chief Companion, Mrs. Stoneman of Dundas, who gave a very interesting address, and congratulated the Circle on their fine showing and the cordial welcome afforded her on her first visit to Peterboro.

The following programme was rendered:

Chairman's address, piano and violin selection by Miss Florence and Master George Record; recitation, Miss Ina Larrace; vocal selection, Mr. Rowe, piano, Miss J. Cathcart; song, Mr. Coleman; song, Mrs. Bugg piano solo, Master McFarlane; song, Miss E. Harrison, speech, Bros. Hendry, Tremaine; piano Miss D. Adlum, piano duet, Miss Cathcart and Miss Adlum; song, Mrs. McFarlane; song Miss Alice Shurty.

There was a large attendance of the members present, ad great credit is due to the committe in charge.

WILL IMPROVE THE BUILDING

Property Committee Estimate Higher Than Last Year—Meeting Last Night.

That the city establish a piggery to utilize its garbage, or, reversing the usual order of things, ask for tenders for the privilege of collecting the garbage, were some of the suggestions made at a meeting of the Property Committee of the City Council last night when draft estimates amounting to $9,261 were passed, an increase of $1,266 over last year. The amount proposed this year, while it appears large, includes $2,781 for permanent and constructive work.

There were present last night Chairman J. O. Fife, Mayor J. J. Turner, Aldermen M. McIntyre, J. W. Meyers, M. J. Maher, R. N. Jones and Robert Morrison. City Treasurer F. Adams also attended.

Among the items which received the attention of the committee and were passed were repairs and renovations to the city buildings, whereby the basement will be concreted, steps will be repaired, a crooked wall made straight and a permanent canopy erected to shade the windows in the engineer's office. Hot water will be made available in the main part of the building, exposed hot water heating pipes will be covered with asbestos, a partition will be built in the basement to accommodate the Board of Works' tools, and shelves erected. In the south-west end of the building it is proposed to build a comfort station for women. The pathway through the Market is to be bordered by concrete several feet wide. The regular charges against this department are also included in the total.

Besides considering the estimates the committee also disposed of a healthy slate of routine business, concluding its session at 11 o'clock. Tenders for ashes from the city incinerator were opened, and H. F. Doig's offer of $125, accompanied by a marked cheque, was accepted. The only other tender was from George Stevens, who offered $55. Last year's tender was $75.

William H. Brady, East City, requested ashes to fill in an old gravel pit, and on motion of Aldermen Maher and Morrison, his application will be granted on condition that no expense is incurred by the city.

Mr. White's application for permission to enlarge his building at last ended its wandering from committee to committee, when Aldermen Meyers and Maher moved that permission be granted, subject to the supervision of the City Engineer.

Sanitary Installations.

Alderman Fife pointed out in connection with the city's plan of installing sanitary conveniences in homes as a charge against the taxes that many citizens are applying for the installation in houses of which they are not registered owners.

Alderman McIntyre asked why the Board of Health did not ascertain the bona fides of all applicants.

Alderman Fife suggested that every applicant should furnish an instrument showing he is the owner.

After discussion, Aldermen McIntyre and Morrison proposed that the Board of Health be asked not to recommend the installation of sanitary conveniences under this plan until they have ascertained that the applicants are the owners of the property and are otherwise qualified.

Feed Refuse to Pigs.

Alderman Fife broached the question of the city collecting its own garbage and using it to feed pigs, quoting a report from Buffalo to show that the plan is a paying one. In Buffalo the garbage is collected in trucks and taken to the piggery situated outside the city limits, where the city operates a ranch with 3,500 pigs. "I claim it is feasible to collect garbage and bring in a revenue from it," declared Alderman Fife.

Mayor Turner suggested that when the sewage disposal plant is built there will be spare land attached to it, and the caretaker might manage both the plant and the piggery.

As an alternative, His Worship suggested that next year when the garbage problem arises the city ask for tenders for the privilege of collecting garbage.

Repair City Building.

In opening a discussion of the repairs necessary to the city buildings, Mayor Turner said the basement is a disgrace to the city. The floor is of earth and impossible to keep clean, while the mud is tracked through the upstairs rooms. A store room for the Board of Works' small tools is necessary, where the tools may be kept under lock and key. The south wall of the engineer's office is in a possibly dangerous condition, having bulged six inches at one spot. All water for the city buildings must now be heated in the police station, and a hot water jacket and heater is required in the centre of the building. The heating apparatus should be examined, pipes should be covered to conserve heat, and the basement should be whitewashed. The total for this is $840.

Alderman McIntyre said the only necessary items were the repair of the dangerous wall and the water heating apparatus.

Alderman Jones remarked that all appropriations seem to be running high and an effort should be made to keep them down.

Alderman Morrison declared cleanliness, like charity, should begin at home. "There is no doubt we try to keep things sanitary, and I think we should start at home. The basement of this building is not sanitary."

Mayor Turner—"All this is on the capital account and will not go to waste. I don't want to spend money for the sake of spending, but I want to make the place habitable for the men who have to work here."

All of the work was finally passed.

A proposal to change the arrangement of the tax collector's office so that the wicket would face the street did not meet with favor and was voted down on motion of Alderman Maher, who included in his motion a request that the caretaker's room be restored to him by the tax collector, who is now using it.

Rest Room.

One of the advantages of placing the women's rest room in the city building, it was pointed out, would be the economical heating available from the central boiler. Alderman Fife would like to see the rest-room erected at the corner of George and Charlotte Streets, while Alderman Turner's suggestion was that the old pumping station at Romaine Street be utilized.

Alderman Maher was in favor of letting the matter pass this year. Mayor Turner said it was not much money, and he would like to see it go through.

Alderman Meyers said he considered the rest station the most important proposal of all, and if the committee would make the recommendation for $1,500 instead of the $705 suggested, he would vote for it. Seconded by Alderman McIntyre and with Mayor Turner voting in its favor, the proposal drew a tie vote that was broken in favor of the rest-room being included by the chairman, Alderman Fife.

Regarding the concrete strip on the Market Square estimated at $432, Alderman Maher said he would like to see it along all sides of the square where wagons are drawn up. On motion of Mayor Turner and Alderman Morrison, the $432 was included in the estimates.

Regular Expenses.

Items of regular expense which went to swell the total estimate were: Credit to the Board of Works for cleaning the Market Square, $100; market tolls, $100; drinking fountains, ice, etc., $180; insurance, $50; medical officer of health, salary $1,550; plumbing inspector, salary, $1,500; sanitary inspector, salary, $1,500; rent of refuse ground, $250; printing and stationery, $450; telephone, $40; street car tickets for sanitary inspector, $60; towards car for plumbing inspector, $150; heating, $500.

The final draft was passed on motion of Aldermen Morrison and McIntyre.

TALKING LIMIT ON RURAL LINE

Time Limit Will Be Placed on Coldsprings Line.

COBOURG, Feb. 19.—(Special).—As to how long a telephone conversation should last was a theme that engaged the attention of the Coldsprings Rural Telephone Company at their annual meeting held in the Township Hall at Coldsprings. It was decided by the Company that subject to ratification by the Board of Railway Commissioners they would amend their by-law in this regard.

The amendment as passed provides that where a conversation is continued beyond five minutes, and the party has been asked to release the line, a charge of ten cents shall be made up to ten minutes conversation and of twenty cents if continued beyong ten minutes.

COMMISSION FOR A REALTY AGENT

Interesting Case Heard in the Division Court Here

The following judgment in the case of J. T. O'Connell versus T. W. Oke has been handed down by Judge Huycke. Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. J. A. O'Brien for the defendant.

"This is an action to recover $200.00 commission on a sale of property of the defendant, which sale is claimed to have been brought about by the efforts of the plaintiff, a real estate agent in Peterborough. The basis of the action is a memorandum signed by the defendant, reading as follows:—

'Peterborough, Aug. 27 1923—J. T. O'Connell, I hereby authorize you to sell my house No. 19 Chas. St. East City 116 ft. frontage for $8250. Commission when sold 3% (Sgd) T. W. Oke."

"The plaintiff got a customer, one Mahood, for the house. The whole property was not sold for $8250.00 in accordance with the order, but part of the property was sold for $7000.00 to Mahood, who was brought to Oke by O'Connell. The difference in price was due to the exclusion of a vacant lot, part of the property. The plaintiff claims 3% on the purchase price in accordance with the agreement, which would be $210.00 and abandons sufficient to bring it within the jurisdiction of the Division Court.

No doubt the plaintiff brought about the sale by his activity and intervention and therefore is entitled to compensation for his services. It dos not, however, to my mind follow that because the defendant was willing to pay 3% for the sale of the whole property that he should be made to pay 3% for the sale of part of it, which may be less advantageous to him. I do not think therefore, the written memorandum prevails as to the amount of the commission when only a partial sale was made. It is sufficient, however, to show the authority to the plaintiff to undertake and if possible complete a sale; if not the whole, for as much of it as the parties would agree to. The plaintiff cannot recover the whole amount of the claim, but he is entitled to a quantum meruit. Evidence was given by respectable and substantial witnesses that in the absence of any specific agreement 2 1-2% was the proper and usual amount, which in this case would amount to $175.00. Some evidence was given by the defendant to show that the plaintiff agreed to take $87.50 from Oke and look for the balance from the purchaser, Mahood This claim is not sufficiently made out. From the evidence I find all the plaintiff did or said as to that was that he was willing to accept $175.00, and that it Mahood would pay half of it he would accept the other half from Oke. Mahood was not willing to pay the half. Oke employed the plaintiff to make the sale—the sale was made through his instrumentality—he must be paid for it—and the witnesses show that $175.00 is a proper amount.

Judgment for the plaintiff for $175 and costs.

Dated at Peterborough this 18th day of February 1924.

EDWARD HUYCKE,
Judge.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. M. HARDACRE OF THE CANADIAN WOOLLENS

On Saturday at noon Mr. J. M. Hardacre, foreman of the Worsted Department of the Canadian Woollens, was presented with initialled gold cuff links and pearl tie pin, accompanied by the following address from his employees:

Dear Mr. Hardacre,— It is with regret that we have heard of your departure from us While in our midst you have been indeed a most able and helpful foreman. If ever we were in doubt on any point we could always bank on a decision worth while from you.

It is for this and many other reasons that we ask you to accept this small token of our esteem, and trust that whenever you have occasion to use it, that it will bring back many happy memories.

We also hope that there will be many advantages, and many better things in store for you, and that your next position will be, as the old saying goes: "Bigger and Better than ever."

Signed on behalf of the employees of the Worsted Department, Canadian Woollens.

Mr. Hardacre, although taken completely by surprise, made a very fitting reply.

Parsons, was in the chair. It was decided to hold a card party at the home of Mrs. Parsons on next Monday evening, and a St. Patrick's Day tea at the home of Mrs. Noble Kelly in March. The next regular meeting of the society will be held on the last Monday of the month of March. The next regular meeting of the society will be held on the last Monday of the month of March, the 31st, at the home of the president, Mrs. R. H. Parsons. Refreshments were served at the close of the business session.

VACCINATION ACT WILL BE INVOKED

COCHRANE, Feb. 19. — Because of the presence in the town of a number of smallpox cases the board of health has notified the town council that recourse has been taken to the Ontario Vaccination Act, and asking that a proclamation be issued ordering the vaccination of all persons in the municipality not possessing a recent certificate of vaccination.

Several other suspected cases of the disease are under observation, and the Board of Health members believe the situation warrants steps outlined being taken.

The period selected by the Board commenced to-day and the Council has made the necessary arrangements with the Medical Officer of Health.

To Teach Apes To Fill Men's and Women's Jobs

How Science Hopes They May Be Trained to Gather Fruit and Do Other Useful Work as They Were in Ancient Egypt

A monkey threading a needle and doing it much more readily than most men can

CAN chimpanzees, oran-utans and other members of the ape family be trained to take men's and women's jobs?

Is it possible to teach them to work for us in our homes and on our farms, on our railroads and in our mines, and thus relieve the labor shortage and help cut down the cost of living?

These are questions which will never cease to fascinate science and which it will continue to ponder most thoughtfully until they are settled one way or another. In the city of Washington Professor Robert M. Yerkes is devoting himself to a study of just what human activities two young chimpanzees can be trained to assume, and he is only one of many scientists in various parts of the world who are engaged in similar investigations.

In a scientific magazine not long ago Professor E. W. Gudger, of the American Museum of Natural History, mentioned the possibility of using monkeys to help gather the cotton crop in the Southern states. Many of his fellow scientists were highly amused at the mere suggestion of what they thought such an absurdity, but now they are obliged to admit that they perhaps were too ready with their incredulous laughter.

Following the appearance of Professor Gudger's article, several observers in the Far East wrote the magazine to tell of their own knowledge of the way monkeys are trained to pick coconuts and do other kinds of work.

"The Malays and Bataks of Sumatra very commonly use monkeys as coconut pickers," says Carl D. La Rue, writing from Kisaran, Asahan, Sumatra. "In fact, the current English name for the species of monkey known as macacus nemestrinus is 'coconut monkey.'

"These monkeys not only work but have a considerable commercial value as laborers. The price of a trained coconut monkey ranges from about eight to as high as twenty dollars. This is a price far above that put upon other common sorts of monkeys which are kept only as pets.

"Coconut monkeys grow to a considerable size and are very strong."

Another witness who gives similar testimony is Robert W. C. Shelford, the distinguished English traveler and naturalist.

"The Macaque monkeys," says Mr. Shelford, "are highly intelligent animals, and the Malays train them to pick coconuts. The modus operandi is as follows:

"A cord is fastened round the monkey's waist, and it is led to a coconut palm which it rapidly climbs. It then lays hold of a nut, and if the owner judges the nut to be ripe for plucking he shouts to the monkey, which then twists the nut round and round till the stalk is broken and lets it fall to the ground; if the monkey catches hold of an unripe nut, the owner tugs the cord and the monkey tries another.

"I have seen a Brok act as a very efficient fruit picker, although the use of the cord was dispensed with altogether, the monkey being guided by the tones and inflections of his master's voice."

Another reliable witness who actually has seen monkeys at work gathering coconuts is the wife of Dr. Max Weber, the great naturalist who was sent out by the Dutch government some years ago to explore the waters of the East Indies.

How a chimpanzee would look in your kitchen preparing to serve a meal

"We lived for a month at Manindjau in Sumatra," she says in the book she wrote describing her voyage with her husband. "Opposite us was a Malayan family which owned two Lampong, or Lapond, apes—big, impudent beasts, which had been taught to pick coconuts.

"For this purpose a band, to which a long rope was attached, was tied around the body of the ape, and then the animal was chased up into the tree. Arrived there, the ape seated himself on a branch and began to twist with his hands and feet one of the coconuts that hung under the branch, until the stem broke and the fruit fell down.

"If he dallied too long over his work the strap around his body was jerked unsympathetically. How the ape knew which nuts he was to pick remained a puzzle to me, but a fruit never dropped that was not fully ripened."

Miss Isabella Bird, the well known woman traveler, has the following to say on the subject:

"A follower had brought a 'baboon,' an ape or monkey trained to gather coconuts, a hideous beast on very long legs when on all fours, but capable of walking erect.

"They called him a 'dog-faced baboon,' but I think they were wrong. He has a short, curved tail and sable-colored fur.

"He is fierce, but likes, or at all events obeys, his owner, who held him with a rope fifty feet long. At present he is only half tame, and would go back to the jungle if he were liberated.

"He was sent up a coconut tree which was heavily loaded with nuts in various stages of ripeness and unripeness, going up in a surly fashion, looking round at intervals and shaking his chain angrily.

"When he got to the top he shook the fronds and stalks, but no nuts fell, and he chose a ripe one, and twisted it round and round till its tenacious fibers gave way, and then threw it down and began to descend, thinking he had done enough, but on being spoken to he went to work again with great vigor, picked out all the ripe nuts on the trees, twisted them all off, and then came down in a thoroughly bad, sulky temper. He was walking erect and it seemed discourteous not to go and thank him for all his hard toil."

A young monkey imitating the work of the human gardeners in a New York park

Robert Fortune, an Englishman who spent many years in China collecting botanical specimens, reported he had heard it asserted that monkeys were used in the gathering of tea leaves.

"These animals, it seems, do not like to work," said Mr. Fortune, "and would not gather the leaves willingly. But when they are seen up amongst the rocks where the tea bushes are growing the Chinese throw stones at them. Thereupon the monkeys get very angry and commence breaking off the branches of the tea shrubs, which they throw down at their assailants."

Another famous traveler to the Far East, Pehr Osbeck, declares in his "Voyage to China" that he had heard that in China monkeys were used to "gather rhubarb and pound rice."

Olfert Dapper, who published a book on Africa more than 250 years ago, has the following to say in his description of Sierra Leone:

"Three kinds of monkeys are found here; and there is one, of a certain species they call Baris, which they catch when little, raise, and train so well that these monkey can give almost as much service as slaves.

"Ordinarily they walk quite erect, like men. They can grind millet in the mortar, and go to draw water in a pitcher.

"When they fall down, they show their pain by cries. They know how to turn the spit, and to do a thousand clever litle tricks which greatly amuse their masters."

All these and other more or less veracious accounts of the use of apes as laborers in various parts of the world are presented by Professor Gudger in a recent issue of "Natural History." What is most interesting is the positive evidence he presents to show that the ancient Egyptians used apes to help them in the harvesting of figs and coconuts, to carry torches and to perform, probably, many other kinds of useful service.

Among the paintings that have been uncovered on the walls of tombs in the valley of the Nile are three which depict monkeys serving man in much the same way that they are said to serve him in Sumatra and other parts of the world to-day.

One of these paintings is from the tomb of Hui and is reproduced in Maspero's "History of Egypt." "It represents," says this distinguished Egyptologist, "men and monkeys gathering the fruit of a group of dom palms."

Another shows monkeys gathering figs and now and then taking a mouthful of them. As Egyptologists point out, fig trees have gnarled trunks, are rarely more than sixteen feet high and have limbs too weak to support men's weight. So it was quite natural that the ingenious Egyptians should have conceived the idea of sending tame monkeys into the trees to gather the fruit for them.

Still a third painting shows monkeys handing down fruit from a tree to the gardeners below, and of this Sir Gardner Wilkinson has the following to say in his great work on the manners and customs of the ancient Egyptians:

"Monkeys appear to have been trained to assist in gathering the fruit, and the Egyptians represent them in the sculptures handing down figs from the sycamore trees to the gardeners below; but, as might be expected, these animals amply repaid themselves for the trouble imposed upon them, and the artist has not failed to show how much more they consulted their own wishes than those of their employers.

"Many animals were tamed in Egypt for various purposes . . . and in the Jimma country, which lies to the south of Abyssinia, monkeys are still taught several useful accomplishments.

"Among them is that of officiating as torch bearers at a supper party; and seated in a row, on a raised bench, they hold the lights until the departure of the guests, and patiently await their own repast as a reward for their services.

"Sometimes a refractory subject fails in his accustomed duty, and the harmony of the party is for a moment disturbed, particularly if an unruly monkey throws his lighted torch into the midst of the unsuspecting guests; but the stick and deprivation of food are the punishment of the offender; and it is by these persuasive arguments alone that they are prevailed upon to perform their duty in so delicate an office."

Can chimpanzees, baboons and other apes be trained to do some of our work just as the ancient Egyptians trained and as it is believed the natives of Sumatra and various other parts of the world are training them to this very day? This is what scientists are eager to find out, and it is a matter well worth their while.

Although the world's population is increasing faster than its available meat supply, there continues to be a serious shortage of laborers to handle the heavy or dirty or in other ways less pleasant kinds of jobs. Everybody knows how hard it is to find household servants and how the captains of industry are clamoring to have the immigration restrictions removed so that they will be able to hire enough ditch diggers and other common laborers.

As education becomes more nearly universal more and more of the world's population will be lifted to a plane far above ditch digging and floor scrubbing. Then it will become imperative for us to find some new way of getting this vast amount of menial work done, either by machinery or by the use of trained apes or other animals.

Nobody who has watched the performances of trained monkeys in the circus ring or on the vaudeville stage can have any doubts about the high degree of their intelligence and the way they can be made with the right sort of training to use their brains to do a wide variety of things.

Zoologists and experts in animal psychology are amazed at the quickness and facility with which apes often learn to imitate the acts of human beings. In many cases there seems to be strong evidence to show that they actually possess the power to learn by experience and to reason out solutions for the problems which confront them from time to time, much as we do.

It is nothing unusual for a monkey to learn to thread a needle far more readily than most men can. If he can be taught this why cannot he be taught to push the needle and draw the thread through a fabric and thus make clothes for us, or at least darn our socks?

WHY PETERBORO TURNS OUT POOR PENPUSHERS

It Would Take a Handwriting Expert to Decipher Some of the Handwriting Produced Here — A Survey of Opinions.

"Reading and writing and 'rithmetic, taught to the tune of a hickory stick,"—so runs the old song of "School Days." We have banished the hickory stick, much to the regret of some old-fashioned educationists, and some of the modern ones too. "You can't look crosswise at a child in a classroom nowadays, for fear of destroying its individuality," says a very up-to-date teacher. And we have pretty well banished also the three Rs that used to make such a big dent in the school curriculum.

It has been confidently asserted that present-day scholars are atrocious writers. A brief survey of opinions as to the why and wherefore of such a state of affairs, as voiced by various authorities, lays the blame at different doors. The scribbler is one evil. Evidently it is well named. "The pupils have so many notes to take that they just scribble them down hastily, and get into the habit of bad writing." With regard to commercial classes, it was unanimously agreed that shorthand might have a bad effect on writing powers. When one's mind is occupied with pothooks and dots and dashes, and the main object in life seems to be the transferring of thoughts to paper through the medium of sprawling hieroglyphics in as rapid formation as possible, one isn't going to bother much about neatness, and a negligent writing hand inevitably results. Also, with shorthand and its phonetic sounds, there is a tendency to forget how to spell properly. One doesn't want to use the little boy's "B4", exactly, but one is inclined to flout the extra 'l' in "unless," and consider as redundant the many letters that clutter up the English language. Translated from notes into speech, "haught" in shorthand is "thawt," "enough" is "enuf," and "earth" is "urth."

To still another door is the trouble laid; that of the present system of muscular control, as taught in writing lessons in the schools. According to one experienced philomath, children have not the requisite control over their muscles to enable them to benefit by this system until they are about fifteen years ago and only about fifty per cent. of them ever master it. When it is realized that the muscular control system is insisted upon while the children are in the lower forms, and that the practise of writing is dropped altogether from the curriculum after the Entrance is passed, at least in the Public schools, it will be seen that the scholars are engaged in practising something that is of no use to the majority of them, who pass the Entrance examinations nowadays before they reach their fifteenth year. If this theory is followed out to its logical conclusion, it would seem that the slow and backward boy, creeping snail-like through the third form at his fourteenth or fifteenth year, had much more chance of becoming a good writer than the clever child, fin out of the ssnnggdc child, flying out of the ranks of the muscular control practitioners long before his practice would be of any use to him. This may explain the fact that most professional men, and in fact, the majority of men in life's high places are atrocious writers.

"The copper plate hand, so much admired, and so much sought after, was acquired in the days when the finger movement was used in teaching writing, and I think that much of the good work done then in writing was from painstaking copying of an example. To be a really good writer, a practise of about two hours daily is necessary," says one teacher. The ordinary routine of Public school scholars at the present time is an hour a week in writing, divided into four fifteen- minute periods, writing is discontinued altogether after the Entrance is passed. So are lessons in reading and spelling, and they have arithmetic for only one years in High School now. In the commercial classes, there is fifteen minutes practise daily in writing, and the old Spencerian model has been superseded by the Parker method as being a more distinctive business hand.

One teacher commended Separate school girl pupils as being above the average in penmanship, but thought that Separate school boys were not any better in this line than the Public school youth.

One man has the theory that good writing is largely a matter of the mind. "One person can't write like another, because the grooves in his mind are different, his muscles aren't tuned up in the same way, and he has characteristics in his writing that are impossible to duplicate."

The typewriter is not blamed for the modern type of penmanship, only in so far as it has provided a mechanical and speedy substitute for the old-time 'copper plate' penman, whose ability in writing beautifully was a requisite to employment, and whose skill was manifested in invoicing and legal documents and fine work of many sorts. Nowadays, the typewriter grinds out most business forms, and the fine upward curves and careful shading of downstrokes has given place to the speedy manipulation of dancing white and black keys. What price has the slow craft of a pen artist in the days when haste is the slogan, and when typists are being urged to faster and faster work on their machines, some experts gaining a speed of over a hundred words a minute. In our own city, there are several young ladies who can grind out thousands of words per day at a rate of ninety-five to a hundred words per minute on the typewriter, a speed unheard of in days when forty or forty-five words every sixty seconds was considered a good average.

A real, modern, up to date idea, that has something attractive about it is an opinion advanced by one man that music with your work would get better results and more speed. His theory is that rhythm in typeing would be productive of splendid work and have a very soothing effect on the nerves of the performer. Whether his method would follow the lines of the metronome and provide a sort of ticking accompaniment to the clatter of the keys, or whether his idea is to distract the mind from the worries of work by supplying sweet strains to capture the attention, is not explained. The subject has its fascinations, however. One could suppose a length of invoice for plumbing supplies, with all the remifications of couplings and ferrules and T and Y joints, flying along to the accompaniment of "My Little Bimbo down on the Bamboo Isle," and there could be a great deal of pep injected into a legal document regarding a transfer of property, say, by the slipping on of a record like "Last Night on the Back Porch." But suppose the girl at the next desk had just had a disappointment in love, and someone thoughtlessly inserted "Just a Girl that Men Forget" on the machine, and the young lady dissolved into tears?

Speaking personally, we can readily see where the idea would make a big hit in newspaper offices. When we were writing up an obituary, for instance, we could use the Dead March in "Saul", to get the proper mental atmosphere, Lohengrin's Wedding March would do beautifully for those efforts that have to do with June brides and what an inspiration might be obtained for a real good sob story ground out to the tune of "Silver Threads among the Gold."

Could Scarcely Eat a Thing

Then Friend Advised Mrs Cann to Try Dreco, Which Speedily Restored Her Appetite by Correcting Digestive Ailments of Many Years' Standing.

"For several years I had been troubled with indigestion," says Mrs. L. Cann, of R. R. No. 2, Peterborough, Ont. "It had advanced to such a stage that I could scarcely eat a thing without being miserable afterwards. My liver was sluggish, causing dizzy spells and spots before my eyes, and I had severe headaches. I was chronically constipated, too, and nothing seemed to give me relief."

"Two bottles of Dreco have made a tremendous change in me. I have a splendid appetite, very little trouble from gas, seldom get dizzy spells, and my bowels are active."

Dreco wins such confidence that those who know its remarkable merits never hesitate about recommending it. Its splendid tonic and corrective powers come from Nature's own herbs, roots, bark, and leaves, which have been known for centuries for their medicinal value. Dreco is safe and reliable, and contains no mercury, potash, or habit-forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterobrough by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold as follows:
Lakefield—E. H. Northey.
Campbellford—J. E. Birks.
And by a good druggist everywhere.

JELLY CAKES

Jams and jellies add much to desserts and cakes. The old-fashioned jelly roll is always welcome and easily digested. A cake, with jelly or jam used in its mixing, gains a richness of flavor and that delicate moistness every cakemaker desires.

Jelly Roll

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2-3 cup milk, 1¼ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Beats eggs until very light with sugar. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Be sure to add dry ingredients to eggs and sugar before adding milk. Turn into a buttered and floured dripping pan. Bake 15 minutes an in moderate oven. Wring a square of cloth out of warm water and fold in several thicknesses a few inches larger each way than the dripping pan. Put this on the molding board and turn the cake upside down on the damp cloth. With a sharp knife trim off the edges of the cake, spread thickly with jelly and roll while warm. Keep in the cloth to shape.

Jelly Cake

One cup sugar, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup lard, ½ cup sour milk, 1 cup jelly, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Work shortening to a cream and slowly beat in sugar. Add four tablespoons flour. Add jelly and beat well. Add part of the flour and mix until smooth. Add yolks of three and whites of two eggs well beaten. One egg white is saved for the frosting. Add remaining flour alternately with the sour milk in which the soda is dissolved. Turn into two layer cake pans and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. When done remove from pans, cool and put together and cover with boiled icing.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

THE REFEREE

The outlook is for good business conditions in the next six months, judging from the old reliable weathervane, the iron and steel industry.

Pig iron production in January showed an increase over the month before. Apparently the industry is recovering from the slumping tendency that started last June. Pig iron output traditionally rises or falls six months ahead of general business.

LIQUOR

"There are 250,000 bootleggers in America and they are all doing well. I should say the government is losing two billion dollars a year in duty that it might have if it distributed malt and other liquors."—Spencer Penrose, Colorado capitalist.

Penroseun questionably is correct in both figures. If prohibition had been attempted by a government tax of $5 or $10 a quart, Uncle Sam would have in his treasury the billions that have been cleaned up by bootleggers. Some would rather be without the billions than have Sam in the saloon business, of which he was the silent partner, collecting revenue, for generations.

FAILED

Nearly 2300 business concerns failed in January, and their combined liabilities exceeded assets by 40 million dollars. These big losses, of course, are eventually buttered out over the whole country and spread on the average family's cost of living. The January loss will cost the average family at least $2 eventually.

So it goes, month after month, Wall Street is close to the kitchen door.

MOTHERS

Permanent peace can come only by a banding together of mothers, who furnish the cannon-fodder, orates Felix Levy of Chicago. She's on the right track. But the remedy is not in any special organization of mothers. What they should do is stop giving their children toys that suggest war, and teach them to hate war as a system of wholesale murder whose "glory" is propaganda bunk of the militarists. Schools, glorifying war, also perpetuate war.

CONTAGIOUS

Lot of fuss about a New Jersey man, a "typhoid carrier" who, according to doctors, caused nine deaths and 107 cases of the disease. A "typhoid carrier" is a person who has the disease and can spread it to others without noticing any illness himself.

People have an instinctive dread of anyone with a contagious disease. It'd be easy to stir up a riot about this fellow in New Jersey. The rioters would yawn and walk away if urged to exterminate rats, which spread more disease than all human beings combined.

HEINIE

You read about impoverished Germany. Turn to the financial page and you learn that America country last year sold Germany 156 million dollars worth of goods in exchange. To help pay the difference, Germany shipped us a lot of gold. But this gold still leaves Germany 100 million dollars in debt to us for 1923.

It's all right to be generous to a conquered enemy. But whose money is being used to finance the sale of Germany of more than she can pay? American exporters are not making the loans, you can bet on that. Some foreign exchange bankers probably know.

FAT

The famous Parisian dressmaker, Mme. Madeline Voinnet, visits New York and comments: "It's a pity that all American women want to be thin. They lose something when they force flesh away—the freshness is lost and they are almost certain to have a haggard appearance which no amount of youthful clothes can disguise. It's a pity to go against nature. I believe in being natural."

One answer to this is that it isn't natural for a woman to get too fat, any more than it's natural for her to get too thin. The womanly attempt to be thin is more than a fashionable urge. It reflects a desire for health, activity and grace.

MASKS

"It's a pity to go against nature. I believe in being natural," says Mme. Voinnet, which proves she is as good at philosophy as at dressmaking. A large part of our generation wears a mask. It hides its real self. It apes others—tries to live up to standards beyond its income—even affecting the strut and shrug of movie stars.

When a person is not absolutely natural, frankly and bluntly just what God made him, it's an admission that he's shamed of himself. Great personalities are always natural, never masked.

NEXT

In the next war, the main object will be to put the enemy to sleep or otherwise temporarily out of battle, instead of butchery and death. So predicts Benedict Crowell, formerly of the War Department. Such a policy would be changed after prisoners began running into the millions. Prisoners are a great nuisance.

Crowell makes this enticing prediction: "Airplanes will jump over armies and attack the directing brains behind."

HUGO

Great preparations all over the world to honor Hugo Grotius, the Holland jurist, and the 300th anniversary of his treatise on war and peace. This treatise was the beginning of international law.

Nations are fairly well policed and managed from within. On the "world stage," nations still are not far removed from a condition of banditry and lawlessness. They make their subjects behave at home, but forget the rules often in dealing with neighbors.

COUNTERFEIT

A Greek refugee in Anatolia made an oriental rug, three by six feet, a perfect reproduction of an American dollar bill. The rug finally landed in the hands of an Akron man, who paid $39 for it. He displayed it in a store window. A Secret Service agent saw it and seized it as a violation of the U. S. counterfeiting laws.

Technically correct, for it's unlawful to make or own a reproduction of a money design. But the rug was later returned to its owner.

WILD

Want to buy a lion? The animal companies will go into the jungles of Africa, catch and deliver a lion to you for $500. Tigers are listed lately at $1000 apiece, elephants as low as $2500.

The elephant quotation interests orientals as much as auto prices interest us. Many centuries are bridged in this contrast. And the auto dumbfounds the out-of-the-way oriental as much as the jungle beasts fascinate us.

THIS LITTLE WORLD

(By GEORTE BRITT)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The fellow who circulated among the congregation and awoke the sleepers was called a beadle in Puritan days. He rates only the title of usher in the all-night movie houses here, but no blue stockinged beadle put more spirit into his work than he.

"We can't have this made into a 10-cent flop house," says the alert usher.

There's a real field for the little all-night movie, however, if you will take the word of the manager of the Lyric. It is in cheering and sheltering the all-night workers. Numerous printing plants keep night shifts busy until past midnight. The maintenance force in office buildings works until late. These and other stray prowlers like to see a picture while waiting for the infrequent homebound car. The program changes nightly.

Instability is one of the characteristics of a city, it seems, notwithstanding the substantial appearance of its buildings. Postmaster Lueder just testified to the prevailing restlessness and milling around in an appeal for more careful addressing of mail.

Every year, he says, the average mailing list loses 40 per cent of its value.

Beauty is more than a figure, one may say with apologies, but here are some figures that may illuminate the subject of beauty. The classified telephone directory shows more than 1000 women's beauty and hairdressing shops in Chicago. The number is approximately the same as the drug stores and more than half the total of groceries. It means one beauty shop for about every 1200 women in the city.

A beauty census was reported recently in one office, located on the West Side, far from a bright light district. The women in the office—a well paid group of skilled workers—earned from $23 a week up to big figures. Their individual average beauty expenditure was "facial" $1; wave, $1.25 to $1.50; manicure, 75 cents; brow pluck, 50 cents.

Here's an automobile fashion note which will be of interest to prohibition agents. There will be an increase of space for accessories and tools in this year's models, according to the exhibits at the Chicago show. Some of the more exclusive makes have roomy tool chests under the back seats, reached through cleverly concealed buttons which operate mystic sliding doors.

The troubles of the Grant administration, it seems, were many and varied. Those were the good old days when the theory of "To the victor belong the spoils" was first beginning to be questioned.

Secretary of War Belknap, against whom impeachment proceedings were brought, on charges of having accepted bribes in connection with the management of army posts, resigned and his case was dropped.

Grant's private secretary, Babcock, was shown to have participated in frauds which cheated the government out of large amounts of revenue taxes on whisky. This "whisky ring," in which government officials and distillers were shown to be banded, benefited to the extent of more than $1,000,000—a large sum 50 years ago.

* * *

Wholesale bribery of congressmen by the "Credit Mobilier," the corporation organized to handle the funding and construction of the Union Pacific Railroad, came to light.

Fat appropriations for favored insiders in the Postal Service were turned up in the "Star Route" scandal. Corrupt postal officials, in league with stage-coach lines, padded the returns on volume of mail carried and raked in thousands of dollars for service never rendered.

Whether such a deadlock—with the final result in doubt because of a third-party factor—will follow the present oil lease scandal is a subject of speculation and debate at every meeting of the Oldest Inhabitants.

And a lot of the Younger Inhabitants are debating that same possibility, too.

GYM EXHIBITION WILL BE GIVEN IN MAY NEXT

Meeting Held Last Evening to Complete Arrangements.

An important meeting of the executive of the Y.W.C.A. Board and the Physical committee was held last Friday morning when the first arrangements for this year's big gymnasium exhibition were made. The commitee have started their plans this year well in advance so that everything will be ready, for everyone expects a bigger and more enjoyable entertainment than last year. Many requests came to the committee last year to have the pageant repeated but this was not possible so in view of the great enthusiasm created a year ago, the committee feel justified in making this year an even more brilliant success.

Miss Littlefield reported 100 more members in the gym this year than last so instead of the slogan 400 Happy Healthy Girls it will be 500 Happy Healthy Girls.

The chief object of this first meeting was to appoint the committees. Mrs. R. M. Waddell, Mrs. LeClaire, Mrs. R. Grant, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, Mrs. W. J. Oke, Mrs. T. Cruikshank and Mrs. R. Turner were appointed to have charge of tickets and advertising. Numerous posters will be on display, frequent ads in the papers, slides at the theatres, dodgers distributed, etc.

The sewing committee have a big responsibility ahead of them. Three hundred costumes are to be made and the committee appointed to have charge of these consists of Mrs. D. F. Drumomnd, Mrs. A. Robertson, Mrs. R. W. Cormack and Mrs. F. L. Robertson, as the executive of the sewing committee, with the addition of the following members: Mrs. Edmondson, Mrs. A. Hall, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. R. Denne, Mrs. R. Wood and Mrs. McNeely, Dr. P. Young. The members of the board have promised to give one afternoon a week and many of the ladies' class, mothers of the children and friends have also volunteered to help with the sewing.

The children and girls are all enthusiastic already about the exhibition and are wishing that May 2nd and 3rd would hurry and come.

The Physical Director promises an entirely new programme of class review work.

TWO GOALS IN LAST MINUTE RAN UP PETERBORO'S MARGIN IN MARKHAM AFTER STUBBORNLY FOUGHT BATTLE

Took Quick Advantage of Penalty Against Pete Reesor's Well-Trained Squad — Markham Are Trained in Pro. Methods and Had Peterboro Baffled For First 35 Minutes — Say They Were Outlucked in Final Period and Will Be Dangerous Here Wednesday Night.

GAME EXCEPTIONALLY CLEAN

Playing fast and clever hockey and showing more combination than in any game this season the Petes grabbed a nice lead for themselves by beating Pete Reesor's Markham team on their own ice last night by 5 goals to 1.

It was only the second defeat of the season for the Markham crew who tucked away North Toronto last week and have been going strong all through the campaign.

In one sense the score hardly indicates the play, nor does it do justice to the stubborn battle put up by the boys in the white sweaters who scored the only goal of the first period and were not headed until thirty-five minutes of fast hockey had been played. With only five minutes left the Petes were leading by the narrow margin of 2 to 1. They ran in another counter then and in the last minute of play with Markham a man short added two more markers, thus winding up with a good margin after a game that was much more closely contested than a 5-1 score would lead one to imagine.

Game Very Clean.

It was a fine exhibition of hockey, fast all the way and as clean as a hound's tooth. Both teams were out to play the game and practically all the penalties imposed by Referee Jacobi were for accidental trips. The ice was good and the rink, although somewhat narrower than the Bock Street cushion, did not bother the Petes to any noticeable extent. In fact they made themselves right at home on it before the game got nicely under way.

In the Markham team the winners encountered the closest checking team they have met this season. With a good goal keeper, a sturdy defence who stops as many shot as the net guardian and a forward line drilled in the pro style of defence tactics the outfit coached by Pete Reesor are a tough proposition for any man's team. They use the Ottawa Kitty-bar-the-door six man defence and it is not difficult to understand how they smothered North Toronto's individual rushes with this method. They puzzled the Petes for a long while but eventually the good passing of the visitors its effect while the blue shirts had so much speed and used is so consistently that the Markham crew found they were being carried along at a faster pace than they could maintain, for the full distance.

Should Win Round.

With a four goal lead to start the home game with to-morrow night the round should be safe for the Petes but they cannot afford to rest on their oars for a moment as the Reesor outfit do not regard themselves as beaten yet. They figure they were off color last night and that the winners got all the breaks of the game. Tomorrow night will be another night, they declare and they are coming down full of battle.

Every blue shirt had a hand in bringing home the bacon although the chief punch from a scoring view point was imparted by Parker and Rose. The former scored three goals himself and gave Ranger a pass for another one while Rose figured in two other counters beside the register he got on his own account. Dwyer was great in the nets with a lot of work to do and Halpin and Parker checked with good judgment while up in front everybody was going strong, passing unselfishly and checking back in great style. It was one of the best exhibitions of united effort the Petes have given this season and working in that style the blue sweatered outfit are real hard to beat, as the fact that only five goals have been scored against them in their last four games demonstrates.

For the Markham team the most dangerous men on the offensive were the two wings, Cowie and Reesor. The former possesses a Babe Dye shot and is always working while Reesor is fast and tricky. On the defence the veteran Harry Stewart who confesses to have seen 38 winters and Robb a 185 pounder are a tough pair of birds to get around and Moore in the nets is good.

The teams:

Markham.

Goal—Moore.
Defence—Stewart, Robb.
Centre—Mason.
Right wing—Cowie.
Left wing—Reesor.
Subs—Underwood, McGill.

Peterboro.

Goal—Dwyer.
Defence—Parker, Halpin.
Centre—Collins.
Right wing—Burgess.
Left wing—Rose.
Subs—Ranger, McPherson.
Referee—H. H. Jacobi, Toronto.

The Opening Play.

So close was the checking at the beginning of the game that three minutes elapsed before either goal keeper handled the puck. The two teams were covering each other at every move and it was hard to break loose. Finally a Collins-Burgess combination play gave the Petes the first real chance but Moore made a fine stop. Cowie retaliated with a lone rush and Dwyer saved cleverly. He also blocked a dangerous drive from Reesor. Halpin went down centre ice fast and his shot from outside the defence hit Robb in the face. The Markham defence man resumed playing after a short delay. Reesor broke a skate and was replaced by McGill. Parker was penalized and Markham pressed while he was off, Dwyer saving a hot one from Cowie with Mason in on top of him. Collins relieved the pressure by a rink end rush but got too far in and couldn't get a shot. He came back with another rush but Moore saved nicely.

It was even up hockey at this stage and twelve minutes elapsed without a score. Then Cowie went down the side and drilled a beauty past Dwyer into the corner of the net. It was a snap shot from the board with plenty on it. Peterboro came back with a rush, Ranger and Collins combining for a dangerous attack and Parker following with a lone rush that gave Moore a shot to handle. Underwood drew a penalty for bodying into the boards but his team mates held the Petes off and the period ended with Markham crew 1 to 0 in front.

Petes Take the Lead.

The blue shirts opened out fast in the second period, showing a lot of snappy passing that kept Markham busy. Rose got away for a nice rush but Moore beat him. He came right back, fooled Stewart with a fake shot and then went in close. Moore dropped to his knees and blocked the shot but before he could clear Parker tearing in for the pass batted the rubber into the net and the teams were even. It was a merry battle for the next ten minutes with the play even and plenty of excitement for the crowd. Cowie nearly sent his team ahead again with a wicked shot from the side but Dwyer was in the way. A nice rush by Collins and a pass to Ranger ended in the latter missing by inches. A Halpin-Ranger rush was close—but that was all. Parker drew a penalty for an accidental trip but the Petes held their own while he was off. Collins and Reesor fell together near the board and in the mix up Collins lost a couple of teeth when the Markham players' stick struck him in the mouth. He went on playing. Finally after a lot of fast and exciting hockey the Petes took the lead, Rose circling the Markham net and passing out in front to Parker who snapped one past Moore making the figures 2 to 1 in favor of the invaders. Collins was chased for hooking and while he was off Markham staged a rally that kept Dwyer on the hop. Inside of a minute he saved four times on shots by Cowie and Reesor. They could not beat him, however, and the period ended with the Petes a marker to the good.

A Great Finish.

There was no let up in the last session. Reesor almost evened up for Markham early in the period but Dwyer was in the way. Collins carried the rubber from behind his own net, shook off the Markham forwards, pulled the defence out and then gave Rose a perfect pass but Ray's scoop shot grazed the outside of the post. Collins came back again and Underwood tripped him and got the gate. Rose followed for what Referee Jacobi called loafing. Cowie was hit in the face with the puck and there was a short delay. Fifteen minutes of hard hockey had passed when Rose went down the side and took Moore's measure with a swift shot from the boards. That made it 3 to 1 and the goal took a lot of pep out of the Reesor-Jones crew. The Petes were breezing along as fast as ever and when with a little over a minute to go Mason was ruled off the blue shirts topped a fine performance by getting two more counters in jig time. Parker after a nice rush pulled the defence over and passed to Ranger who made no mistake. That was 4-1 and thirty seconds after a similar play with Burgess carrying the puck and Parker taking the pass enabled the defence man to score the last goal of the game.

First Period.

1 Markham—Cowie, 12 mins.

Second Period.

2 Peterboro—Parker, 3 mins.
3 Peterboro—Parker from Rose, 12 mins.

Third Period.

4 Peterboro—Rose, 15 mins.
5 Peterboro—Ranger from Parker, 4.05.
6 Peterboro—Parker from Burgess, 30 seconds.

Penalties.

Markham—Underwood 2, Reesor Mason. Total 4.
Peterboro—Parker 2, Rose, Collins.—Total 4.

U. OF T. 1, AURA LEE 0.

TORONTO, February 19 (Canadian Press). — After playing two games without being able to declare a winner, the University of Toronto III. and Aura Lee Juniors tried it again last night, and the students won a terrific battle, played before a near-packed rink of howling fans, 1 to 0.

Billy Parkes scored the only goal of the game eleven minutes after the start of the second period on a long shot from the east rail.

Speed, stick-handling, and staying power of the players on both teams was wonderful, and the tide of battle sallied first one team's way and then the other's.

The game was undoubtedly the best junior struggle of the year.

SOFT SPOT IS LOST BY JOSH.

JOSH BILLINGS.

John Billings, who holds all records for warming big league benches, is to lose his soft job. The St. Louis Browns recently sent him to Los Angeles in a trade for the star battery of that club.

For years Billings has stuck around in the big sh w, not catching as many games as a regular would in one season. Always a valuable second string catcher, Billings lacked something that kept him in the ground throughout his big league career.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE

Last night in the Mercantile Five Pin League at Solomon's Alleys, the Merchants Press took two out of three from the Examiner.

Some nice scores were turned in by the Merchants Press, that aggregation rolling 1003 in the first game and 957 in the second and finishing with 2787 for their three games.

Herbison had the high three games of the evening with a lovely score of 717, just 17 pins behind Hayward's high three for the league. Hayward was back in the limelight again last night rolling 658 for his three games. Hayward not only holds the high three games for the league but has an average of well over 200 for the season. O'Connor rolled 616 for his three games. All three scores are nice ones.

Herbison last night besides getting the high three games got the high single for the evening and also for the league when he rolled a high score of 314.

Last night's two defeats marked the return of the Examiner's regular team, the first time since the start of the second half. They inaugurated their return very auspiciously by dropping two.

Following are the scores:

Examiner—
Taylor	186	148	155	—489

WON BY KNOCKOUT.

MILAN, Feb. 17. — Ted (Kid) Lewis, of England, welterweight champion of Europe, to-day knocked out the Italian middleweight, Frattini. The end came in the seventeenth round.

BOWMANVILLE SAVED THEMSELVES IN FINAL SESSION FROM A ROUT

First Two Periods Gave Young Petes 5-0 Lead, But Visitors Opened Up An Attack and Helped By Luck Pulled Out With Score 8-4 Against Them.

PETES IMPROVED

While Peterboro's intermediates brought home last night a lead of four goals for the return game with Markham Wednesday night, the juniors will carry the same margin to Bowmanville tomorrow by virtue of their victory here last night by the score of 8-4.

The youngsters made a runaway of the first two periods and had the visitors blanked 5-0 beginning the last frame. Five seconds later they tallied their first counter, and got another three minutes later. Peterboro came back for two in succession but Bowmanville added a brace to their string and Lou Lebarr's squad raised their figure to eight just before the bell rang. Luck helped Bowmanville in that last period, two flukey shots beating Lebarr that were screened by his defence.

At no stage in the first two periods did the Bowmanville boys show any signs of speed or combination, while on the other hand the Petes were going at top speed and no man on the line up was inclined to hog the puck. They dashed down the ice two and three abreast with H. McDougal always in position. His zig-zagging through the Bowmanville forwards set them dizzy and nearly every time he broke through the defence, who were a brawny pair of lads that looked as if they could stop Jesse James. In the game against Oshawa which turned out to be fruitless the Petes learned to play combination and back check.

H. McDougal and Thornton were the outstanding stars of the Peterboro team, the former doing a great deal of the rushing, while Thornton was the goal-getter for the Petes. He succeeded in registering four times. All the rest on the Peterboro line played a good game while the back-checking of Cheu and Williams was a feature. Holland's rushes were always dangerous and Lebarr in goal turned in a good game.

For Bowmanville Chartrand and Osborne were the outstanding stars, the former scoring Bowmanville's four goals in the last period while Martin in goal saved his team many tallies. In the last period he blocked shots from all angles that looked like sure counters and his quickness to clear his shots stood out well.

First Period.

In the first period the Petes started off with their smooth working combination and before the Bowmanville team knew what happened Cheu had tipped a hot one into the corner of the net on a pass from H. McDougal. H. McDougall went through the entire team and passed to Cheu who again let fly a shot at Martin that nearly took him off his feet but he managed to get it cleared away from in front of the net before N. Collins, who had swooped in to secure the rebound, could bat it in. Luxton showed his heels to the Peterboro forwards and let go a bullet like shot at Lebarr, who saved handily.

Lebarr batted out shots from left and right from a scrimmage in front of the net. H. McDougal scored the neatest goal of the night when he baffled the Bowmanville forwards, went through the defence pair, drew out the goalie and slapped the rubber into the corner of the net for the Petes second counter.

Peterboro 2, Bowmanville 0.

Second Period.

Osborne was chased and while he was off Thornton scored on a fast shot from outside the defence. Collins and Gilfillan were waved to the bench for mixing it. M. McDougal when he was going at top speed lit on Luxton's back accidentally and was chased. Both teams battled on with only Lebarr saving the Petes from having a counter registered against them several times when the Bowmanville forwards combined. Eleven minutes after the go in Thornton scored on a pass from Holland. Osborne and Chartrand combined in a nice rush but Lebarr saved. Chartrand's hard shot from close in. Thornton was going great guns at this stage of the battle. He swooped down centre ice and passed to Holland who returned the rubber close in, Thornton having nothing to do but slap it in for the Petes fifth goal. Chartrand and Hooper combined in a rink length rush but Lebarr pitched off Hooper's hot shot. When the period ended the Petes had five goals to Bowmanville's nil.

Visitors Open Up.

The third period was the one in which the Bowmanville boys showed a spirit of life and combination. They charged in on the Peterboro defence and passed to Chartrand who did the gunning for them. Five seconds after the gong sounded Chartrand scored on a swift shot from outside the defence. Three minutes and twenty-five seconds later Chartrand scored on a neat pass from Hooper close in giving Lebarr little chance to save.

Holland swooped in on Martin and flipped in Cheu's rebound before the goalie had a chance to clear the shot. Thornton broke away for another long jaunt down the ice and flipped a fast one past Martin who barely got a glimpse at it. Chartrand made the score 7 to 3 when he shot a high swift one that glanced off Holland's mit and into the net giving Lebarr little chance to save. Holland went right through for a clever rush but his shot glanced off the goal post robbing the Petes of another counter. Williams scored on rebound but referee ruled that he had kicked it in. The Petes now forced the play and they peppered shots at Martin as if they were coming from a machine gun but they could not push the puck passed him.

Chartrand carried the puck down the boards and let fly a bullet shot that glanced off Holland's leg and into the net, for Bowmanville's fourth counter. Cheu and Osborne were sent in the penalty box for slashing at each other. While they were in the penalty box H. McDougal scored on a clever dash in which he drew out the goalie from his citadel and slipped the puck in for the last time during the game.

The Personnel.

St. John's Welcomes Hockey Champions

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—A typical St. John welcome home from the Olympic games in France to the Granites of Canada, champion amateur hockey team of the world, is being planned and with it an exhibition of the city's pride in Charles Gorman because of his work as this city's representative at the big skating meets.

A committee of the St. John Skating Association was named at a meeting yesterday afternoon to interview the mayor and common council and to go thoroughly into the matter.

WEST POINT EASY FOR R.M.C. CADETS

Kingston Team Doubled Score in What Was More a Social Affair Than Test of Hockey Ability.

KINGSTON, Feb. 17. — Westpoint army hockey team played an exhibition game here last night with the Royal Military College and were defeated by the score of 10 to 5. The game was more of a social visit than it was a hockey match, but at odd times throughout there were some good plays made. Marinelli at centre for the visitors, attracted the bulk of attention from the crowd and his work was very good. He made one of the prettiest goals of the night. McNarry in goal for Westpoint, played a fine game and made some dandy saves. The score at the end of the first period was 3 to 1 for R.M.C. and at the end of the second period 8 to 3. The locals did not extend themselves at any time during the game and would have won by a big score had they played thir regular hockey. Coach Ray Marchand introduced something new for Kingston fans when he appeared on the ice with his team for the workout before the game. There were nine out players and two goal tenders and every outplayer had a puck. Major General Sladen occuied a special box with Major General Sir A. C. MacDonell, Lady MacDonell, General and Mrs. A. E. Ross, General Elmsley and Major Greenwood and officers of M.D. No. 3. The band of the R. C.H.A. was present and at the opening of the match played the Star Spangled Banner and God Save the King, while the players stood at attention. There was a big crowd in attendance and they were quite pleased with the game. The teams were:

R.M.C.: Goal, Rogers; defence, Rooney, Hamilton; centre, B. G. Carrharris; wings, R. M. Carrharris, McLeod; subs, Hargraft, Donnelly, Saunders.

Referee: Prof. Lindsay Malcolm, Queen's University.

HAVELOCK WIN SEVEN IN ROW

Defeated Norwood 4-1 and C. P. R. Trent Valley Champions Will Likely Play the Smith's Falls O.H.A. Team in Exhibition Series.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 19.—Although nothing hinged on last night's game here with Norwood it was one of the fastest and cleanest of the whole season Havelock improving their Trent Valley League championship record to seven straight victories with the loss column a blank. At the same time Tweed won in Sterling by 3-2.

The teams were:

Referee—Walter Jackson of Peterboro.

Havelock's combination was a bright feature of the game. At the outset Pollock, Wright and C. Brennan sifted through the Norwood works and only Cuthbertson's brilliants stops prevented scoring. Pollock got the first when he slammed in his own rebound off Cuthbertson's pads.

Norwood played a steady game but failed to make any impression. In the second period C. Brennan and Quinn combined for Havelock's second and Pollock made it three to nothing. In the final period Doug Brennan on a solo play circled the goal and hooked the puck in, and H. Baker score for the visitors.

Havelock are considering an exhibition series with Smith's Falls intermediate O.H.A. team.

MISS CUMMINGS PROVED WONDER

BY JOE WILLIAMS

"No I never expect to see Edith win a championship. She has the shots and the temperament but, doggone it, she wont' take the game seriously, and how are you ever going to win if you don't knuckle down to business?"

MISS CUMMINGS

Edith Cummings must have heard her fine old father utter these words last summer, for straightway she proceeded to show him the shocking inaccuracy of is analysis by winning the women's title from a great field, scoring her final triumph at the expense of Alexa Stirling, thrice holder of the crown.

The Chicago girls is probably the most spirited player in the game. It may be true that she doesn't spend any too much time at practice, but once in action she is an inspiring sight. There is more dash and fire to her play than you usually find in feminine circles. What's more, she has the skill and power to back it up.

No finer golf has ever been played by a woman in America than the 84 which the youthful champion scored over the long, difficult Pine Valley course the day after winning the national title.

Pine Valley, in the Philadelphia district, is probably the hardest scoring course in the country, if not in the world. Miss Cummings' 84 is a record for the fair sex. It will be a long time before it is equaled, if ever.

Paired with Max Marston, national amateur champion, in a team match, Miss Cummings went out in 40 and came back in 44. Aided by a handicap of seven bisques, the girl beat the man champion. Miss Cummings should have broken 80. Erratic putting cost her seven strokes. She took four putts on the first green and three on five other greens. On three of the four short holes she was putting for twos.

"I never expect to see any woman play better," commented Marston, after the round. She would have beaten me even up if her putts had been dropping."

Miss Cummings believes much of her ability as a golfer comes from the fact that she frequently plays against men stars. Her brother, Dexter, for instance, is the national collegiate champion, a player who is dangerous in any type of competition. Edith and Dexter have had many ding dong battles on the links.

"Play against the men stars whenever you get the chance," advises the champion. "You'll develop a vigorous style and a confidence that will surprise you and add immeasurably to the effectiveness of your game."

Warsaw Defeat Zion 10 to 1 in U.F.O. Hockey

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 19.—Warsaw handed the old apple sauce to Zion in a U.F.O. County hockey league game here last night defeating the Otonabee team by 10-1. Holland opened the scoring with Zion's solitary counter, and from then on Warsaw ran up their ten count.

The teams were:

Warsaw—Goal, Wasson; defence, Morgan and H. Darling; centre, R. Darling; left wing, J. H. Darling; right wing, F. Bell; subs. Bowen and Payne.

Zion—Goal, Rice; defence, Campbell and Holland; centre, Slattery; right wing, O'Connor; left wing, Clancy; subs., Shaughnessy and Moore.

Referee—Braden Blewett.

Bowen and R. Darling starred for the Dummer team and Campbell was Zion's best.

BASKETBALL TO-NIGHT

To-night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium the newly formed Commercial Basketball League will get under way with three fast games. This league consists of quintettes representing the Western Clock, De Laval Quaker Oats, Canadian Woollens, Bankers and C.G.E. These teams have been out tossing baskets regularly in preparation for their series. Doug. Loomis promises that this is going to be a real league with lots of pep and keen competition. The truth of this will be verified when at 7.30 the Bankers and C.G.E. are throwing the pigskin at 8.15 when Western Clock and Quaker Oats get off and again at 9 o'clock when Canadian Woollens stack up against the De Laval.

HOCKEY FEVER AT ITS HEIGHT

Biggest Crowd of Season Will See Markham Play Here Tomorrow Night.

With the Petes steaming along at top speed and in a pretty position to clean up the round from Markham, and thus clean up the whole Intermediate O.H.A. district east of Toronto, the hockey fever is at its height in Peterborough, and the return game with Markham to-morrow night will attract the biggest crowd of the year.

Those who go expecting the blue shirts to make a runaway game of it are likely to be disappointed, for the Markham crew are tough opposition, and last night's score is no criterion of the merits of the two teams.

Their admirers claim that North Toronto's conquerors played their worst game of the season last night and they look to them to come through to-morrow night with an exhibition that will keep the Petes busy holding their lead.

They play clean, fast hockey, that Markham crew, and have been well coached by the veteran, Pete Reesor.

The game is called for 8.30 o'clock with Referee H. H. Jacobi in charge.

FOUGHT TEN ROUNDS.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM OSHAWA

NEGOTIATE FOR DEMPSEY FIGHT

Terms For Return Bout With Tommy Gibbons Likely to Be Settled in New York To-Day.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. —Negotiations for the proposed return world's heavyweight championship battle in New York about July between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons, may be completed to-morrow at a conference between Promoter Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns, manager of the title-holder.

Several weeks ago Rickard announced he had arranged the match but Kearns has not yet signed articles, although it is understood he and the promoter are in agreement on terms. Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, already has accepted terms on behalf on the St. Paul boxer, who stayed the limit with the champion at Shelby, Montana, last July.

Rickard said to-day he probably would build an arena somewhere in the metropolitan district which would be available for the Dempsey-Gibbons encounter as well as the prospective return match between Dempsey and Luis Angel Firpo. He is disinclined to use either the Polo Grounds or Yankee Stadium because of seating difficulties on these fields.

Dempsey, according to Kearns, is expected to return to New York next Saturday.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR CUP GAMES

Peterboro Not Represented at Big Curling Event

TORONTO, February 19 (Canadian Press). — Ideal weather and keen ice prevailed for the opening of the district cup championship competition this morning, when ten clubs, representing ten or twelve districts began play at the Granite, Queen City, and Victoria Rinks, for the third and last of the big curling competitions that are held annually under the auspices of the Ontario Curling Association.

All the matches, with the exception of Hamilton Victorias vs. Cobourg, were started on schedule time.

The non-arrival of the stones of the Hamilton club held up play for an hour and a half, with Victorias using Queen City stones throughout their match in the preliminary round.

This year's is the eighteenth successive competition for the district cup championship, with Orillia winning and Sarnia runners-up in 1907, the inaugural year.

Peterborough, four times winners and runners-up twice, is not represented this year, nor are Lindsay and the Galt Granites, winners and runners-up respectively, last year, in this year's competition.

Scores: Barrie 40, Fenelon Falls 30.

CANADA TO SEND CATTLE ENGLAND

Will Be Used to Restock Farms in Cheshire

LONDON, Feb. 19. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Farmers of Cheshire decided at a meeting at Crewe yesterday to accept an offer from the Canadian Government to send 4,000 and 5,000 calving heifers and young steers from the Dominion to restock farms in Chesshire which have been seriously depleted as a result of foot and mouth disease. Chesshire farmers agreed to ask the home government for a special permit to allow of young Canadian cattle being landed in this country.

It was stated at a meeting at Crewe that 40,000 animals were required in the county of Chesshire alone to restock farms and that Canada's offer to send a shipment of young cattle as stated was made on purely sympathetic grounds.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Another of Robert Hichens' colorful and exotic romances transferred to the silver sheet, with the art of Norma Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien to heighten its charm, is "The Voice From the Minaret," the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for the beginning of this week. A well-filled house watched with interest last evening the unfolding of the love story of the Lady Adrienne Carlyle and the Reverend Andrew Fabian, a Church of England clergyman, young and handsome. A role of the sort in which the fair Norma excels, a romantic and throbbing love story, is the basis of the picture.

Screened against the glamor and mystic charm of the desert, where shades of old-time, passionate lovers cast a spell about modern hearts, with scenes from old Bombay and Damascus as a background for their romance, the story unwinds itself. Lady Adrienne is the wife of a tyrannous and overbearing Englishman, Governor of Bombay, Sir Leslie Carlyle, who suffers from heart attacks that give him an irascible temper and a jealous nature that constantly suspects his young and beautiful wife. Meeting the handsome young clergyman and falling in love with him, the love story moves with dramatic power. Warned by the voice of the muezzin, calling the faithful to prayer from the minaret tower, they renounce each other, and she answers the call of duty. In the scene where the young clergyman and Lady Adrienne meet in the church where he has just been installed, there is a reminiscence of the church scene in "St. Elmo." The following scenes move swiftly. The husband, in jealous rage, pretends to poison the lovers, and they reveal their love for each other. A dramatic finale gives the satisfactory ending that usually follows a popular screen production of the sort.

The popular Norma and the equally popular Eugene O'Brien have splendid roles in "The Voice From the Minaret," and portray them in their characteristic fashion, in an absorbing and thrilling love story, set in appropriate surroundings.

The comedy is a Christie production, with Bobby Vernon in "Hold Everything."

AT THE GRAND

"ONE EXCITING NIGHT."

The opening picture in the new programme of attractions at the Grand Opera House, by which the Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, have made arrangements to show first-run pictures in Peterboro between the gaps in their road-show performances, was shown to a good-sized audience at the Grand Opera House last evening, in "One Exciting Night," a D. W. Griffiths picture, in eleven reels. An eight-piece orchestra for the evening performances plays the appropriate music that always adds so much to the Griffiths performances, and a two-reel Mack Sennett comedy accompanies the feature.

In "One Exciting Night," it has been said that Mr. Griffiths departs from the heavy and spectacular to portray on the screen a lighter type of story. This picture lives up to its title absolutely. It is a very exciting night that unrolls itself on the silver sheet. A mysterious house, built by an eccentric owner who puts into its construction many secret closets and panels; a bootleggers' syndicate that collects its amassed wealth into a satchel containing half a million dollars in large-sized bills; a double murder and a pack of crooks hunting for the loot, concealed behind a secret panel; a pair of young lovers, the sort of lovers that Griffiths delights in portraying, eager, youthful and ingenuous, a huge Kaffir in evening attire and a cadaverous, white-faced man of mystery, with burning eyes, coming softly into the scene at unexpected intervals; a fake detective and his helpers; a black-faced Romeo and his yellow-skinned, shapely lady-love; these all combine to make up an exciting picture that resembles strongly in its construction the well-known stage play, "The Bat."

It would be unfair to tell just who is the villain of the piece. That is a secret until the final moment. In the old house, with its white-shrouded furniture filling a gloomy upper room, where murder has been done, the figure of "the killer" skulks. Down dim corridors, stealthily prowling through secret passages, its white hand reaching out for possible victims, the black-masked, black-mantled shadow creeps, in one of those pleasantly exciting productions where thrills galore may be enjoyed by proxy. The art of the producer heightens the element of mystery to the very end, and the tense atmosphere never slackens. In moments of relief, the black Romeo appears, with his inamorata, trying to make love in intervals of fearful awe of the shadowy intruder.

A web of intrigue surrounds the cast. The heroine has a mystery in her past, which conceals itself effectually until the final moment, her mother is a lady of peculiar antecedents, and the group of men, with the fake detective dominating the picture, alternately suspect first one and then the other, in intervals of trying to steal away to find the treasure satchel, snatched from the hand of a dead man and then innocently placed in another hiding place by the family butler. The lovers are of the distinctive Griffith type. Carol Dempster, as Agnes Harrington, the heroine, evidently copies the acting of Lillian Gish, and the hero, Henry Hull, as John Fairfax, has something of the same type of jerky portrayal, peculiar and yet out of the ordinary enough to be interesting. The role of J. Wilson Rockmaine is played by Morgan Wallace, Margaret Dale is Mrs. Harrington, the scheming mother, Frank Wunderlee is impressive as the big black, Samuel Jones, Irma Harrison is the Maid, Percy Carr the Butler; Charles E. Mack is the Guest, Romeo Washington's part is played by Porter Strong, C. H. Crocker-King is the Mysterious Neighbor, Frank Sheridan is the Detective, Grace Griswold Auntie Fairfax, and Herbert Sutch is Clary Johnson, in a well-balanced and effective cast.

The big scene is in the storm picture, impressionistic and startling, in a realistic delineation of lightning and tempest.

"SO THIS IS LONDON"

"So This Is London," George M. Cohan's great international comedy hit, that played twelve months at the Hudson Theatre, New York City and is now the outstanding success of the season at the Prince of Wales Theatre in the British Metropolis, comes to the Grand Opera House for an engagement of two days, February 22 and 23.

Mr. Cohan has provided this laughing triumph of two continents with a superb cast of clever Cohan comedians who scored a phenomenal success in the piece last season, notably during the record-breaking run of over four solid months at the Cohan's Grand in Chicago. In this captivating comedy of international appeal, we see ourselves as others see us, and, amid whirlwinds of wholesome laughter, at the vagaries of the Britishers, we see the always good-natured shafts of satirical humor suddenly turned upon the other fellow, and get the English view point, only to find that under the surface, there are virtually the same sterling qualities that prove the English-speaking race, on both sides of the broad Atlantic, to be really very much alike. It is the continual contrast of the Briton's idea of what he thinks Americans are like, and our motion of what we have pictured the English, that provokes the endless chain of laughs. The scenes are all laid in England, while the story of the play centers upon a love affair which involves the families, of an American millionaire and of a British peer. They instinctively dislike each other and when it becomes known to them that the son and daughter of their respective houses have fallen in love, there is a fine conflict until the temperamental turmoil is smoothed out by a thorough-going diplomat, in the person of a sympathetic British matron who was born in America. Finally the difficulties are all adjusted, the American eagle and the British lion shake hands and all is forgiven, when both families agree that they have been entirely in error in their mutual dislike and distrust of each other.

AT THE REGENT

DON'T FOOL YOUR HUSBAND IS THEME OF SUPERB PICTURE.

'The Nth Commandment' Has Vital Meaning For Housewives of Every Degree.

What is meant by "The Nth Commandment?"

In the case of the Paramount-Cosmopolitan production of that title now at the Regent Theatre to remain for three days, it seems to mean "Thou shalt not fool thy husband."

This picture should be interesting to all housewives. It is to be compared to "Humoresque," since the author, director and scenarist combined to create that successful production, and it is similar in its appeal. Colleen Moore, James Morrison and Eddie Phillips play the leading roles.

The story tells of a young wife, whose husband is ill and who leaves home one evening presumably to work overtime at the Mammoth department store where she is employed, to obtain the money necessary to send her husband to the country for his health. Instead, she attends a speedy Christmas Eve party given by a number of her friends.

At a cafe a sum of money is thrust into the hand of the bewildered girl by a drunken admirer. In her hurry to escape she neglects to return the money and carries it home to her husband, telling him that she received it from an aid society. He knows that she has not been to the store working, for he has been there to take her home, so he accepts this as a plausible excuse. The question arises, was this girl justified in deliberately telling a falsehood in order to preserve the peace of her home and perhaps save her husband's life? Was she justified in fooling her husband? You will be better able to answer this question for yourself after viewing one of the showings of this splendid picture.

Charlotte Merriam and George Cooper are included in the cast. Frank Borzage directed; Fannie Hurst wrote the original story and Frances Marion made the adaptation.

"The Nth Commandment" has scored heavily wherever presented this season. It is well worth seeing, and large crowds are expected.

AT THE ROYAL

RAWLINSON FILM PLEASES AT ROYAL.

Herbert Rawlinson, the romantic hero of so many screen plays, s cast in a role well suted to his jaunty personality and versatile ability in "Fools and Riches," the production in which he starred, and which opened at the Royal Theatre yesterday.

As Jimmmy Dorgan, the only son of a multi-millionaire railroad president, Rawlinson's role is that of the life of every party in the picture. And he fits the role with the careless ease of a real artist. In the later sequences of the story when he is seen as an ordinary youth shorn of his wealth, struggling to make good against heavy odds, he appears with equal naturalness.

The story is woven around the experiences of a lad who had been reared in luxury, and who had no weightier thoughts than the spending of his father's fortune in large sized chunks. He had fallen in with a crowd of social leeches whose interest in him was measured in the number of parties he held for them. Old "Pick-Handled Dorgan, as Jimmy's father was known, was fond of his son but he was not proud of him for his way of living, and Jimmy's future worried him greatly. In the interest of his son whom he had already almost ruined by over indulgence, the old railroad builder divided the legacy that he must soon leave his son, in such a way that he would not have access to the major part of it until he had proved his ability to handle it.

ALL STAR? RIGHTO!

Headed by Bebe Daniels, Ernest Torrence, Noah Beery, and Lloyd Hughes, the cast of Zane Grey's "The Heritage of the Desert," which opens a three days' run at the Royal Theatre next Thursday, is particularly strong and well suited for this type of picture.

Bebe Daniels plays the role of a western girl, part Indian, and part Spanish. Ernest Torrence, whose characterization of an old plainsman won him world wide recognition, is cast as a God-fearing pioneer, typifying American Patriotism. Noah Beery as a bad man of the desert, and Lloyd Hughes as a tenderfoot, complete the featured players. Others in the cast are James Mason, Richard R. Neill and Leonard Clapham.

PIONEER ADVENTURES FORM PLOT BASIS FOR CHAPTER PICTURES.

An entire railroad turned picture company for filming of "The Steel Trail," a newchapter play starring William Duncan and Edith Johnson, which comes to the Royal Theatre on Thursday. The company filmed their construction scenes on the new Minaret and Western Railway, in the high Sierras, where the new roadway is being extended into the pioneer country, past the historic town of Millerton, founded long before Fremont blazed the trail into the west.

The new story a stirring tale of railroad construction, is replete with spectacular thrills. Duncan and Miss Johnston figure in hair-breadth escapes from an automobile, hurled over a cliff, a landslide, forest fire, a wild dash down a grade in a runaway freight car, dynamite blast and other exciting situations.

To these are coupled spectacular feats of engineering. The actual swinging of a gigantic steel bridge across a raging torrent, building of steel trestles to bridge yawning chasms in the high mountains, and other remarkable features of one of the greatest engineering tasks in the history of Western railroading mark the swift action of the play.

A great cast supports the two stars —John Cossar, a noted character man, appears as the owner of the new railroad, of which Duncan is the chief engineer. Miss Johnson plays his daughter, Ralph Fee McCullough appears as the loyal student engineer in the party. Harry Carter appears as Zabel, a crooked financier, plotting to seize the road.

Others in the cast are Catherine Calhoun, Mabel Randall, and Frank Whitson. A small army of laborers in the construction gang and extras in other stirring scenes add to the magnitude of the list of actors. Gorgeous Sierra scenery relieves the drab cuts through rock in which the winding railroad is slowly built in the thrilling construction scenes. The production was directed by Duncan himself.

GREEN SHIRTS WON.

KITCHENER, February 19 (Canadian Press). — Kitchener green shirts remained in the running for second place in the Big Four race by defeating Galt Terriers by 8 to 5 in the last regular scheduled game of the series last night.

If the Preston team is beaten at Stratford to-night it will then be necessary for Stratford and Kitchener to play off their tie game here on Friday night, and a Kitchener win will put the green shirts even with Preston for second place.

TWO THOUSAND FANS.

MILTON, Feb. 19. — (Canadian Press).—Over two thousand hockey fans, including three hundred who came by special train from Niagara Falls, packed the arena here last night to witness the first of the home-and-home games between Milton, Intermediate O. H. A. champions of Group 7, and Niagara Falls, winners of Group 8. The ice was in excellent condition, and the game was the fastest and most strenuous ever seen in Milton.

It has been discovered that mussels in a river in the interior of France are producing pearls that compare favorably with the nest from ocean inhabiting oysters.

EMBARGO ONLY ON FOR A SHORT TIME

WA, Feb. 19.—(Canadian —Lifting of newly imposed mbargo may be expected alourly according to Hon. W. herwell, Minister of Agricul- this morning. The Minister ed that the embargo was design- to locat, disease that had broken out among Irish cattle and that in order to do this the British authorities had found it necessary to close all ports for a brief period.

Mr. Motherwell stated that there were very few if any Canadian cattle in transit at present time and any loss suffered would b, trifling. A similar embargo was imposed last fall," said the Minister, but at that time the few ports were left open to take care of Canadian trade. In this instance embargo is of such temporary natur, that it should not cause any alarm or effect the trade.

FRANCE MAY CLAIM REDUCTION IN DEBT

PARIS, Ont., Feb. 19.—(British United Press). —An editorial in L'Eclair suggests to the French Government a claim which may entitle France to a one third reduction of her war debts to the United States and Great Britain. France is advised to claim that a third of the money she spent in the United States for munitions went back to the United States treasury immediately in the form of excess profits taxes. The editorial, contends that America must be satisfied with the real value of the munitions and not attempt to collect the excess profits again from France.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
For the rank and file to know and accept the correct translation of the words "Sheol" and "Hades" would tend to break up the whole fabric of ecclesiasticism which is held together by the false doctrines of Christendom, namely Satan's lie, "that a man doe, not die, but when dead is more alive than ever," and its necessary corollary, "endless torments." That this collapse is drawing near is evident from the citations of Scripture and the signs that accompany the nearness of that event. — M. T. Butcher.

MAYOR GAVE FLAG TO THE VISITORS

Detroit Curlers Arrived Today and Will Play Local Rinks.

Visiting Curlers from Detroit are playing at the Charlotte street rink with Peterboro rinks this afternoon and evening. The visitors lunched at the Empress Hotel to-day, and will be the guests of the local Curling Club at the Empress at 6.30 this evening. At noon to-day, Mayor J. J. Turner, Mr. Alex. Kay and Mr. W. J. Oke lunched with the visitors

Mayor Turner made the American curlers welcome to the city, in a neat little speech He presented them with a small Canadian flag, to act as a souvenir of their trip, to be placed in their Detroit club rooms. His Worship explained th, significance of the coat of arms embodied in the flag, which is a sample of the new style authorized by th, Government. The Union Jack occupies the upper left hand corner and included in the insignia are th, lion of England, the harp of Ireland, the lion rampant of Scotland, and the fleur-de-lis of of France, the latter to commemorat, in Canadian hearts the era when Canada was New France, before it passed under British control.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines — New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinion and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, February 19.—Fractional changes predominated at the opening of the stock market to-day on a fair volume of trading in which the oil shares were the most active. Sinclair was traded in rather heavily at 20, off 1-8, and then slightly under that level. The Pan-Americans were off fractionally as were most of the independent oils.

Steel common came out in very heavy volume in the early trading, opening at 102¼ up 1-8. The other steels were off slightly, Bethlehem being down 4 and Republic 5-8. Con was up 1-8 at 111.

Sterling and French francs opened slightly higher. Activity developed in the first hour with a decided improvement in prices.

Leading issues like Steel common, Can., Baldwin and the Pan-Americans advanced on a good volume of trading.

Can. improved on its opening price of 111 by nearly 1½ points, as did Baldwin, when it sold up to 120 5-8 contrasted with an opening of 119.

Ban-American "B" sold up to 44 7-8, while the "A" shares at 46½, were 1¼ above the opening.

There was quite an activity in the rail issues which have been rather inactive in recent days of weakness.

By the end of the first hour the leading stocks had lost part of the gain accomplished on the early rally but in few instances were prices under the opening levels.

More than one leading commission and wire house reiterated the belief that while tax legislation and the oil inquiry were the immediate excuses for the market's reaction they considered the declining prices as coming at a time when they were needed following an extended advance.

While believing that the reaction might carry still further, one large house said: "The bright aspect of the situation is the proximity to the time of year when seasonal conditions provide the foundation for rising prices and we believe that this year will be no exception to the rule."

Francs slipped to new record low levels again to-day.

After opening just a bit better than the previous close, the French currency toward noon was quoted as low as $.0407½, a ' w for all time.

At noon the quotation was $.0408.

ASSIZES HERE OPENED TODAY

Duties of the Grand Jury Reviewed by Mr. Justice Mowat — One Criminal Case.

The Spring Asizes of the Supreme Court opened in Peterborough this afternoon with the impaneling of a Grand Jury under Hon. Herbert Macdonald Mowat, Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario. Mr. Justice Mowat has had a distinguished career as a jurist. He was born in Kingston, on April 11, 1863, a son of Rev. Professor John B. and Emma (Macdonald) Mowat, and was educated in Queen's University, from which he graduated in 1886.

He was called to the Ontario bar in the same year, created a Queen's Counsel in 1899, and appointed a Justice of the supreme court of Ontario on October 2, 1921.

Mr. Justice Mowat was a member of the House of Commons representing Parkdale Division of Toronto in 1917. He is an ex-officer of the Queen's Own Rifles.

The Grand Jury is composed of R. W. Burgess, Edward Allen, Samuel J. Charlton, John Cochrane, Garfield Crowe, David Edwards, E. C. Elliot, eGorge E. Edwards, Rorke Ferguson, P. J. Kenny, J. E. Latimer, E. S. J. Martin, Thomas Ruth; E. V. Warne and J. H. Foster.

E. S. J. Martin was selected as foreman.

Charge to the Grand Jury.

In his charge to the gentlemen of the Grand Jury of the County of Peterboro, Mr. Justice Mowat said they represented an institution that had come down through the centuries and had withstood all threats of abolishment. "It seems to me to be a wise thing to call on citizens to come to court and take part in the administration of the law. If this was done by officials it would leave out the element of citizenship. You are called because you are men of good standing in the community and sound judgment.

"The business before you is to decide whether a prima facie case is made against offenders. There is but one bill of indictment to come before you against the accused person charging the crime of murder. The law is jealous regarding the lives of its citizens, and if the life of any citizen is taken then the law's duty is to follow up and punish the offender. The taking of life under the criminal code is called culpable homicide of which there are two degrees—murder and manslaughter.

"Murder is the taking of the life of a human being by another, meaning to kill him, or doing some bodily harm which may kill him, reckless as to whether death ensues or not.

"Manslaughter is a lesser offence, without intent. It is punishable to prevent others being negligent.

"The object of a trial for murder is to punish and also to prevent. If murders were not punished they would be much more rife than they are.

"This bill of indictment charges killing with intent. Upon it are witnesses you will examine to see whether there is a case made out by one side only. You are not to try the case. Your whole duty is to see what the Crown adduces before you.

"If you think there is a reasonable amount of evidence then it is your duty to bring in a true bill.

"If there is not enough evidence, in your opinion, to put the accused on trial, your foreman will endorse the indictment, 'no bill'."

MARMORA STORE SWEPT BY FIRE

General Store and Residence Went Up in Smoke

MARMORA, Feb. 19. — Fire, which broke out at ten o'clock this morning destroyed the general store and residence of Michael Kouri, on Mill street. The buildings, which were owned by the Sweet Brothers, were partially covered by insurance, but there was no insurance on the stock of goods, a portion of which were saved from total destruction. No cause has been assigned for the blaze.

PROFITEERS ARE GOUGING BUYERS

MacDonald Government Issues a Warning to Tradesmen.

LONDON, Feb. 19. — (United Press.)—(By Percy Sarl, Staff Correspondent.)—As the strike of the dock workers entered its fourth day to-day there was widespread hope that Premier MacDonald's early intervention may shorten the tie-up.

The whole press has come out in full-hearted support of the government.

Premier MacDonald's warning to profiteers is "timely and needed," the Daily Mail said.

"The government is to be congratulated for its display of firmness."

The warning referred to was issued last night after a meeting of the Cabinet which discussed the strike.

"The Cabinet has information from various parts of the country," an official statement after the meeting said, "that the prices of meat and other commodities have been increased from 33 1-4 to 50 p.c.

While British business men are grumbling at the stoppage of mails through the dockers' strike, housewives are concerned over evidence manifest yesterday of intention of tradesmen to raise food prices. Most notable increase was for meat, dealers in which issued through their trades associations explanatory statements purporting to show that the increase was unavoidable and saying that they would forthwith submit their reasons to government. Steps taken by the government to prevent "exploitation of consumers owing to present strike," won hearty approval of Press to-day. It may be necessary for the government to draft emergency measures to handle the situation.

VOL. LIV., No. 43 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1924 PRICE THREE CENTS

ONTARIO'S TOTAL LIABILITIES INCREASED $200,000,000 IN 4 YEARS

GREATER ECONOMY NOT NEW TAXES THE BASIS OF PROVINCIAL BUDGET

Provincial Treasurer W. H. Price Announces the Establishment of Audit of Every Department For the First Time Since Confederation—Cash Left in Office Fyle in One Department of Late Government.

NET DEBT $109,000,000.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—The financial situation of Ontario as the present government views it was described yesterday in the Legislature by Hon. W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer, in a two and a half hour budget speech. The treasurer announced no new taxes, and declared that the province would finance itself for the future by greater economy by cutting down on the estimates and by placing a severe audit on all revenues and expenditures so that not a dollar could be lost in administration.

The treasurer created a sensation in the House when he said that the deficit for the fiscal year ending October 31 1923, was $15,000,000 and that for the four years the Drury government was in power it had deficits totalling $24,000,000. He declared that even if he had left certain accounts out of ordinary revenue which were previously in extraordinary or capital expenditure that the deficit for 1923 would still be $11,000,000. This statement of deficit will be challenged by the U.F.O. members who expressed doubt by interjections and broad smiles as the Treasurer attempts to fasten many financiay sins on his predecessors in office.

Costly Incompetence

The treasurer maintains, however, that even worse than the deficit was the loss through incompetence and the losses sustained in departments where there was no audit and no supervision. He declared that in many departments there was no audit at all of revenue and that in one department office fyles had been used as depositories for cash. Money and even cheques he said were found lying in these boxes months after they had been presented.

Mr. Price also stated that on a ten milion dollar loan made in New York that the payment had been made in Canadian money and the ten million, because of the greater value of the American dollar had realized, $10,200,000. The $200,000 could not be found. He declared that the government intended to conduct a vigorous inquiry to see where the money had gone.

Speaking of the Ontario debt Mr. Price placed the total liabilities of the province at $303,391,000 in which was an increase of $54,330,000 for the last fiscal year. In 1919, he said the total liabilities amounted to $97,000,000. After deduction of interest-bearing liabilities such a Hydro, etc. the net debt of Ontario stood at $109,000,000 at the end of 1923 as against $15,000,000 in 1919.

No Sinking Fund

The treasurer said that there never had been a sinking fund in Ontario despite the fact that many nice editorials had been written about Hon. Peter Smith's scheme for one. Mr. Price suggested that Mr. Smith meant sink hole. Mr. Price contended that the establishment of a sinking fund now would simply add to deficits and as he expected deficits for another two or three years a sinking fund would not be established.

As to the immediate future Hon. Mr. Price said that there was thirty-five or thirty-six millions of interest statuory payments etc. which could not be cut down. "We do not think that this year we can cut any more than five million at the most off our expendiure", he said "But we do think that we can increase the revenue by four millions or from $34,000,000 to $38,000,000. We want to give the people a chance to clean things up and we want to know if they were sincere when they told us we were to cut down expense," said Mr. Price.

Harold Fisher (Lib. West Ottawa) adjourned the debate on the bud get which will be continued Thursday.

At the outset of his address Hon. Mr. Price explained that the expenditure last year was $49,000,000 and the revenue $34,000,000. He had placed some items previously held as capital or extraordinary account in the ordinary account thus making a difference or increase of $3,005,903 in the expenditure. He had also added the loss sustained on the sale of loans and treasury bills amounting to $472,301 which previous governments put in capital account. He declared that the government would continue this method in succeeding budgets.

Explaining what he thought the the main reason for the big deficit Mr. Price said: "The Drury administration tried to get in as much revenue as they possibly could and at the same time they failed to pay

Commission Heard Forestry Engineer

QUEBEC, Feb. 20.—The pulpwood commission Tuesday heard J. Wilson, forestry engineer for the Laurentide Paper Co., who stated he was being heard as a forestry engineer and not as a representative of the company referred to.

Figures were given by Mr. Wilson showing that in 1913 the quanttiy of timber available in the province reached 363,603,200 cords. In the course of the last ten years 14,000,000 cords had burned, 72,000,000 were destroyed by budworms and 16,500,000 cut, making a total of 102,504,608 destroyed. This left available 261,098,592 cords. The yearly cut averaged 10,460,000 cords and assuming that there was no increase in the demand the forests would be gone in 26 years from now. He thought that the embargo would be a good thing.

SENATOR'S NAME IN OIL SCANDAL

Revealed By Stockbroker's Books—Facts Suppressed Until Audit of Books For Oil Transactions Is Complete.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Trail of the oil inquiry, after devious ramblings, led directly back Tuesday to the United States' Senate.

When the Oil Committee met behind closed doors to examine certain records of the Benkard Stock brokerage firm, of New York, it found the name of a Senator entered there.

Pending a more complete examination of all the records of the firm in New York, the name was withheld. While pledged to secrecy now, committeemen declared that when the audit of the books for transactions in oil and other stocks by other Government officials had been finished, there would be no suppression of any of the facts unearthed.

Additional information with regard to such stock transactions will be sought by the committee to-day at another executive session at which it expects to examine Harry Payne Whitney, New York financier, who failed to appear to-day in response to a subpoena. Mr. Whitney is hurrying to Washington from the South.

SCOTS CHALLENGE THE GOVERNMENT

Insulted, They Say, By Reduction of Front Bench Members to Two — Demand Day a Week For Their Questions.

LONDON, Feb. 19. Canadian Press Cable. — The first open challenge to the government from its militant Scottish supporters in the House of Commons, came at the end of question time in the House to-day, when there were protests that the Question paper had been so arranged that the Scottish members' questions were not reached.

G. Buchanan, the Labor member for Gorbals, Glasgow, asked whether, raving insulted the Scottish members by reducing their representation on the front bench to two, the Government would try to give one day a week in which the Scottish mebers could have their questions answered, orally.

Buchanan was interrupted by opposition laughter and cheers, when he referred to there being only two Scottish members on the Government bench.

Other suggestions, in which Neil MacLean, Labor member for Govan, Glasgow, joined, included a proposal that a longer time should be given for questions and the answering of questions in special meetings and in committee rooms.

J. R. Clynes, Lord Privy Seal, replied that the government had these matters in hand and he promised the house that they would be carefully considered.

RELIEVED BANK MANAGER OF GUN AND $2,200 CASH

Bandits Made Quick Job of Holdup in Suburb of Montreal—Third Bank Robbery in Week—Tied Manager in Cellar.

REVOLVER ON DESK.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—Beating Manager J. A. Roch over the head with the butts of their revolvers, then tying him with cords, gaging him, carrying him down the cellar stairs, two men robbed the Bordeaux branch of La Banque d'Hochelaga of $2,200 shortly after three yesterday afternoon.

Bordeau is about ten miles from the city. The men drove up in a car, in which a third man remained at the wheel during the hold-up. The three were later seen by residents speeding away in the direction of Cartierville.

Mr. Roch was about to close the bank and was counting the day's takings when the two men entered. One is described as about twenty-five years old and the other about thirty. One of them asked change fora big bill and as the manager reached for change the two covered him with revolvers. After the robbery they took with them the manager's revolver which was lying on the counter.

Fifteen minutes elapsed before the manager could untie himself and summon the police.

The hold-up has a strong similarity to the robber of the Molson's Bank branch at Cote des Neiges last week and constitutes the third bank robbery and fifth hold-up in this city and district within a week.

TO FLY FROM PARIS TO N. Y.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—(United Press).—A non-stop flight from Paris to New York is to be attempted this summer, according to an inventor. For the project a giant monoplane has been built and will shortly undergo preliminary tests.

The machine is in effect a flying wing and there is no fuselage in the usual sense of the word. At its deepest part the wing will measure 7 feet, and here will be accommodated the passengers and the enormous amount of fuel that will be needed on so long a flight.

The craft will be equipped with three 400 h. p. Lorraine motors, which may be operated together or singly. With two engines running the aeroplane will be able to attain a speed of slightly less than two miles a minute.

As a trial test a non-stop flight from Paris to Cairo, a distance of about 1,500 miles, will be essayed.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY INCREASE FOOD PRICES

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).— The express companies have filed notices with the Board of Railway Commissioners cancelling tariffs covering miscellaneous commodity rate on butter, eggs, poultry, packing house products, fish etc., applying between various points in Ontario and Quebec effective March 20th, 1024. These cancellation supplements have been suspended temporarily by the Railway Board so that interested shippers and receivers may have an opportunity of presenting their views before definite action is taken in the matter.

It is understood that the Railway Commission is to hold a sitting at Toronto on February 21st to deal with the application of the express traffic association for a readjustment of express rates and that the case will also be taken up at Ottawa early in March.

FAMINE IN HEBRIDES SCOTS NEAR STARVING

Lord Balfour Appeals to United States to Help 30,000 Poor, Proud Islanders — Rains Destroyed Crops — Aid Promised.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—A cablegram from Lord Arthur Balfour to John A. Stewart, of the Sulgrave Institution in this city, Tuesday, contained this message:

"Reported to us that 30,000 persons in the Hebrides in danger of starvation. What can Sulgrave do, if anything? Please advise by cable.

"Balfour."

Ten months of unceasing rain which has destroyed crops, ruined the Scottish natives' thatched homes, and cut off their every means of livelihood has, according to Mr. Stewart, prompted this appeal to the United States for aid. Not since 1846, when the "Great Flood" visited the Scottish Hebrides and America went to the rescue with food, clothing and money, have the proud but poor inhabitants of those barren islands sought charity, he declared.

Mr. Stewart said he had transmitted the appeal to George Vincent, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, asking that organization to join a relief campaign, and to President Coolidge.

On Mainland, Too.

Upon the basis of additional reports received yesterday that 20,000 more persons on the mainland of Scotland between Sutherland and Argyll were destitute and in grave danger of perishing, Dr. Stewart said he had cabled the Provost of Edinburgh, capital of Scotland, asking a detailed statement of conditions and promising American aid as soon as possible. An appeal by Edinburgh authorities to the English parliament to supplement private contributions with a Government relief fund has met with no response, according to Mr. Stewart.

Poachers Ruin Fishing.

Famine and want are frequent visitors to the Hebrides, Mr. Stewart pointed out. Now, he said, continuous downpours of the last ten months have washed out the truck farms and the peat beds—the only fuel the islanders have, and their chief source of export revenue — have become sodden and valueless. And, according to Mr. Stewart, trawlers poaching off the islands have ruined fishing so that the natives' only other source of food is gone.

Obregon Troops Occupy Morelia

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20.—Federal troops have occupied Morelia without fighting, the rebels having evacuated the city, according to a War Department report.

The federal forces are under the command of General Juan Jose Rios; 4,000 men divided into several columns are being sent against Marcial Cavazos, who is operating in the State of Hidalgo, cutting the railways and dynamiting trains. Cavazos has divided his forces into three bands.

BANDITS ARE AT LARGE IN CHINA

They Are Murdering Petty District Officials and Threatening the Foreign Population.

(By Ray Marshall.)

PEKIN, Feb. 20.—(British United Press.)— Large forces of Thibetan bandits under the Nanka Lama have stormed Batang, murdering the petty district officials and threatening the foreign population, M. Perrone, a French merchant in Atuntze, says in a telegram to the British United Press.

The first attack was beaten off by the citizens, unaided by the Chinese garrison, the telegram says.

Later the bandits attacked again and there was heavy fighting before they were forced out of the city.

The Nanka Lama, in retreat, sent back a prisoner with this message: "I will return with reinforcements and level the city if necessary, for we are determined to annex it to the Thibetan territory.

"The foreigners will not be harmed."

UNSHROUDING OF MUMMY PLANNED BY GOVERNMENT

Work in Tut's Tomb Will Be Continued By Trained Archaelogists, Mostly British, If Howard Carter Rejects Demand of the Egyptian Authorities.

AT LOGGERHEADS.

LONDON, Feb. 20. — The Egyptian government has made all preparations to take over the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, and complete the research work under the direction of its own staff of trained archaeologists, which is almost entirely British, if Howard Carter should fail to bow to the demand of the government regarding the reopening of the tomb, according to Aziz Izzet Pasha, the newly appointed Egyptian Minister to London.

Universal indignation has been aroused in Egypt over Mr. Carter's closing of the tomb on so trivial a pretext as the non-admission of the wives of the foreign excavators before even the newspaper men had been admitted to see Tut-Ankh-Amen's golden mummy case, the minister declared to-day.

Kept Agreement.

Throughout the controversy with Mr. Carter, according to the Minister, the Egyptian government has carried out to the fullest detail the signed agreement which permitted Mr. Carter to admit whom he pleased as well as vesting him with the exclusive rights to the photographs and the descriptive matter concerning the buried chamber and its contents. The Minister described Mr. Carter's action in closing the tomb as high handed, and his attitude toward the Egyptian government as discourteous, expresing the view that it was the British expert's temperament which was the whole cause of the tomb controversy.

Must Admit Press.

Under the new terms laid down to Mr. Carter, which the Egyptian government will insist be carried out, the press of the world will be given free access to the mortuary chamber, as well as the fullest reports and photographs through the Egyptian Press Bureau.

Carter Wants Apology.

CAIRO, Feb. 20. — Howard Carter and the Egyptian officials who have to do with Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, apparently are at a deadlock with regard to reopening the tomb, and continuing the operations which ceased last week when Mr. Carter padlocked the sarcophagus, which is believed to contain the mummy of the Pharaoh.

In answer to the ultimatum of the Egyptian Minister of Public Works, giving Mr. Carter 48 hours in which to resume his work, Carter yesterday sent a telegram to the Minister announcing his readiness to continue the work providing an ample apology was given him for alleged slights by the Director of Antiquities, and also assurance that the vexatious interference would not be resumed.

Applies to Court.

"In order to safeguard the contents of the tomb," said Mr. Carter's message to the Minister of Public Works, "I am commencing proceedings in the Mixed Court to-day. If the Director-General of Antiquities apologizes for his insults to the ladies invited by myself on behalf of Almina, Countess Carnarvon, to the tomb on Wednesday last, when the tomb was free from the Press visit, and if an undertaking is given that all vexatious interference will cease, I wil reopen the tomb for ten days in acordance with the agreement of Feb 8th, of which you have broken Article 3."

Mr. Carter's lawyer visited the Minister of Public Works last night and unsuccessfully endeavored to reach a compromise. The Minister declared that the Egyptian government would not tolerate Mr. Carter's "brow beating attitude" and that he must remeber he was dealing with the government.

Later it was announced the Egyptian Government has cancelled Countess Carnarvon's license for excavation in the tomb of Tutankhamen.

BOARD OF WORKS PLAN BEGINNING ON DRAINS TO TAKE STORM WATER

Busy Session Functions Smoothly in Passing Estimates Totalling $62,375, an Increase of $14,000 -- Pruning Knife Threatened.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

A hitherto unsuspected or unrecognized attraction for tourists in the city was uncovered last night by the Board of Works of the City Council during a discussion of the estimates when Alderman Turner told of a manhole on Park Place from which the water spouts a foot high in spring.

The business-like estimates prepared by City Engineer, R. H. Parsons, were passed with a minimum of flurry, proposed storm drains being the principal bone of contention with Alderman Crowe strongly objecting to any expenditure along this line. If the city engineer could have seen his way clear to drop some other item from his estimates, Alderman Crowe would have been strongly in favor of commencing the building of storm drains, but he did not like the total amount of the estimates which represent an increase of one mill over last year's. However, he moved the adoption of the estimates, totalling $62,375 as compared with $48,600 last year, adding a definite warning that the knife will be applied when they come before him again.

The city engineer repeated his annual warning that his estimates are more or less guesses, since he cannot tell what work the Council will order him to do. He asked for the following sums: General street work, $6,500; gravel, $10.000; wooden sidewalks, $500; bridge repairs, $100; culvert repairs, $50; sewer repairing, $800; catch basins, $200; concrete walks, repairs and maintenance, $500; pavement cleaning, $4,500; pavement repairs, $500; weed and grass cutting, $400; trimming and cutting trees, $700; office supplies, $200; flagging at railway crossings, $2,300; Board of Works horses, $750; miscellaneous and stables, $2,500; salaries, $4,500; boundary roads, $500; skating rinks, $375, and surface drain repairs, $200. Supplementary items were as follows: Snow cleaning, $3,000; oiling and watering streets, $10,000; bridges, $3,800; storm drains, $9,000; and a new car for the street commissioner, $500.

In explanation, the city engineer said the item for "wooden sidewalks" includes the repairing of the sidewalk on Water street to the bridge at Auburn; the item for "bridges" includes rebuilding those at Victoria avenue, Donegal street, Townsend street and as suggested by Mayor Turner, paving Smith street bridge. In his opinion the storm drains were the most important items in the estimate.

Alderman Phelan said when a by-law covering storm drains was put to the people they turned it down hard. "I don't think in face of that we should spend any money on storm drains."

Supervision Over All Society Next

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—"Unless public reverts to its former wholesomeness in many of the aspects of business and social life we will, within the next two decades, be compelled to resort to expert supervision of all society including the direction of all juvenile and adolescent life, and the control of the abnormal acts of all adults."

Such was the conclusion of twenty-six years' experience in institutional work expressed by Joe Barse, superintendent of the Boys' Farm and Training School, at Shambridge in an address before the Rotary Club here Tuesday. Mr. Barse gave it as his opinion that correctional institutions for moral delinquents are a failure, and he recommended the foundation of a pathology of moral disease along the lines of pathologies of physical and mental diseases.

INFERIOR GRAIN AND GOOD MIXED

Port Arthur Witness Said He Was Told to Shut Off "Doped Stuff" If He Saw Inspector Coming.

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press.) — That he had seen "doped or scalped stuff as we call it" running into the good straight grades from a public terminal turned on the conveyor belt by the acting superintendent was the evidence as to mixing in public elevators given to the Royal Grain Enquiry Commission here Tuesday by Alex. Swanson, dockage clerk at the Port Arthur terminal elevator from May 1917 to December 1921.

"I did not think it was right, but I had nothing to do with it and said nothing of it," Mr. Swanson said. "I was told by the acting superintendent that if I saw an inspector coming along I was to shut off this stream of inferior grain but I never did. It was none of my business."

W. A. Dowler, K.C., of Fort William, counsel for the Government terminal elevator, said he had not had notice of what was contemplated in Mr. Swanson's evidence and hoped the public and press would reserve their opinion until his clients had time to reply to charges made against them.

CHILD DIED AFTER SERIOUS SCALDING

Mother Who Was Holding Child in Arms Slipped and Spilled Boiling Water on Child and Self

OSHAWA, February 20 (Special to The Examiner). — One of the saddest fatalities that has occurred in Oshawa for some time occurred early this morning when Helen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kopnicki, of the Base Line, in the southern district of Oshawa, was frightfully scalded when her mother, who was preparing breakfast, tripped and fell while reaching for an uncovered boiling kettle, the contents spreading over the child which she was carrying, and herself, and as a result of the accident the child died in the local hospital at eleven o'clock, while the mother lies in a serious condition.

The father, who was in another part of the house, on hearing the scream, rushed into the kitchen, and seeing what had happened, immediately called Dr. Rundle, who made a hurried call, and had both mother and daughter removed to the hospital, where death called the child.

The family have lived in Oshawa for many years and are highly respected.

After Coroner Rundle had investigated the fatality, he decided an inquest to be unnecessary.

On inquiry at the local hospital last evening, it was learned that Mrs. Kopnicki is resting as well as can be expected.

THE WEATHER.

Although the temperature was not very low last night (only 7 degrees above zero) a snow storm blew up, and has been raging all day, causing drift d roads, and delayed trains. There has been a super-abundance of snow this winter. A farmer told me last evening the snow lay to a depth of over three feet in the woods, and more is coming.. Doucet, Quebec, was the coldest place in Canada yesterday with 44 below zero. White River (the notorious) only notched 24 below.—W. P.

KING TUT'S TOMB MAY BE REOPENED

Carter Has Made Conditions to Open it For Ten Days.

CAIRO, February 20 (Canadian Press). — Howard Carter has made conditions for the re-opening of the tomb of Tutankhamen for ten days, according to the agreement which, he alleges, the Government infringed, that the Director-General of Antiquities apologise to him on behalf of Almina, Countess of Carnarvon, for insulting the ladies whom Carter invited to the tomb; also that there be an understanding to cease this vexatious interference.

Owing to the attitude of the local press, Egyptian and foreign, which is strongly backing the Government's attitude, it is unlikely that the Egyptian Government will yield.

Meanwhile Carter has started legal proceedings against the Government in the Cairo Mixed Courts.

Mr. Carter's lawyer visited the Minister of Public Works last night, and unsuccessfully endeavoured to reach a compromise.

WIT AND HUMOUR IN LITERATURE

(By F. M. DELA FOSSE)

It is hard to look on the bright side of things when a blizzard is raging and the wind is whistling along the eaves and creating a hubbub under the metal shingles. The noise engendered may be music to the devil's legions but it is not productive of delight to the sane mortal.

Nor is it calculaed to produce that cheerful effervescence of spirit that should be present when one is attempting to write an article on wit and humour. Luckily, in the republic of letters (so called, according to Tom Hood, because there is not a sovereign to be found in it) the department devoted to the subject occupies a large and well-watered province, so that one does not have to wrack one's brains to any conceivable extent to find material for an article.

There is much more humour in the world than most of us are aware of. The tragedy of it is that the funniest things rarely find their way into print. These are things that happen in our daily lives that all of us find much more exciting to our risible faculties than the most strenuous efforts of professed humorists. Gay did not tell the exact truth when he wrote "Life's a joke and all things show it" but he was not so very wide of the mark. There is humour in very nearly everything. You and I are jokes to our neighbours just as they are jokes to ourselves. Our outward lives are simply kaleidoscopic views presented to humanity at large. Everyone of us is there, the self important being, the subservient, the pompous, the proud, the arrogant, the pedant, the sanctimonious, the vain, the conceited, the loiterer, the busybody, everyone of us looms up in the pillory for his share of public criticism or ridicule. If we thought about it a bit we would find it a trifle galling to our self-esteem but the time-honored puppet-show goes on and we do not seem to care much how loudly the public laughs as long as our pockets are not hurt in the process.

The heartiest laugh I ever enjoyed, and it is mentioned merely as an illustration, was at the expense of a very pompous, irascible old gentleman at the railway station of Reading in England. Just as the train was moving out of the station he leaned out of the carriage door and shouted to a porter who was moving some luggage along the platform, "Hi, there, porter, what do you mean by not putting my luggage on this train?" "Ah, garn with yer" roared the indignant official, "yer baggage has more sense than ye have—yer on the wrong train." Now it needs all the concomitants of scene and circumstance to properly convey the humour of the situation to the mind. In cold print it doesn't read so very funnily, but never, to my dying day, shall I forget the laughter that rang out on that platform and continued till the train bearing the irate old gentleman, vanished from sight.

When one attempts to call to mind the various authors who have made a name for themselves in wit or humour the absolute impossibility of being able to adequately deal with the subject is at once borne in on one From Shakespeare down there has been an abundance of humour under its many guises. The sardonic wit, the sarcastic wit, the gentle wit, the unclean wit, the wit of the tap-room and the wit of the drawing room, what a long and wonderful array they make! And when we turn from them to anecdotes of the great of bygone years and of the present there is an endless amount of material to choose from in the stories of lawyers, and judges, of soldiers and sailors, of clergy and of doctors, of philosophers and painters and poets.

BANQUET TO WIND UP SHORT COURSE

Dr. G. C. Creelman Will be One of the Speakers at Keene.

KEENE, Feb. 20. — The three months course in agriculture and home economics which has been held in Keene since November 26th last will be wound up by a banquet to be held in this village on the evening of Tuesday, February 26th. The speakers at this banquet are to be Dr. G. C. Creelman, ex-president of the Ontario Agricultural College of Guelph, and Miss Ethel M. Chapman, assistant superintendent fo the Institute branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. There will also be short addresses by members of the class.

The short course was conducted by F. C. McRae, district representative for the county and the average attendance was over 60 the young people of the district, being ready to avail themselves of the opportunity to learn modern methods.

Alderman Stocker: "They are absolutely necessary."

Alderman McIntyre: "If you suggest to the people this system of building part every year, working to a prearranged plan, they will not turn it down."

Alderman Fife: "I think we should lay a foundation in this work."

Alderman Phelan: "We must economize some way, and I think we are justified in abandoning the project for this year."

Alderman Crowe: "I want to keep the tax rate lower than last year. I am in favor of a storm drain programme particularly, but could you do without bridges?"

City Engineer Parsons: "I am not willing to take any responsibility for the bridges. They are in bad condition."

Alderman Fife: "There are certain sections of the city clamouring for drains and we are ten years behind in starting this work on the main drains."

Alderman Turner: "On Park place and Bolivar street water is being washed into cellars off the surface of the streets and a continuation of that is intolerable."

Alderman Turner's reference to a "spouting geyser" on Park place was too much for the opposition, and the knives that had been whetted for the pruning of city engineer Parsons' supplementaries were thrust deep into their holsters as the board decided to "go the whole works."

Deputations Appointed

Mayor Turner, who had been authorized to appoint a deputation to the good roads convention, named Alderman Phelan to attend a conference with the government, requesting a return of a proportion of the taxes collected locally from motor licenses and amusements. Kingston and Belleville, the Mayor also intimated, had endorsed the resolution passed at the Peterborough City Council asking relief from the demands of the suburban areas commission demands.

Paving Programme

A suggestion from M. Comstock that Argyle street be paved to the hospital from Water street, was accepted, and a resolution passed on motion of Aldermen McIntyre and Stocker, that notice be given by the city of its intention to pave Argyle street from Water street to Sunnyside and to the end of Sunnyside, under local improvement plans.

On motion of Aldermen Turner and Jones, Gilmour street and Victoria avenue, in Victoria heights, will be graded, as requested by the Hamilton Realty Company. The grading of Albertus avenue will be considered later.

A petition for a service drain went on Sherbrooke street from Penrose avenue to Monaghan road laid over pending inspection.

R. R. Hall, K.C. and G. N. Gordon, K.C., were heard in behalf of Mr. Hum and merchants on George street respectively regarding the establishment of a Chinese retaurant in the premises occupied by the Taplin Shoe company. Mr. Gordon, on request of merchants, objected to the granting of a license to additional restaurants, pool rooms or similar businesses on the main street of the city. After a thorough discussion, Alderman Crowe and Turner proposed that permission be granted to open the restaurant, providing the sanitary inspector's requirements are followed. No one objected.

SOMEWHERE IN FLORIDA.

To be somewhere in Florida, where the sun is always shining, where the golden oranges hang in clusters on the trees, the palms stir gently to the warm breezes, and 'where the sweet magnolia blooms," is the thought in the minds of hundreds of Canadians every winter.

When Canadians at home are skating and skiing, those in the south will be surf-bathing, sun-bathing on the warm sands, deep sea fishing, golfing, etc.

When making arrangements for the trip south, consult any agent of the Canadian National Railways for particulars of the service. Winter tourist fares are now in effect, valid to return up to June 15th, and good for stop over at all important points.

LINCOLN'S CLOTHES SOLD FOR $6,500.00

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press). —A worn black suit of clothes, a collar stained and a pair of trousers wrinkled, and a badly mutilated black overcoat and a silk stock sold for $6,500 yesterday afternoon. This record high price for second hand clothing was obtained at an auction of historical relics in store of Stan V. Henkels.

The black suit, overcoat and stock were part of the wardrobe of Abraham Lincoln, worn by him on the night in April, 1865 when he was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth while attending a performance in the Fortress Theatre, Washington.

A FOREGONE CONCLUSION.

"If we meet the devil, which of us do you think he would take?"

"Me, of course!"

"How so?"

"Because he is sure of you in any case!"—Tyrihans (Christiania).

DENIES MALICE IN PROSECUTION OF McLACHLAN

Attorney-General of Nova Scotia Defends His Course--Tried in Neutral County Because of "Lapses of Memory" In Other Cases — Magistrates Assaulted.

MacDonald's Acquittal.

HALIFAX, Feb. 20.— Defending his action in regard to the prosecution of James B. McLachlan, Cape Breton labor leader, who is now serving a term of two years' imprisonment in the Dorchester Penitentiary for seditious libel, and at the same time answering the charges of "unusual vindictiveness" in the conduct of this case levelled against him by Forman Waye, M.P.P. for Cape Breton, Attorney General W. J. O'Hearn Tuesday afternoon in the House of Assembly reviewed the trial and the events leading up to it.

The Attorney-General denied that he had been actuated by any malicious spirit in prosecuting McLachlan; he recalled the disorders in Sydney last summer when local magistrates were assaulted while endeavouring to read the Riot Act and justified the action of the Provincial Police in suppressing lawlessness in the manner they did.

Dealing with Mr. Waye's question asking if freedom of speech had been abandoned in Nova Scotia, the Attorney-General negatived the suggestion. Freedom of speech, he said, would never be suppressed in any country where British institutions prevailed, but free speech was one thing and dangerous license another. The British constitution guarded all the rights of criticisms, but when society and the affairs of state were endangered, then citizens must keep a still tongue and not cause disorder in the community.

Tried by Neutrals.

The Attorney General defended his action in bringing McLachlan to trial in a "neutral county," recalling at the same time that when prosecutions were being made in Cape Breton county on previous occasions when strikers were being brought to trial, there, "witnesses suffered from a remarkable lapse of memory.' 'He referred to the case of Malcolm Bruce of Toronto who, he declared, had made a statement in Cape Breton bringing the Union Jack into disrepute and where on trial it had been found that the witnesses had had "most elastic consciences."

The Attorney General said that he had it from most reliable sources that Bruce did actually make the statement ascribed to him, but that the witnesses again had had lapses of memory. He touched also on the trial of "Moscow Jack" MacDonald of Toronto, who was tried in Sydney last October for an alleged offence of a similar nature and "notwithstanding the disposition of the learned judge on the enormity of the offence, MacDonald was most expeditiously and perfunctorily acquitted by the petit jury that tried him," he said.

Mr. O'Hearn affirmed that under similar circumstances he would again do exactly what he had already done in the case of McLachlan.

Attacks Government.

The Attorney General was followed by D. W. Morrison, M.P.P., Labor member for Cape Breton county and Mayor of Glace Bay, who attacked the Government's attitude with regard to the British Empire Steel Corporation and deplored that the attitude should be one which held up as as a traitor anyone who criticized the Government. Mr. Morrison analyzed the recent Montreal wage agreement and urged that the legislation which brought the British Empire Steel Corporation into being should be repealed.

KEENE BONSPIEL OVER LAST NIGHT

Game is Becoming More Popular in District--A Banquet.

KEENE, Feb. 20 — The Keene Curling Club held their annual bonspiel commencing on Monday evening and finishing last night. The number of rinks entered shows that the king of men's winter sports is by no means dying out but rather becoming more popular here.

The friendly competition made the bonspiel of vast interest from the time the first stone was played right up to the finish.

The Curlers Annual Banquet, which was held last evening in the Town Hall, was a successful event. After a sumptuous repast, which was prepared by the wives of the members, The President, Mrs. S. M. Comrie, proposed a toast to "The King and Curling Club" which was responded to very ably by Rev. A. McLauchlin, who pointed out that while at first appearance it might seem that the combination was an unusual one, yet very appropriate as by the means of sport, especially a gentleman's sport such as this we were more fitted for the duties and work of our lives either National or personal.

Mr. E. H. Barnes in following Mr. McLauchlin stated that as usual he had to follow a preacher and there seemed to be little on the subject left for him to say.

Mr. R. J. McCamus then proposed a toast to the Honorary President, Mr. Wm. Campbell and the oldest curler, Mr. Jas. Dickson and in a few well chosen words referred to the curling of days gone by when these men were among the active members of the Club.

Mr. F. A. Eason in proposing a toast to the ladies referred to the fact that "Our Better Halves" or the possible better halves of our younger members had again very kindly prepared the good things that we had enjoyed so greatly. The toast to the ladies was very agreeably replied to by Dr. S. Y. Walsh and Mr. Wm. Fletcher both of whom if their praise of the ladies is correct should soon leave the ranks of the bachelors.

The President then spoke very kindly of the hard work of Mr. Wm. Wedlock in preparing the ice and referred to the first class condition in which he had it for the occasion.

Songs of a suitable and interesting nature were joined in by those who felt their ability to sing.

During the dance, which was held for the conclusion of the bonspiel, the prizes were awarded to the winning team as follows:

F. A. Eason, the Manley Cup, and teapots to each of the team.

J. J. Moore, as runner-up, a jardiniere to each of the team.

David Armstrong, runner-up, a teapot to each of the team.

The skips mentioned each made a suitable reply for themselves and on behalf of their teams.

HE JUST HAD TO ACT.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—Herr Kloepfer, popular actor, playing the title part in the play, "Michael Kramer" here, decided to leave on the night train for Italy to create a part in a new film

The manager of the theatre, learning his plans, had him arrested. The policeman forced the actor into a taxicab and drove him, not to jail, but to the theatre.

Kloepfer made the best of a bad job and agreed to play.

CHURCH PICTURES AT CAMPBELLFORD

Two Feature Films With Moral Point Shown at St. Andrew's — Many Guests of the Twelve O'Clock Club.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 20.—The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church, at their weekly meeting Monday evening, presented the picture, "The Maker of Men," the companion piece to "The Stream of Life." The beautiful scenes shown, the interesting plot and the healthy moral tone of the picture was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The story is that of a young man, but in lowly circumstances, who fought his own way in life until he reached the ministry, and in following that calling no field was for him too uninviting, no difficulty too great for him to face. He chose a church in an out of the way section of Texas, from which former ministers had been driven out by the unsympathetic residents. How he fought and finally conquered, how friends who had at first opposed him, acknowledged in the end that he had chosea the life that was really worth while forms a recital that is filled with thrills and interest.

President Alex. Rollo welcomed the audience on behalf of the society in a short address at the opening of the meeting. The musical program was rendered by Mrs. John Storie and Fred Wigglesworth, every selection being in keeping with the different scenes shown.

At the meeting next Monday evening the society will entertain the sister societies of the Anglican and Methodist Churches. The program will be furnished by the visitors, and the refreshments by their hosts.

Twelve O'Clock Club Dance.

Mayor A. J. Meyers and Mrs. G. Nicol held the lucky number at the dance given by the Twelve O'Clock Club in the Regent Theatre Monday night, and won the prize given the couple last on the floor at a specified part of the program. There was a good attendance in spite of the counter attractions, and an unusual number of guests were present from out of town. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Booker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilsher, Dr. and Mrs. Bussey, Mr. and Mrs. E. CAMPBELLFORD LADIES' MATCH

Defeated Lakefield by Score of Nine to Four—Good Game of Hockey

CAMPBELLFORD, February 20. —Campbellford ladies defeated the Lakefield ladies here last night by 9 goals to 4 in an O.L.H.A. fixture. The game was the first of a home and home series, goals to count, to decide the championship of the district. As a result the Lakefield ladies face a 5-goal deficit for the return game, and will have to instill a little more team work into their play if they hope to overcome the handicap. Individually they are great, but as a team not so good.

Two girls stood out in the Campbellford victory, Grace Blue and Harriet Potts. Grace did the majority of shooting for the home team and also back-checked well, and she had no easy time of it. Every time she got possession of the puck there were three or four Lakefield girls right on her trail, and they stayed right with her, and she seldom had an open shot.

Miss Potts played the goal position like a veteran, stopping shots from all angles and at all heights, and was particularly brilliant the last half of the last period when Lakefield rather dominated the play, breaking through time after time for open shots, only to have them turned aside.

Miss Irwin and Miss Shore were also good, and were always in their positions for the pass.

Helen Wood showed improvement over her previous games and the rest of the girls played nice hockey.

It owuld be hard to choose the Lakefield stars; they are all good skaters, Miss Northey being the fast skater on the ice, but she has some difficulty carrying the puck past an opponent.

Florence and Mary Mackenzie showed rare ability as stick handlers and are good skaters but found considerable difficulty in outguessing Miss Potts.

The Game.

Charlie Davidson's ladies secured at the face-off and pressed the play, keeping the puck in Lakefield territory for several minutes, but could not work in close for a shot, so they tried long range shooting, and one of Miss Blues's waist high beauties found the corner of the net.

Lakefield came to life then, and Miss Potts turned aside shots from Mary Mackenzie and Miss Northey. From a mix up in front of the Lakefield net Miss Blue registered for Campbellford.

Lakefield came right back and Miss Potts was rather lucky to save from Miss Burgess' shot. She went to her knees to stop one from Florence Mackenzie's stick, and the puck got lost in htr pads. Florence McKenzie talied just before the bell. Campbellford 2; Lakefield 1.

Miss Northey started the second with a beautiful rush, evaded the defence but shot wide of the net. Miss Blue missed the net twice for Campbellford, and Mary McKenzie repeated for Lakefield. E. Irwin carried the puck down the side, and shot; the Lakefield goalie stopped the shot but it rolled into the net for a counter. Miss Batten made a clever save of Grace Blue's shot, but Grace fooled her half a minute later on a pass from V. Shore.

Miss Blue got the prettiest goal of the night when she went the length of the ice with three Lakefield ladies draped all over her and beat Miss Batten with a short from thes ide.

Mis Matten made a good save of Irwin's shot close in but was beaten on the next shot of Grace Blue's just before the bell rang. Campbellford 6; Lakefield 2.

Play was up and down the ice at the start of the period, and Verna Shore slipped the puck by Miss Batten from a mix-up in front of the Lakefield net. Florence McKenzie came all the way down alone but missed the net by inches. Grace Blue and T. Irwin combined for the next one, and half a minute later Grace repeated on her own on a side shot from the blue line.

Lakefield turned on the gas to the last notch and had the best af the play for the balance of the game, but it was too late. Florence McKenzie got one from close in, and Sister Mary repeated the dose, but that's all they could get, although they kept up a constant attack for the balance of the game. Getting the puck past Miss Potts was like a woodpecker trying to build a nest in a concrete telephone pole.

The ladies from the northern town may reverse the decision in the return game, but will have a hard time overcoming that five goal lead.

The line-up:

Lakefield—Goal, Miss Batten; r. defence, Mary McKenzie; l. defence, Miss Lennox; centre, Miss Northey; r. wing, Miss Ridpath; l. wing, Miss Burgess; subs., Florence McKenzie and "Billie" McKenzie.

Referee—C. Holmes, Campbellford

BLINDING STORM SWEEPS ONTARIO

Peterboro City and District Received Its Share of Blizzard.

When the bear came out to look around, he evidently saw his shadow and went back for another snooze. Bruin is probably more comfortable than most people around these parts this morning, with a blinding snowstorm and a biting wind driving living things to shelter. Piled up drifts with icy particles contributing to the sting of the wind, are blocking traffic and streets. The street railway cars are having their own difficulties here to-day, and linemen are busy with rural tie-ups in the telephone system. Trains on the C.P.R. line between Peterboro and Toronto, where the storm is raging most violently, are carrying passengers but no freight The cars are preceded by the heavy snowploughs, which have been working all night. Between Manvers and Myrtle the most trouble is encountered, but there is no serious blockade on the line.

On the C.N.R. lines, the Lindsay and Belleville trains have been cancelled. The roads are filled in and the snow plough is the only moving object on the lines for miles. No freight or passengers are being drawn for the time being.

Storm is General.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press.)— A fierce blizzard, which has been raging since early yesterday in practically all points in Ontario, and particularly in Toronto and district, has crippled railway and street car transportation and affected telegraphic and telephone communictaion. Sweeping from the south-east with terrific violence and driving before it thousands of tons of snow on the highways and railway tracks to be heaped in huge drifts, completely blocking transprotation and holding trains in its grip, it proved to be the worst storm so far this winter.

This morning the railway companies and Toronto transportation system have all their snow plows in use in an endeavor to clear the tracks and thousands of men are engaged in removing hundreds of thousands of tons of snow from the streets while the storm still rages.

TRUE BILL IN SCHELL TRIAL

Took the Grand Jury Until This Morning to Decide--Trial Will Proceed.

After hearing a dozen Crown witnesses yesterday afternoon in the charge against John Schell of wilfully murdering George W. Neal in Galway Township on 28th October last the Grand Jury did not reach a decision on the indictment until this morning when they brought in a true bill.

The Grand Jury retired before two o'clock yesterday, and Hon. Mr. Justice Mowat dismissed the waiting list of petit jurors, and adjourned the Court at 5 o'clock with the customary warning to the members of the Grand Jury regarding secrecy as to their deliberations.

When the presiding Justice took his place, there were within the bar: G. N. Gordon, K.C., R. R. Hall, K.C., F. D. Kerr, K.C., A. B. Cunningham, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, George W. Hatton, K.C., County Crown Attorney; A. E. Dixon, John R. Corkery, J. F. Strickland, C. G. Frost, and L. M. Frost.

An unusual feature has been added to the trial by the naming of Dr. Phyllis Verschoyle Young as a witness for the defence. Her father, Dr. T. W. H. Young, medical officer of health for the city, conducted the post-mortem examination on the body of George MacNeal, assisted by Dr. Amys and with Dr. Phyllis Young to take his notes.

At the preliminary hearing Dr. T. W. H. Young was called as a witness for the Crown, and he is again on the list for the jury trial.

An additional number of surprise witnesses will probably be called in the event of the Grand Jury finding a true bill of indictment.

Awarded Alimony.

In the civil list which was disposed of speedily, Mrs. Jessie Pallister was granted $8 a week in her alimony suit. G. N. Gordon, K.C., conducted the case for the plaintiff and the defendant did not appear.

Mrs. Pallister said her husband's cruelty and threats drove her from the home and she was unable to live with him. On one occasion she said he tore a fur coat, which was produced in court. Again he tore her blouses when in fits of rage. The plaintiff also alleged improprieties on her husband's part while she was absent from home, attested by the presence of a lady's handkerchief in a suspicious location on her return from a holiday.

In giving judgment for a payment of $ 8a week Mr. Justice Mowat noted that the defendant was absent and also remarked on Mrs. Pallister's glib speech.

In a second alimony case a settlement was effected.

A NORWOOD GIRL FELL INTO POND

Rescued By a Neighbor—Norwood News of Interest

NORWOOD, February 20. — What might have been a sad drowning accident was narrowly averted when Echo, the little six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, ventured out on the pond at the rear of their home.

Mr. Samuel Wildman had been taking out ice. A thin layer of ice had formed, and this was covered by the snow that had fallen the night before.

Fortunately, Mr. Wildman was near at hand, and the little girl called for him to get her out. He did so, and took her to her home.

Had the accident happened a little later there would not have been any person around, and the child would have perished.

Three Funerals

The funeral of the late Miss Mary Murray an ex-pupil of the Norwood High School took place in Hastings on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Chamberlain and Mrs. McQuade were in Lakefield on Tuesday attending the funeral of their mother the lat. Mrs. John Taylor. The deceased had she lived until July would have attained her 100th birthday.

The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Miles took place on Friday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Allen McGee, Asphodel. Interment was made in the Warsaw Cemetery. Service was conducted at the house by the Rev. W. P. Rogers pastor of the Norwood Methodist church and at the grave by the Rev. Mr. Weir of Warsaw.

TORE DOWN PIPES CODRINGTON SCHOOL

Thieves Believed to Have Got Away With Quantity of Wood.

CODRINGTON, Feb. 19.— Last night some miscreants broke into the Separate School House in Codrington tore down the furnace pipes scattered matches over the floor and stole a quantity of wood, which was evidently drawn away, as there was a sleigh track plainly visible where the wood was taken out.

In consequence Miss Moran, the teacher, was unable to hold school to-day.

Lost Two Calves

— And in Life's Evening Time

If a lamp could write its story, what a story that would be.

"I came when the home was young," it would say, "Under my rays he and she made their first family budget.

"I helped the youngsters with their lessons, smiling down at them; in a corner I twinkled over wedding gifts, and shed my blessing on the marriage of the daughter of the house.

"And now, when the children are gone, and the home is quiet once more I still am here. There are no regrets where books, and light and love abide.

"The afternoon of life has its own great compensations.

"And at evening time it shall be light."

NORWOOD'S NEW LIBRARY.

The people of the village of Norwood are to be congratulated upon their enterprise and public spirit in securing for their community a Carnegie Library, which was officially opened on Monday night.

The building was erected at a cost of $5,400, and is a very welcome addition to the community assets of Norwood.

As Premier Ferguson declared in his telegram to the Norwood committee, "There is no greater agency for real education than a public library," and the fine building just opened in Norwood promises to be of great benefit to the citizens generally.

The Ontario Department of Education is co-operating in the matter by loaning the new library a number of books until the Norwood people can secure their own supply, and the result will be that the institution will begin to be of immediate service to the village and district.

There is no doubt that a library in a community of the size of Norwood can be of great value, not only from a recreational, but from an educational standpoint.

It should be an intellectual centre from which will radiate influences that will help to mould the lives of the people, not merely a storehouse from which volumes of current fiction can be obtained.

There are other villages in the district that could follow Norwood's example with good results.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

The outstanding feature of Hon. W. H. Price's Budget Speech is the emphasis it throws upon the absolute need for economy in the administration of the affairs of this Province.

The deficit of $15,000,000 shown by the Provincial Treasurer is the largest in the history of Ontario, and while this in a measure may be accounted for as a matter of bookkeeping inasmuch as Mr. Price has placed certain items that were carried in capital account last year in ordinary account in this Budget, yet the deficit is large enough after making allowances for this change in the system to warrant the Government paring down expenditures to the bone and in eliminating every undertaking that is in the least unnecessary or non-productive.

Naturally the blame for the present condition of affairs is thrown upon the shoulders of the late Government by the Treasurer in his speech, and he makes a slashing indictment of the methods followed by his predecessor in office, claiming that the deficit this year is almost as large as was the ordinary expenditures under the Hearst regime.

The average resident of Ontario is not, however, so much concerned over that aspect of the situation as he is about the evidence the Budget Speech affords that the time has come for real retrenchment in the Provincial administration.

Hon. Mr. Price offers such retrenchment, declaring that only necessary expenditures will be maintained and that a strong policy of rigid economy will be carried out by the Government.

In this task the co-operation of everyone is solicited, and it should be forthcoming.

The financial condition of Ontario is such as to justify united action in trying to reach a better status.

There should be no politics in the matter—it is no time for manoeuvring for party advantage.

If the Government shows itself to be sincere in following the policy described by the Provincial Treasurer its efforts should be seconded by every group in the Legislature.

On the other hand, if it transpires that the economy policy is little more than a gesture, the administration should not be left in any doubt as to what the people want.

Half measures will not do in the face of the Budget revelations.

The road to prosperity just now is marked by the finger-boards that read "Economy" and "Retrenchment."

AND SO HE SHOT.

A Hamilton man, this time an Italian, bought a car, took it home, but afterward claimed it would not work, says the London Advertiser.

He called at the place where the car salesman worked and made his complaint.

Not long afterward the salesman went out to the purchaser's garage and found what was wrong with the car.

While there the purchaser, who seemed to think he had been ill-used, took out a revolver and shot the salesman three times.

If he had been cheated he could have gone to court and secured redress.

But no—there had to be quick action and a gun was used. A man was to be murdered over a defect in a used car.

When are we going to learn the need of combing each and every community for revolvers and kindred weapons? The law and the police and most of our judiciary have been speaking and acting in whispers on this point, whereas there is need for some thunder and lightning.

There is law in Canada, and it has got to assert itself even to the running down of every skulking coward who travels around with a gun nestling in the corner of his pocket.

RALLYING THE PROGRESSIVES.

If Premier Ferguson had been anxious to arouse the Progressive movement into fresh life he could not have hit upon a more effective method than that of refusing to recognize the Progressive group as an official opposition group.

As a result of what they regard as steam roller tactics, many farmers who were beginning to believe that the Progressive policy was a mistake and that a return to the old two-party system was desirable, are beginning to take a new interest in the agrarian party.

Oppression of this kind naturally acts as a spur upon people who have fighting blood in their veins, and the Ferguson refusal to accord recognition to the group led by Hon Manning Doherty is having a reaction in many sections that probably was not foreseen when the attitude of the Government was being decided upon.

Reports from various sections of the Province and letters to newspapers all go to show that there is keen resentment among many farmers, and that the rebuff administered to the Doherty group is proving excellent recruiting propaganda for the Progressive cause.

According to the Progressive, the same rights as enjoyed by the two wings of the opposition in the last Legislature would have ensured a better spirit in the House, and at the same time would have robbed the agrarian party of a rallying point which is being used to great advantage just now.

STOP THE MANUFACTURE.

In another column appears the opinion of the London Advertiser in regard to the necessity of a greater check upon the sale and carrying of revolvers.

The Examiner agrees thoroughly with this view of the situation.

The revolver-carrying game is being overplayed both in the United States and Canada, and a halt should be called.

To the Examiner the real solution seems to be in stopping the manufacture of these easily-concealed weapons except for military and police purposes.

There are too many of them made now, and they are too easily obtained by those who want them for illegal purposes.

Cut out the anufacture and the trouble can very easily be stopped—at least there will not be as great a danger as exists under present conditions when every crook who wants to hold up a bank and every maniac who wants to kill his wife can buy a revolver without any more difficulty than he has in buying a loaf of bread.

THE LESSON FROM OLD CANADA.

If there is any lack of confidence on the part of those who are looking to the future of Western Canada, they should gain courage from such a picture of the past as was painted for the shareholders of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation by the Vice-President, E. R. C. Clarkson, says the Financial Post. Mr. Clarkson declared that in the present situation we should remember what the pioneers of older Canada had succeeded in doing:

"Their freight rates were high and their transportation wretched. Their clothing was dear, but they raised what they ate and knew nothing of canned food. They had no motors, but hauled their grain long distances to the nearest market. They had no electric light and the modern farm machinery was as unknown as an aeroplane. The name of the Ontario farmer today is and has been for years synonymous with prosperity, yet I venture to say that the greatest and most arduous effort in the lives of those Ontario pioneers was the clearing of their land—necessary, before any crop could be reaped, and taking long in its accomplishment."

And it might also be pointed out that the pioneers of older Canada won through by hard work, by determination, and by solving their own problems—they did not have Government credits, fiat money, moratoria legislation or any of the other expedients which are being suggested by politicians who would have the people believe that they can be led out of the woods by merely whistling on the Government.

In Western Canada today, while a few disgruntled agitators are seeking legislative experiments, the majority are solving their own problems by changing their methods and by mixed farming, making a profit where the wheat gamble has proven unsatisfactory. Mr. Clarkson referred to visits to such farms which "carried conviction that of the great bulk of the farmers on the prairies prosperity came chiefly to those who cultivated farms of moderate area largely by their own labor and that of their families, who avoided the credit purchase of large blocks of land, who raised mixed crops and whose great desire was to create a permanent home."

Judging by the history of older Canada, the Prairie Provinces with clear fertile lands, with the advantages of modern machinery and with splendid transportation facilities, have a future which only the pessimistic could doubt.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

They had a soldier bonus rally in Boston; 5,000 cheered. The soldier bonus needs cheering up.

Recent charges in the United States throw some light upon what is meant when a man is described as an oily politician.

"Never before has there been such anxiety on all sides to curtail the expenditure of public money," says the Progressive.

Politics makes strange bedfellows, and strange bred fellows.

Very few good cooks can use a typewriter or write shorthand.

It is estimated the energy wasted in useless criticism would fill about 999 giant balloons.

Motorists do not appreciate the Locomotive Engineers' request that motor cars should come to a full stop before crossing a railway line. But when they get on the tracks the locomotive has the last word every time.

The fact that a girl clerk whose presence of mind prevented the Melbourne branch from being looted was given $100 by the Home Bank shows that in this instance at least the management of that institution did not squander the money of the depositors.

The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne lasted only eight days—a record for the Legislature. Next session that period should be cut in two.

The Labour group in the Legislature consists of a leader and a chief whip—but no followers.

All civic estimates should be based on the amount the city can afford to pay—not on the amount that can be squeezed out of the taxpayers.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont

Backbone of Summer Seems to Be Broken

As the days grow longer the winter grows shorter. First thing you know we will look around and say, "Well, it is spring."

Only a few more weeks now until the peach crop is killed. Won't be long before time to kick about one-piece bathing suits.

That's something to anticipate. There is a rumor in New York that we will have half-piece bathing suits to worry over this spring. It could be worse. In France, they worry over no-piece suits.

SOCIETY.

The names of two prominent women are being connected with the oil scandal. This will make the old-fashioned gentlemen who fought woman suffrage to sit up and take notice. These men contended that women would never make good politicians. But the scandal shows women taking in all branches of politics.

The oil scandal seems to have killed the chance of everyone. Listen to the politicians and you will learn it will be impossible to elect anyone president this time. Something must be done to relieve this presidential candidate shortage. Maybe we could persuade Volstead to run. Maybe Charlie Chaplin will be the logical candidate.

UP IN THE AIR OVER AIRPLANES.

Another disarmament conference may be called. This one would worry chiefly over airplanes. Every nation wants airplanes reduced or some other nation will not slip something over on them.

There is trouble in the air. Airships are getting like warships, the more one country builds the more the others have to build. Building friendships instead of airships or warships would be better. But there is very little competition along the friendship line.

Anyway, the United States leads in lighter than air craft. They have more congressmen capable of blowing them up.

EDITORIALS.

Here we have the Arnstein case again. And the Teapot Dome scandal is still with us. The papers are full of swindles and grafts of every description. One would think the world is getting worse. But it may be that the news gathering agencies are becoming more efficient.

You Can Eat Anything You Like And Not Have HEARTBURN

In all cases of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, as when too much food is taken into the stomach it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is generally sour and bitter. When you are in this condition you will find that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will give you relief right away.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have never been troubled since.

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heart burn any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Miss Marie Murphy, our teacher, entertained a large number of her friends at her home in North Ops Wednesday evening. Two sleigh loads went from here and all report a splendid time.

Miss Lillian Condon of Lakefield spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Lucas.

Mrs. Thos. Carroll was a business visitor to Peterboro Friday.

NEWS FROM HASTINGS AND IN THE DISTRICT

Young People Held Meeting—Dog Poisoned and Horses Run Away — Personal Mention.

HASTINGS, Feb. 20.—Monday evening the league held its regular weekly meeting, which was opened by singing, then prayer by the pastor, Rev. M. L. Hinton. The minutes of the previous evening were read and adopted. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Elsie Jolly, followed by a reading by Miss Mae Hinton. Miss Ada Bonds rendered a solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," followed by "The Life of Mrs. Jessie Brown Pounds," the writer of the previous hymn, given by Miss Yvonne Sharpe. Misses Lillian Tate and Winnie Eagen rendered a vocal duet. Mrs. A. M. Brooks gave a reading, as also did Mr. Fred. Taylor.

A new 4th Vice-President was appointed, as Miss V. Sherwin, who was Fourth Vice, has moved to her home in Roseneath. It was moved by Miss Eva Ellis, seconded by Miss Hazel Macdonald, that Miss Joyce Richardson be Fourth President for the remainder of the year.

After the singing of the closing hymn, the Mizpah prayer was repeated by all.

Young People Meet.

At the Young People's meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Friday evening, the programme was somewhat changed from the one usually held.

An interesting debate was given the subject, being "Resolved, that successful life is due more to character than circumstance." The affirmative was taken by Alice Wilson and Norma Anderson, while Miss M. Spiers and Miss Mary Spooner upheld the negative.

The judges for the debate were Dr. Wilson, Mr. C. P. Doughty and Rev. D. A. Thompson.

The negative side were victorious by nineteen points. The affirmative side made 32 points in all. Miss Spiers as leader of the negative made thirty-one points herself.

The young people are looking forward to having another such subject in the future.

Visit to Bethel.

A delightful evening was spent by the Epworth League of the Methodist Church on Friday, when two sleigh-loads of its members journeyed to Bethel, where they were the guests of the latter league. The programme was provided by the Hastings league and was as follows:

After the singing of the opening hymn, Mr. Fred. Longmuir welcomed the visitors. Prayer and the Scripture followed. Mr. Houston of Belleville gave the following readings, "The Broken Soldier" and "The Maid of France." A solo was rendered by Miss Elsie Jolly, followed by a reading by Kathleen Simpson. Miss Madeline Bonds gave a vocal solo, which was followed by community singing by the Hastings group. Reading by Mr. Howston. A duet by Misses Hazel Macdonald and Eva Ellis. Reading by Mr. Howston, after which Miss Emma Sharpe rendered a solo. Mr. Howston again favored the audience with another reading, and the Hastings group ended the programme by community singing.

Refreshments were served by the Bethel league. It was then moved by Miss Eva Ellis, seconded by Miss Emma Sharpe, that a hearty vote of thanks be given the Bethel league, after which the return trip was made home.

Horses Ranaway.

On Friday afternoon a team of horses belonging to Richard Walsh of Asphodel, while in their yard, took fright and ran away. Getting loose from the sleigh, the team ran through the town, but no damage was reported. They were caught in the church sheds.

Still Another.

While Sydney Spooner was returning from Westwood on Friday with the bake rig the sleigh pole fell down and the horses took fright and ran away. They were stopped before any damage had been done.

Around the Station.

Mr. R. Walsh shipped two cars of hogs on Monday. The price paid was 7½ cents a pound.

Bow-Wow Poisoned.

Mr. W. M. Turner's valuable wolf hound was poisoned on Saturday afternoon.

Has Local Relatives.

The people of Hastings were shocked to hear of the death of Mr. Henry Cleary of Regina. Messrs. Daniel and Michael Cleary of Percy are brothers.

Personal Mention.

Miss Margaret Butler was in the village on Monday.

Mr. Gerald Cunningham of Peterborough called in the village on Monday.

Mr. Thos. Chaplin spent the week-end at his home in Campbellford.

Miss G. Meiklejohn spent a few days with friends in Hastings recently.

LONG TROUSERS FOR OSHAWA ON MARCH 8TH

OSHAWA, February 20 (Canadian Press). — Yesterday afternoon the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board granted Oshawa a charter to become a city on 8th March.

Although it was expected that the County of Ontario would put forth strenuous opposition to the application, their representatives stated at the outset of the hearing that they had no opposition to offer.

The Board, after ruling that the charter could take effect at noon on 8th March, ruled that another election would be necessary, and that nominations were to be held on 15th March, the election one week later, and the first meeting of the new Council on 25th March.

STRIKERS ATTEMPT TO PREVENT DELIVERY OF LONDON MEAT SUPPLY

First Incidents of Violence In British Dock Strike—Police Guard Convoyed Clerks Moving Carcasses—Another South American Meat Ship Stalled.

CARTERS QUIT WORK.

LONDON, Feb. 20. — While the employers claim some slight improvement in the dock strike situation so far as London is concerned, there are no signs of a let-up at the other ports in the Kingdom, which is less than one fifth the normal figure.

Secretary Bevin, of the Dock Workers' Union, asserts that the strikers' determination is increasing everywhere, and there are reports of many defections to the ranks of the strikers from the "Blue," or Stevedores' Union, the members of which, together with a small contingent of employees of the Port of London authorities are attempting to carry on work at the London docks, without over-much enthusiasm.

The cargoes of 33 ships are being handled but as many more are being kept waiting.

Meat Prices Soar.

Another big River Plate meat ship, the Baronesa, has joined her sister ship, the Duquesa; neither cargo has yet been touched.

Meat prices are soaring, and the importers say that they will suffer in any case, as the chilled meat will presently have to be frozen, with consequent depreciation in value.

Only 18 tons of South American beef was marketed in London Tuesday, as compared with 357 tons last Tuesday, and scuffles occurred in the process of bringing the meat from cold storage to the market.

Meanwhile new phase of the strike are developing. The Transporters' Union has instructed its members to refuse to carry goods to and from the docks. Four thousand carters quit yesterday afternoon, finding their journeys to the docks wasted, and secretary Bevin aserts that 10,000 will be out to-day.

Fish Supplies Stranded.

The railwaymen at Grimsby and Hull, handling the fish traffic, have refused to work, and big consignments of fish are left stranded. The dockers at different Ulster ports also have struck in sympathy, and Secretary Bevin has called out the casual workers on the Manchester-Liverpool canal.

The council of the Trades Union Congress unanimously decided last night to support the strikers' demands and there seems no likelihood of any mediation from that quarter.

The court of inquiry appointed by the Minister of Labor, Tom Shaw, will hold its first public session at the Law Courts to-morrow.

Mr. Shaw, in the House of Commons this evening, made it clear that this was an arbitration tribunal and that no undertaking to abide by its conclusions had been sought or given by the parties in the dispute.

The Liverpol employers have already offered to accept a unanimous decision by the court on condition that the unions would do the same, and the official strike come to a halt immediately.

Red Propaganda.

Red-lettered bills appeared overnight on the boardings in Liverpool, appealing to the dockers to stand pat and affiliate with the Red Internationale. The authors of the manifesto took occasion to denounce the members of the Labor Government, as for instance.

"All power to the coming Revolution; to Hell with the Labor Government and their dupes."

The police were quite busy tearing down these bills.

About one thousand shipyard engineers at Southampton went on strike yesterday for higher wages.

First Disorder.

The first case of disorder in the strike occurred at Smithfield Market, when owners, with the assistance of the clerical staff, started moving supplies from cold storage.

There were a number of strike pickets aronud the premises. They allowed the first few barrel-loads to be taken, but when frozen carcasses appeared the pickets intervened, and there were some scuffles and several cases of personal violence.

A police guard later enabled the supplies to be moved to the market.

Coal shipments from South Wales ports continue, but 56 vessels with general cargoes, both goods and raw materials, are held up, mostly at Swansea and Cardiff.

Safeguard Supplies.

The report was current yesterday afternoon that the Government had appointed Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, Food Controller. This, however was authoritatively denied, with the explanation that Colonel Wedgwood had been appointed permanent Chief Civil Commissioner, to co-ordinate with different public services such as transport, shipping, mines, food supplies, and Post Offices in times of emergency.

It is described as a mere coincidence that his appointment synchronises with the present dock strike.

Colonel Wedgwood's chief responsibility now will be to safeguard the food and fuel supplies.

Such appointment existed in previous administrations, and was held by the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, which is Colonel Wedgwood's office.

NEW SERIAL STORY FOR THE EXAMINER

Watch for the new Examiner serial story, "Hearts Afire," commencing on Saturday next, February 23rd. This is described as a novel of "consuming young love, and its Old World combat with Greed and Evil Passion, by May Christie, the illustrious author of "The Vital Flame" and other intensely modern stories.

Wife Drowns Children, Tries to End Own Life.

REVERE, Mass., Feb 20.—When George Wilfert returned from the office neither his wife nor his three children answered his cheery whistle. With a premonition of disaster he mounted the stairs three at a leap and found in the bath room the body of his wife, Barbara, unconscious and partly clad, lying in the bath tub.

Beneath Mrs. Wilfert's body lay two of their three children, Harry and Elsie, drowned.

A note on the wash stand read: "I can not stand it any longer, so I am ending it in the bath tub. I feel so tired and cold."

Mrs. Wilfert was revived and was under the care of physicians at a psychopathic hospital today.

Dogs Need Knit Dresses Declares Lady Gertrude.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(Associated Press).—Knitted jumpers for dogs—"to keep them warm when motoring," she said—were sold by Gertrude, Lady Decies, at the winter show of the Pekingese club at Tattersall's.

The tiny jumpers, knitted by Lady Decies herself in wools and silks of various colors, were designed by her to take the place of the old dog's "coat," which was usually a plain square piece of material wrapped around the animals' body. The new-fashioned jumper is properly shaped with leg-holes, and draws up around the neck.

JUNKER ORGANIZATION WANTS PROHIBIT MEAT

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—(British United Press).—Demand that the Government forbid the import of frozen meats and reintroduce the pre war meat inspection regulations was made yesterday at a conference of the Reichsland Bund, a Junker organization by Herr Reishk, of its directors. If this step was taken its effect would be to exclude virtually all foreign meats from Germany.

The Junkers pleaded the poverty was threatening ruin to the community and urged that a state of seige be maintained.

The populace are turning deaf ears to such pleas, however, as the cry has been a familiar one to them for some years.

Meat prices during last week have been on the increase, some inland products again passing the dollar mark.

Two Deaths Reported in Smallpox at Chapleau.

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 19.—Because of reports of small-pox at Chapleau where it is stated there have been eight cases with two deaths, Dr. C. N. Laurie and Dr. R. M. Boyd, medical officers of health, respectively of Port Arthur and Fort William, have wired Provincial Board of Health at Toronto asking that immediate precaution be taken to prevent the spread of the disease through the district.

CHURCH UNION FOR HAVELOCK

The Opposition Had a Meeting and Named a Committee.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 20. — At a meeting held in the Presbyterian church Monday evening, Rev. Mr. Horne of Toronto, a Presbyterian minister, spoke to the Presbyterians of Havelock and vicinity, advancing arguments opposing organic church union. In his opening remarks Mr. Horne said the question of church union was the biggest and most important question of the day. The biggest because it concerned religion, which was the biggest thing in existence. Most important because of the tremendous possibilities for good or ill. We are to consider which is the right course to take now, before this bill which is being sought becomes law. If church union is the wise thing let us support it. I believe we are all honest in our convictions.

Mr. Horne then proceeded saying: We must approach the question of church union with the knowledge that the question is not settled. The Assembly is asking Parliament to incorporate the united church has exceeded its powers. The Assembly is not the Presbyterian church. The church is composed of a body of believers and the Lord added to the church from day to day when the necessity arose, deacons who were elected to administer the alms of the church. When the work had increased to the point that the organization was not sufficient elders were appointed, then the sessions and assemblies followed. The general assembly say, "We like this bill," but did not say "How do you like it." Until the people give their approval the General Assembly have no right to ask legislation by parliament.

The question to-day is not the question we started out with 20 years ago. Altogether different is that form of union before us today. Principal Patrick had the right idea when he said: "From first to last the question must be a people's question and Sir Robert Falconer said: 'From the commencement I have put it in the forefront that it would be with madness for the General Assembly to force its will on the people." In 1911 and 1915 when the vote was taken nobody had any conception of what church union meant. In 1911 the vote stood: 113,000 favor, 50,000 against. Asembly said they could not go forward with 50,000 against. In 1915 the vote stood 113,600 favour, and 73,000 against. Assembly said go forward with 73,000 against. In 1922 everybody and everything swept into the united church without consulting the people.

The Bill to incorporate the United Church of Canada. If this Bill becomes law, the Presbyterian Church ceases to exist. Those advocating Union are not frank with the people, not telling the people all that is happening. Whether or not you want to go with the United Church, you have to. You have six months to withdraw. Yes; but what are you withdrawing to? You would not be withdrawing to the Presbyterian Church, as the Presbyterian Church is out of existence.

Rev. Mr. Horne made his strongest appeal when he spoke of the trust funds of the Presbyterian Church being swept in the United Church, funds that had been donated by your forefathers who had come into this country when it was new, bringing the Presbyterian doctrines with them and setting up the worship of God first in their homes and later building a kirk where all could congregate for the purpose of returning thanks to God for His mercies. The Lord had prospered them in their work, and when departing this life these funds were donated for the purpose of strengthening the Presbyterian Church and all that the Presbyterian Church meant to our communities. Would they be satisfied to have these funds swept into the United Church—for the doctrines of the United Church are not the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church?

Our Church organisation covers a wide scope. At one extreme we have the Roman Catholic Church, centrally organised, all power vested in the Pope, next the cardinals, bishops, priests, and the people. The power never leaves the officiating class. The people have no voice in the administration of affairs. At the other extreme, we have the Democratic Church, the best type of which is the Presbyterian Church. All power is vested in the people, from people to session session to Presbytery, Presbytery to Senate, Senate to General Assembly. The most disastrous aspect of Union is the attempt to supplant the Democratic Church with the material centrally organised Church.

After again reminding the audience that the General Assembly had no authority to ask for legislation, Mr. Horne suggested the organisation of a local committee for the purpose of canvassing the community for signatures of Presbyterians opposed to organic Church Union as set forth in the Act to incorporate the United Church of Canada.

The following committee was elected:

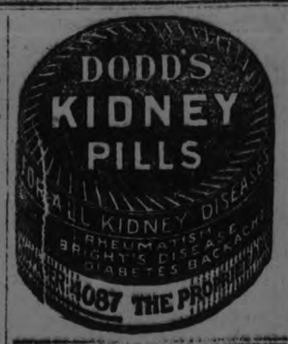
President, Wm. Mathison; vice-president, David Burgess; secretary-treasurer, Peter Buchanan; F. J. Squire, and Ernest Spencer.

The committee was called to meet at the close of the meeting.

It is understood that there will be a speaker favouring Union sent to address the Presbyterians of this community in the near future.

WANT DAUGHERTY'S HEAD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Demand for the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty suddenly has become one of the most acute of all questions growing out of the oil scandal and there were indications today that some important development could be expected shortly. Protests against Mr. Daugherty holding office were before the President and Cabinet today.



SQUIRES PROBE BROADENS OUT

Appeal For Fair Play to Dr. Alexander Campbell Who Handled Relief Fund With Other Departmental Duties.

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Feb. 20.—W. R. Howley, K.C., at yesterday's hearing before Royal Commissioner Walker, who is investigating alleged misdemeanors by Government officials in the years 1921, 1922 and 1923, in cross-examination on behalf of Sir Richard Squires and Dr. Alexander Campbell of George Turner, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines, made a strong appeal for fair play to Mr. Campbell, against whom many allegations have been made, and who is "well-known in this country as well as the Dominion of Canada and the United States."

During the years 1921 and 1922, when there was widespread destitution in Newfoundland and when a special relief fund of over two and a half millions of dollars was handled by Dr. Campbell as Minister of Mines and Agriculture, his department had to abandon its regular business during ordinary office hours, and the whole staff during these years spent its regular working hours on relief activities. Ordinary business had to be transacted after hours, frequently keeping the officials on the job until midnight.

These facts were brought out during the examination and cross-examination of Deputy Minister Turner on the question of bonuses varying from one hundred to five hundred dollars and paid to members of his department from the Deputy Minister down. Mr. Turner stated that he did not know of a single payment of any size made to Dr. Campbell in respect to the extra services which he rendered in relief work. As to the nature and defensibility of the expenditures made in various sections of the country, Mr. Turner declared that the Minister, Dr. Campbell, was not accountable for them at all. He made allocations to members on their own representations. The members made the expenditures in their own districts and were responsible to the department for an accounting.

BANK CLERKS STRIKE.

VIENNA, February 20 (Canadian Press). — Forty thousand persons are affected by a strike of the bank employees, which closed four of the largest institutions here yesterday, and to-day spread to all the banks throughout Austria.

They are asking for higher wages.

The whole finanacial machinery of the country is at a complete standstill.

HOUSEWIVES' COLUMN

Sometimes it seems to me that the world is getting more sensible than it used to be in "my day." People seem to understand some things better.

For instance most any woman knows now that she pays the cost when she has groceries delivered to her door—or other peoples' delivery costs if her store delivers their orders.

Of course that's very simple, when you stop to think of it, but a lot of people never used to doubt that the store was kind enough to pay its own delivery costs, instead of adding it to the price of the things they sell.

Not a one of the 300 red front Dominion Stores ever adds a cent of delivery charges to the cost of anything you buy there. They never deliver to anybody at all, and you save the money. That's one of the reasons why you notice steady savings when you deal regularly at a Dominion Store.

So mothers go themselves for their groceries nowadays, or send their children. They pay for groceries only at their neighborhood Dominion Store—instead of groceries plus delivery charges.

Even more important is the fact that all the foods on Dominion Store shelves were bought by Dominion experts, in vast quantities, at the lower prices such buying makes possible. These savings are passed on to you, whether you are a housewife thoroughly experienced in marketing or the littlest of children—just big enough to stand on tiptoe and give the friendly man the food list mother sent.

EXPERTS MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

Propose Ten Billion Gold Marks Mortgage on German Railways Instead of International Loan.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—The Expert Committees are making excellent progress toward a tangible conclusion as to how to put Germany in the way to pay reparations.

The sub-committees on the budget and currency continued their work actively Tuesday with the expectation of having a completed draft of their finding, ready for submission to the full committee tomorrow.

The railroad experts also have nearly finished their task and will submit their final report on Thursday at the latest. The full committee plans to hear it on Friday, and to listen to the experts concerning it on Saturday.

The committee on the proposed German gold bank, heard Dr. Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank yesterday afternoon and discussed his plan to eventually consolidate his gold bank with that planned by the committee of experts. Dr. Schacht will return to Paris next week when the committee's plan will be disclosed to him and discussed in connection with his own. Dr. Schacht has promised that in organizing his gold bank he will take the plan of the committee into account so that it can be absorbed eventually by the other institution.

Mortgage Railways

The expert committeemen, according to information from authoritative sources, have decided that instead of the formidable loan to be placed on the international market previously suggested, a mortgage of approximately 10,000,000,000 gold marks on the German railway system and other sources of revenue of the German Government shall form the basis of a plan by which the Allied countries, especially France, will derive regular payments of interests.

The mortgage bonds to be issued would be a first lien on the railways and be divided among Germany's creditors on the basis of the percentage adopted at the Spa Conference in 1920—France, 52 per cent; Great Britain, 26; Italy 10; Belgium 8,—with the remaining four per cent. divided among the other allies.

A relatively small international loan will also be recommended to help Germany get up the proposed national gold-issue bank. The amount of this loan remains to be fixed, but it will probably not exceed $500,000,000.

The proposed mortgage on German resources would not involve the advance of any money to Germany by the holders of the mortgage securities, but it would be represented by the issue in Germany of marketable German paper guaranteed by these mortgages. The interest rate will probably be six per cent.

France Would Share

On the basis proposed, France, whose share of the mortgage bonds would be 5,200,000,000 gold marks, would receive 312,000,000 gold marks yearly.

The mortgage securities, according to the proposed plan, would be transferable by endorsement of the receiving governments, if they saw fit, and if a market could be found for them.

The experts express belief that this plan would create a real asset which would be received with accumulating confidence as the quarterly interest payments were met.

The bonds issue is involved to some extent with the occupation of the Ruhr and France would be expected to withdraw her civilian organization there. If the military occupation continued, it would be of the slightest character.

LAKEFIELD IS AGAIN DIGGING ITSELF OUT.

Sure Sign of Spring in the Northern Hamlet.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 20.—Lakefield has been affecting city customs during the past week when the snow has been drawn away from the Main street. The sidewalks were becoming merely tunnels, so the village authorities took hold and better traffic conditions have resulted.

The Lakefield Volunteer Fire Brigade are putting on a dance in the Memorial Hall on Friday night, Feb. 29. The proceeds will be used toward the purchase of a fire alarm for the village.

The Lord Bishop of Keewatin will be in the village on Feb. 26 and will address two meetings in St John's Church on the subject of his work.

A. M. Fitzgerald of Toronto is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G Fitzgerald.

Miss Irene Madill of Peterborough was in the village on Saturda.

Mrs. Walter Nugent and Miss Elva Nugent were guests of Mrs. Robert Nugent last week.

Mrs. W. J. Charlton and Miss Cora spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Miss Jean Erskine of Peterborough was in the village on Saturday.

Miss Eva Brown left last week for Niagara Falls, N. Y., where she will enter the Niagara Memorial Hospital as a nurse-in-training.

Mrs. Robert Nugent is visiting Mr and Mrs. Walter Nugent in Peterborough.

Miss Helen Brooks of Young's Point was in the village on Saturday en route for Peterborough.

MRS. BUDGE SO WEAK COULD HARDLY STAND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

River Desert, Que.—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I would be unable to walk fast and could not stand for any length of time to do my ironing or washing, but I would have to lie down to get relief from the pain. I had this for about two years, then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had had good results. I certainly got good results from it, too, as the last time I had a sore side was last May and I have not had it since. I am also glad of having good nursing for my baby, and I think it is your medicine that helped me in this way."—Mrs. L. V. BUDGE, River Desert, Quebec.

If you are suffering from the tortures of a displacement, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness, or a pain in the side, you should lose no time in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MEXICANS STILL HOLD CANADIAN

Band of 400 Rebels Demand $200,000 For the Release of T. G. Mackenzie, Who Was Seized Three Weeks Ago.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press).—T. G. Mackenzie, the Canadian who was kidnapped three weeks ago near Jimenez, Mexico, by a band of revolutionaries led by Hipolito Villa, is still in their hands, held for ransom.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Mr. Mackenzie's brother-in-law in Montreal, from Texas, stated that a courier bearing a letter to Villa from De la Huerta, the rebel leader, demanding the release of the prisoner, was despatched from El Paso a week ago, but owing to the rapid movements of the rebels, he has not yet succeeded in getting in touch with them. Contact, however, is expected soon, and Mr. Mackenzie's friends are hopeful of his release.

At the time of the capture, Mr. Mackenzie was confronted, with a demand for $200,000 in gold in return for his release. He refused to pay ransom in any amount, and has since been kept a prisoner. This band of rebels numbers about 400. They move rapidly about the country and have recently been in sharp collision with a detachment of Federal troops at Ortiz and San Lucas. Presumably Mr. Mackenzie is being taken around the country with them.

Mrs. Mackenzie and her son of fourteen were with Mr. Mackenzie at the time of capture, but were allowed to proceed to their home at Parral without molestation.

Hon. Mr. McCurdy reports that apart from the operation of Villa's band, Chihuahus is quiet. Villa is a brother of the famous guerilla leader who was assassinated about a year ago.

Mr. McCurdy leaves this week for California, where his family is spending the winter.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

GREATER ECONOMY

many items which were properly payable in other fiscal ears. This was done by changing the date upon which expenditures would be made, the inevitable happens now. All these payments which should have been spread to the extent of the last two or three years have to be made now. This government made up its mind it would not be responsible for anything of this nature. All obligations have to be met and they might as well be met now."

Revenue Reduced

He pointed out that there had been a reduction in revenue in several department during the year. Motor vehicles had however increased by 818,000. There had also been a decrease in succession duties revenue. There was a decline of $964,000 in the corporation tax and a decline in collection on race courses of $469,392. The total revenue of 1923 was $4,397,096 below that of 1922. On the expenditure side only two departments, Attorney General and Fish and Game showed decreases and the total saving in these was $11,874,336. In interest on capital loans the amount for 1925 was $14,000,000 or $2,346,000 above the previous year. Highway maintenance increased by $1,905,111. Northern Ontario development increased in cost $475,000 and the general election cost $407,575.

Economize at Home

"I want to say to members of this House that if they expect an improvement in taxation they must be prepared to accept a cutting down of grants in their own ridings and to accept curtailing of expenditure on roads and other capital accounts" said Hon. Mr. Price. "The Government can accomplish economy if the members will tell their constituents the facts and tell them they need not expect greater expenditures. I venure to say that it will take the greater part of three or four years to get the province on a basis where enough money can be equitably collected from the people to pay the necessary expenditures. We will try this year to see how closly the receipts and expenditures can be drawn together and with this information before us we will be able to ascertain whether it will be necessary to put on additional taxation or not. If the revenue can be made to meet the expenditure there will be no new taxation. It is quite certain that no new extended program of any kind can be attempted until the government can see the light ahead."

Institute Audits

Mr. Price said that since confederation there had been no audit of receipts in the province and that now it had been decided to have any audit on every department. In various departments there were losses because of no audit. One department had marked to its credit a deposit in the farmers' bank. This had been written off.

Inspection of motion picture branch had shown very bad state of affairs said the Treasurer. Since 1920 there had been no audit of accounts although one million was involved annually. In the theatre inspection branch there were no cash sheets available and auditing was nearly impossible. In the department for the collection of billiard and pool room license fees there had been disclosed a loss $35,500 in uncollected fees. Losses in the collection of amusement tax had also been found out.

Speaking of the provincial savings the Treasurer said the deposits had increased $10,550,000 during the year bringing the total to $15,085,000 The government intended watching these closely to determine future policy on this new branch of the public service.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Marmora Dramatic Club Presented a Play for Choir of Christ Church

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19.—The dramatic club of the Y.P.S. of the Anglican church of Marmora presented the play "Miss Fearless and Company," in the Parish Hall here Monday night, under the auspices of the choir of Christ church. The visitors were greeted by a crowded house and the audience heartily applauded the performance of the clever young amateurs. All the parts were taken by members of the gentler sex and the plot of the play was in keeping with the characters.

Accompanying the players were Mrs. F. Pearce, director of the club, and trainer of the members, and Rev. P. C. Watson, rector of the Anglican church at Marmora, both of whom expressed appreciation of the hearty reception which had been given the visitors. In reply, Rev. G. C. Clarke of Christ church, welcomed to Campbellford the members of the club and their friends. Amateur dramatists in Christ church are preparing a play which will be produced later in the Regent Theatre, and last night an invitation was extended, and accepted, to repeat it in Marmora.

An Adamless Eden

The fact that the cast was exclusively feminine gives an inkling of the plot at the outset. A number of young ladies met together on a holiday, developed the spirit of independence of mankind which besets all girls of the teen age at some time or other, but which effervesces when subjected to a practical test. They plan on outing to Spook Island and enter into a solemn league and covenant to have nothing to do with men while on the island, but to maintain an Eden without even the suspicion.

The play sparkles with spicy dialogue, the costumes were handsome and the members of the cast severally played their parts with all the ease of seasoned stage artists. The club has only recently been organized and this is its first performance away from home. The reputation is firmly established in Campbellford and Mrs. Pearce is to be congratulated upon the clever work of the pupils to whose training she devoted so much time. Those who took part were as follows:

Miss Margaret Henley, Miss Mildred Bedore; Miss Euphemia Addison, Miss Mabel Archer; Miss Sara Jane Lovejoy, Miss Florence Archer; Katie O'Connor, Miss Annie Linn; Barbara Livingstone, Miss Loraine Bell; Bettie Cameron, Miss Edna Neal; Marion Reynolds, Miss Muriel Bedore; Just Lizzie, Miss Kathleen Litt, Silent Sisters, Mary Maloney and Jenny Connors.

Miss Gertrude Maynard, organist of Christ church choir, rendered piano selections between the acts, and Rev. G. C. Clarke, who is becoming well known as one of the town's leading vocalists, favored the audience with a solo which was heartily applauded.

Gift for Miss Nancarrow

At the dance given by the Twelve O'Clock Club in the Regent Theatre last night, Miss Jane Nancarrow was presented by the members with a handsome French ivory clock in recognition of her services as secretary, prior to her departure from the town. This young lady has disposed of her millinery business and leaves for Toronto where she has accepted a position. Dr. W. A. Murphy, last night, as president of the club, thanked Miss Mancarrow for her services, after which the clock was presented by Miss Helen Tait, a member of the executive committee.
